New Type Of Street Surface Planned For Newton Streets

Bids Submitted for Streets of More Substantial Construction In Waban and West Newton

As a result of the desire of Mayor Weeks and the Board of Aldermen to modernize street construction in this city so that streets constructed in the future will better withstand automobile traffic and be of a more permanent type, a method new to this city will be used in rebuilding Agawam, Neshobe and Varick roads at Waban and Wedgewood road at West Newton. Property owners on these streets petitioned for the improvement and acceptance of them and it is proposed to use an improved type of construction on these four roads.

For about twenty years accepted streets in Newton, apart from the main thoroughfares, which were of bituminous macadam construction, have been built to specifications which called for 8 inches of well rolled gravel with a coating of tarvia. Such streets, while practical and satisfactory for light traffic, do not stand up under heavy truck traffic. The matter of building more substantial highways in the city has been considered for some time, but the extra expense which this would involve on property owners on streets to be improved and accepted has caused the Mayor and Aldermen to proceed slowly in adopting such a change. Even with the privilege of having 10 years in which to pay street betterment assessments, many property owners find it a financial strain and the appreciably higher cost which bituminous macadam roads would entail has deterred any action in specifying this type of street construction.

Mr. Brett, Chief Testing Engineer of the State Department of Public Works suggested to Street Commissioner Stuart and City Engineer Morse another type of street which has been built in the past few years at Ludlow and Palmer. This street has a base of 8 inches of well rolled gravel and a top of 2 inches of gravel which has been premixed with asphalt. This surface coat is well rolled after being spread and is expected to provide a smooth hard surface which will wear much longer under modern traffic conditions than does the gravel type road commonly constructed in this city. It is supposed to be somewhat less expensive than the tar permeated macadam road.

Some weeks ago bids were asked for on Agawam, Neshobe, Varick and Wedgewood roads, with separate figures on three types—Type A, the present type gravel road used in Newton; Type B, the type with a gravel base and topping of gravel and asphalt mixed; Type C, the macadam type composed of 6 inches of crushed stone, laid on a gravel base and tar permeated. These bids were opened on April 10th and James Chesareo of Waban was the lowest bidder on all three types; Otto Theurer of Watertown was the second lowest bidder and the John McDonald Construction Company of this city the third lowest.

Subsequently as a result of a conference between the Mayor, Street Commissioner, City Engineer and other city officials, it was decided to reject all the bids received and to invite bids from several well known firms of road builders who had considerable experience. The firms invited to bid were—J. P. Condon Company of Watertown, John McCourt Company of Boston, Powers Bros. of Brockton, Simpson Bros. Company of Boston and Warren Bros. Company of Boston. The latter concern did not submit any bids. The bids received from the other four firms were as follows:

Newton Dramatic Club

On Monday evening, April 27, the Newton Dramatic Club presented three plays before a large and appreciative audience. Mrs. Cecil J. Hall and Mrs. Wm. Breed were hostesses for the social time following. New scenery and new blue velvet curtains made a fitting setting for the productions.

The first play, "When Two Is Not Company" was a society play with an unexpected ending given admirably by Robert Pieper and Robert Foote.

The second play, "The Worthy Master Peletier," was a translation from a 15th century French comedy and was done in the early French style of simple properties of screens, stool and table and cot so arranged in various scenes as to depict street scene, court room or cottage interior.

The costumes were careful reproductions made by Mrs. W. C. Noetzel and Mrs. H. B. Wilder. Excellent interpretations were given by Elsie Wilkie, Philip Hunter, Van Crew, Edgar King and most subtle and convincing work was done by Sumner Smith. In contrast to the naivete of this early play, was the last intensely dramatic play, "The Last Man In."

Jack Allen as "The Last Man" was on Monday evening as fine a bit of convincing and difficult acting as could be desired, worthy of professional standing.

He re-enacted the scenes in a Montevideo dance hall, the tango of Chinquita, the brawl after—the fight from his assailant and the terrible blow from the iron. Then rising to great fury he depicted his murder of the assailant and fell into a sleep of death.

He was ably supported by Martha Swall, John Houghay, Sewall Logan and Edgar Swall. Mrs. L. E. Dadmun was the coach.

Mr. Albert Speare, President of the club welcomed the audience and asked their interest and co-operation for the next season of the club.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

NEWTON GETS BACK ON WINNING PATH

Newton High outscored Brockton High 10 to 7 at Clafin Field on Wednesday afternoon to gain in a winning mood again as it faces another Suburban League game tomorrow on the home diamond. Although Brockton outhit the orange and black by a considerable margin loose playing enabled Newton to offset this advantage with more runs. It was a ding-dong battle until the last of the sixth when Newton staged a five-run rally to take a commanding lead.

Coach Sullivan, who has been waiting an opportunity to give George Hildreth some pitching experience because of his speed, sent his veteran catcher to the mound with Bill Lansford, sophomore prospect, behind the bat. Hildreth was a little shy on control during the four innings he was on the mound, passing five batters. Brockton, with its usual team of hard hitters connected with Hildreth's offerings frequently enough to cause uncertainty in Sullivan's mind and at the start of the fifth Giles took over the pitching duties. The Newton sophomore right hander has been troubled with a slightly sore arm and Kraber twirled the ninth frame.

After Brockton had turned back in the first with but one man getting on through Hildreth's first base on balls, Newton took a one-run lead. Huston drew a pass from Asci, Brockton twirler, and Antonelli singled to right to put Huston on third from where he scored on a passed ball. The next three batters could not bring Antonelli home.

Brockton took the lead in the second, scoring two runs on a single by Brazas and a home run over Mullen's head in centre field. Newton came right back with two counters in its half to take the lead again. Asci passed Hildreth and when Lansford sacrificed the Brockton pitcher hit Lansford in the back with the ball and it went into right field to allow Hildreth to score all the way from first and putting Lansford on second. Mullen shot a sizzling grounder over second base for a single and Lansford trotted home. Mullen took second on a balk and third on Appleyard's sacrifice after Asci had given way to Hilliard as the Brockton pitcher. Huston fanned and Antonelli grounded to the third baseman to end the rally.

Hildreth pitched himself out of a hole in the third after issuing two Annie Oakleys by fanning the next two batters and Huston took care of Heath's rap. In Newton's half Rhodes singled with one down but was forced at second when Heath, Brockton catcher, dropped Butler's high fly near the third base line. Hildreth passed Brown, visiting second baseman with one down in the fourth but he was forced at second and the next batter fled to Mullen. Newton increased its margin in the last of the fourth when Mullen doubled to left centre, went to second on Appleyard's infield single and scored on Huston's long fly to centre.

Giles replaced Hildreth on the mound with Hildreth taking Lansford's place behind the bat to start the fifth. With two down Pileski, Brockton star athlete, who plays centre field when not pitching, singled over second with Huston making a marvelous one-handed diving stop of the ball and trotted home ahead of Brazas when the Brockton left fielder hit a home run off the foul line in right field, tying the score at four runs each.

Newton went ahead again in the last of this frame. Colby led off with a pass and went to third on Butler's two-base smash to right field. Hildreth hit to the second baseman and Colby was out at the plate, Butler taking third from where he scored on a wild pitch by Hilliard.

Brockton was not to be denied and tied the score in the sixth with Brown counting. The Brockton second sacker singled to right, moved along on Hilliard's scratch single to Appleyard which he beat out when the Newton third baseman had to throw while off balance, and scored on MacLaren's shot to left. Newton blew the lid off the game in the last of the sixth scoring five runs. Sharpe, who replaced Mullen in centre field as the latter had hurt his ankle slightly when sliding into second on his two base hit in the fourth, fled to centrefield. Appleyard drew a pass and then the fun began. Huston singled to left. With a double play in sight on Antonelli's grounder Bobby McGee, Brockton shortstop, booted the ball to fill the bases. Colby and Rhodes also fled to the shortstop with the infield playing in close for a play at the plate and on both occasions McGee booted the ball. Butler fled to centrefield to let Antonelli come in with the third run. Hildreth came to bat and hit a hot liner right into McGee's hands. The ball bounced out again for McGee's fourth error and Brasso took his place but the damage was done. Giles drew a base on balls but Sharpe, up for the second time in the inning, fled to the first baseman. Five runs had counted and the lead looked pretty safe. Brockton counted once in the seventh with three singles, but a double play on Brown's rap to Giles cut off further scoring. Giles retired Brown at first and Butler threw to Appleyard who ran down Hall with a toss to Antonelli at second. Hilliard's double and Brasso's single brought another run in the eighth to end the scoring.

SPORT NOTES
B. U. Wins First Game
Despite Charlie Hall's feat of winning both the half mile and the mile for the M. I. T. freshmen last Saturday in a dual meet with Andover Academy on the latter's track the engineer yearlings were defeated by an overwhelming margin. Hall was clocked in 2 min. 5 3/5 seconds in the 880 and in 4 min. 33 3/5 in the mile.

NEWTON FAVORITE IN WORCESTER MEET

The Newton high school outdoor track team is the favorite to win the annual Worcester Polytechnical school interscholastic meet at Worcester tomorrow afternoon. David Prouty high of Spencer lost by graduation its two men, Morin and Rousou, who captured eight first places between them to clinch the 1930 honors and is far from as strong as a year ago. Watertown High was expected to cut into the point division considerably until the injury to John Rattigan, star of the team, reduced their chances.

With practically all the lads who shared in the many honors won by the 1931 indoor team this past winter on hand Coach Donald Enoch of Newton is looking forward to continued success on the cinders.

Walter Holmes, negro star, and Donald Irwin will be the orange and black entries in the 100-yard dash. Douglas Sloane and Alfred Mouser are possible point scorers in the 220-yard dash. In the 440-yard run the Newton mentor will rely on Douglas Chalmers and Albert Guzzi to hold off the threats of other competitors. George Lamb will compete in both the half and mile runs and is in excellent shape to show his heels to the field. Vincent Signore will also run one or the other of these events. Milton Green, Newton versatile star, will compete in four events. He will run both the low and the high hurdles, the high jump and the broad jump. Green has been showing excellent form and speed over the 220-yard low barriers in practice and is expected to lead all competitors to the tape. In a time trial at Boston College track last week Green was clocked in 25.25 seconds which is fast time for any schoolboy hurdler. He has not had sufficient experience over the high barriers to predict his chances in the 120-yard barrier event but it is safe to say that he will be among the point scorers unless something goes wrong. He should also score in both jumps and will come close to being the high point scorer, not only for Newton, but for the entire meet.

Stanley Johnson will also compete in the low hurdles and broad jump and with Green to lead him on may get into the points. In the other field events Newton will have entries capable of scoring points enough to throw the balance of power to the Garden City outfit. In the shotput Jim Colligan, Walter Holmes and Tom Malloy will bear the burden with Colligan up with the best. Malloy may also compete in the broad jump with Green and Johnson. Colligan and Malloy will be the local entries in the discus throw in which Newton captured first and second two years ago to enable them to return home with the shield emblematic of victory. Last year Newton placed third.

Sewall Champion will be the second entry in the high jump. All in all with such competitors Newton looks good to open the outdoor season right where it left off indoors after capturing three interscholastic meets and finishing second in the fourth meet and closing its third consecutive dual meet season without a setback.

SPORT NOTES

Fletcher Has Chance

Pennsylvania edged Yale, 3 to 2, last Saturday to maintain its lead in the intercollegiate baseball league.

In the ninth Yale had an opportunity to tie the score when the first batter was passed and sacrificed to second. Neither Albie Booth nor Alie Fletcher, the latter a former Newton high star athlete, could produce the hit to bring the runner home. Booth fled to right field and Fletcher fouled to the catcher. Fletcher had already singled twice in four previous times at bat. Edgar Warren made one single in four times up. Both Fletcher and Warren had plenty of action afield the Eli second sacker making six putouts and one assist and the shortstop three putouts and six assists.

A Three-Sport Prospect

Dartmouth has one of the greatest three-sport prospects in years in freshman Frank Spain, ex-Newton and Exeter Academy star. He played on both the freshman football and hockey teams and is now starring at shortstop on the diamond. In the game with Tilton Academy last Saturday which the Green yearlings won 18 to 2 Spain made two hits in three times at bat and stole one base.

Cronin Bunting .400

Bill Cronin, West Newton youth with Braves, has a batting average of .400 for the first few weeks of play. He has taken part in but three games, however, has been at bat five times, scored no runs, and made two singles. In the field he has made five putouts and one assist for a mark of 1.000.

Andres Bats in Two Runs

In Dartmouth's 12 to 1 victory over Princeton on Monday at Princeton Hal Andres of Newtonville, who has been bearing the major part of the catching burden for the Green, singled once in three times at bat to drive in two runs. Prior to Wednesday's game with Brown he had a batting average of .500.

Hall Wins Two Races

Despite Charlie Hall's feat of winning both the half mile and the mile for the M. I. T. freshmen last Saturday in a dual meet with Andover Academy on the latter's track the engineer yearlings were defeated by an overwhelming margin. Hall was clocked in 2 min. 5 3/5 seconds in the 880 and in 4 min. 33 3/5 in the mile.

OUR LADY HIGH DROPS TO THIRD

The victim of the biggest upset of the season to date in the Greater Boston Catholic High School baseball league the Our Lady High team of Newton suffered its first defeat on Monday afternoon to drop to third place in the standing. St. John's of Cambridge, with five victories and St. Charles of Waltham with four are deadlock at the top, neither having been defeated. The Immaculate Conception nine of Revere provided the upset by turning back Our Lady High at Victory Field, 9 to 5.

The Newton team which had breezed through its three games in overwhelming fashion to score 58 runs against six by its opponents started off as though to make another run away. Four runs tallied in the first frame but Donnelly, Beach City twirler, was master of the situation for the remainder of the game. Donnelly's teammates provided the punch to tie it up at five all in the fifth inning and then staged winning rallies in the eighth and ninth to grab off the victory.

Our Lady High relied on Lombardi and Moran to stem the tide but neither could hold off the visitors. Murphy, Our Lady High and the league's best pitcher, had twirled the three previous local victories and, of course, could hardly be expected to pitch every game.

Last week, Friday, Our Lady High was idle while St. John's and St. Charles won from their opponents. St. Clement's of Medford and St. Mary's of Brookline, by respective scores of 13 to 4 and 9 to 1, to keep in triple tie with the local school. In another game St. Mary's of Waltham nosed out Mission high, 1930 winners, 5 to 4, at the Roxbury school's diamond.

Monday came Our Lady's defeat. In Tuesday's game St. Charles turned back Mission high, 6 to 2, with pitcher Bob Duffy clouting a home run with two on to win his own game. St. John's banged out 20 hits to top St. Mary's of Brookline, 18 to 13, in a free-hitting contest, and Cathedral staged a ninth inning rally of three runs to nose out St. Mary's of Waltham at the Fens stadium in Boston, 11 to 10, after the Watch City outfit had built up an early lead of 8 to 0. A muffed fly with two out in the ninth paved the way for the winning tallies to score.

This afternoon Our Lady High will have Murphy on the mound in an effort to get back onto the winning path against one of its strongest rivals, St. John's at the Cambridge team's diamond. Either St. John's will spread the gap between the two teams or be drawn back into a second place tie. Meanwhile St. Charles will tackle the Cathedral team in Boston and will have no easy time of retaining its undefeated state which it must do to retain its first place hold unless St. John's also succumbs. In other games St. Mary's of Brookline will play at Mission High and St. Clement's at Immaculate Conception. The Medford nine has yet to win a game ad the Revere team has an excellent chance to draw up closer to the leaders.

Chamberlain Second

Arthur Chamberlain, former Newton high runner, placed second for Boston University in the half mile run in the dual meet with Mass. State College at Riverside last Saturday. B. U. won the meet with a score of more than double that of the upstarters.

McCradden on Winning Team

Jimmie McCradden of Northeastern University ran the third leg in the mile relay which the Huskies won over Temple, Amherst, and Delaware at the Penn relays last Saturday. Fisher ran in McCradden's place in the 220-yard dash and third in the broad jump with a leap of 19 ft. 7 1/2 inches.

Country Day Loses

St. George's school of Newport, R. I., drubbed the Country Day school team of Newton last Saturday at Newport, 24 to 8. The local private school scored seven runs in the first frame but faded before the St. George powerful batting attack.

Grist Wins High Jump

At Boston University's field day at Nickerson Field, Tuesday, Norman Grist, Newton high graduate, now a freshman, won the high jump with a leap of 5 ft. 10 1/2 inches and second in the pole vault. Arthur Chamberlain of the sophomore class was second in the mile run and second in the javelin throw.

RED CROSS LIFE SAVING AND LIFE SAVING SERVICE

Through the cooperation of National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, Captain Carroll L. Bryant, who has been released from Drought Area duty, that emergency being over, is again to come to Newton and conduct an intensive instructional and review course for local examiners and senior life saving members who are, or may be, candidates for appointment as examiners.

The Y. M. C. A. has as usual indicated its willingness to co-operate with the Red Cross and the instruction for men will be at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on the evenings of May 7th, 8th and 9th. Notices will be sent to all those whom the Newton Headquarters has a record of, and further information can be secured by telephoning Newton North 2717.

It is also hoped that arrangements can be made for girls and women at Lasell Seminary. However, these arrangements have not definitely been concluded.

The work in general which Captain Bryant will conduct will consist of a review of life saving methods, instruction in teaching methods, and examining methods, practice teaching and examining, and instruction in promoting life saving and water programs.

It is also hoped that Captain Bryant can be given the opportunity of addressing students in our High School.

COMPLETE LANDSCAPE SERVICE

The Brae Burn Nursery, under the same personnel, is now established in its new headquarters on Watertown street, opposite Morse street, Watertown, near the Newton line. By the merging of Sawyer's Landscape Service with the Nursery Landscape Dept., they are well equipped to furnish complete landscape service, including designing, planting, grading, preparation of ground for lawns and gardens and the building of walks and drives.

ANNUAL DINNER

The Annual Dinner of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church Woman's Bible Class held on Friday evening, April 24th, was attended by more than one hundred members and their friends.

Dr. William Jackson Lowstuter, teacher of "The Class," presided and introduced those who presented the program following the dinner. Mr. Bruce Middaugh, of Boston University School of Theology, led the guests in singing of "rounds" and of familiar songs. Mrs. Carl C. Davis accompanied by Mr. Davis, sang most pleasingly, two selections in keeping with the season and Mrs. Albert M. Kreider played two violin numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Machamer, which were enthusiastically received. The speakers were Mrs. Don M. Leonard, who gave a history of "The Class," which was organized in November, 1924; and Prof. Earl Bowman Marlatt, of Boston University School of Theology and School of Religious Education, who spoke on "The Religious Values in Poetry." Both held the attention of their audience and the reading of Prof. Marlatt's own writings, was of particular interest. The evening was outstanding and very worth while.

BEACH BAZAAR AT Y. W. C. A.

Mesdames Steven B. Wilson, William M. Ferris, Jr., George Brown, Preston Stephenson, Henry G. MacLure, Miss Dorothy Simpson, and Miss Frances Stebbings are sponsoring the Beach Bazaar which will be held on Wednesday, May 6, from eleven until four o'clock, in the Auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. at 140 Clarendon street, Boston. The Younger Girls' Department of the Association is responsible for the affair, and the proceeds will send Younger Girls, who might otherwise not have a camp vacation, to Camp Winnecunnet, the Y. W. C. A. Camp on Marthas Vineyard.

The committee in charge is headed by Mrs. William C. Blackett, of Chestnut Hill. Assisting her are Mrs. Randolph K. Byers of Milton, Mrs. Max L. Talbot of Longwood, Mrs. Steven B. Wilson of Newton, Mrs. Burton Hamilton and Mrs. A. William Reggio of Chestnut Hill, and Mrs. Bertha B. Tracy of Wellesley Hills.

SCHOLARSHIP AT MILITARY ACADEMY OFFERED

A three-year scholarship, valued at $600, to the Culver Military Academy, is open to any local boy eligible to take the preliminary examination which will be held in various centers in Massachusetts, Newton among them, on Saturday, May 9th. The eligibility requirements include a 14 to 16 age limit on Sept. 1st, 1931; a height not less than 5 ft. 2 in.; income of family not exceeding $6,000 per year; and the boy must have resided in the state since Sept. 1, 1930. Application blanks and complete information have been sent to all high school principals in the state.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The widow of a man murdered by youthful thugs at a gasoline filling station in Somerville testified that her husband, before he died, said to her: "The boy who shot me had a red face and just smiled at me and said, 'The money, the money!'" This poor victim of murdering bandits was shot even as he pleaded with his assassin not to kill him, even as he was offering to turn over the money he had on his person. He was killed mercilessly even as his dog had been an instant before.

And while this man murderer was being tried, while other cold-blooded murderers are constantly on the increase, men and women who pride themselves on their kind heartedness, their urge to make this world better, are striving to have the death penalty for committing murder in Massachusetts abolished. They have so much sympathy for the murderers and apparently so little for those murdered. If unpunished crime keeps on increasing, if murder and maiming of decent citizens by cowardly thugs continues the people will take the law into their own hands and organizations such as the California vigilantes of the last century may be formed. Self-protection is one of the first laws of nature.

And in conformity with the super-sympathetic efforts for the abolition of the death penalty we see the age limit being raised for juvenile offenders. It has been raised from 16 to 17; now it is being raised to 18 and there are those who would have law-breakers treated as children until they reach the age of 21. In the meantime the newspapers tell of more and more robbers and murders committed by "misguided boys" of 17 and 18 and wayward youths between the ages of 24 and 30.

Newton seems to be regarded as a desirable neighbor by surrounding communities. First, the Waltham Chamber of Commerce protested against the change in the last district telephone directories which placed Waltham and the Newton telephone subscribers in different books. Last week the Selectmen of Watertown voted to send a protest to the Telephone Company against placing the Newtons in one district telephone directory and Watertown in another. It is interesting to remember that Watertown people protested so persistently against having their telephones listed under the Newton North Exchange that the Telephone company some time ago listed the telephones in that town under the designation "Middlesex," although they are still operated by the Newton North Exchange.

Edward J. Healey of 346 Lexington street, Auburndale, has returned from his annual winter sojourn in Florida and Cuba. He states that there has been much disorder this winter in Cuba, with shootings and bombings constantly occurring. Mr. Healey predicts a revolution in Cuba in the near future.

One practice among many automobile operators which became common last year is again in evidence this Spring. This is the practice of carrying freight, baggage and other large articles on the front bumpers of cars. A more foolhardy practice probably may be imagined. Much of the freight, baggage and luggage so carried is not even tied on and there is nothing to stop it from jouncing or slipping off in front of the car carrying it. Should such a thing happen, it is easy to visualize serious accident resulting. Accidents which would involve not only the car carrying articles on front bumpers but other cars which might be approaching or following. It is about time that the Registrar of Motor Vehicles and police officials take drastic action against this reckless practice. The Boston police are stopping motorists who indulge in this practice. They should be stopped in Newton and every other town and city in the Commonwealth. And if a statute or regulation does not already exist which can punish motorists using front bumpers for baggage carriers, one should be enacted or passed without delay.

Others who spoke included Rev. Daniel Riordan of Watertown, former chaplain of the council; John E. Swift of Milford, a Supreme Director of the K. of C.; Daniel J. Gallagher of Dorchester, the first Grand Knight of Newton Council; Rev. John Condon of Auburndale; Thomas Lyons of West Newton, a charter member; John F. Daly, Supreme Agent; Rev. Daniel Ryan of Weston College.

Thomas Daly of Philadelphia, poet and humorist entertained the members with stories and recitations.

NEWTONVILLE WOMAN LOSES DAMAGE SUIT

Newton Council, Knights of Columbus held its annual banquet on Wednesday night at Newton Catholic Club Hall, West Newton. About 250 members and guests were present. The occasion marked the 35th anniversary of the Council and several of the charter members were in attendance. Among the guests were Governor Ely and Mayor Weeks.

Deputy Grand Knight Walter Connor presided and introduced the speakers. Governor Ely expressed his confidence in that the country will soon recover from the economic depression and regain its prosperity. Referring to his appointment of Prof. Burns of Harvard Law school to the Superior Court bench he expressed the hope that he can make other such desirable appointments. Mayor Weeks complimented the Knights of Columbus on its achievements and referred to the good work done by this organization during the war in France, which he had opportunities to observe.

"And another thing," as Amos says, about autoists who have funny ideas.

Some drivers are operating cars without headlights. Instead, they are resorting to road lights suspended from front bumpers and not conforming to State requirements which specify that headlights must be used which illuminate the road for so many feet ahead at a required height. Just why they are permitted to "get away" with this practice is puzzling. Perhaps if State troopers were as commonly seen on State Highways as they were some years ago, those who violate automobile laws and regulations would be more frequently apprehended.

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles recently referred to seven automobile fatalities over one week-end. He said: "As usual, high speed was the main factor in these accidents, and in some cases it was superinduced by intoxicating liquor." This statement should not be relished by the members of the Massachusetts Legislature who some weeks ago voted to increase the speed limits at which automobiles can be operated in Massachusetts.

One of the fatal accidents referred to occurred in an adjoining city where a man, crossing a street, was killed by an automobile which witnessed stated was being operated at a speed of 50 miles an hour. In another city a woman crossing a street was killed by a car operated by a drunken driver. This man, a widower, had four young daughters dependent upon him.

LETTER FROM NEWTON TEACHER IN GERMANY

April 11, 1931.

Dear Friends:

Were 1931 Easter "bonnets" three fourths of a yard from tip to tip and made in windmill shape from yards of bright colored silk and lace? Such was the seasonal mode in the Spreewald where we spent the Easter holidays. Such has been this colorful picturesque fashion there for generations.

This flat wooded region some miles to the south east of Berlin is intersected by hundreds of streams of the river Spree which makes of the section a veritable German Venice. The inhabitants, descendants of the Wendish Slavs who settled it centuries ago, have retained the Wendish language, dress, and many of their quaint customs. It was for this reason that the place beckoned so enticingly for an Easter visit.

We were transported there on their own Spreewald railway line which runs at most, two trains a day. What a train it was! The tiny engine, older than any of the three occupants of the one coach train, proudly shone and glistened despite its age. It tooted and puffed and whistled its way along the narrow track as importantly as any Twentieth Century Limited. But to illustrate its speed—we snorted out of one miniature village just as two bicyclists were wheeling their way along the dirt road to the next town and arrived just after they had dismounted their wheels at their destination.

Burg, the largest village of the whole region, seemed utterly devoid of inhabitants as we walked about after our arrival Good Friday afternoon. Only now and then would we see what appeared to be a large sail blowing in the wind as it propelled a bicycle along the narrow dusty road. Closer examination proved it to be a jolly faced woman wearing the typical Spreewald head gear or "Kopftuch."

But at five o'clock the town sprang into life. As the church bells rang, the men and women poured from every direction into the church yard where they exchanged a quiet greeting before entering the church. Over near the fence was a line of farmer men attired in somber frock suits, black ties and high silk hats. This was a solemn occasion and appropriate to the commemoration of that day the women wore their voluminous black skirts, black brocaded aprons, tight black velvet jackets, and large sweeping black silk and lace Kopftuchs.

With the native group we entered the church, severely plain as any New England meeting house, lighted by flickering candle light, to see one of the simplest of Good Friday Communion services. Because of the women's windmill head dresses, the men were given the front seats in order to be able to see the minister. Music, a brief talk, and the simple taking of Communion first by the men and then by the women comprised the entire service.

Saturday everyone was bustling about preparing for the great day of Easter. The silk hatted men were not recognizable in their farmer's overalls and battered hats. They raked the yards, swept the dirt walks, swept even the dirt roads so great was their zeal. The women trundled home whole wheel barrow loads of "kuchen" from the nearby bakery, polished the windows, mopped the one silled door steps to have everything in order when the relatives came to visit on Easter Sunday. That night the young girls went through the town in groups of eight or more from midnight until dawn singing Easter songs. And if during that evening one of them was caught with a boy, great was the hilarity, for she was sprinkled generously with water amid much laughing and squealing of the entire group.

Unfortunately Easter Sunday was a dull rainy day so that the ladies did not dare to venture forth in all their Easter finery. But oh, the sight on Easter Monday morning. The sea of people put a spring flower garden to shame. Here were large nodding Kopftuchs of pink and green and lavender with wide graceful lace dripping from their petal like sails. Beads were wrapped lace edged kerchiefs of yellow, blue, or orange. Wide rainbow-hued silk aprons rustled over puffy four yard wool skirts, blue, red or green. A Fifth Avenue Easter parade would be a drab affair compared to such a burst of beauty as this was. We looked and gasped and marvelled.

Of such fame is this Easter event that a Fox Movietone man was out with all his apparatus to "shoot" the sight as the people came from church. He placed his camera on top of his auto in direct line to get the procession as it came out the front door. He had the two town fremen clear the way. He waited expectantly as the bell rang the closing hour of church. But even though the Wendish women are famous for their unique style and beauty they are still shy, and all but one or two stray souls went out the two side doors and let the men in every day attire have their pictures snapped as they fled out the front door.

Having seen it happen before, we stood at the side entrance and I'm sure that Fox camera man would give much for the movies which we succeeded in getting of fashions where fashions stay the same.

SENIORS AT THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL ENTERTAINED

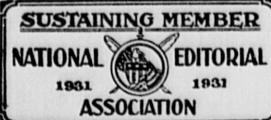

President and Mrs. Everett C. Herick recently entertained members of the senior class of the Newton Theological Institution at their home at a formal dinner party. A musical followed the dinner. This was the first of a series of social events in honor of the class of 1931. An all-seminary banquet will be held at Sturtevant Hall on Institution Hill, Newton Centre, next Monday evening at which the seniors will be the guests of honor. Rev. Lesley P. Gleem, rector of Christ Church, Cambridge, will speak.

MAY DAY

Today is May Day. In many centres of population demonstrations will take place tending toward the furtherance of Communism. There is no need to dwell on the undesirability of allowing such propaganda and demonstrations to spread. On the other side of the picture we have something much brighter at which to look. May Day is the day of the Maypole frolic, the May basket, and perhaps most important of all, National Child Health Day. Under a resolution of Congress the President of the United States annually proclaims the first day of this month as such. Children have been working since the beginning of school last September to improve their health towards the goal of being physically fit today. Out of this have come permanent benefits which are far more worthwhile accomplishments than any "red" demonstration could ever be.

DOG LICENSES

This is the time of year when dogs seem more prone to bite, whether or not they are afflicted with rabies. If there are an excessive number of cases it is sometimes deemed wise to enforce a law requiring dog owners to muzzle or confine them to a leash for ninety days. Many dogs are not licensed by their owners or do not wear the customary tag denoting the owner's name and address. Because of this many dogs are picked up as strays and turned over to the Mass. S. P. C. A. Naturally, without identification, it is impossible to return the dog to its rightful owner. If you have a dog be sure it is licensed and be sure it wears an identifying tag.

ORGANIST AT LOCAL CHURCH
HONORED

Mr. Everett E. Truette, for many years organist and choirmaster at the Eliot Congregational Church at Newton was honored by fellow organists of the New England Chapter of the American Guild of Organists on Monday evening at the rooms of the Harvard Musical Association on Beacon Hill, Boston. The occasion was in celebration of Mr. Truette's fifty years of service as an organist since his first organ recital.

Organists from various cities were present to congratulate Mr. Truette and to pay tribute to his musical ability which has made him an outstanding figure among organists. Mr. Raymond C. Robinson, organist at King's Chapel, presided and after a brief introductory speech presented several speakers including Walter J. Clemson, John Herman Loud, formerly of Newton, George A. Burdett, J. B. Whelley, H. C. Macdougall, Leroy Fuller and Mrs. Alpha Small. All paid tribute to Mr. Truette's remarkable career which has included not only that as an organist but also as composer and as a writer whose works on organ playing are accepted as standards in this field of music.

Mr. Fuller, as president of the Truette Club, made up of fourscore or more of those who have studied under Mr. Truette, told of the organization of the club and its purposes. The various tributes were fittingly acknowledged by Mr. Truette who was held with real interest in a retrospective speech. Later he was presented with a volume of "Churches of France" a large book amply illustrated with about fifty plates. Several piano solos and a social hour completed a most enjoyable evening for those present.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The enactment of the general appropriation bill and the compromise on the bills for additional public buildings would seem to indicate that at least some of the differences between the Governor and his Democratic supporters and the Republican members of the Legislature are adjusted. This should mean that attention may be given other of the important measures that are pending and all with a hope that the session will not be extended well into July as now appears probable. There are the Boston Elevated bill and the matter of compulsory automobile insurance, both of which will take considerable time to settle. Then there is the problem of redistricting the State in the matter of Congressional districts by reducing the number from 16 to 15. So, you see, there is plenty of work and the present speed with which matters are being handled cannot be called breathless.

The Joint Rules Committee is in favor of a special commission made up of a Senator, two Representatives and another to be appointed by the Governor to visit Chicago and see what Massachusetts may do to properly participate in the Chicago World's Fair in 1933. Under the terms of the resolve the special commission would have $2000 for expenses.

Bank matters are receiving unusual attention these days and developments are so frequent that conditions appear to be changed by daily reports.

It looks as if this Legislature would have the distinction of passing a bill providing for the establishment of State Commission for registration and examination for barbers. For a great many years efforts have been made to have such a bill enacted but without success. Usually it has been the Senate which has decided against the proposed legislation. Now there is a bill which appears to have a clear passage. If enacted it will come before the Governor for approval, of course, and will mean that the Governor will have to settle for himself the question of whether he wants another State commission. Representatives Baker and Luitwieler have both opposed the bill.

There was an unsuccessful attempt made to increase from $15 to $25 the amount of filing fee to be paid by applicants for admission to the bar. The proponents of the bill argued that the State Bar Examiners were obliged to perform additional duties in consequence of the changes in their rules. However, an appeal was made for the poor and ambitious law student and this won the House so the fee remains $15.

The bill to exempt trackless trolleys from the provisions of the motor vehicle laws was rejected by the Senate. Mr. Truette, told of the organization of the club and its purposes. The various tributes were fittingly acknowledged by Mr. Truette who was held with real interest in a retrospective speech. Later he was presented with a volume of "Churches of France" a large book amply illustrated with about fifty plates. Several piano solos and a social hour completed a most enjoyable evening for those present.

ROTARY CLUB

The weekly meeting of the Rotary Club of Newton was held as usual at the Woodland Golf Club on Monday. Rev. Raymond Lang, rector of the St. John's Episcopal Church of Newton, and a member of the club, was the speaker. His subject was "The Army, The Church and Public Opinion." He told of the benefits of military training in regard to developing a new sense of duties and respect to superiors in age and ability. He stressed the fact that the army was not preparing for war but endeavoring to train them in loyalty to the government and for defense in case of unavoidable conflict. Mr. Lang told of the attitude of army men towards church attendance and of the decreasing presence of liquor at army encampments. Mr. Lang is a captain in the R. O. T. C. and chaplain of the First Corps Cadets and told of the three military endeavors made by the United States. The R. O. T. C. in colleges where such training produces men in business and professional life who are better equipped for life's problems than those who have no military training. The C. M. T. C. where any boy between 17 and 24 is eligible and at the end of four thirty-day encampments may take examinations for commissions. The National Guard requires a three-year enlistment although many are granted leave that they may attend school. He urged the altering of public opinion.

Dr. Cecil Clark introduced Mr. Zeller of York, Pa., as a guest. Mr. Zeller was seventeen years of age at the time of the battle of Gettysburg, and is one of the few men now living who heard President Lincoln's famous address a few days later.

The report of the nominating committee was presented by Charles Ansley, chairman. The following have been nominated directors for the coming year: Frank L. Richardson, Walter L. MacCannan, Irving O. Palmer, Edward O. Childs, Thomas L. Goodwin, and Benjamin Rae.

TORCH SETS HOUSE AFIRE

PERKINS-KENNISTON

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Margaret W. Kenniston, daughter of Mrs. Inez Kenton of Exeter, New Hampshire, to Wakefield E. Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Oliver Perkins of 673 Centre street, Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles R. Peck of St. Paul's Cathedral. A reception for friends and relatives was held at the home of the bride's mother, in Exeter, on Saturday evening, May 9, from eight to ten o'clock.

After spending two weeks in June at Hancock, New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Perkins will reside in Brookline where the groom has business associations.

The bride is a graduate of Bradford Academy, class of 1928 and the groom a graduate of Harvard, 1928.

Burial will be in the Newton Cemetery.

LUCILLE ELIZABETH SIKES

Lucille Sikes of 187 Auburndale Avenue, Auburndale, Mass., died at her home early Sunday morning, after a short illness of five days with bronchial pneumonia. She was 7 years of age. She leaves two little sisters and father and mother, Marjorie Evelyn, five years old and Ruth Frances, four years old. Her mother, who was formerly Gladys Thompson of Newton and her father, Mr. Raymond Sikes, who is a well-known photographer, and organist and choirmaster of the Church of the Messiah. Her funeral service was held at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Sikes of 205 Auburndale avenue, at 4:30 on Tuesday. Burial was at Newton Cemetery. The Rev. Percival Wood officiated.

—News was recently received in Waban of the painful accident of Mr. Cutler Perkins, formerly a resident of Wamesit road, but now of Escondido, Calif. While riding his horse he was thrown and received injuries which necessitated his being taken to a hospital in San Diego, where he is recovering.

—Miss Ann MacIntire, daughter of the Alan M. MacIntires of Chestnut street, entertained several of her young friends at a party on Tuesday afternoon, the occasion being her 10th birthday. Her little guests were gowned in "grown-up" costumes for which prizes were awarded. Dainty refreshments were served.

—The meeting of the board of officers of the Village Improvement Society was held at the Neighborhood Club house on Tuesday evening, April 28th. The Society has taken advantage of the Mayor's Relief Committee by using a man to paint the street sign posts. Waste receptacles are to be placed in prominent places in the business section of the town in the immediate future. There is a drive on to increase the membership of this society and if you are not already a member join now and do your part in bettering conditions in our community.

Preaching to a packed auditorium Sunday evening at the West Newton Community Service in the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, Orville S. Poland, Boston lawyer and "mystery" layman, upheld the 18th amendment as having brought tremendous moral and economic gains since 1920.

Attorney Poland especially attacked the Anderson Plan saying:

"What are the essential elements of his plan? First, he would change the name of the saloon—just as in England they now call German police dogs Alsatian shepherds. Then he would remove the incentive for private profit by creating a semi-socialistic corporation with the government sharing in the surplus as a kind of a partner and underwriter for the business. Stock would be issued for a federal manufacturing corporation to run the distilleries and breweries and the United States would practically guarantee from 5% to 7% on this stock."

"In the states that might want to join in this plan similar state corporations would be set up with the states as partners in the business. These state corporations would handle the sale of liquor and run the saloons or whatever they might then be called. If a state should not want to adopt this plan it could keep prohibition, which Colonel Anderson says would work perfectly. He doesn't explain how it is that prohibition would work as well as a makeshift when he claims that it doesn't work at all now."

"In order to buy liquor all purchasers would have to get licenses. This would require evidence of good character and means of identification and a card to be punched so that the holder would not buy too many drinks. This system is borrowed from the finger-printing methods of European countries and ought to be fairly effective. But where do the thousands of Swedish drunks come from with this punch-your-card system in operation? Presumably there are no bootleggers in Sweden, no one buys liquor without a card, and only the temperance can get a card

POLICE NEWS

Mrs. Philomena Di Giandomenico of 114 Carlisle street, Newton Centre was found guilty in the Newton court yesterday of making an illegal sale of liquor and of keeping and exposing liquor for sale. She was fined $100 and given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. The woman's house was raided by police on April 11th and a large quantity of wine seized. This raid followed an illegal sale by her. When the police were searching her house they found hidden in a pillow slip $7000 in cash.

The Welfare Department of Newton obtains information of all cases tried in the Newton court to check up on persons who receive or apply for aid. When Miss Florence FitzGerald, head of the Welfare Department learned of Mrs. Di Giandomenico's arrest and the finding of the small fortune in money at her home she took measures to recover $454 which the Welfare Department had given this woman on the allegation that she was a needy widow. Mrs. Di Giandomenico alleged that the money found was not her property but belonged to a relative. Miss FitzGerald told the court that since the raid some of the money had been used to pay off a mortgage on the house. The supposed poor widow offered to pay back $100 to the city but Miss FitzGerald demanded that the entire $454 be paid back, or she would ask that a warrant charging larceny be issued against Mrs. Di Giandomenico. The latter then agreed to pay back the entire sum and did so.

Patrolman Murphy on Thursday shot a dog owned by Malcolm Blue of 16 Margaret road, Newton Highlands. The animal had been acting in a peculiar manner, and its owner requested that it be killed.

Ralph Carey of 65 Prospect street, West Newton was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail by Judge Brown in the Newton court yesterday for driving while under the influence of liquor.

—The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. Church will hold an all-day sewing meeting and luncheon in the Parish Hall on Wednesday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chester Nichols of Elliot street have moved to the recently occupied by Mr. Samuel Fisher on Butts street.

NONANTUM BANK'S ASSETS GONE

The Nonantum people who were depositors with the insolvent banks of A. Pescosolido & Company and the Nonantum Bankers Company find things looking dismal for them as a result of further information regarding the misappropriation of the assets of these two banks by Guy Vaughan, missing receiver.

Vaughan had collected $57,000 in assets belonging to the two Nonantum banks, had expended $16,000 for fees and expenses, appropriated $9600 for his own use and taken $30,000 more to cover shortages in other bank accounts for which he was receiver, according to Asst. Dist. Attorney Volpe of Middlesex County. Volpe charges that Vaughan started to steal the assets of the Pescosolido banks as far back as October 1929. Mr. Volpe complained about Vaughan's conduct as received in November of last year following many complaints made by persons who were depositors in the Nonantum banks. On Tuesday three indictments against Vaughan for larceny were returned by the Middlesex Grand Jury and the jury also sent a report to the Superior Court judges suggesting that Governor Ely remove Bank Commissioner Guy from office because of the contention that he is not a proper person to hold the position.

According to Dist. Attorney Volpe, he had been told some months ago by Commissioner Guy that Vaughan had $45,000 assets of the Pescosolido bank with which to pay a 40 per cent dividend to the depositors. Governor Ely ordered Attorney General Warner to investigate the charges made against Guy.

The Annual Convention of the Norumbega District Council of Religious Education will take place next Tuesday, May 5, at the Eliot Church, Newton, beginning with a supper at 6:30 p.m.

The program will include a brief business session, awarding of credits earned this year in the Training

School, and an address by Dr. H. Shelton Smith of Yale Divinity School, on the topic, "Dare Teachers be Christian?"

The Young People's Section of the Convention will be a new feature. This is sponsored by the Young People's Cabinet of the District. Miss Constance Dorr being in charge of the tickets. Basketball trophies for the past season will be presented. These have been won by the Newtonville Methodist girls and the Newton Immanuel Baptist boys. The Boys' League is under the direction of Mr. Clyde G. Hess of the Newton Y. M. C. A. while the Girls' League is in charge of Miss Lulloma Barker, Exec. Secretary of the District Council.

NASH

93% of all aviation motors in National Aircraft Show ... were Twin Ignition!

At the National Aircraft Show just held in Detroit, all but two of the aircraft were powered by motors with Twin Ignition (2 spark plugs per cylinder instead of one).

Nash, pioneer of progress in motor car design, brings the advantages of Twin Ignition to you. Both the Nash Eight-90 and the Nash Eight-80 have this superior type of power.

The Nash Twin-Ignition motor, with two simultaneous explosions per cylinder instead of one, burns the gasoline more speedily, more completely, more smoothly, more efficiently!

By actual engineering test of the same motor with Twin and single ignition, Twin Ignition produced 22% more horsepower, 5 miles per hour more top speed, and 2 extra miles of travel from a gallon of gasoline!

Of course you can get along without Twin-Ignition, but these cars—priced remarkably low—prove you don't get along so well!

Get the facts! Phone us—a Nash demonstrator will be sent to your door.

POLICE NEWS

George Cartwright of Bray Hall, Cambridge, a student, was arrested at 4:45 Saturday morning by Patrolmen Goddard and Sartwell charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. His case will be tried on May 6.

A squad of police including Sergt. King, Special Officers Feeley and Mulligan and Patrolman Cody raided a garage at 855 Watertown street, Newtonville at 3:44 Sunday afternoon and broke up a poker game. Four young men were arrested for gambling on the Lord's Day and six more for being present where gaming was going on. In the Newton court on Monday those fined $5 each for gambling were John McDonald, Linwood avenue; Anthony Thomas, 141 Edinboro street; Lawrence Quinn, Kensington street; Donald Olsen, Edinboro street. The six youths arrested for being present were fined $3 each.

Seven men were arrested over the week end for drunkenness.

Robert Murray of 81 Avalon road, Waban was fined $10 in the Newton court on Monday when convicted of speeding.

Thomas Mahoney of 105 Union street, Watertown, was in the Newton court on Monday charged with driving without authority in an automobile owned by William Phillips of 233 Centre street, Newton. His case was placed on file.

Peter Casella of 320 Cherry street, West Newton was fined $10 in the Waltham court on Monday morning for driving a gear shift car on a license limited to operate a planetary transmission car.

Burglars entered the home of Albert Radway, 103 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill last Friday night and looted the house.

Grover Farnsworth of Cambridge complained to the police last Friday night that a bullet had been fired at his car as it was travelling on Commonwealth avenue, near Lake street Chestnut Hill. It pierced the glass in the right front door of the car.

Luck was against Giuseppe Corsetti of 34 Massachusetts avenue Cambridge, on Monday night. One of the headlights on his automobile went out of commission while he was driving and Motorcycle Officer Dwyer, noticing the car with only one headlight working, signalled Corsetti to stop as the latter was rounding the corner of Adams and Watertown streets, Nonantum. Apparently mistaking the policeman's reason for wanting him to halt, Corsetti stepped on the gas and sped down Adams street with Dwyer in pursuit. The car turned into Cottage place and the driver vanished from it. When Dwyer reached the car he found several cans nearby which he assumed had been thrown from the pursued car. These cans contained 13 gallons of alcohol.

Dwyer had recognized Corsetti and obtained a warrant for his arrest on the charge of keeping and exposing liquor for sale. Corsetti was arrested Tuesday morning by Patrolman Green. He appeared in the Newton court that morning and his case was continued until May 6.

Thomas McNamee of 17 Tabor place, Brookline, reported to the police on Monday that he had been badly bitten by a dog owned by Raymond Wells of 120 Collins road, Waban. Wells was ordered to restrain the dog.

Peter Turchon, owner of the Boston Bradley Company, 332 Centre street, Newton, a mail order business, reported to the police that an emerald ring and a Harvard class ring had been stolen from a drawer in his desk. The theft was discovered Monday morning. In the same desk was a quantity of jewelry including gold watches, which were not disturbed. The police are investigating.

The charge of larceny against John Schriro of Dracut was dismissed in the Newton court on Wednesday. He was accused of having taken steam radiators from a new house under construction at Newtonville. The complainant decided not to prosecute.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

COMING EVENTS

Christian Era Study Club

The Annual Meeting of the Christian Era Study Club will be held on Monday, May 4, at the home of the president, Miss Ella B. Smith, 15 Vista avenue. It is customary at this meeting to make assignments for the coming year. Instead of the usual program a social hour will be enjoyed.

Newton Federation

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be held on Tuesday, May 5, at 2:30 p.m. in the Newton Centre Women's Club House, Newton Centre.

A business meeting will be held at 2:30 p.m. when officers will be elected for the coming year. This will be preceded by the Annual Luncheon at one p.m. under the auspices of the Social committee, with Mrs. C. H. Lippscott, of the Community Service Club of West Newton, in charge.

The first president of the Federation, Mrs. George G. Phipps, the retiring officers of the Federation, and the retiring presidents of the affiliated clubs will be guests at the head table.

Following the luncheon, at 2:30 p.m., one of the closing events of the Club year will be the annual reports of the officers and of chairmen of Standing Committees, the reports of the Club presidents, and, instead of being given individually these will, this year be presented in a combined report, given by Mrs. Phister Cowin, president of the Federation for 1929-1930.

A similarly-combined report for the Associate Organizations will be given by Mrs. George W. Auryanians, of the Newtonville Woman's Club.

At this time the amendment to the constitution and by-laws will receive final action.

The Program committee, with Mrs. Francis Newhall, chairman, has arranged a delightful entertainment with Miss Mae Taylor, of the New England Conservatory of Music, who will sing two groups of songs.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The Club members of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands have been so successful in their gardening enterprises, as well as keenly interested therein, that the work of the Conservation Unit will, at the end of this Club year, prove growth and progress, by blossoming into a full-blown organization to be known as "The Garden Club of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands." This Club will be an affiliation of the Woman's Club, but also has the advantage of becoming affiliated with the National Garden Federation. A Club Conservation committee changes personnel each two years, but under the contemplated move for organizing, such interested and experienced Club members may continue their special line of work by becoming permanent members of the Garden Club, on payment of an annual fee, as is the custom with all clubs. An added advantage is that membership is open to all in the community, whose special hobby is gardening, whether or not a member of the Woman's Club. These will, however, pay a slightly higher fee than the regular Club members in annual dues, which is a quite fair specification.

During the past two years the Garden and Conservation Unit of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club has progressed rapidly in these special interests, and has been responsible for many delightful activities, displays, and exhibits. This has come to pass under the able chairmanship of Mrs. E. A. Dussoisolt, so that it is quite fitting that she has been chosen to serve the newly-organized Garden Club as its president. There are many enjoyable plans in the making, details of which will be given later in this Column.

In the recent Talisman Rose Contest, offered by the Miller Rose Company, of Needham, members of the Woman's Club announced as winners are as follows: First prize, Mrs. Seward Jones; second prize, Mrs. Percy Merry; and third prize, Mrs. E. F. Haberstroh. This was but one of the many worthwhile events of the year for this Unit of the Club.

In further evidence of the activity of the Unit is the coming Flower Show, to be held at the Workshop on May 13, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. This is arousing keen interest among Club members, indications being that at least one hundred entries will be scheduled. The prizes offered cover a wide range. In three classes of exhibits the rules are that entries must be grown by the exhibitor, while in four classes they are not restricted in this respect. The children's class of exhibits has been divided into two groups, one for children under eleven years, and the other for children under sixteen years of age.

Last, a snap-shot of unsightly places can be excellent proof that improvement is needed!

If Clubwomen are looking for something really worthwhile to do, here is their opportunity.

State Federation

RADIO. Mr. W. Duncan Russell, general director of Boston Community Service, is guest speaker for Mrs. Fred B. Cross, chairman of the State Community Service Department, and he will broadcast highlights on this work from station WBZ, next Thursday afternoon, May 7, at 2:30 o'clock, daylight saving time. The studio string ensemble is to furnish the musical interlude. Mrs. Manning Emery, Jr., vice-chairman of the Boston International Institute, will broadcast on this topic, at 2:30 p.m., for the Division of Inter-racial Unity, of which Mrs. C. H. Danforth is chairman.

SLOGAN FOR MRS. POOLE. Newton Clubwomen are reminded that May 5th is the final date for receipt by Miss Titus of the catchy slogan wanted for Grace Morrison Poole. It would be splendid if some one of the Newton Clubwomen could capture this honor.

With so many among them writing skits and spicy reports for Annual Meetings, and turning their cleverness to other writings, surely one of them could concoct a slogan that would attract the Contest Editor.

There is Mrs. Hosley, of Waban; Mrs. Warfield, of Newton Highlands; Mrs. Drew and Mrs. Longfellow, of Auburndale—all of whom have delighted their Clubs with clever bits—and many others. Your editor appeals to them—capture this honor for Newton!

This slogan, which must be brief, clever, and to the point, will be used in Mrs. Poole's campaign for the presidency of the General Federation.

This is the simple rule to follow: Write the slogan on the face of an envelope. Insert in the envelope a slip of paper with name of sender, address, and her Club. Seal this envelope and place it in another larger one which should be addressed to Slogan Contest Editor, Federation Topics, 11 Deer Cove, Lynn, Mass.

Entries must be in by May 5. The winning slogan will be announced at Swampscott.

BEAUTIFYING THE ROADSIDES.

Quite in line with interest in gardening, and with the spring paint-up and clean-up week, are the suggestions of the Co-operating Committee on Roadside Beauty of the New England Council. This organization became keenly interested in the project of good roads through this part of the country, and not only in this valuable asset to travelers, but in making these roadsides a thing of beauty to look upon, while travelers enjoyed the excellent paving. For such a well-organized Association to decide that these projects should be carried forward augurs well, but they need the support and assistance of every other organization and of individuals to clinch success.

Summer travelers have not always found Massachusetts highways pleasing or beautiful. Criticisms have been voiced that decided the New England Council that not only for aesthetic value but for remunerative value, roadsides needed attention.

Remunerative value may be the surer argument for the business man, and it has been acknowledged as an argument based upon fact, as presented by reports to the Council. Great revenues come to this State every year through the tourist trade. If roads are poor to the point of discomfort, landscapes ugly, and roadsides repulsive, tourists will not pass this way a second time! There is no surer way to coax the tourist here to spend his money than not to disappoint him, when he is seeking vacation and pleasure.

With the closing of the Women's Club season there still remains, therefore, a most vital piece of work that can best be carried forward during the summer. At this time it can be seen just what spots are barren and forlorn, unsightly, even disgusting.

Report on such spots on the approach to one's town, or within its borders, is an excellent bit of service to one's community and one's State. Club women touring in automobiles, or those who remain more closely within their town and city confines may see many "sore" spots that may be healed.

Just a few of the unsavory views may be mentioned as worth watching for.

Trees and shrubs in poor condition; possibly the victims of caterpillars and other pests.

Ungainly poles, interfering with tree development.

Ditches or cuts in the roadsides, whose ugliness could be overcome by grading, or by planting of vines, shrubs, or wild flowers.

Billboards and signs, advertising local or other companies that hide or mar an otherwise attractive vista.

Dumps, picnic rubbish, and other trash that is thrown by design or accident.

Collection days on city streets. Are papers allowed by the city authorities to be placed in open receptacles to blow throughout a community, and upon the lawns of citizens who are striving to keep their own places clean and attractive?

If so, this unintelligent practise on the part of inhabitants, not only for the beauty of the city, but in fairness to their citizens who are being so annoyed.

Filling stations, lunch stands, overnight camps, stores. Are they kept as clean in surroundings as possible?

Are there too many in a given distance?

Historic markers and signs. Could they be made more attractive? Could more such interesting markers be placed in pleasing settings?

Shrubs, trees, flowers. Could these be planted to cover the barren places; to heal the ugly spots?

Last, a snap-shot of unsightly places can be excellent proof that improvement is needed!

If Clubwomen are looking for something really worthwhile to do, here is their opportunity.

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Community Club

At the Annual Meeting of the Newton Community Club on Thursday, April 23, in Underwood School Hall, the following officers for 1931-32 were elected: President, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge; first vice-president, Mrs. Harold Moore; second vice-president, Mrs. Clarence C. Smith; third vice-president, Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer; recording secretary, Mrs. Laurence W. Kattelle; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marvin L. Parker; treasurer, Mrs. George L. Parker; auditor, Miss Margaret H. Aubin; directors, term expires 1934: Mrs. Elwood A. Howe, Mrs. Edward O. Loring; and Nominating committee, 1932: Mrs. Leroy P. Guion, chairman; Mrs. Donald V. Baker, Mrs. Henry P. Curtiss, Mrs. Harold P. Fuller, and Mrs. Arthur Kendrick.

The president, Mrs. Henry P. Curtis, presided at the business meeting which included reports from all chairmen of committees. At the close of business and election, the gavel was presented by the retiring president to the newly-elected president. After a short greeting, and complimentary words to the past officers, Mrs. Goodridge turned over the meeting to Mrs. James A. Moyer, chairman of Program for the past two years.

A fascinating little one-act play, entitled "Pierrot's Pierrette," by Dorothy Abbott Hamburger, was presented. The three members of the cast were Ralph F. Flather; Mrs. William Fawcett equally captivating as Pierrette, and the third member of the cast, little Marjorie Hamburger, daughter of the author, who played THE LITTLE ONE in a most delightful way. This attractive little fantasy was most appealing and interesting, and greatly enjoyed by all.

The stage properties had been most skillfully arranged by Mrs. Lawrence Kattelle, Mrs. Joseph Gerrity and Mrs. William Ridge. Mrs. James J. Bosdan, with violin accompaniment, and Mrs. James Moyer at the piano, supplied several pleasing selections.

The new president, Mrs. Goodridge, asked for the co-operation and support of the Club members and most graciously invited the retiring president Mrs. Curtiss to close the meeting. Ice cream and cake were served by the very efficient Social committee, of which Mrs. Benjamin Hinckley is chairman.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Annual Meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held April 24, at the Brae Burn Country Club, Mrs. John B. Shaw being chairman for this pleasurable event. The following officers were elected: Mrs. D. Earle Brackett, president; Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, first vice-president; Mrs. John S. Franklin, second vice-president; Mrs. Roy A. Sturz, recording secretary; Mrs. Sidney B. Sargent, treasurer; Mrs. Frederick A. Cole, auditor; and directors, Mrs. Willard C. Church, Mrs. Harry S. Wells, and Mrs. Guy Munroe. The Nominating committee elected for 1931-32 includes Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, chairman, Mrs. George H. Jackson, Mrs. Herman R. Place, Mrs. Ethel Leach, and Mrs. Justin D. Sterke.

The retiring officers were presented with flowers, and Mrs. Charles L. Anderson the retiring treasurer, was presented with a pin, as a token of appreciation of her work during the past eight years as treasurer.

West Newton Junior Educational Club

The Annual Meeting of the West Newton Junior Educational Club was held April 7, at the Oriole Tea Room in Wellesley. After the dinner, the president called the meeting to order and the secretary and the treasurer read their reports. The secretary also read a report of the Club's activities for the year.

After a little discussion the Club voted to give a sum of money to the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and also a sum of money to the State Federation for Forest Fire Prevention.

ANOTHER ALL-EXPENSE VACATION TOUR

Once again F. J. Reuter, Passenger Manager of the International Mercantile Marine Company's Boston Office, has announced his annual late summer all-expense vacation tours which in the four years since he inaugurated these moderate cost European trips for the "uncrowded season" have established themselves as an important travel feature and have met a real need, as the increasing response of the public indicates. The same high quality will be maintained as in past years. The cost of the 30 days tour is but $410 and the 38 days tour $495. The delightful weather prevailing in the British Isles and on the Continent at this Indian Summer season, the absence of peak-season congestion on steamers and in hotels, the off-season rates, which make it possible to include an itinerary at moderate cost, and the expert planning of these tours, all combine to assure their success and popularity.

All travel roads lead to Paris this year, where the Great International Colonial and Overseas Exposition will be held. All Nations will have exhibits, and special arrangements will be made for members of these tours to visit the exposition. See America reproduced in Paris. The charm and mystery of foreign lands will also be displayed, in a gorgeous setting of trees and water. Without leaving Paris you will go "Round the World in One Day."

Both groups leave Boston August 30 on the largest Cabin Class Liner in the World, the new White Star Line Motor Vessel "Britannic," and land at Cobh, visiting Blarney Castle, the Lakes of Killarney, and Dublin, proceeding by night steamer to Liverpool, thence by train to London through the typical English countryside.

Three days are given to sightseeing in London, and there is an optional trip by rail and motor coach to the Shakespeare Country. Both parties will board the night boat at Harwich for the Hook of Holland where two days will be enjoyed visiting Amsterdam, the Hague, Isle of Maarten and Volendam in the Zuider Zee.

From Holland the party will travel by train to Cologne and after visiting the Cathedral, proceed by Rhine steamer to Mayence. At this point members of the 38-day tour will leave

MAYOR WEEKS GOES TO EUROPE

Mayor Weeks and his wife, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Bliss of 155 Chestnut Hill Rd., Chestnut Hill, will depart from New York tomorrow on the EUROPA of the North German Lloyd for a trip to Europe. Landing at Southampton the party will tour England by automobile for a week and will then go to France where another week will be spent. They will return from Cherbourg on May 23rd.

A New Business Problem.
Our Turn to Dump Wheat.
Better Than Flying.
Money Very Cheap.

Business men have a new problem, although ninety per cent of them don't yet know it.

In 1929 their problem was "How can we produce all that we can sell?" Their problem now is "How can we sell all that we produce, or even half of it?"

The 1929 problem was one of manufacturing. The problem now is one of ADVERTISING and distribution. A 90 per cent manufacturing proposition has suddenly changed to a 90 per cent advertising proposition.

Business, big and little, should realize that for its own sake.

Our Farm Board, tired of buying wheat above the market price, will sell in Europe the huge surplus acquired while it was "running a wheat corner." The Board paid as much as 92 cents a bushel, and will probably get about half that, as it gradually "dumps" its wheat on Europe's markets.

By the way, it was "red, roaring Bolshevik" when Russia dumped a little wheat over here. It will be respectable finance when we dump one or two hundred million bushels in Europe. "Orthodoxy" is my doxy. Heterodoxy is your doxy."

Ruth Nichols, young American flapper, who holds the two-way trans-continental air speed record for women, will fly from New York to Paris, via the Lindbergh route, all alone.

There should be some way of admiring and rewarding young women of this kind as thoroughly as they deserve, and at the same time a way to prevent their running such risks.

Mr. Reuter will supervise the tour personally, and a representative of Thos. Cook & Son will also travel with the party in Europe to take charge of the pre-arranged sightseeing and travel arrangements.

An attractive folder has been prepared with full particulars of these Indian Summer tours which may be obtained from the Newton Steamship Agency, 11 Centre Avenue, Newton (Telephone Newton North 4354) where excellent reservations for this tour may be made.

CHESTNUT HILL IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY ANNUAL MEETING

Members of the Chestnut Hill Improvement Society met last Friday, April 24 at the Commonwealth Country Club for their annual meeting. The affair usually is held in January but it was deferred this year on account of the illness of Pres. Theall. Reports of the activities of the past year were read and the membership campaign and the plans for the coming months were discussed. Another meeting for members with their ladies is definitely scheduled for early June at the Commonwealth Country Club, although no date has as yet been set. The committee arranging the details for this June meeting is composed of Lt. Col. John A. Degen, Martin C. Devizia, Horace E. Jacobs, A. C. Webber and Morris Silverman.

The officers and the Board of Governors elected were as follows: President, David C. Theall; First Vice-Pres., A. C. Webber; Second Vice-Pres., Richard Harte; Third Vice-Pres., Rev. D. J. Lynch, S.J.; Fourth Vice-Pres., Merrill C. Nutting; Treasurer, Maj. B. L. Gordinkle; Secretary, William E. Soule. The Board of Governors consist of the above seven officers and the following: Edward J. O'Connell, Moses H. Gulesian, Charles Barnett, Fred Moore and Horace S. Jacobs.

France has begun sending gold to the United States, and our biggest supply on earth will become even bigger. All that we need now is someone to tell us how to use all the gold, money, coal, oil, wheat, cotton and other things we have in excess.

We have everything and don't know how to distribute it.

Money is cheap, like other things, Uncle Sam needs $60,000,000 more for May refunding, and can borrow below one and a half per cent. Those who do not understand finance wonder why Uncle Sam must borrow from banks, when he himself prints the money they lend him.

Professor W. Z. Ripley, of Harvard, authority on transportation, says we need a new cabinet position with a title like "Secretary of Transportation" to manage railroads. He advocates railroad mergers that will reduce thirty big systems to four to meet competition of trucks and buses.

The nation should discard or re-vamp the archaic Sherman Act, nearly fifty years old, as much out of date as the hansom cabs that carried its authors.

The act actually would put in jail manufacturers, oil producers, coal men or railroad men if they evolved and applied a plan to fight depression with common sense regulation of production.

In one of the Central American countries barbers, to restore prosperity and kill competition, plead with the government to forbid importation of safety razors. "It is unjust to us," they say, "to let people learn how to shave themselves, so don't let them."

That sounds like the modern protest against improved machinery and the protest of some railroad men against canals and automobiles. The way to conquer competition is to beat it. Tears will not suffice.

Russians take a good many things seriously to which we pay comparatively little attention here. Some 99,000 have been expelled from the Bolshevik party, some because they are "immoral," others because they are friends of Trotsky.

If you are caught cheating the government you often go to Europe on a yacht. You always do if you cheat on a big enough scale.

If you commit a murder, you are punished sometimes, not often. You would be surprised to know how few were punished for the last 9,000 murders committed in the United States. (© 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

I must tell you about a delicious and inexpensive meat dish that we have made in our test kitchen.

The recipe as given below was suggested by a chance conversation in which someone mentioned a meat dish called "Poor Man's Pudding," a favorite in our grandmother's day. While we were unable to get the recipe in detail, we believe the dish as we made it resembles the original closely and we are sure that you will find it very appetizing. We would like, however, to give it the name of:

Cottage Pie

2 pounds flank steak
2 cups thinly sliced potato
½ cup thinly sliced onion
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced carrots

Cover meat with hot water and simmer slowly for two hours. Cut in small pieces. Parboil vegetables until tender. Make a gravy of broth from the meat and the vegetable water by using two tablespoons of flour for each cup of liquid. Line baking dish with a rich biscuit dough, put in meat and vegetables in layers, pour the gravy over and lay biscuits cut with a doughnut cutter over the top. Bake at 400 degrees for about forty minutes. This recipe will serve 8 persons.

As you know, flank steak is very inexpensive; the two pounds cost only about forty cents. This cut of meat becomes tender through long slow cooking and is very tasty.

Of course you could make a real "left-over" dish by using left-over meat and vegetables, omitting the potatoes from the pie and using a

BATTERY PROPELS NORTH POLE SUB

Philip Bram, local Exide dealer, gives information of the Wilkins submarine "Nautilus" which lately started on the first leg of its hazardous voyage to the North Pole powered by a giant 60-ton Exide battery which will light, operate and propel the craft while it is submerged. One hundred and twenty cells, each over 5 feet high will propel the 175 foot craft. The big battery could supply the current requirements of 3000 automobiles. At one charge it can propel the submarine 120 miles at 3 knots an hour. An armor-plated super-structure has been built on the deck of the submarine which will protect the conning tower and periscopes and on which are mounted inverted sled runners that will allow the "Nautilus" to graze along the bottom of the ice in the Arctic region. Drills have been installed for the purpose of boring through the ice if open water is not found at frequent intervals. One of the drills, 2 feet in diameter and hollow, may be extended 13 feet above deck. The hole that this drill will bore upward through the ice will enable the crew to reach the surface even though the submarine is under the ice and completely submerged. The other drills, 9 inches in diameter, can be elevated 60 feet and bore holes which will provide intake and exhaust vents to allow the operation of the Diesel engines in the "sub" and thus recharge the batteries.

Wails from a Week-End

I found great satisfaction in staying at home Patriots' Day and doing work about the place instead of running off for a jamboree. Just to prove that it pays better to stick close to one's fireside I ask you to read the sad but true tale of an office assistant, who writes as follows:

"Dear L. D. G. B.:

When you wished me a pleasant week-end over the Patriots' Day holiday did you, by any chance, have your fingers crossed? If you did not, the tale that I am about to relate would seem to indicate that the efficacy of your good wishes is practically a negative quantity. Or, to make a long story about the same length, I didn't have anywhere nearly as good a time as you wished me.

"To begin with the whole affair was rather silly and, you might say, trivial. The only thing that's really wrong is that I've got a little bit of sand in the shutter of my camera and it won't work. You see the sand just seeped in there and when the water dried out of the bellows and shutter of the camera I tried to use it and it wouldn't go at all.

"How did water get in the camera?

"Oh, yes, that was when the camera went into the river. You see I couldn't fish it out for quite awhile, almost an hour, in fact and when I did it was just full of water and sand and stuff. That's clear isn't it?"

"Did I drop it out of the boat?"

"Oh, no, it was in the seat of the car. You see, I had been using it to make some pictures around the cottage and when I got through, I just put it in the machine so it wouldn't get kicked around or get sand in it or something. I knew it would be safe in the auto all right."

"You don't understand how it could

Waking-up the May Queen

Every May Day—and this is one of them—I can't help thinking of the young lady who warned her mother, "You must wake and call me early, Mother dear, for I am to be Queen of the May." That's all I remember about it, in fact the whole incident is vague or as nothing in my memory except the fact that the heroine left a call for early breakfast. I assume that little incident must have taken place several or, indeed, many years ago. I haven't heard of any girl lately who wanted to be awakened early for the sake of wearing a crown of blossoms.

It strikes me, as things go nowadays, Daughter would more likely say something like this, "For goodness sake, Mother, let me sleep tomorrow morning. I know what you're thinking, Mother, but what if I am to be Queen of the May?" Is that any reason for hopping out of bed and early to rise stuff? It's not being done. I know I am Queen every day of the year so why stress that fact just because it happens to be the First day of May.

If I am to be Queen of the May, Mother, isn't it all the more reason I should have a good long sleep and plenty of time in the morning to have my hair down. I want to look my sweetest, don't I? No, Mother darling, whatever you do don't wake and call me early. When I wake up myself it is time enough, and please have everything quiet as possible around the house so I can sleep as long as I wish. Thanks, old dear."

A Man and His Hat

Let us drink a silent toast (using White Rock, of course) to the approaching hatless days! Maybe you're ready to tell me that this going without a hat is a college privilege and anybody my age should know better. It's because I not only know better but I know best. Hats off to and for the warm weather, it's my cry.

Did I hear somebody whisper that I am stingy and think I save money?

That isn't the explanation. I am a great deal more comfortable and besides I buy me a straw hat just the same, for there are occasions when I must go with my head covered.

For instance, I wouldn't think of making a hatless trip to business for fear of being stared at. That's funny isn't it?

We get a notion that we must be very conspicuous when as a matter of fact probably nobody has any idea of our presence. All the same, I'm too timid to run the chance of a little kidding and so I get darned good hat and leave it off as much as I dare.

That's fine spirit to show somebody remarked. Well, it's fair, isn't it?

The hatters can't say I'm spoiling their trade. The esthetic-minded may complain that the wind blows my hair around and that my appearance is not neat. I'm sorry, if that is any help. If it looks boyish all I ask is, please don't gaze my way.

But now for the practical side. Did you read where a bunch of men who were attending a men's club affair in West Newton had their hats pinched? Somebody got in the coatroom and carried off a quantity of headgear. I read the list of those who were robbed. The paper didn't say whether they had their initials in their hats or not. What good are your own initials on somebody else's head and what good to you is your hat on the head of another? I'm not saying a word against hats, but if those men hadn't worn any hats that night or if they had continued to wear them through the evening it would have been a different story.

I hope the police will clear up this mystery. I want everybody to get his own hat back. It's bad enough when you lose your hat through a mixup in the coat room. But when somebody steals it!—What's the idea of stealing hats anyway? As much as I enjoy seeing men bare-headed I don't think they should be deprived of their hats unless by orders of a physician. We've got to be cool-headed about this whole thing.

fall in the river if it was in the seat of the car?

"Oh, I forgot to tell you about that, didn't I? You see the auto rolled down the embankment into the river and the door was open. When the auto landed in the water, the camera just slid out. The car landed upside down, did I tell you that?"

"The only thing that saved it was that it landed on the boat and that saved it from rolling way out into deep water. Can you imagine a 16-foot boat breaking the force of an auto that rolled down a 35-foot banking and turned over? Of course it stove in the sides of the boat, but it saved the car. And that's when the camera fell out. Do I make myself clear?"

"You want to know how the car happened to roll down the bank?"

"Well, we forgot to put the emergency brake on when we got out of it, guess. You see, we were kind of scared when we heard the explosion and we got out of the machine in a hurry. We didn't know at first that it was just the oil stove that had blown up and we were careless about the brake, that's all. By the time we had put the fire out, the car had just rolled down the banking and there it was."

"The fire the oil stove caused when it blew up, I mean. You see, that burned up most of the kitchen, and by the time we got it out the car was gone. We got it up, though. They sent a wrecker up from a garage down in the village. We rode back in it, too, so we only had to walk one way, you see. That was only about seven miles. We were glad we didn't have to walk back, as you can imagine."

"After we got the car fished out of the river, we had the boat pulled out, too. Of course the planking and ribs were all smashed from the weight of the car and the paint was all scraped off, but we were pretty lucky for the anchor wasn't damaged a bit!"

"After that, everything went fine, though. In fact the doctor was saying—"

"What doctor? Why, the doctor that came up to set Bill's broken ankle. Bill slipped when we were repairing the wharf where the machine landed on it and fractured his ankle. He'll be O. K. in a month or so though."

"As I said before, the only thing that really happened that anyone could get sore about is that the camera is broken. I don't want you to think that I'm complaining about that, either. I'm just telling you that's all."

"Well, I guess I'd better close now, although there are some other things I really ought to tell you, about the dog, stealing the meat we had for Sunday's dinner and about the mouse we found in the bed Saturday night."

"But, after all, why should I bore you with my troubles? I was never one to do that, as you well know. Always keep your woes to yourself, that's me."

"Your cheerful assistant,

"LARRY."

P. S. Enjoyed the weekend very much, except for the few slight things I have mentioned.

On the Bean

The next time I happen into a Chinese restaurant—we can't tell what is likely to happen to us these days—I am going to call for soy beans. My reason for so doing is that I want to keep abreast and if possible ahead of the times. You see, the United States Department of Agriculture has sent specialists to Japan and China to find new varieties of soy beans and new uses for them. I don't know that I would have any use for a soy bean, but I prefer not to commit myself until I have all the evidence in my possession. Sounds a bit judicial, but you know it pays to be careful.

At any rate I am all stirred up because I have read in official publication that soy beans offer new fields to confection manufacturers. Proof that I have been partial, almost too much so, to confections was proved the other day when a man who had just returned from a sightseeing trip to London said, "You look as big as a beef-eater from the Tower." It took me some time to get that through my head, but after consulting guidebooks and other pamphlets I knew that I had been compared to a fat guard at the Tower of London. It didn't make me happy to learn the truth, but that's entirely a personal matter.

Soy beans I said. Never mind looking in up. Here's what the dictionary gives: "An Asiatic fabaceous herb with nearly erect hairy stems and trifoliate leaves; also its white globose seed used for food in China and Japan. The plant is grown for forage in the Southern United States." May be all that means something to you. To me it means that soy beans are an acquired taste so I turn back to the official document and find, "One of the principal confections made from the beans is a roasted peanut. The beans are soaked in water and then roasted over a slow fire, the product retaining the bean but being tenderer than peanuts. The same product is made into confections of various flavors by coating with flavored sugar. The roasted beans are used in candies much as are peanuts in the Western countries."

Already, the article says, the manufacture of shoyu sauce from soy beans has started in the United States. You'd think that shoyu was a trade name fixed up or invented for the sake of a slogan or sales-phrase. But apparently not. The word is a regular one.

As I remarked, I intend to patronize a Chinese restaurant at an early date hoping the waiter will ask, "Can I show you our shoyu sauce?"

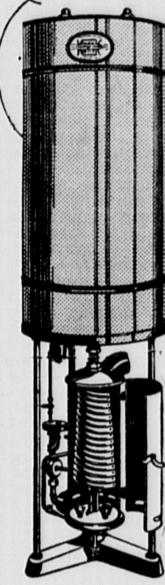

To this I will reply, "Thanks, if you will, old soy bean."

Royal Beauty Upsets Newsman

In current fiction, "talkies" and about everywhere else newspapermen are almost invariably referred to as "hardboiled". I am not the one to argue pro or con. Be that as it may, I yet have never seen such a panic among the profession as was created by the Oriental beauty of the Japanese Princess. The visit of the royal

POLICE NEWS

A car owned by Richard Ashenden, Jr., of Fairfares Avenue, Newtonton, stolen from in front of his house Sunday night was found in Watertown on Monday. Another car stolen from the Chestnut Hill section on Monday afternoon was later found abandoned in Medford. Apparently someone who travels from Chestnut Hill towards Medford takes this cheap method of obtaining transportation as several cars have been recently stolen in the Chestnut Hill district which were later found abandoned in the vicinity of Medford.

Robert DeMulder of 47 Strathmore road, Brookline, was fined $100 in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving while under the influence of liquor.

On Tuesday night burglars entered the homes of Edward D. Wright, 82 Day street, West Newton, and Ralph Case, 76 Day street, West Newton. The Wright house was entered by breaking a pane of glass in the back door. This house had been ransacked and the jewelry case emptied. The Case house had been entered by use of a false key. Jewelry was also stolen from this house.

Cataldo Bonomi of 183 Adams street, Newton, was arrested about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning charged with drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. The arrest was made after the car Bonomi was driving had hit a milk wagon at the corner of California and Chapel streets, Nonantum. Neil Murphy of Warren street, Waltham, driver of the wagon received cuts and bruises. Bonomi will be tried on May 8.

DANCE RECITAL FOR MOTHERS' REST BENEFIT

A delightful recital of dancing for the benefit of the Mothers' Rest Association of Newton was given by the pupils of Miss Mary Stanley last Saturday afternoon at the Newton Club, Newtonton. The group dances were charming in conception, colorful and remarkably well executed. Perhaps the most striking of these was the "Greek Balloon Dance." Other attractive group numbers were "Muff Dance," "The Scarecrow," "Mazurka Duet," "The Little Hollander," and "Tally Ho!" Among the solo numbers of especial charm were those by Olivia Bigelow, Connie May Arnoldy, Betty Medbury, and Barbara Hastings and two delightful dances by Miss Stanley. Tea was served following the program.

EVERETT WINS IN WEIRD CONTEST, 4-1

Everett High turned back Newton High last Saturday at the Everett Stadium, 4 to 1. One big inning, the seventh, was all that the Gilders clan needed to upset the orange and black, although they were aided by two important factors, the short right field stand and the official decisions of the umpire. The local outfit saved a shutout by scoring its single tally in the fourth which at the time knotted the score at four.

With two down in the first Colby hit a fly which the catcher and pitcher allowed to drop between them for a scratch single, but the Newton player, who played right field instead of at his former position at third base, was out trying to steal second a moment later. Kraber was on the mound for Newton and had difficulty finding the plate. The first two men were passed but Hildreth caught the first one napping off first with a quick throw to Butler. Brickley hit over the right field stands for two bases and the baserunner, Devenuit, moved along to third, scoring on Yavarow's fly to Colby. In the second, Butler reached first on an infield hit to third, took second on a passed ball but was left when Hildreth and Mullen both fanned. Everett got a man on after two were down in its half but he was left at first.

Newton went down in order in the third as did Everett after the first batter drew a pass. In the fourth, with one down Colby singled and moved along on an error by the first baseman. Rhodes singled to centre to bring Colby home but the next two runners were retired quickly. Everett failed to break the tie in its half of the frame, although they filled the bases with two down. Curran had drawn a pass. Hildreth's glove tipped Lillis' bat as the Everett shortstop hit down to Appleyard at third and was awarded his base for interference. Shea, Everett's pitcher, singled into the stands and Curran was held at third by the ground rule after Coach Sullivan had protested his coming home. Antonelli took care of Polensky's trap to cut off the threatening rally.

Newton threw a chance away in the fifth. Kraber got a life on the second baseman's error after two were out. Huston singled to centre and Kraber tried to make third base, but the throw had him beaten a mile. Everett went down in order with Kraber fanning the first two batters and Mullen taking Yavarow's fly to centre.

With one down Colby got his third single in Newton's sixth, but Rhodes and Butler were retired. Kraber turned Everett back in order in the rest of the frame.

A double play ruined the orange and black's chances in the seventh. Hildreth singled but was forced at second by Mullen. Appleyard was safe on an error by the shortstop as he tried to get Mullen at second. Kraber fled out to left and Mullen was too far off the bag to get back in time to escape being doubled up. Kraber walked pinch hitter Lund to open Everett's seventh. Shea laid down a neat sacrifice and Polensky drew his third pass in four trips to the plate. Devenuit singled to left, scoring Lund and Kraber gave way to Giles. Brickley singled into the stands to score Polensky and putting Devenuit on third. With Yavarow at bat Devenuit stole home and although it seemed that Hildreth had made the putout the umpire refused to alter his decision of "safe." This ended the scoring.

In the last two frames Newton went down in order with the exception of Colby's base on balls in the eighth. Giles set Everett back in the last of the eighth without trouble.

NEWTON NET TEAM SCORES 8-0 SHUTOUT

The Newton High School tennis team, after opening the season ten days ago with a defeat from the Milton Academy racket wielders, took its vengeance out on the Middlesex School team of Concord on Wednesday by winning all eight matches. This afternoon the Newton net team will oppose the Country Day school team at the latter's courts in Newton. Following that match Coach Taylor's players will begin a real stiff battle with various Greater Boston teams.

On the Middlesex courts this week the summary of the matches was:

Singles
Chase, Newton, defeated Brewer, 7-5, 7-5; J. Jarrell, Newton, defeated Fuller, 6-1, 6-1; Dunnell, Newton, defeated Bergland, 6-0, 6-0; Azigior, Newton, defeated Batchelder, 6-1, 6-1; Wales, Newton, defeated Kimball, 6-2, 6-3; Bancroft, Newton, defeated Andren, 13-11, 6-2.

Doubles
Chase and Dunnell, Newton, defeated Brewer and Bergland, 6-2, 6-0; Wales and J. Jarrell, Newton, defeated Fuller and Kimball, 6-4, 6-2.

SPORT NOTES

Hillenfield Back in Big League
Bill Hillenfield, former Newton athlete, is back in the big league again with the Cleveland Indians of the American League. Last year the former Saxony Mills star was traded to Toledo of the American Association by the Chicago White Sox with whom he had been for several years and this spring was bought by Cleveland. In Wednesday's game with St. Louis in which Wesley Ferrell twirled no hit ball for Cleveland Hillenfield was charged with three errors. No other men reached first but the three whose grounders "Honey" slipped up on him made up for his fielding lapses with a single and a double in four trips to the plate and scored two of Cleveland's nine runs.

Country Day Romps

With Jean Labouchere holding the opposition to two hits Wednesday afternoon Country Day had little difficulty in shutting out Brooks School of North Andover at Cobell Field diamond. Country Day batters hammered the visiting twirler for eleven hits and ten runs.

LOCAL ATHLETES IN COLLEGE MEET

The annual Greater Boston inter-collegiate outdoor track meet will be held this afternoon and tomorrow at the Harvard Stadium with the six colleges entered. Athletes wearing the colors of Harvard, M. I. T., Boston University, Northeastern University, Tufts, and Boston College will compete in both varsity and freshman events. Local athletes, many of whom formerly wore the orange and black of Newton High school, will compete for five of the six colleges.

Harvard University is expected to retain its 1930 title although the opposing teams will endeavor to cut into the Crimson's point prospects at the slightest opportunity. The Crimson will have a former Newton High track star in both varsity and freshman events. Hamilton Kolmeyer, who won his spurs at Newton and at Exeter academy, will be one of several Harvard sophomores competing for the varsity. Kolmeyer's best event is the 440 and should he survive today's trials will probably have such opponents as Fleet of B. C., Shea of N. U. and Dodge, another Harvard sophomore star. Carl Pescosolido will compete for the Crimson yearlings in the sprints and shotput. He was a star dash man at Newton and Deerfield Academy and the past winter was an outstanding performer for the Harvard freshman team.

Mass. Institute of Technology will also have former wearers of the "N" in varsity and freshman events. Bob Kuraide, sprinter and broad jumper, will compete for the varsity and Charlie Hall for the freshman. Hall, like Pescosolido of Harvard, was one of the leading athletes during the past indoor season. The former Newton High captain of the 1930 indoor team runs both the mile and the half mile during the outdoor season. During the winter season Hall hung up several new freshman marks on the Tech outdoor track and is in excellent shape for the meet.

Boston University is the third college that will have ex-Newton high athletes on both freshman and varsity squads. Arthur Chamberlain is the varsity entrant in the half mile run and is expected to qualify for the finals. Norman Grist, who was ineligible to compete for Newton High in 1930 as a senior, having transferred from New Jersey, is a freshman high jumper for the Pioneers. He is capable of doing nearly six feet and is regarded as one of the foremost yearling leapers in the meet.

Northwestern University will have two varsity entrants who are well known locally. Jimmie McCradden, former Newton high star middle distance runner, will be in the half mile, he is a former N. E. A. A. indoor and N. E. intercollegiate indoor 600-yard champion and holds the Northwestern record for this event. Outdoors he has come through with many points for the Huskies in the 880-yard run and will be in their battling for the tape with the best that Harvard, B. C. or the other colleges can offer.

The other Newton youth on the Northwestern squad is Curtis Scott, one of the Hub university's four high jumpers credited with marks of 5' 9" or better in the recent tryouts. Scott leads the four, having cleared 6 feet 2 inches which should win the event if he can repeat. Last year Northwestern, dominating the high jump, broad jump and pole vault, was the runners-up to Harvard. With such strength in the high jump, half-mile and with Jim Falt defending his broad jump title the Huskies are well fortified in seeking to finish as high as second.

For Tufts but one local athlete will compete for the varsity. Romaine Cole, Tufts senior, will be seen in either the low hurdles, dashes or broad jump. He gained considerable recognition at Newton High some years ago in these events and has since been competing for the Jumbos with fair success.

Curiously enough, Boston College, the only one of the six that is located in Newton, has no local representation.

UPWARD TREND IN AUTO INDUSTRY

"Since the automotive industry is the biggest manufacturing business of its kind in the world and its allied branches affect in a commercial way every section of the country, it is also the barometer of industrial activity," says H. C. Hart, President of Nash New England Company, "and according to the most reliable source of information the trend of the business is decidedly upward."

"Further evidence of this fact is furnished by The Nash Motors Company, who state that orders specifying March shipments increased 122% from March 1 to March 31, and actual retail deliveries of cars during the week ending March 28 at major cities such as New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Detroit, etc., show an increase of 26.9% over deliveries made by the same organization during the same period last year."

"According to actual registration figures for January and February, the ratio of Nash sales compared with the same two months in 1930 is greater than the sales of the fourteen competitive manufacturers during the same period."

"The larger volume in the Retail Division of our Boston organization for the months of January and February is further proof of increased buying," says Mr. Hart, "and now comes March with an increase of 65% in the new car deliveries at retail over March 1930, and an increase of 137% in the used car deliveries over the same period a year ago."

The Juniors thought it would be best if they had one special place in which they could hold all their meetings, and Mrs. John S. Franklin is to see if she can secure such a place for next year. It was also decided to have one Program committee which would be responsible for the programs of all the meetings.

The chairman of the Nominating Committee read nominees for the various offices and the Club voted. Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard told the Juniors that she was not going to continue as their adviser next year, and the Club gave her a vote of thanks for the fine way she has guided them through the past year.

Barbara Lester, the new president, accepted the gavel presented her by Jeanne Wolley, the former president and adjourned the meeting.

Newton Federation

A regular meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Federation was held in the Library of the Newton Technical High School, April 28, at 2:30 o'clock with the president, Mrs. Samuel N. Braman, presiding.

The principal business of the afternoon was the discussion of the amendments to the Constitution and By-Laws to be proposed at the Federation Annual Meeting.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Albion H. Brown, American Home chairman. The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Lauren L. McMasters, chairman of the State Federation American Home committee. She discussed in a delightfully informal way the questionnaire sent out by the State committee.

Newtonville Woman's Club

On Tuesday, April 28, the Newtonville Woman's Club assembled for the final meeting of the current club year. On this occasion the annual luncheon and election of the new Executive Board were held at the Central Congregational Church.

Shortly after one o'clock about 164 Club members partook of a splendid luncheon, the arrangements of which were most effectively carried out under the direction of Mrs. A. William Krause, and the members of the Social committee. The tables were charmingly decorated in the spring colors of orchid and yellow, while the flower motif was very effective in orchid and yellow potted pansies. Mrs. Krause as chairman, and the members of her committee are to be complimented on the very attractive luncheon which was made possible through their untiring endeavor.

At the close of the luncheon, reports were read by the officers and chairmen of the various committees, each giving a brief resume of the year's work of her particular office or committee.

Mrs. Albert Auryansen, the retiring president, then made a few remarks acknowledging the loyalty, kindness, and co-operation which had been shown her during her term of office. After this, the election of the new members to the Executive Board was in order, and the Club will continue its splendid work next year with these officers: President, Mrs. Herbert F. Blair; vice-presidents, Mrs. Mervin S. Giles, Mrs. Robert C. Kelley, and Mrs. Royal T. Lapham; recording secretary, Mrs. Frank E. Morris; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George H. Tracey; treasurer, Mrs. Clifford B. Whitney; assistant treasurer, Mrs. George W. Taylor; clerk, Mrs. Howard C. Thomas; chairman of Finance, Mrs. William L. Vosburgh; chairman of Publicity, Mrs. Paul E. Ellicker; directors, Mrs. Edmund L. Decker, chairman of civic committee; Mrs. Perez B. Howard, chairman of Conservation committee; Mrs. Walter N. Keene, chairman of Flower committee; Mrs. H. Clayton Pearson, chairman of Horticulture committee; Mrs. Charles E. Beatty, chairman of Legislative committee; Mrs. William H. Fish, chairman of Music committee; Mrs. R. Charles Thompson, chairman of Program committee; Mrs. Harry Harwood, chairman of Volunteer Service committee; directors at large, Mrs. Royal B. Parker, Mrs. Walter T. Kelley; and Nominating committee, Mrs. Charles J. Trowbridge, chairman, Mrs. Frederick A. Cole, Mrs. John H. Eddy, Mrs. Morgan H. Stafford, and Mrs. Edward C. Wyatt.

After the election the retiring president presented the gavel to Mrs. Herbert F. Blair as a symbol of her new office and Mrs. Blair replied in a very effective manner calling upon the past presidents, who were attending the luncheon, and giving a brief summary of the work accomplished by each. In this interesting manner Mrs. Blair linked the work of the past with the things she hoped to achieve in the future.

As the Club completes another successful year, the members gratefully express their deep appreciation to the retiring president for her sympathetic understanding and the warm friendships which she has created by her pleasing personality. The Club feels rewarded for having had Mrs. Auryansen as a president.

Mrs. Blair will be welcomed as the new president, and a happy and successful year under her guidance is being looked forward to by the members of the Newtonville Woman's Club.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The Annual Meeting and Luncheon of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands was held on Tuesday, April 28, in the Parish House of the Congregational Church. In a setting of spring flowers arranged by Mrs. Ernest J. Weaver and Mrs. Elizabeth S. Newton of the Art committee, luncheon was served by Seiler, at 12:30 o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. Loren F. Fletcher, chairman; assisted by Mrs. Frederick J. Elliott, Mrs. Lawrence S. Smith, Mrs. Chester W. Tudbury, Mrs. Preble W. Blake and Mrs. Odin C. Mackey. Guests of honor were Mrs. Samuel N. Braman, president of the Newton Federation, and Mrs. Lauren L. McMaster, State Federation chairman of the American Home Division.

At 2 o'clock the business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Harry P. Forte. Following the reports for the year of the executive officers and committee chairmen, the tellers reported the following officers and the president declared elected for the year 1931-1932: President, Mrs. Harry P. Forte; first vice-president, Mrs. Chester W. Tudbury; second vice-president, Mrs. Hiram A. Miller; recording secretary, Mrs. Emil F. Haberstroh; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harry B. Bradford; treasurer, Miss Hildur S. Bloom; auditor, Mrs. Louis H. Marshall; directors, Mrs. Murt S. Wallace, Mrs. John E. Peakes, Mrs. Anthony Warfield, and Mrs. Francis A. Rugg. Mrs. G. Harry Adalian, Mrs. Ernest W. Fisher, Mrs. Harry A. Lamphere, and Mrs. Therese B. Walker were elected directors of the Workshop; and the Nominating Committee for 1931-1932 consists of Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs, chairman; Mrs. Frederick J. Elliott from the Executive Board; Mrs. Albert H. Elder, Mrs. Ralph Lewis, Mrs. Lawson W. Oaks, Mrs. Edward Ruby, and Miss Adelaide R. Webster.

"To Be Dealt With Accordingly," a delightful little play of social adjustment, coached by Mrs. Bertha Miller, completed the program of the afternoon. The cast, including Mrs. F. S. Fairchild, Miss Alice J. Thompson, Mrs. Perry Wood, Mrs. Frederick M. Badger, Mr. Edwin Davol and Miss Althea Adalian, gave a finished interpretation of each role in true professional style, Mrs. Badger as the immigrant mother being particularly convincing.

FARQUHAR OPENS NEW SEED DEPARTMENT

Farquhar's Nurseries at Elm street, Dedham have been growing and shipping nursery stock for nearly half a century. Visitors to the nursery, of which there are hundreds daily, say that it is one of the finest and most completely equipped establishments of the kind in this section. A new seed department has recently been opened where seeds of all kinds may be selected.

An interesting feature at the nursery is the thorough system of inspection of plants maintained by both the federal and state departments of agriculture.

In addition to the main nursery at Dedham, Farquhar's maintain propagating grounds at Sharon and Foxboro, where reserve stock is grown to supply the increased demands.

The Annual Meeting and Banquet of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association will be held on Monday evening, May 4, at 6:30 P. M. Rev. Dwight Bradley of the First Church, Newton Centre, will be the speaker of the evening.

President F. D. Fuller of the Association will preside over a short business session at which the Nominating Committee will present the names of eight directors, two trustees, a clerk, and a treasurer. At the close of the Annual Meeting, the directors will meet for organization and choose a president and a vice-president for the coming year. Members of the Nominating Committee are Messrs. F. Sayford Bacon, S. T. Emery, and D. Webster Anders. A very enjoyable feature of the program will be a one-act comedy presented by the Young People of Eliot Church and the Association under the direction of Miss Bessie M. Stratton. Mr. D. W. Anders, Chairman of the Social Committee is also Chairman of the Dinner Committee.

Boys' Division

At a game tournament held in the Boys' Division during the vacation period, Edgar Guillet proved to be the champion in Cue Roque, Camelot, and Ring-o-let, while Joseph Jarvis defeated Henry Shaw for the Ping Pong championship.

On Friday a group of boys visited Lynn, and through the courtesy of the General Electric Company, spent two hours in their plant. The boys then went to the Lynn "Y" where the building privileges were thrown open to them from noon until two o'clock, and they enjoyed a good swim in the Lynn "Y" pool before returning to Newton.

On Saturday the monthly Boys' Division Dinner was held and the boys enjoyed games in the field and swimming pool in the afternoon.

Junior Clubs

Friday night was "Stunt Night" in the Junior Clubs, and Navy Club took first place with a Dwarf Presentation, West Point third with R. K. O. Service, and Yale third with a Hold Up.

The standing of the clubs at present is as follows: West Point, 1713.8; Dartmouth, 1382.4; Yale, 1266.5; Navy, 1242.2; and Harvard, 589.1 points.

Baseball

The Y. M. C. A. baseball field is the scene of much activity now that the baseball season is here. Boys' classes meet during the afternoon for baseball instruction and games.

The senior team had its first practice on Saturday afternoon. This group practices twice a week—Wednesday evenings and Saturday afternoons. The juniors were called out last Monday for the first practice for this season, and from now on they will meet on Monday and Thursday evenings for practice.

Both teams have many of last year's players back, and look forward to successful seasons.

UNIQUE NEWS BROADCAST

Stranger news broadcasts were never heard than those given three times a week by Roy Atwell, genial host of "Arvel's Tide Water Inn." They are unique because the news items although thoroughly scrambled in the telling, are really informative before Mr. Atwell gets through with them; and the series continues to be one of the most amusing radio features on the air. Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening, from 6:30 to 6:45 Eastern Daylight Saving Time, Roy Atwell broadcasts over the following stations of the Columbia System, WNAC, Boston; WEAN, Providence; WDRC, Hartford; WLBB, Bangor; WORC, Worcester, as well as over nine other stations in the East.

Freddie Rich's popular dance orchestra plays for "The Inn," and Mr. Atwell's attempts to announce the names of the selections, are as tangled up as his "news-casts." It all simmers down to the fact that when Roy gets before the Mike, he at once becomes the most nervous man in the world, and he does it deliberately!

MRS. F. O. STANLEY IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. F. O. Stanley of 337 Waverley avenue, Newton, was slightly injured on Tuesday afternoon when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another car at Massachusetts Avenue and Saint Botolph street, Boston. Riding in the car with Mrs. Stanley were Antonio Gerardis of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and his wife. The car was overturned but Mrs. Stanley and the Gerardis escaped with slight injuries.

GIRL SCOUTS

Camp Mary Day was a busy place during vacation week. On Tuesday 179 girls from the junior troops spent the day there. In the morning they divided into squads each under a separate leader and cleared the grounds of undergrowth, chopped down dead trees, and cut wood.

At noon, luncheon groups found attractive spots in which to eat. Many of them cooked their weenies and kabobs over the Council fire. The whole group then assembled in the theatre to watch some charades. A very exciting game of Captain Ball followed this and at four o'clock the girls went home, having accomplished a very "good turn" to camp as well as having a jolly time.

Wednesday a number of girls from the senior troops spent the day at camp. This group washed windows, painted screens, and gave the garage a fresh coat of paint. There was also a group working on First Class measurements.

On Thursday First Class map making was scheduled and in spite of the bad weather, a number of girls completed their work. This was the day for the Sea Scouts to repair and paint the boats which they did, and the Girl Scouts are deeply grateful for their assistance.

Troop 23 of Newton Centre had chosen that day for an all-day hike. The bad weather didn't dampen their spirits and twenty-four of them had a splendid time playing games and doing some of their nature work.

Saturday, May 9, is Bugle and Drum Corps Day. Great interest is being shown in this as there is to be no State review this year. This will be the only opportunity for the Scouts and their friends to see the Corps exhibition. It is to be held in the Arena, 238 St. Botolph street, Boston, and the competition will start at 1:00 P. M. A large number of Corps will compete at this time and the Newton Corps will be one of them. Tickets may be had at the Arena.

NEWTON CIRCLE MEETS

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Circle Inc. was held on Friday, April 24, 1931, at the residence of Mrs. Harry E. Pearshall, 91 Bishopton road, Newton Centre. After a most successful business meeting the members were entertained and most intelligently instructed by addresses by Mrs. I. Grafton Abbott, Educational Secretary of the Florence Crittenton League, and Mr. Howard P. Gill, who is Superintendent of Norfolk Prison Colony. Both are magnetic speakers with a wonderful story of their work. Mrs. Abbott spoke on "Helping the Delinquent Girl Make Good," and Mr. Gill's topic was "New Ideas for Prisons."

The following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. John T. Lodge; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. C. Peter Clark, Mrs. E. P. Brown; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Ralph Lewis; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Kate Potter;

Treasurer, Mrs. D. Morley Lodge; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. C. C. Brown. Directors—Mrs. J. M. Barnes, Mrs. Eliza Bishop, Mrs. Win. B. Carey, Miss Margaret Cobb, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. John W. Eaton, Miss E. Kate Emery, Miss Georgia Emery, Mrs. George C. Ewing, Mrs. Charles B. Gordon, Mrs. Henry L. Harriman, Mrs. C. L. Harrison, Mrs. Sidney Harwood, Mrs. Charles P. Hutchins, Miss Mabel K. Hull, Mrs. George B. King, Mrs. Henry O. Marcy, Mrs. Walter M. Marston, Mrs. John McKey, Mrs. Howard Norton, Mrs. Harry E. Pearshall, Mrs. H. Wilson Ross, Mrs. G. W. St. Amant, Mrs. Alva D. Aldermen Hold Hearings On Streets And Other Matters

Grant Licenses and Make Appropriations For Various Purposes at Regular Meeting

The Aldermanic chamber at City Hall was well filled Monday night by a large delegation of Auburndale residents protesting against the widening of Washington street and by a number of residents on Hood and Rogers streets in Newton who again are petitioning to have these two streets improved and accepted.

Arthur B. Nash of the Security Mills on Monroe street, Newtonville, asked the Board to grant a permit for the laying of a pipe under Newtonville avenue. Mr. Nash explained that this pipe will extend from the Boston & Albany freight yard, across the avenue and along Monroe street, which is not accepted. It will permit the Security Mills to obtain its fuel oil in carload lots and will result in a considerable saving to this company. Later in the meeting the Aldermen voted favorably on this petition.

Alfred Payne opposed the grading and accepting of Wedgewood road. He claimed that the street is in fair condition at present, that the improving of it will cause much expense to property owners on it, and will cause the removal of a hedge.

John Pickering of 41 Leslie road spoke in favor of the grading and improving of that street and adjoining streets, including Bertrand, Day and Holman roads. He stated that most of the property owners are in favor of the acceptance of these streets. Basil Babcock of 31 Leslie road said the development of the section had been under way for four years and sewerage facilities are badly needed. He said the property owners on the streets would like the improvements made as possibly available.

Mrs. Josephine Broderick asked that Adena road be accepted as she cannot sell houses she has built with the road in its present condition. Asa Blakesley of 14 Arapahoe road asked for the improving and accepting of this street. Its present condition retards the sale of property on it.

John Theriault of 21 Hood street, Newton, told the Aldermen that he has resided on the street for five years and that it is impassable in the winter months because of its icy condition, the ice forming from the water which runs down from Nonantum Hill. In the summer large holes in this street make it dangerous for traffic. There is no sidewalk on the street and children residing on it are endangered by the considerable traffic going to and coming from the Country Day School. Drains are badly needed on the street and it should be improved and accepted.

Richard H. Dickinson of 14 Hood street said he has been enduring the poor conditions on the street for ten years, that ten property owners on it want the improvement and only three are opposed, but the minority has heretofore succeeded in blocking the much needed improvement. Edward O. Loring of Shorncliff road, whose property backs onto Hood street, opposed the improving of the latter street because of the expense it will cause him and the fact that he will derive no benefit from it. Mrs. Zilda Bennett of 24 Hood street opposed the improvement. She stated she owns a frontage of 216 feet on the street and cannot afford the expense involved. Answering a suggestion by one of the opponents that residents of Hood street travel to and fro by using an adjoining street on the Brighton side, Mr. Theriault asked why the residents should be obliged to leave Newton and travel a much longer distance to go to their business or come back to their homes. Thomas Moore of 8 Rogers street, favoring the

Auburndale Residents Protest Removal of Trees

A large delegation of Auburndale residents was present at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night to protest against the proposed widening of Washington street, between Woodland road and the Boston & Albany railroad bridge. This section of Washington street will be resurfaced in the near future, and the City Engineer, mindful of the large increase in traffic on the street which will result within the next couple of years when the new Boston and Worcester traffic artery will be constructed, recommended that the street be widened. Most of the frontage along this stretch of street, on the north side is included in the holdings of the Woodland Park School and Woodland Club.

Frank J. Clark, 107 Madison avenue, Ward 2, two-car garage. Antonio Mazzola, permit to erect three-car garage at 230 Adams street, Ward 2.

V. Malcolm Laitinen, 1649 Beacon street, Ward 5, third-class liquor.

J. Walsh, common victualler license, "Bob's Lunch" at 1379 Washington street, Ward 3.

Purity Ice Co., Inc., permit to keep, store and use fuel oil at r-1130 Beacon street, Ward 5; to install eight tanks, maximum quantity to be stored at one time, 49,000 gallons, for private use only. This permit is to validate tanks already there; no new tanks to be installed.

John B. Samuda, permit to conduct and maintain repair shop, 8-car capacity, at 1 Jackson street, Ward 6. No gasoline permit.

The Licensed Committee reported adversely on the following petitions: James O'Brien of Fordham road for a taxi stand at Grafton street, Newton Centre; Jacob Cron of 101 Lexington street for a junk license; Pasquale Coli for street musicians' licenses for three accordion players; Beacon Motor Equipment for outside gasoline pump at r-749 Beacon street.

The appointment of James A. Waters as chairman of Registrars of Voters for three years was confirmed.

Appropriations made by the Aldermen included: Drain at Paul Brook, $8000; Dresser Brook drain, $19,660; drain off Harding street, $1968; sewer Devon road, $1754; sewer in Kewadin road, $2083; drain on Washington street between Park street and Boston line, $7638; drain in Waverley avenue near Ward street, $3183; drain in Cob street, $1059; drain in Beacon street near Wilde road, $812; drain in Chestnut street near Gordon road, $2153; water mains, $4625; instrument-sterilizer for Dental Clinic, $45; traffic signals at Watertown and Walnut streets, $2911; new patrol wagon for Police Department, $2500; tools for Play-ground Department, $905.90; for construction of Neshobe, Varick, Agawam and Wedgewood roads, $24,272.86; for special investigators for Welfare Department, $300. A sewer bond issue of $75,000 was authorized.

The drains on most of the streets are necessary because of resurfacing of these roads which will be started in the near future. Alderman Powers, although a member of the Traffic Committee, had not been acquainted with the details of the proposed traffic signals at the intersection of Watertown and Walnut streets, so he asked for information. He was informed that the signals, of the General Electric type, will be placed at corners of this intersection. The appropriation for a new police patrol wagon was badly needed. The old patrol wagon went out of commission some time ago and the police ambulance has been carrying drunks and other arrested persons. Alderman Ball, as chairman of the Finance Committee, explained that the $300 for the Welfare Department was authorized.

Minstrel Show Is Planned By Legion

Two Waltham Men Victims At North Chelmsford Bridge

The Sixth Annual Welfare Concert of Newton Post No. 48, American Legion will be held on the Newton High School Auditorium, Newtonville, on Thursday evening, May 14, 1931 and Friday evening, May 15, 1931.

This year's show will be in the form of a minstrel show and frolic, the cast having been rehearsing for the past several weeks, and it is the hope of the committee to make this year's show the greatest ever staged by the Post.

Newton Post is not in favor of Poppy Drives or begging on the streets for money, but stages its annual show each spring in order to raise funds for welfare work and to assist them in their Community Service Program. The funds of the Post have had a severe drain this year due to the unemployment conditions.

This minstrel show is written and directed by members of Newton Post, and the entire cast is composed of Legionnaires and members of the Auxiliary.

Frank W. Meakin has been directing, assisted by Dr. Thomas F. Dowd and Leon H. Mayer. Frank W. Wixcox, past commander of the Post, is the interlocutor.

The committee in charge is composed of Frank W. Meakin chairman, Dr. Thomas F. Dowd music, R. John Henderson secretary, John Geraci tickets, J. Edward Theriault treasurer, Harry McPhee ushers, Leon H. Mayer and Edward J. Cannon.

NEWTON DE MOLAY HAS STATE CHAMPIONSHIP DRILL TEAM

At the State conclave of the Order of De Molay at New Bedford recently the drill team of the Newton Chapter won the state championship in parade and drill competition among three patrols. The parade on Saturday, April 25th was a colorful spectacle with the New Bedford Chapter drill team leading the line of march. The Old Colony drill team of Quincy was next in line and the Newton team followed. A long line of marchers and automobiles completed the parade in which over five hundred participated.

New Bedford was the first chapter to put on its drill and although they showed excellent form especially in marching lack of adequate formations deprived them of the honor of winning the trophy donated by the official De Molay Jewelers in Fall River. George A. Lake, New Bedford ultimately was placed third, Quincy being second. The Newton team, attired in Turkish regalia with yellow jackets and red pants and Turkish fez of matching colors, was interrupted at the applause of the audience. Commanded by First Lieutenant Arnold E. Nichols, master councilor of the Newtonville lodge, they completed intricate and fascinating movements with but few mistakes. The resulting applause rocked the Boys' club gymnasium where the event was staged. Quincy gave Newton a close run for honors in taking second place.

Members of the Newton team are: First Lieut. Nichols; Sergeants, Norman Sanborn and Russell Taylor; Corporals Randall Smith, Lawrence Littlefield, Raymond Stoney, and William Aston; Privates Wilson Walker, Ralph Heraud, Stuart Douglas, Bruce Harris, Myron Whalin, William Loud, William Walker, Alfred Mouser, Lloyd Grand, Allen Swain, Theodore Coleman, Bradford Stephens, George Bonsley, Homer Burr, Everett Putnam, Henry Moore, Leslie Barto, Russell Angell, Norman Kelleher, John Batchelder, and Trifrey Wendell. Leaders of the Newton team are William Bonsley, Don M. Leonard and Capt. P. B. King.

Arnold E. Nichols of the Newton Chapter was appointed a member of the credentials committee.

M. & B. Employees Meet Death In Accident

Five young men, employees of the Middlesex & Boston Company were victims of a fatal accident which occurred late Tuesday morning at North Chelmsford. Two were instantly killed, two seriously injured and one slightly injured. The five who were were drivers of busses had started after finishing their morning's work for Nashua, New Hampshire in a touring car. This city is the home town of John Broderick who was one of the party and who escaped with the least injuries. He received a cut on the head. Robert Harvey, 30, of Francis street, Waltham and John Duffy, 26, of Irving street, Waltham were killed. Edward Roach, 29, of 56 Boynton street, Waltham had an arm broken, and E. J. Hodgin, 24, of 147 Russell street, Waltham had a leg broken and received head injuries.

The accident occurred when the car crashed through a high picket fence at a bridge over the Boston & Maine tracks near Moore's Mill in North Chelmsford and fell to the tracks below. The five men were hurtled onto the tracks. The wreckage of the car was removed before any train reached the spot.

Harvey was married and leaves a widow and three small children. Duffy was the son of John Duffy, a veteran employee of the Middlesex & Boston Fund.

The accident was caused by a car parked on a narrow bridge where parking is forbidden. As the Waltham car reached this bridge another car approached from the opposite direction forcing the car containing the Middlesex & Boston men to the side of the bridge.

WILL INVESTIGATE FOR WELFARE DEPARTMENT

At the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night $300 were appropriated to pay special investigators for four weeks' service with the Welfare Department. These investigators will seek information regarding 400 Newton families and persons to whom relief has been given during the past year, including 173 families who have been receiving aid regularly. If it will be found that anyone has received aid by making false claims, such persons may be prosecuted. During the first 3 months of this year the amount expended by the city in extending aid totalled $18,855.19.

The two investigators appointed are John A. McGrath, 279 Cabot street, Newtonville and Gordon Brown, 423 Waltham street, West Newton.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The annual dinner for members will be held next Monday evening, May 11th, at the Hunnewell Club, Newton, at 6:30 p. m. Short addresses, songs and the awards of bowling prizes will precede the annual meeting at which time officers for the coming year will be elected.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Waltham Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary invites all the Gold Star Mothers of Middlesex County to attend a reception and Tea given in their honor on Mothers' Day, May 10, 1931. This will be held at Unity Hall, Post Office Building, 740 Main St., Waltham. Please notify Mrs. Blanche Egan if you can attend, 48 Everett street, Waltham. Every Gold Star Mother is invited whether or not she is a member of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Ordinance Passed Relating To Control Of Horace Cousins' Fund

Aldermen Act on Mayor's Request To Form Board of Trustees To Manage Large Fund

By a vote of 17 to 2 the Board of Aldermen on Monday night passed the ordinance drawn by City Solicitor Bartlett at Mayor Weeks' request relating to the management and control of the large fund bequeathed by Horace Cousins to deserving poor of Newton. This ordinance reads—

THE HORACE COUSENS INDUSTRIAL FUND

Section 586. The gift bequeathed to the City in trust by the will of the late Horace Cousins shall be known as The Horace Cousins Industrial Fund.

Section 587. All loans from and all investments of said fund shall be investigated and reported on before any action is taken by a board of three trustees, serving without compensation and all residents of the City of Newton. The trustees shall be appointed by the Mayor subject, within fourteen days from the date of appointment, to confirmation by the Board of Aldermen. All appointments shall be for life, subject to removal by the Mayor by reason of disability, removal from the City or other sufficient cause.

Section 588. All applications for loans and benefits under this Fund shall be made to and filed with the Board of Trustees who shall investigate and make report and recommendations on all applications, for loans from said fund. Said Board of Trustees shall also make recommendations in reference to the investment, including the purchase and sale of the principal and interest of said fund in the class of securities specified in Item Four of said will (see Middlesex Probate, Case Number 55407) namely, United States Government bonds, bonds of any of the New England States, bonds of any of the cities of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and loans secured by first mortgages on improved real estate within the Commonwealth and all in conformity with the true intent, purpose and meaning of said Horace Cousins as expressed in his said will. All bonds shall, if possible, be registered as to principal and interest in the name and all notes shall be made payable to the order of "The City of Newton." The Horace Cousins Industrial Fund and shall be sold and transferred or endorsed only on the recommendation of the Board of Trustees.

Section 589. All investments and changes in investments recommended by a majority of the Board of Trustees and approved by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen shall be made by the City Treasurer who shall, by virtue of his office, receive and take charge of all moneys, securities and properties belonging to and constituting said fund and its accumulations.

All applications for loans and benefits whether approved or disapproved by the Board of Trustees, approved by the Board of Aldermen shall be made by the City Treasurer as directed by vote of said Board of Aldermen duly approved by the Mayor. An exemplified copy of the will of said Horace Cousins shall be kept in the records of the City Treasurer for public inspection at all convenient times.

The fund, which amounts to several hundred thousands of dollars at the present time was bequeathed by Mr. Cousins in will made in 1883, conditional upon trust funds left to his wife and children and to the heirs of the latter, if any. He died in 1901, his daughter and son did not marry. So when the son died last year practically the whole of the Cousins estate reverted to the City of Newton, his wife a couple of years later and

NEWTON CONTENDER AT HARVARD MEET

NEWTON WINS IN EIGHTH FROM LATIN

BEATS ST. JOHNS AND ST. CHARLES TO TIE FOR LEAD

Through its overwhelming triumph at the Worcester interscholastic meet last week Saturday the Newton High track team has been installed the favorite in the Class B championships of the 46th annual Harvard interscholastics at the Stadium tomorrow afternoon. Competitors in Newton's class will be the larger high schools such as Boston English, Medford, Brookline, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn English, Lynn Classical and others. In comparison with the meet at Worcester the local school will have much closer competition as several of the schools above mentioned did not compete at Worcester and through the fact that there will be but eight events instead of twelve.

At Worcester Newton's points were scored as follows:

Event	Place	Pts.
100-yd. dash	First	5
220-yd. dash	Third	2
440-yd. run	Third	2
Mile run	2nd, 3rd	5
120-yd. high hurdles	Third	2
220-yd. low hurdles	First	5
Broad jump	First	5
High jump	Tie 2nd	2½
Shotput	—	0

The four events which will not be held in the Harvard meet are the high hurdles, mile run, pole vault and discus throw. Athletes will be restricted to competition in but one running and one field event each so it will prevent the repetition of scoring in four events as Milton Green did last week. Thus Newton will be deprived of 9½ points from last week's scoring if the remaining points are duplicated which is more or less of an uncertainty. Walter Holmes, Newton negro dash star, will have another battle with Art Jannell of Lynn English in the century which will be one of the feature races of the meet. Sloane will have Tom Callahan of Boston English and other classy furlong sprinters to contend with in addition to most of those he met at Worcester. The Newton sophomore has been improving rapidly and is expected to place. The same situation exists in the 440-yard run with Chalmers being counted on for at least a fourth place.

Milton Green, of course, will carry the brunt of the burden of Newton's bid for honors. He is favored to win the low hurdles although Donovan of Lawrence will provide stern competition if in shape. Rumors are going the rounds that Donovan is not at his best but, make no mistake, Donovan will be very much in the race. The lanky Mill city timber-topper won the high hurdles with his teammate Boyd, nosing out Green for second place. In the low hurdles both Green and Donovan were drawn in the same semi-final with the second place winners facing the obstacle of having to run a heat for second men in which the winner would qualify for the finals. Naturally neither wished to run an added eighth of a mile unless of necessity and they gave all they had to win the semi-final. At the eighth hurdle, neck and neck, Green began to apply the pressure. Donovan tried to match it, overdid himself, and took a header. The fall knocked him out and the cinders scratched him up somewhat. Reports are that cinders got into the injuries and his knee joints are somewhat stiffened with the possible result that he may not be in the best of shape by Saturday for either the hurdles or high jump. Thus Green is regarded as the probable winner of the low hurdles although the competition will be keen with Boyd of Lawrence and Joyce of Boston English in the field with Donovan. The versatile Newton star will forsake the high jump for the broad jump as his field event. In the high jump Green has been defeated in all but one meeting during the indoor season by Varney of Brookline while in the high jump he set a new meet record of 21 feet 3 in. at Worcester. If he can come through with a first and a second in his two events Newton will be in the running all the way. Jim Colligan is expected to place third or fourth in the shot put. At Worcester he failed to place, fouling on every put. He will have competition from Geniawicz and Niblock of the two Lynn schools as well as from Zaitz of Boston English. As there is no mile run George Lamb and Vincent Signore will be starters in the field in the half mile. It is a question whether or not either can cut into the point scoring division but a point or two in this event may prove the deciding factor in swinging the honors Newton's way. Stanley Johnson may also pick up a point in the low hurdle race which Newton can use.

Five places will be figured for points in tomorrow's affair which will reduce first place point superiority and increase second place points considerably. On the basis of above predictions Newton can score 22 points which should be approximately the winning figure. Tabulated these predictions are:

Event	Place	Pts.
100-yd. dash	Second	4
220-yd. dash	Third	3
440-yd. run	Fourth	2
880-yd. run	Fifth	1
220-yd. low hurdle	2nd, 5th	5
Broad jump	First	5
Shotput	Fourth	2

22

Although Lawrence finished second to Newton the orange and black regards Brookline high as its most dangerous competitor. The Wealthy Towners are virtually certain of three first places. Brigham is the favorite in the half mile, Varney in the high jump and Litman in the 220. Litman is also good for a probable third in the broad jump, Hottstein a fourth in the dash and Enwright a possibility of a fourth or fifth in the half

FIRE RECORD

Box 523 was pulled Monday evening at 6:29 for a fire on the roof of the house at 80 Fuller street, Waban, occupied by Patrick Cotter.

Monday night, at 9:15, Engine 1 responded to a still alarm to extinguish a fire in the store at 284 Centre street, Newton. The store is occupied by Anna Sheehan of Watertown, a milliner. An overheated electric iron caused the blaze.

Tuesday afternoon Engine 1 responded to two still alarms. The first was to extinguish a fire in a hollow tree at Cabot Park. The second still alarm was for a grass fire near the Country Day School on Nonantum Hill.

Tuesday afternoon, at 5:07, Box 511 was pulled for a brush fire on land off Concord street, Lower Falls.

JUDGE ALLEN APPOINTED RECEIVER OF NONANTUM BANKS

W. Lloyd Allen of Newtonville, associate of the Newton District Court has been appointed permanent receiver for the insolvent banks of A. Pescosolido and the Nonantum Banks Company. He succeeds temporary receiver Frederick Bonner who was appointed to handle the affairs of the two banks when Guy L. Vaughan was removed as receiver. It is estimated that Vaughan's shortages in the five banks he was receiver for will amount to about $250,000 and he was bonded for only $125,000. A committee of depositors of the two Nonantum banks has petitioned Governor Ely to have the Commonwealth reimburse the depositors for the amount they would stand to lose because of Vaughan's actions. The committee contends that the State is responsible because of negligence in appointing Vaughan and not properly supervising his acts.

Country Day Wins

Lou Vassalotti, captain-elect of the M. I. T. wrestling team, is one of eight athletes recently awarded the highest insignia awarded at Tech, the straight "T".

Osborne Gets Swimming Letter

Lloyd B. Osborne of Newtonville, captain-elect of the Yale swimming team, was awarded a major "Y" recently. He was among fifteen members of the team having placed first or second in a majority of dual inter-collegiate meets including Harvard or Princeton.

Dartmouth Beats Crimson

Dartmouth and Harvard varsity baseball teams had a real battle last Saturday at Hanover with the Green shutting out the Crimson, 2 to 0. Charlie Devens of Harvard held the Dartmouth batters to two hits but issued three passes in the first inning that gave the Green the chance to score twice. Arthur Boissoe, sensational Dartmouth sophomore, allowed the Crimson but three safeties passed but one and fanned four. He was never in trouble. Hal Andres of New Haven caught the Green pitcher.

Wilson Out of Terrier Lineup

Arthur Wilson received a knee injury sliding into base about ten days ago and has been unable to take the field for Boston University. Captain Carleton McCullough of Newton Centre and the other local youth regularly in the lineup has been hitting well. B. U. defeated Clark University on Saturday 15 to 3 but was beaten for the second time by Boston College on Monday, 17 to 4. In his last seven times at bat McCullough has made four hits.

Green Freshmen Romp

The Dartmouth freshman nine had a field day at the expense of the Harvard yearlings last Saturday at Hanover with the Green winning 18 to 2. It was the third straight victory for the Green. Frank Spain, shortstop, and Bob Bennett, catcher, are the two former local youths in the Dartmouth lineup. Spain got one single in three times at bat and Bennett a double in five times up. Bennett scored three runs and Spain two. Spain was ruled out on one occasion for failing on an attempted bunt for a third strike. Tuesday the Green yearlings turned back the Vermont freshman, 10 to 5, to run their total to 65 runs in four straight victories. Spain got but one hit in five times up and Bennett got two out of three. Spain took part in two double plays.

Harvard Net Team Wins Again

The Harvard tennis team ran its string of consecutive victories to thirty-eight last Saturday defeating Cornell, 9 to 0. Captain Malcolm Hill of Harvard, Waban youth, won his singles match 7-5, 6-4 and did not play in doubles.

STATE FORESTER TO SPEAK TO CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS

Next Tuesday evening, May 12, the Christian Endeavorers of Norumbega Union will meet at the Baptist Church, Weston, for another evening of fellowship and inspiration. A supper will be served at 6:45 p.m., the meeting starting at 7:30. The annual election of officers will take place at this time, the Nominating Committee consisting of Walter Upshaw, Newton, chairman; Newton Jones and Robert Frye, Newton; Myrtle Severance, Brighton; William Pease, Waylen; Nellie Seward, Waltham; and George Forbes, Watertown. Two minute reports from society presidents will be read, followed by a summarized report of the Union work for the year. Another feature of the evening's program will be an illustrated talk by Mr. Harold O. Cook of Newton, State forester, who will talk to the young people on the work of his department throughout the State. This should be especially interesting at this time of the year as the young people look forward to their summer vacations.

ELOCUTIONISTS TO HAVE RECITALS

Pupils of the Ruth Margaret Taylor Studios of Elocution at Newtonville and Jamaica Plain will present recitals on May 11th and 22nd at Eliot Hall, Jamaica Plain. The first recital, comprising sixty pupils in the junior classes, will include those enrolled at the Newtonville studio.

"Boys' Complaints" will be given by Masters Edwin Benson, Guy Munroe and Ralph Nodine. Participating in "Original Addresses at an Americanization School" will be James Chisholm, William Nelson and Arthur and Howard Taylor.

"Miss America in Japan" includes Barbara Ann Chisholm, Eleanor Hooper, Margery Holmes, Virginia Nodine, Margery Mae Kearney, Barbara Kearney, Natalie Bigelow, Betty Reynolds, Nancy McGill, Winifred Mergendahl, Evelyn Carroll, Jean McGill. Miss Dorothy Carroll will be the accompanist.

The recital on May 22nd will be presented by senior and private pupils.

TO CELEBRATE MOTHER'S DAY

The Newton Emblem Club will hold a regular meeting on Monday evening, May 11th, after which Mother's Day will be celebrated with appropriate exercises. After the Mother's Day services there will be an entertainment and refreshments will be served.

All members who have mothers living are urged to bring them to join with the Emblem Club in celebrating the day dedicated to them.

The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Edith B. Gillies, chairman, Mrs. Marion A. Brophy, Mrs. Alice K. Burns, and Mrs. John H. Gordon.

PRINCIPAL OF WEEKS JUNIOR HIGH TO SPEAK TO SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Residents of Newton Centre will have the pleasure of meeting and hearing Mr. Frank F. Carr, Principal of the new John W. Weeks Junior High School, at the regular meeting of the Newton Centre School Association at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday, May 13th, in the Mason School Hall. Mr. Carr will talk to the Association about the new school.

Mr. Samuel B. Paul, Headmaster of the Mason School District, will give an informal talk to the Association.

SCHOOL NOTES

WARREN JUNIOR HIGH

Health Day

Warren's Health Day Program will be held at 8:30, May 20th, in the assembly hall. Julius Kovitz, chairman of the Students' Health Committee, will preside and give a short talk on health work carried on at Warren, and will pay tribute to the fine spirit of the pupils in trying to live up to better Health habits. A play written by Alice Blocher, entitled "The Sub," will be given by 9 L F.I.

Red Cross

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross sent two delegates and a chaperone to the Annual Convention in Washington, D. C., April 13 to 16. The delegates were Jean Harvey and Claudia Goodrich, both girls on the Honor Roll and active in their classes at the Warren Junior High School, West Newton. They were accompanied by Miss Priscilla Aurelio, instructor of French and faculty sponsor of the Junior Red Cross Council at the Warren.

The trio left for Washington on Saturday morning, April 11th, and returned the following Saturday. They attended the meeting of the Junior branch of the Convention and entered into interesting discussions of the National Children's Fund, and the formation and organization of Junior Red Cross Councils in the schools. Outside of the time taken up by the program of these activities, they spent every available minute in sight-seeing, visiting most of the government buildings and monuments, Mt. Vernon, and Arlington National cemetery.

A great and enthusiastic interest in the work of the Red Cross was aroused in the minds of these delegates, which bids fair to be lasting. They have already reported on it most vividly to their school in assembly, and are planning ways and means of stimulating greater interest in the society among their fellows.

Assemblies

On April 15 the school community was entertained in assembly by the Warren Band. Most of the selections played were under the direction of Mr. Spaulding, the band director. The Eastern Star March was led by Mr. Tower, "The March of the Grenadiers" was led by Phyllis Wheeler, head drum major, and the march, "Our Director," was led by Mr. Scarborough.

At this assembly Mrs. Parker, a representative of the Daughters of the Revolution presented to Beatrice Romagnoli a gold piece as an award for the best essay from grade eight pupils on "The Declaration of Independence."

On April 29th a Red Cross program was given in assembly. Miss Aurelio gave a speech about The Red Cross Council and the work of the Red Cross, and Faye Smillie gave a talk on the history of the Red Cross. Claudia Goodrich and Jean Harvey, the two representatives from our school who attended the Red Cross meeting in Washington, also gave talks—Claudia Goodrich on their visit in Washington and Jean Harvey on the Business Meeting.

THE STOW GOLF COURSE

During the past several weeks of workmen have been improving the Stow Golf Club at the old Randall place beyond Gleasondale. The property was purchased last fall by Charles M. Cox, grain merchant, of Boston. Extensive alterations have been made on the golf course this spring and although it will still remain a nine-hole course it will be longer and more interesting than in the past. The clubhouse has been entirely renovated and Mrs. Edith M. Safford of Hudson has been secured to act as hostess. Within a short time the house will be equipped for card parties, dances and dinners.

There will be no club dues and no club membership, anyone may use the course at a nominal charge per round. The club has also improved the two tennis courts, putting green, croquet, quoit, shuffle board, driving net and other games which are ready for use. The old course is ready to play but the improved features, as far as golf is concerned, must wait until June for the grass to grow.

POLICE NEWS

Charles Barry of Curve street, West Newton was fined $15 by Judge Bacon in the Newton court on Tuesday for loitering. Barry, who had been arrested by Patrolman Walker claimed he was being persecuted and appealed a $10 fine levied on him on Monday. When he decided to withdraw the appeal, Judge Bacon added $5 to the fine to pay for the expense of bringing Barry back to court.

In the Newton court yesterday Judge Bacon fined James Whitman of Wellesley Hills $10 for speeding and Elizabeth Wright of Fuller road, Wellesley Hills $10 for speeding. Raymond DeMasse of Chelsea was fined $5 for not STOPPING before entering a through way.

Arthur Yingling of 106 Louis Pasteur avenue, Boston was fined $100 by Judge Bacon in the Newton court yesterday when found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor. The young man was found asleep in his car at Newton Highlands and admitted he had been drinking but denied that he drove the car after he became under the influence of the liquor.

George Matthews of 2205 Washington street, Lowell Falls and a 15 year old boy from that village were arrested Wednesday afternoon by Serg. Bannon and Patrolman Tobin charged with having entered the store of Joseph Kenney at 2368 Washington street and having stolen two watches. The boys will appear in the Newton court today.

on improved real estate. Powers called attention to the fact that the Claims and Rules Committee and the City Solicitor had favored eliminating real estate loans as one class of securities, for the fund of investment, but that this elimination had not been made.

City Solicitor Bartlett replied that the decision had been reached that it would not be legal to change the provisions made by Mr. Cousens in his will and the will expressly stated that loans on real estate might be one class of securities used in investing the fund. Powers said that he believed since the will was changed in one respect by the appointing of a Board of Trustees, it might be changed in another respect, but he would not attempt to question the solicitor's knowledge of law and he withdrew this amendment. The vote was then taken on the acceptance of the ordinance and 17 of the Board voted in favor. Alderman Powers and Templer voted in the negative. Alderman Harte was absent and President Collins of the Board, although present, refrained from voting because he is Acting Mayor during Mayor Weeks trip to Europe.

The trustees appointed by Mayor Weeks to administer the Cousens Fund are Judge Elias Bishop of Ledges road, Newton Centre; John A. Cousens of 207 Suffolk road, Chestnut Hill and Albert T. Stuart of 62 Institution avenue, Newton Centre. Judge Bishop and Mr. Cousens have been executors of the Horace Cousens estate for some years. The former was for some years City Solicitor of Newton before his appointment to the Superior Court bench. Mr. Cousens, nephew of the donor of the fund, is President of Tufts College and President of the Brookline Savings Bank. Mr. Stuart is president of the Stuart-Marshall Realty Company of Newton Centre.

HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB IN CONCERT

The Highland Glee Club of Newton will compete in the 6th Annual Contest and Concert of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs which will be held in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, on May 9th, 1931. The host club is the Pawtucket Chamber of Commerce Glee Club. Over 600 singers are expected to take part in the contest and concert.

The contest will be conducted under New England Federation rules permitting no applause by the audience. The judges under these rules have to be screened, independent of each other, so that they cannot see the clubs in action, so that stage presence, dress and other non-essentials will not interfere with the decision. Each club is to be judged on its musical quality including pitch, tone, interpretation, ensemble and diction.

Each club will sing two songs, namely the prize song intitled "The Silent Waterlily" by Franz Abt and a song of its own choice. The latter is kept secret from everybody

We note with pleasure that three of our representatives in the House and Senate voted against the "compromise" measure recently enacted by the Legislature as a concession to Governor Ely. Little will be gained by the Republican party by such tactics. Governor Ely will claim all credit for legislation enacted under such circumstances and the majority party in the Legislature will "hold the bag."

The movement to make Mother's Day something more than an opportunity to wear carnations by providing means to assist poor and feeble mothers deserves hearty support throughout the country. It is a practical method of cashing in on a tender and wholesome sentiment.

Alderman Powers has the right idea in urging an increase in the number of trustees of the Cousens Fund from three to five. The larger number is especially needed when the men appointed by the Mayor all reside in one ward of the city.

CITY DEPARTMENT REPORTS FOR 1930

1930 HEALTH REPORT

The 1930 report of the Newton Board of Health was distributed last week. It shows that during the year there were 546 deaths in the city. Based on a population of 65,295 (the official United States census figures) this gave a death rate per 1000 population for the year of 8.30, the lowest in the history of the city. The lowest previous record, 9.7, was in 1925. Another new favorable record was established as regards diphtheria. Only 3 cases were reported during the year and no deaths occurred from this disease. Five hundred children in the city received free immunization against this disease last year.

There were 80 cases of scarlet fever in the city during 1930, but no deaths from this disease. Most of these cases were of a mild type, difficult to detect in the early stages. Of the 80 cases 55 were treated at home in 44 different houses, in which 46 other children resided. Nine of these children in 7 different houses subsequently contracted the disease. In one instance 3 children residing across the street from a house where a scarlet fever patient was supposed to be quarantined caught the disease and it was subsequently learned that the isolation of the child in the quarantined house had not been observed. Twenty-five of the scarlet fever cases were treated in hospitals and only 1 secondary case developed from these.

Thirteen cases of typhoid fever with one resultant death, occurred in Newton during 1930, but all these cases were contracted outside the city.

Measles, of which 754 cases were reported during the year, caused 1 death. It is probable there were many more cases of this disease among children under school age which were not reported. Regarding whooping-cough, Dr. Curtis, chairman of the Board of Health, says in the report—"363 cases were reported with 2 deaths, a record which agrees very closely with the annual number of cases reported in Newton. The number reported is probably further from the number occurring than in the case of measles. The difficulty of making the diagnosis added to the indifference of many mothers to the occurrence of whooping-cough in their own children, and their carelessness of the rights of others, has a great deal to do with the difficulty of getting proper reports of the occurrence of whooping-cough."

Thirty cases of pulmonary tuberculosis and 8 deaths from this dread disease were reported during 1930. This is a very small number of cases for a city the size of Newton. Last year was the sixth in the Ten Year program inaugurated by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health for the detection and control of tuberculosis among school children. When the program was started in Newton between 300 and 400 children were examined and 78 found to require special supervision. The program called for the examination of these children by State physicians each year but most of these children and their parents have not co-operated and the number who took the examination each succeeding year has been progressively reduced to 15. Seventeen cases of infantile paralysis occurred in the city during the year and 1 death resulted. Cases of mumps reported during 1930 totalled 155.

The report states that the physical examination of school children showed a very gratifying reduction in the number of defective children found. The percentage of children found with defects in all the public schools was 5.73. In the junior high schools the percentage was larger—9.04. More children in the junior high schools had flat feet than had children in the grade schools. The need of a dental clinic on the South Side is stressed. The existing dental clinic treated 500 children.

During last year 902 births occurred in the city, a rate per 1000 of 13.73 which the report states is a very poor showing. The report also chides physicians who neglect to file returns of births, as required by State law.

Causes of deaths included the following—cancer 72, rheumatic fever 3, diabetes 6, anemia 2, cerebral hemorrhage 31, cerebral embolism 7, heart ailments 101, arterio-sclerosis 45, embolism and thrombosis 20, bronchitis 3, broncho pneumonia 28, lobar pneumonia 26.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

GUESSES are now in order as to the probable date of prorogation. So, you see, the end appears to be in sight. Some are so optimistic that they are saying that the sessions will end with the middle month. Others say "the middle of June" while the more pessimistic put it as the "last of June." At any rate there is a general feeling that "it won't be long now" and thus far nobody is protesting against reasonable speed.

The Committee on Rules of the two branches reported against a bill authorizing the Sergeant-at-Arms to furnish suitable metal badges to members of the General Court. The matter was taken up by the House and by agreement was not debated. On the vote to pass the measure there was an overwhelming "Yes" vote.

Speaker Saltonstall declared that the "Nays" had it and amid laughter a rising vote was taken. Ninety-five members voted in the affirmative and 41 in the negative. Representative Rafter of Salem, who has been the Governor's spokesman on a number of important bills, called for a rollcall. He had been opposed to the bill as a member of the House Rules Committee. On the rollcall the bill was defeated, 121 to 76. Representatives Thompson, Baker and Luitwieler voted against the bill. Mr. Thompson was among those who had signed the petition for such legislation. He was not the only one, however, who changed his position when it came to a rollcall. The Senate also rejected the bill by a wise vote and without discussion.

The Governor's bill providing for a two-year program for the acceleration of building construction "in order to alleviate the present unemployment emergency" found the Newton legislators divided. Mr. Baker voted for the measure and Senator Hollis and Representatives Luitwieler and Thompson were represented against.

There were 43 Representatives and six Senators against the bill which was not enough to defeat it despite the fact that a two-thirds vote was necessary.

Among the bills rejected were the following: investigation by the Division of Metropolitan Planning relative to the extension of the Cambridge subway to the town of Arlington; increasing the salary of the Police Commissioner of Boston; a group of bills relating to police raids and the question of admitting evidence unlawfully secured in liquor cases; bill giving the Public Utilities Commission the same authority over holding companies they now have over operating companies and bill giving local authorities in towns the right to supervise the use of dynamite for commercial purposes, which is now controlled by the State Fire Marshal.

The Governor has signed the bill providing for an investigation with a view of improving the procedure under the initiative and referendum provisions of the State constitution for the purpose of rendering questions submitted thereto more understandable to the voters and of eliminating certain inconsistencies in the provisions of the existing laws.

Other bills signed include that providing for an investigation by a special unpaid commission for an appropriate memorial to commemorate the virtues and achievements of Maj.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards. Another provides that the sale of Bibles from door-to-door shall not come under the provision of the hawkers and peddlers law. The Governor has also signed the bill authorizing the killing of predatory birds and mammals and the possession or carrying of shotguns and rifles in certain cases on Sundays.

Under a suspension of the rules there has been admitted a bill petitioned for by the Watertown Selectmen for an investigation by the State Department of Public Health relative to increasing the capacity of the Metropolitan sewer in the Charles River valley so as to eliminate the overflow of sewage into the Charles River near Watertown. It is now before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs which gave it a hearing Wednesday.

A welfare measure that has received favorable action authorizes the State Department of Education to offer correspondence courses, free of charge, to inmates of State correctional institutions.

Arrests and court summonses for violations of automobile laws and traffic ordinances included—speeding, 543; reckless driving, 29; operating without a license, 112; operating with improper brakes, 27; operating without proper lights, 64; operating without registration, 44; not slowing down at street intersections, 70; violating traffic regulations, 835.

Of the 3141 persons to appear in court 1619 were fined; 46 sent to jail, 181 given suspended sentences; 26 sent to State Farm, 41 given suspended fines; 119 placed on probation and 491 cases filed. The total fines collected were $17,537; of which $5,979.65 went into the City Treasury and $11,202.50 to the State Treasury.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

With the railroads losing so much business and revenue from the competition by busses and trucks, railroad employees are certainly optimistic when they plan a National Pension Plan which will guarantee a maximum monthly pension of $300 based on a contributory scheme. The minimum pension would be $50 monthly and these pensions would be paid to workers after 30 years service and after age of 65. A monthly pension of $300 is some pension.

At various times we have commented on the impurity of the water in the Charles River below the Watertown dam and its unfitness to swim in. We stated that polluted water came down the river from places above the dam. It seems that another and more serious cause of pollution has been found—sewage overflowing into the river from the Metropolitan system near Watertown. A bill has been introduced in the Legislature by Representative Arnold Leonard of Watertown asking that $50,000 be appropriated to study this condition. This bill is favored by Representatives from Newton and Cambridge as well as by officials of the State Public Health Division and Metropolitan District Commission. Representative Leonard deserves commendation for the interest he manifests in improving conditions in and along the river.

If it is "second degree murder" to ruthlessly kill a man while he begs for mercy, such killing to be performed in the committal of armed robbery, what constitutes "first degree" murder? Is it any wonder that wanton taking of human life by young thugs is increasing?

—The Arctic Tern a Traveler

The long distance flying record belongs to a species of birds which sometimes nests in New England—the Arctic tern. These birds nest at least as far north as the most northern Eskimos live while they spend our winters on the coasts and islands of Antarctica. According to at least one authority the Arctic tern makes a round trip of 22,000 miles between its farthest north and farthest south. A bird banded in Labrador was picked up 90 days later in Natal, South Africa, 9,000 miles away.

—Stock Exchange Idiom

The term "cover" in connection with stock transaction is a word which is used when one is in the act of buying in a stock which had previously been "sold short"—in other words, a stock which had been sold with the hope that the market in that stock would subsequently decline and would thus afford an opportunity for its purchase at a lower price, with the difference between its sale and purchase price representing a profit on the transaction.

—The Ladies Aid of the M. E. Church held an allday sewing meeting with luncheon at noon in the Parish Hall on Wednesday. Plans were made for the coming Church Lawn Party on June 10th.

—A Mothers' and Daughters' Banquet will be held in the parish hall of the M. E. Church on Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m. Miss Besse L. Doherty of 1565, who describes an article for writing formed of wood and a piece of lead.

—First Lead Pencils

The name pencil was originally applied to a small, fine pointed brush used in painting. It has been said that a manuscript of Theophilus shows signs of having been ruled with a black lead pencil, but the first distinct allusion to a pencil occurs in the "treatise on fossils" by Conrad Gesner in 1565, who describes an article for writing formed of wood and a piece of lead.

—Safest Way

Remembering the "Be Prepared" motto of his Boy Scout days, a cautious young man about to become a beneficent begs the Florence Herald to advise him. "Is it not safest," he asks, "to tell your wife everything?" By all means, son," sagittates the sage of the sanatum, "but tell her before some one else does."

—Trade Routes

The principal trade route between the Far East and Great Britain is through Gibraltar to the Suez canal thence through the Red sea to the Indian ocean to reach India, Australia, etc. The longer trade route is by way of the Cape of Good Hope in South Africa.

—Where Disgrace Lies

An avowal of poverty is a disgrace to no man; to make no effort to escape from it is indeed disgraceful!—Thucydides.

—Takes a Bird Census

In a census of birds, taken by an Oxford undergraduate, those of Kensington gardens, London, totaled to 3,980, including 2,003 sparrows, 411 starlings, 280 black-headed seagulls, 37 titmice and 26 moorhens.

—Extra Educational Course

"Experience," says H. I. Howe, the sage of Chiltnaw, "is a great teacher, but her classes are largely made up of people who had to stay after school for not passing the common-sense examination."—Washington Star.

—Turkey's Capital

Many variations are seen of the ancient name for Constantinople, which has been introduced throughout the world.

—The Turkish embassy says that the official spelling is Istanbul.

—Crowded Metropolis

Manhattan has an area of 22 square miles; Staten Island has an area of 63 square miles. On these two areas of land are crowded several of New York's teeming millions.

—Placing Apple Trees

Orchards in which apple trees are 40 feet apart, or 27 trees to the acre, produce excellent results. Closer plantings yield few apples and poorer fruit.

Recent DeathsCHARLES A. HILL

Charles A. Hill, for many years a well known business man of Newton, had come to Boston to attend a convention of hotel men when he was taken ill. He was born at Waterville, Maine, 78 years ago and came to Newton when a boy, working as a painter, for J. O. Evans. He later went into business for himself and had a shop on Centre place where the post office is now located. He was a call member of the Newton Fire Department for many years and was active in the affairs of the old Claffin Guard militia company. About 30 years ago he entered the hotel business at Belgrade Lakes, Maine. His wife, who was Abby Boyd of Watertown, died last year. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Thayer of Brooklyn, New York, and two sons—Fred Hill of New York City and Lawrence Hill who has been associated with his father in the hotel business. Mr. Hill's funeral was held on Tuesday at Belgrade Lakes.

MRS. LENA HOLMES

Mrs. Lena L. Holmes of 152 Adams street, Newton, widow of William Holmes, died suddenly of heart failure on Thursday, May 7. She was born at Plymouth, North Carolina, 61 years ago and had been a resident of this city for 30 years. Mrs. Holmes' death was the fourth in her family in the past seven months. Her daughter Florence died last September, her daughter Stella died in January of this year and a step-daughter, Mrs. Minnie Chapman, died in New York on April 29. Her funeral service will be held at her late home on Saturday, May 9, Rev. Richard Preston of Grace Church will officiate and the service will be in Lake View Cemetery Condituate. She is survived by her son, Alexander McPherson of West Newton, a daughter, Mrs. Lena Rollins of Newton, and a step-son, Joseph Holmes of Boston.

DANIEL W. HALLORAN

Daniel W. Halloran of 8 Walnut park, Newton, died on May 6th, in his 66th year. He was a native of Franklin, Mass., and had been a resident of this city for 25 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary J. Halloran, two daughters, Mrs. Edward Sullivan of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. George White of Newton, and a son, John Halloran of Brookline. He was a charter member of Griffin Court, M. C. O. F., of Franklin. His funeral service was held this morning at the Church of Our Lady, Newton. Burial was at Franklin.

ALDERMEN MEET

fare Department is to pay two investigators for one month's work in obtaining information regarding persons who had been receiving aid from the city. He referred to the case of a woman who received aid and in whose home the police while conducting raid found $7,000 in cash.

Referring to the large sum appropriated for the construction of the streets at Waban and West Newton which will be built by private contractors, Alderman Ball stated that it is the hope and desire of the Mayor that streets in Newton, other than these may be built by employees of the Street Department.

Alderman Murray told the Board that the Public Works Committee had recommended the removal of a curve on Washington street near the Woodland Golf Club to abolish this traffic hazard. The committee will also favor a taking of land along the north side of the street, but not at present.

Alderman Temperly, justifying his opposition to the granting of a license to the dance hall at Norumbega Park, which action he took at a preceding meeting of the Board, read a skin he had written based on Greek mythology and aimed at an advertisement of the dance hall management recently published which told of "150 love seats" at that terpsichorean resort. Alderman Smith arose to the defence of the dance hall and said he had gone there on several occasions to observe how it is conducted and found that the management is quite strict in maintaining order and the place is run on a high scale.

The Licenses Committee recommended that a taxi license be granted at Newton Highlands to James P. Noonan and Thomas Carney. The committee had previously refused other applications for taxi licenses at this village on the ground that there is not sufficient business there for more taxis. The committee also recommended that a permit be granted the Masten & Wells Company to manufacture and store black gunpowder at 229 Needham street; a common victualler license be granted Lawrence Reichele at 2096 Commonwealth avenue and one 2nd class taxi license be given to the Garden City Taxi Company. This company had applied for 6 first class and 4 second class licenses.

The appointment of Dr. Fred M. Lowe as City Physician was received from Mayor Weeks. The Mayor also recommended taking land adjacent to the Hawthorn street playground as an addition thereto.

DR. LESTER PLAISTED

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. H. Plaisted of Star King, N. H., formerly of Austin street, West Newton, will be grieved to learn of the death of their younger son, Dr. Lester H. Plaisted of Lancaster, N. H.

He was 42 years old and passed away on April 26th following a very short illness.

He graduated from Tufts Dental College in 1912 and for five years he and his brother conducted offices in Boston and Concord, N. H. He served in the World War enlisting in the medical corps as dentist but his actual war experience was amid shot and shell. On his return from overseas, he again took up his profession and opened offices in Manchester, N. H.

On April 30, 1925, he married Miss Marjorie Atwood of Manchester, N. H. He was beloved by all who knew him and his sudden passing is a great loss and shock to the community.

He was a member of North Star Blue Lodge, North Star Chapter & Lodge of Perfection, Bektash Temple, Lancaster Rotary Club and A. L.

He is survived by his parents, his widow and two children and a brother, Dr. Harold Plaisted of Concord, N. H. Interment was in the Plaisted family lot in Jefferson, N. H.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Richard P. McClintock and he was buried with military honors.

HELEN MANNING

Helen Manning of 59 Parsons street, West Newton, daughter of Mrs. Harold Elliott and the late George Manning, died on May 4th in her 15th year. Besides her mother she is survived by two sisters and two brothers. Her funeral service was held yesterday morning at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, and burial was at Belmont.

MRS. HELEN W. BONNER

Mrs. Helen W. Bonner of 27 Victoria circle, Newton Centre, died on May 1st in her 73rd year. She was born in Avon, New York, and was the widow of Samuel Bonner. She had been a resident of this city for 7 years. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frederick G. Nichols of Newton Centre and Mrs. Henry Lengeman of Rochester, New York, and a son, Edwin H. Winans of Balston Lake, New York. The body was taken to Rochester, New York, where the funeral service was held last Monday. Burial was in Mount Hope Cemetery in that city.

FRANCES S. STONE

Miss Frances Stickney Stone, a resident of this city for twenty-five years, died early this morning at her home on Jefferson street, Newton, after several months illness. Miss Stone was born in Watertown 56 years ago and was the daughter of Andrew and Abbie Stone.

Funeral services will be held from the home of her cousin, Mrs. John F. Green, 162 Spring St., Watertown, on Monday afternoon at two thirty.

AUTO HITS TREE AT OAK HILL

A truck loaded with radio tubes hit a tree near the corner of Boylston street and Dudley road, Newton Centre yesterday morning. It then hit another tree and stopped moving when it hit a stone wall. The driver, Phil Flitch of Columbus avenue, Boston lost control when boxes of tubes became loose and dropped on his head. The trees were damaged. So was the truck. So were some of the tubes.

Recent WeddingsHOLMES-KIMBALL

At a ceremony performed at Grace Church, Newton, on Saturday evening, May second, descendants of John Alden and Elder Brewster, fellow pilgrims in Plymouth three centuries ago, were united in marriage when Miss Alice Cary Kimball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brewster Kimball of 350 Chestnut street, West Newton, became the bride of Welles Everett Holmes of 1940 Commonwealth avenue, Brookline, son of Mrs. Welles E. Holmes and the late Mr. Holmes. The bride is a direct descendant of Elder Brewster and is also of the family of Alice Cary, the poet, for whom she is named. The groom is a lineal descendant of John Alden. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard G. Preston, pastor of Grace Church. The church was decorated with palms and white yellow lilies and lighted canaries.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of antique ivory satin modeled with a train and with yoke and sleeves of old point Venise lace. Her cap was of old lace worn by her great-grandmother, Elizabeth Wheeler Porter. The veil of ivory tulle was attached to the back of the cap with gardenias. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, lilies of the valley and orchids.

Miss Elizabeth Kimball, sister of the bride, of West Newton, as maid of honor wore opaline yellow chiffon with taffeta sash of brown and opaline green. The six other attendants wore gowns of opaline green chiffon with contrasting sashes of taffeta in brown and opaline yellow with small tufts hats to match their dresses, and all carried daffodils. They were Miss Margery Kimball of Woburn, Mrs. Charles C. Pyne of Providence, R. I., Miss Frances Holmes of Brookline, sister of the groom, Miss Josephine and Miss Marion Stearns of Detroit, Michigan, cousins of the bride, and Miss Agnes Morris of Amsterdam, New York.

Mr. Clark Hodder of Framingham was the best man and the ushers were Richard F. Sears of Philadelphia, Pa. Arthur L. Spring of Newton, Charles C. Pyne of Providence, R. L. Radman Russ of Newton, Lyman C. Adams of Madison, Maine, and James W. Cook on Montclair, New Jersey.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the church ceremony.

After June 1st Mr. and Mrs. Holmes will be at home at 57 Moffat road, Waban.

The bride is a graduate of Mt. Vernon Seminary, class of 1927 and attended the University of Michigan where she was a member of the Collegiate Sorosis. The groom is a graduate of Wesleyan College, class of 1928 and is a member of the Electric Club.

PAYSON-BARTON

Miss Ann Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clarence Barton of Chestnut Hill, was married to Olcott Spriggs Payson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Payson of Portland, Maine, at the Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill, at four in the afternoon of Saturday, May second. Rev. John S. Moses, rector of the church performed the ceremony assisted by Rev. John Moore Gurnett.

Miss Ruth Barton, younger sister of the bride, was her only attendant. Mr. Haskett Derby of Boston was the best man and the ushers were Charles S. Payson, John B. Payson and Herbert Payson, Jr., brothers of the groom. Richard Payson, a cousin, Roger V. Snow and Benjamin D. Holt, brothers-in-law of the groom, and Daniel F. Comstock and Anthony Anable, brothers-in-law of the bride.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory brocaded satin. Her veil was of plain ivory tulle and she carried white roses. The maid of honor wore pink georgette with hat of brown straw.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 51 Crafts road, Chestnut Hill attended by members of the two families and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Payson will reside at 61 Wolcott road, Chestnut Hill, where they will be at home after May twenty-fourth.

The bride attended the Oldfields School and is a member of the Vincent Club and the Junior League. The groom attended Phillips Exeter Academy and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

Members and friends of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands are anticipating a delightful afternoon on Tuesday, May 26, when a silver tea will be held on the lawn of Mrs. G. Harry Adalian's home, 230 Lake Avenue, Newton Highlands, proceeds of which are to go to the Maintenance Fund of the Workshop. Should the afternoon be stormy, the tea will take place on the next clear day.

The third annual Flower Show, sponsored by the Conservation and Garden Unit, of which Mrs. Edmond A. Duossoff is chairman, will be held at the Workshop on Wednesday, May 13, from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. Entries should be placed with the chairman of each class, as follows: Class 1. Three sprays of flowering shrub not to exceed 36 inches in height, chairman, Mrs. H. P. Gray, C. N. 0088; Class 2. Flowering tubs, (a) best vase of tulips; (b) best vase narcissi, including daffodils and jonquils, chairman, Mrs. B. W. Godsee, C. N. 1709-M; Class 3. Best arranged vase of spring flowers, chairman, Mrs. F. R. Hayward, C. N. 3821; Class 4. Centerpiece for dinner table, chairman, Mrs. E. F. Gibbs, C. N. 0589; Class 5. Flower arrangement in uniform container, which must be purchased from committee, chairman, Mrs. Edgar Smith, C. N. 3397-W; Class 6. Table arrangement for afternoon tea, chairman, Miss Marion Dorr, C. N. 2422; Class 7. Window arrangement, chairman, Mrs. G. Harry Adalian, C. N. 3941; Class 8. Arrangement of flowers in a suitable container to be offered by (A) Children under sixteen years of age, (B) Children under eleven years of age, chairman, Miss Helen Boyd, C. N. 1263.

Any Club member may enter as many classes as she pleases, but is limited to one exhibit in each class. Prizes and ribbons will be offered for each class.

Garden Club of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The Garden Club of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands has now taken the place of the former Conservation and Garden Unit, a committee of the Club. Conservation work will be carried out as in former years, but an added interest having developed in the subject of gardens, which is steadily gaining widespread interest, this new Club has become the logical outcome.

Under the present plan, Club members and others who are not Club members may join the Garden Club at a slight variation in the entrance fee. But, while in former times, one could remain in the Conservation and Garden Unit but two years, there is no time limit to the membership in the New Garden Club. The only requirement for membership is an active interest in garden work.

A number of garden pilgrimages have been planned, and the first one took place last week, April 30, in the form of a trip to the Donahue Gardens, at Newton Lower Falls. Endless varieties of rock garden plants are now in bloom, and the choicer peonies and irises that have made this garden so famous are progressing rapidly. Mr. Donahue gave a very helpful talk on the methods he employs to create so marvellous a garden, and Mrs. Donahue supplemented the basket lunch brought by the visitors with hot tea, which was most acceptable on that chilly, windy day.

On May 6, the Club members left the bulletin board at Newton Highlands square, at 10:30 a. m. en route for the Glen Road Iris Gardens at Wellesley Farms, the Hillcrest Gardens at Weston and the Hunnewell Gardens at Wellesley.

May 15 has been set as the day for a trip to the Lowtherope School of Landscape Architecture, at Groton. The party will leave the bulletin at Newton Highlands square at 10 o'clock, for an all-day trip. Details of further trips will be given later.

The elected officers of the Garden Club are as follows: president, Mrs. Edmond Duossoff; secretary, Mrs. H. P. Gray; and treasurer, Miss Helen Boyd.

RADIO. Mrs. Frank Roe Batchelder, chairman of the Woman's Republican Committee of Worcester County, is to be guest speaker for Mrs. Hartstone, the Thirteenth District director, for the last broadcast of this season. She will speak on "Women's Clubs as Training Schools," from station WBZ, next Thursday afternoon, May 14, at 2:30 o'clock. Incidental music in charge of Doris Turrell, leader of the studio ensemble, is to prefer the "Mothercraft" broadcast of Mrs. Fred G. Rollins, guest speaker for Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, chairman of Mothercraft and Child Welfare. At this time Mrs. Leon E. White, Radio Director, completes her term of office, a term she has carried forward most faithfully and efficiently, and to her the State Federation owes a debt of gratitude.

State Federation

NEWS FLASHES OF THE ANNUAL MEETING—Several features will combine to make the 39th Annual Meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, May 19 to May 21 at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, an outstanding event. A program brimming over with good things, including addresses by speakers of note, necessities of early morning opening at 9:30 o'clock, with a pre-convention session of the Executive Board called by the president, Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, the evening before.

Planting of a tree the first day, in celebration of the coming Bicentennial of the birth of George Washington in 1932, will follow most appropriately an address by Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, presidential commissioner and historian, who will tell of the elaborate plans being made for the observance throughout the country. His coming will be of especial interest to Clubwomen, since Mrs. Schrader, serving on the Massachusetts committee under Dr. Hart, heads the group of Women's organizations who are already planning a notable State-wide celebration.

An entirely new feature of the three-day session will be the section meetings of Wednesday, May 20, to be in vogue after the order of great conventions. The Departments of Fine Arts, Education, American Home, American Citizenship and Public Welfare will simultaneously conduct programs, presenting outside speakers. Fine arts, for example, announces an illustrated lecture on "Famous Paintings" by Henry Warren Poor; "Literature in Modern Life," by Theodore Morrison, until recently with the Atlantic Monthly; and for Music, a demonstration of that curious new ether wave instrument, the theremin, by Mischa Thulin.

Equally inviting and individual are the other section meetings. The Department of Education is fortunate in securing two General Federation officials, Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, chairman of Education, and Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, first vice-president, who will speak on "Roadside Beautification," of which committee she is national chairman. A demonstration of rock gardens by Karl Fischer, followed by a visit to nearby gardens gives a pleasing touch to this program.

But no one need feel that she is missing something valuable by not being able to attend all the "section meetings." For there are to be summarizers, whose task it is to report the various sections before the entire convention at the final session. They are Mrs. Reuben Whitcomb of Walpole; Dr. Alice B. Brainard of Greenfield; Mrs. Franklin P. Hawkes of Arlington; Mrs. Hans W. Miller, of Concord; and Miss Annie M. Summer, of Canton. All of which tunes in with the keynote of the occasion, "Who much doth bring, brings each one something."

The presidents' luncheon of Tuesday, May 19, will be a select affair, to which only the Club president or her appointee is eligible. "The Joy of Being a Club President" is the happy theme chosen by Mrs. Thomas J. Walker of Whitinsville, hostess. Amusing experiences as Club presidents will be related by Mrs. James Hale of Springfield; Miss Annie G. Hinckley, of Barnstable; Mrs. Anson B. Handy, of Plymouth; Mrs. Harry P. Forte, of Newton Highlands; and Miss Naomi Hewitt, of Boston. Assisting Mrs. Walker with arrangements are Mrs. Arthur M. Keith, of Brockton; Mrs. Albert D. Hibbard of Dedham; Mrs. J. Herbert Libby, of East Weymouth; and Mrs. George A. Mellen, of Lawrence.

Always a popular feature at the Annual Meeting, the press and publicity luncheon of Wednesday, May 20, was presided over by Mrs. Walter D. Hall, chairman, promises to be true to form, with two prominent newspapermen as headliners. Elliott Norton, of the Boston Post, and A. J. Philpot, of the Boston Globe.

RADIO. Mrs. Frank Roe Batchelder, chairman of the Woman's Republican Committee of Worcester County, is to be guest speaker for Mrs. Hartstone, the Thirteenth District director, for the last broadcast of this season. Hoover and the Club members were much amused in hearing her relate many enjoyable incidents.

The annual business meeting followed the banquet. Reports were read by the secretaries and chairmen of the different committees.

Miss Mildred L. Ryden in behalf of the Executive Board presented Miss Sabin, the retiring president, with a President's Club pin which only the Club Presidents are privileged to wear. Miss Sabin in her kindly manner thanked the Executive Board for their gift.

For the year 1931-1932 the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Thomas L. Aiken; first vice-president, Mrs. Justin Starke; second vice-president, Mrs. Albert Proctor; recording secretary, Mrs. Harold T. Sprague; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joseph Connors; treasurer, Mrs. William K. Dunham; auditor, Mrs. Michael G. Wieczorek; directors for two years, Miss Doris E. Hardy and Mrs. Ross Folger; directors—for one year, Mrs. Donald Flinchbaugh, Mrs. John Templeton, and Miss Clementine Vara.

Mrs. Thomas E. Lees, chairman of the Nominating Committee, was asked to escort Mrs. Aiken, the new president, to the chair. Miss Sabin graciously welcomed Mrs. Aiken and also at that time spoke of her appreciation to the Club members for their cooperation during her two years' office as president. Mrs. Aiken was presented with a bouquet of flowers. She greeted the Club members with words of enthusiasm and courage for the coming year's work.

The following committees were chosen: Community Service, Mrs. John Temperley, chairman, Mrs. G. Vaughan Shedd and Mrs. Thomas W. White; Hospitality, Mrs. Donald Flinchbaugh, chairman, Mrs. Carl Cedergren, Mrs. Walter J. Billings and Miss Florence Osborne; House, Mrs. Ross Folger, chairman, Miss Grace Hunt, Mrs. Henry A. Sharrott and Mrs. Walter Evans; Legislative, Miss Clementine Vara, chairman, Mrs. Wallace Stevens and Mrs. James K. Hemphill; Membership, Mrs. Albert Proctor, chairman, Mrs. Elmer Atwell, Mrs. Samuel Oldfield; Mrs. Thomas Lees, and Mrs. Frank Proctor; Printing, Mrs. Herbert E. Child, and Mrs. Harold T. Sprague; Press, Miss Doris Hardy. Special committees are to be appointed by the president with the permission of the Club.

Auburndale Review Club

On April 28 the Auburndale Review Club commemorated its fortieth anniversary by planting a maple tree in Nye Park, Auburndale, and then adjourning to "Winthrop Arms" in Winthrop on the beautiful "North Shore" for the Annual Meeting and birthday celebration. Two Charter members, Mrs. C. H. Blood and Miss Ellen C. Williams, were present. The name of Mrs. Samuel Dike, also a charter member, but now detained at home by her more than ninety years, was placed on the honor roll of the Club.

At the business session the following officers for the coming year were chosen: Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, president; Mrs. Stephen E. Wright, vice-president; Mrs. Thomas B. Scott, secretary; Mrs. George F. Howland, treasurer; and the above with Mrs. Frank Davidson, Mrs. Ernest Braithwaite and Mrs. William H. Medlicott on Executive Committee.

The work of the Club, beginning in the autumn, will be on "Contemporary Literature," and gives promise of being an especially interesting year.

While a bountiful luncheon was being served, each member of the Club responded to her name in the roll-call, with a story, poem, or quotation, proving that a laugh was a good digestive.

For the beautiful table decorations the Club were indebted to the skill and thoughtfulness of Mrs. Eugene U. Ulford, whose untiring zeal made the day a memorable one.

From the dining room all returned to the Foyer where characters in costume represented different episodes taken from programs of the year.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Following a luncheon held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Friday, May 1st, the Annual business Meeting took place. Short and interesting committee reports were read, after Mrs. Walter Hartstone opened the meeting with words of greeting, and after a short musical program by Miss Alice Roberts, a new member, was given. Election of officers took place, and Mrs. John F. Capron, former first vice-president, was elected president for 1931-1932. Others elected were Mrs. Alden H. Speare, first vice-

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL
OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The Annual Convention of the Norumbega District Council of Religious Education was held last Tuesday evening, May 5, at the Eliot Church, Newton, beginning with a supper at 6:30 p.m.

Officers elected for the year 1931-32 were as follows: President, Dr. Mark H. Ward of Newton Highlands; Vice-President, Henry Johnson of Watertown; Treasurer, Richard O. Walter of Auburndale; Chairman Finance Committee, Wm. R. Ferry of Newton; Recording Secretary, Miss Grace Briggs of Newton; Executive Secretary, Miss Lullona Barker of Watertown.

The Training School, sometimes called the Community School, will continue its program of leadership training for the coming year, in two terms, as in the past. The first term will begin on Monday evening, October 19, and continue for nine Monday evenings. This will take place at the Newtonville M. E. Church, in one central school, without branch schools in other sections of the District.

Prof. James P. Berkeley has resigned as Dean of the Training School, and Rev. Ervin L. Shaver of Waltham has been secured as the new Dean. Mr. Shaver is the Leadership Training Secretary of the Congregational Education Society with headquarters in Boston, and is a resident of this District.

As a tribute to the retiring Dean,

Gambling Promoted.
Laws Hampering Business.
The Queen's Bad Deal.

Captain Hawks, who got his training in the American army and finished it for himself, seems to be the best air man now.

Having broken the air record from London to Rome, by cutting off more than half the flying time, he has now broken the record for commercial planes from Paris to London, making the 218 miles in 59 minutes.

That would interest Napoleon, who sat patiently at the edge of the Channel, wondering how he could get to England.

If there had been planes in Napoleon's day he wouldn't have sat wondering. He would have gone to England.

He would have done for France, early in the last century, what modern France has done, building the biggest fighting air fleet in the world.

The French Government, to promote its pari mutuel system of race track betting, arranges to take bets not only at the race course but anywhere in France. Bets can be sent by telegraph or mail. You deposit money in advance, not less than 5,000 francs ($200). And the smallest bet by wire or mail is fifty francs ($2).

All profit goes to the Government, except purses actually won by the owners of racing horses.

In this country we bet on the races at least ten dollars for every one bet in France and all the profit goes to bookmakers, race track touts, etc.

Similarly, in our liquor selling, all the profit goes to bootleggers, racketeers, hijackers and speakeasies.

It used to pay a big profit, with less crime, to the Government, as it still pays great profit with little crime to governments of France, Germany, England and other civilized countries.

Business men plan a fight to change, in a common sense way, some of the laws that hamper business, and it is none too soon.

Under the obsolete Sherman Act, made in the days of hansom cabs, nearly half a century ago, any group of men that should now "conspire" to stop criminal waste in the oil industry, or regulate any industrial production, to prevent slumps or depression, could be put in jail.

A new course announced for the coming year is "Temperance Education," which will be given by Dr. Sidney A. Weston, if enough members of such a class are secured. The plan is for Dr. Weston to help teachers and superintendents or special workers in each church school to teach this subject in the best possible way to all church school pupils.

The Young People's Work of the District was represented by officers of the District Y. P. Cabinet and by members of the boys' and girls' basketball leagues that have been conducted co-operatively by the Council and the Newton Y. M. C. A. Trophies were presented to the boys of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Newton, and to the girls of the Newtonville M. E. Church, by Dr. Mark H. Ward, president of the District Council of Religious Education.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. H. Shelton Smith of Yale University Divinity School, who spoke on the subject, "Dare Teachers Be Christian?" He issued a challenge to all present that they "take Jesus seriously."

MORE DOG VICTIMS

Two more persons were bitten by dogs in this city last Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday Melvin Shine of Stafford road, Newton Centre, was notified to restrain his dog on complaint of Andrew Schwab of 182 Homer street, Newton Centre. On Sunday night Stephen Wright of 251 Central street, Auburndale was notified to restrain his dog. The complainant was Richard Fanning of 202 Central St. Dr. Bontelle was notified to examine the animals.

C. J. Starkey, lawyer of Hollywood, and accustomed to big figures, says Queen Isabella got a poor return when she invested $6,000 worth of jewelry in Columbus's trip to America. If she then had invested $6,000 at five per cent, compounded twice a year, it would amount now to four trillion five hundred billion dollars ($4,500,000,000), and that, says Mr. Starkey, is "eleven and one-half times the value of the United States and all its possessions." The figures are impressive, but anyone who would sell the United States now for four and one-half billions would make a bad bargain.

We have our billionaires, several of them, and we shall, in due time, have our "trillionaires" if men persist in their foolish pursuit of more money than they need.

Calvin Coolidge, sympathizing with men in public life, from which he neatly retired at the moment psychologique, reminds you that officials are often accused unjustly. He reminds you that Chancellor Kent wrote, back in 1845: "I think we have in Washington the meanest, most malignant party hacks and tools that ever were doomed to curse a republic."

Coolidge adds: "Yet the country not only survived, but the Government of that day is now conceded to have included some of our most brilliant statesmen."

Field Marshal Allenby, one of the ablest fighters that Great Britain produced in the big war, celebrates his seventieth birthday with this statement: "The next war will mean the complete end of civilization as we know it. Everything and everyone will be commandeered."

Even another world war could hardly kill civilization permanently. If it could be killed by anything, it would have been killed long ago, in the Hundred Years War and the Thirty Years War, for instance.

But the world needs to be reminded that wars must become more and more deadly. And a really great war now would probably bankrupt every nation on earth, meaning poverty for all classes.

Perhaps that's what the human race needs, but it doesn't want it.

HEALTH IN THE MENU

by Daurice F. Darling
HOME SERVICE DIRECTOR,
BOSTON CONSOLIDATED GAS CO.

Do you remember when you were little and you would creep into the kitchen, without being seen, to that secret place where you knew you would find a big stone jar full to the brim with the most wonderful cookies?

Grandmother's cookie jar? What memories it brings back to us! Memories of a sunny kitchen full of the spicy aroma of baking day—memories of a mother taking pride in her baking of nutty cakes, snow-white bread, and crisp little gingerbread men.

I sometimes stop and wonder at many of the mothers of today, and I pity the children growing up with only the memories of cookies out of a paper bag. To me, the cookie jar is a symbol of the wholesome home life of yesterday; the paper bag, a symbol of the jazz life of today.

May I ask you to make the cookie jar an institution in your home and—keep it filled, always. Here are a few recipes that you may like to try:

Grandmother's Ginger Cookies

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2/3 cup of boiling water
1 cup molasses
6 cups of pastry flour
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon ginger
Cream shortening and sugar together. Add unbeaten egg. Mix well. Stir in the boiling water and molasses. Sift flour with remaining ingredients and add. Mix thoroughly. Place in refrigerator overnight. Roll to 1/4 inch thickness and cut into rounds. Place on a greased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees for about 15 minutes. This recipe makes 36 cookies at a complete cost of about 25 cents.

Do not overlook the fact that molasses is a very valuable source of iron, of which we need a good supply daily.

Chocolate Nut Cookies

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
2 eggs
3 squares chocolate
3/4 cup nutmeats
3/4 cup seedless raisins
2 cups pastry flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup milk

Cream sugar and shortening, add unbeaten eggs and melted chocolate. Add finely chopped nutmeats and raisins with the sifted dry ingredients. Add milk and mix well. Drop by teaspoonsful on a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for about 10 minutes. This recipe makes 50 cookies.

Send any of your cookery problems or questions to Miss Darling, care of this paper. She will be glad to answer them, either through this column, or by personal letter.

Why Not a Complete Cleaning For Your Furs This Year?

OUR STORAGE AND CLEANING FACILITIES ARE AT YOUR DISPOSAL

Safety

Mr. E. A. Parker, our furrier, personally supervises every order. We carry fire and theft insurance.

Service

We collect and deliver twice daily in the Newtons.

Convenience

A 'phone call and your storage problem is over. Our vault and fur cleaning plant is at 1173 Washington St., West Newton. Delivery on short notice in the Fall.

Satisfaction

Moth life is entirely eliminated. Furs are cleaned by the furrier method. We never submerge furs in gasoline. You are invited to watch us clean and store your furs.

You'd never consider your scalp clean if it was merely subjected to a powerful current of air. The soil on the hair (not the scalp) must be safely dissolved. The same is true of furs. The oil which holds the soil on the hair of the fur must be removed without removing the natural oils and preservatives in the pelt.

Suits, Overcoats and Wraps may also be stored for the Summer at reasonable rates.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

"Captain Kidd's Kittens," a motion picture in which "Our Gang" reproduce the story of Noah's Ark after their own fashion, is scheduled for Saturday next at 3:00 at the Children's Museum of Boston. Various animals put aboard a makeshift ark by members of "Our Gang" give realism to the screen story which shows the animals handled without harm, if enthusiastically. And this animal film is the fore-runner of a real "live" animal show, a pet Show, to be held at the Museum, May 23.

Boys and girls under 18 will be invited to enter their pets in a number of classes at the forthcoming pet show which is open without charge to entrants within the age limit. This event is an outdoor event and will be postponed if the weather is unfavorable.

A group of 1800 boys and girls enjoyed the May Frolic in which archery contests and a May Queen were featured. The rolling lawns of the Museum were dotted with bunches of young "frolicers" from 3:00 till close to 5:00.

RUMMAGE SALE

Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., is holding a Rummage Sale at 252 Washington street, Newton Corner, in the store formerly occupied by Woolworth's V & X on Friday and Saturday, May 5th and 6th. Members of the chapter have been busy for weeks soliciting and collecting books, clothing, and house furnishings for this sale. The proceeds will be used in the patriotic work of the Chapter.

The Rotary Club met as usual at the Woodland Golf Club on Monday noon. The guest speaker was Mr. George H. Crosbie of Newton Centre and he was introduced by William Halliday. Mr. Crosbie spoke on the "Social Life of the Insect." Having made a hobby of the study of flowers and insects, particularly the ants and the termites, the speaker told a great many interesting things about their habits. Some of the things he told showing the intelligence of the insects were almost incredible. He mentioned the "leaf cutters" who strip an entire tree of all its leaves, cut the leaves into bits, carry the bits underground, where it is used to fertilize the growth of mushrooms upon which the majority of ants live. Many other interesting habits held the attention of the members of the club while Mr. Crosbie was speaking.

A delegation of Newton Rotarians and their wives attended the charter night for the Concord Rotary Club last night. The Concord Club was night of the Concord Rotary Club through Fred Teele and Charley Ansley. The Newton Club presented the Concord organization with its Rotary banner.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Lightning Do's and Don'ts

How much do you know about lightning-tools, chain or heat? Now, don't get nervous. This is not a grave warning. It simply means that I am passing along to you some of the exceedingly interesting things I found in an article on "Lightning," written by my good friend Herbert V. Ingerson of Stone & Webster, Inc. If you happened to know him intimately as I do you would count yourself fortunate. Yet there is no reason you cannot learn a good deal from his study of a subject which has an appeal to all of us, especially now as the season of thunder storms is approaching.

Mr. Ingerson, who was graduated from the California Institute of Technology with a Master of Science degree, has written for the Stone & Webster Journal an article which makes clear and entertaining matters which we are eager to learn but usually find phrased in technical words. Furthermore he brings before us a clearer view of that which I am sure is more or less hazy to those of us who are not students of science.

What I believe is particularly worth knowing is his discussion of where lightning strikes or doesn't strike and what protection lightning-rods afford. He declares that the results of tests show that lightning rods are of real value within definite limits.

"Few lightning rods are seen on houses in the city, yet the rods are there in different form," says Mr. Ingerson. "Every plumbing installation has an air-vent pipe, rising above the roof, and of course directly connected to the well-grounded pipes. Radio aerials, electric light wires, metal water-containers carrying the rain water from the roof to the ground, all furnish protection to the house. Radio aerials should, of course, be grounded outside the house during a storm. Some people still believe that the safest place in the house during an electrical storm is under the bed. There are many other places just as safe, but the most dangerous places are near metallic objects, piping of any kind, and light fixtures."

Now get this: "Trees are, of course, excellent lightning rods because, when wet, they are good conductors, and their roots go deep in the moist earth. Thus a house surrounded by trees is quite well protected, but often the tree itself has sufficient value to warrant its protection. By installing a lightning rod at the top of a tree and connecting it to earth similar to an installation on a house, both the tree and the house become well-protected."

I think this further reassuring statement from Mr. Ingerson should not only be printed and read but heeded. He advises us as follows:

"Don't worry yourself into a state of nervous hysteria over lightning. In the first place, all your worrying won't prevent a bolt of lightning from striking your house—or your radio aerial—if it chooses to. And in the second place statistics show that if you live in an average city home, you will not be singled out by lightning more than once every thousand years. Even if your house is in the most perilous position—on the top of an exposed hill—your chance of being struck is only one in several million."

That Famous Heath Hen

Seldom do we see so much newspaper space given to a specimen of wild life. Yet everything that has been printed about the lone heath hen of Martha's Vineyard seems extremely interesting. It is all the more remarkable that a bird should fly about and land on the front pages of metropolitan newspapers all in the same day. But this heath hen had the scientists stirred up and consequently was worthy of all attention and capable of most any kind of feat.

What strikes me as particularly impressive is the fact that in these days when so much energy is apparently concentrated on money-making enterprises that conservation of wild life should come in for the consideration it deserves. It is gratifying to find that there are those who have the patience, let alone the desire, to study habits of the heath hen for the benefit of future generations. I think the circumstances of the trapping, temporarily of course, and photographing the bird are good enough to be told here.

Prof. Alfred O. Gross, the Bowdoin College expert who conducted the study for the Division of Fisheries and Game, says, "The trap used was a simple iron frame covered over with fish seine netting, the latter being tied instead of wire to prevent injury. The trap was released by a string running from the trigger stick to the blind. The day on which the heath hen was trapped there was a steady downpour of rain. The bird came out of the scrub oaks at 6:45 a.m. and walked steadily but cautiously toward the vicinity of the blind to secure the grain which had been placed there to lure it to close range. The bird exhibited no fear of the blind and at first paid not the least attention to the traps, entirely new objects in the environment of its feeding place. The bird ate greedily of the grain, adjusted its plumage to shed the rain and then settled down in the grass stubble with its head facing toward the driving 'northeaster'. In about a half hour it sauntered towards the trap, and after a brief inspection entered to peck at the ear of corn used as bait."

Continuing, Prof. Gross says, "It was an exciting moment inside of the blind; the least false move would mean failure. Promptly at a pre-arranged signal the trap was released and the last heath hen was made a temporary prisoner. Though the heavily overcast sky and heavy downpour of rain made conditions unfavorable for photography, moving pictures and stills were made of the entire procedure."

You'll want to know the sequel. The famous heath hen was released after all this and is as free as ever it was. Just to show that there was no hard feelings on the bird's part it came back to the blind next day, looking for feed. Perhaps it knew the movie cameras were waiting to make more pictures which they did. If this doesn't prove that patience is something of value to all us, and certainly essential to science, I don't know what does. For my part I would like to visit Martha's Vineyard just to get a glimpse of the last remaining heath hen. Those who summer there will be on the watch, I feel sure.

It's Different These Days

Remembering country dances through stories, old-time tales as well as a somewhat limited personal experience, I was glad enough to drop in at a town hall dance conducted by one of those well-ordered communities of which New England possesses many. Approaching the place it struck me that the horse-sheds of the days gone by had become outdoor garages. However, the number of cars was so great that many were parked here and there on the main thoroughfare and side streets. Not a horse in sight, for that matter.

Upon entering the hall I was even more impressed by the modern conditions. Youth and beauty were there, to be sure, but much more "cityified" than I had expected. There was a difference between city and country, at least once upon a time, but now the boys and girls appear as do those in the big city. There were a number of ballroom dresses and not a few tuxedo suits. I did not feel that I had traveled any distance from home.

It was foolish of me, I'll admit, to expect to see any old-fashioned dances but I must confess I fondly hoped that some of the older dancers would insist upon a Virginia reel, a quadrille, a polka or surely one of the Strauss waltzes. Above all, I longed to hear the dances "called." Not that I imagined for a moment they would have a fiddler, but I would have rejoiced had there been one of those quaint and picturesque personages in place of the up-to-date master-of-ceremonies.

All was changed. The orchestra was made up of young men, senior high students, I suspected. There were two saxophones, not in tune by the way, a trombone and a fancy bass drum, played by the "trapsman" and possibly another brass. It was inspiring jazz they discoursed and essentially of today. I was disappointed, though I knew I had no right to be.

The one thing that brought me back to earth and 1931 more forcibly than anything else was the appearance of a policeman and his errand. He walked over to the orchestra leader and although the latter was blowing his head off at the moment, whispered in his ear. The leader nodded assent.

I wondered if there was any criticism of the music that caused the police to interfere. I seemed hardly possible. When the music halted, the leader beckoned to the policeman who handed him a slip of paper. The leader thereupon addressed the assembly. He spoke clearly and asked, "Will the owners of the car in this lot please move them to a proper parking place. They are now obstructing traffic on Main street?" He thereupon read the registration numbers of four or five automobiles. Immediately the owners hurried from the hall, presumably to obey the traffic officer's command.

That's all there was to it. I was convinced that instead of calling the dances in the country nowadays they call the automobile numbers.

Those Old Shavers

A barber who reads this column, appreciative of my ignorance and seeking to dispel as much of it as lies within his power, invited me to look over the shaving mugs he has accumulated during more than a third-of-a-century of business. "Wouldn't you like to look at my cup case?" he asked. I thought he said cup-cakes and exhibited surprise. "You wrote something in your column, for I read it," he went on. Still I was dumb. "You called them shaving mugs," he said rather sharply.

Promptly I apologized and gladly accompanied him to the cup case. "There are four customers now who have their own, but the idea doesn't seem to be popular any more," said my barber friend. "The men who use them are not particularly fussy. They have been in the habit so long they can't shake it, I guess."

By that time I found myself gazing at numerous cups, including a score or more which were numbered in gold. Apart from the numerals there were no decorations, barring a fine border above and below. "That used to be the way a lot of them did," said the barber. "They just used to hop into the chair and say twenty-one or whatever number they had."

"Not as picturesque as the others," said I, swayed by my true sense of the poetic.

"How about these," and, pointing to as gay a lot of cups as ever held lather, he added, "they ought to be fancy enough." You'd be surprised and I must say I found it difficult to associate with big, twice-fisted men of a generation or more ago the wreaths of pansies, the clusters of violets and bouquets of quaint flowers that I'll bet no florist could identify. Yet there they were. It was the usual collection of the good old days of the barbershop business.

"This one," said the barber, with a sad expression in his eyes, "was left behind by man a long while ago. He never came back."

Frankly, I was shocked. "Too bad," said I, for I knew what had happened to the late customer.

"Yes," said the barber, "he must have died to shave himself."

A Wonderful Memory

Tis sweet to be remembered. Also flattering, provided they don't dig up some past performances you would prefer to have forgotten. In this instance, if I may believe the writer of the circular letter, it is my own sweet self they want. "Dear Sir," the latter begins. A trifle formal but the salutation is soon overlooked as one reads on. "We remember so pleasantly your visit with us and would like very much to have you repeat it. A great many improvements have been made. You will find a new garage wherein you may have space for as many cars as you wish. The new building provides splendid accommodations for chauffeurs and will mean that your personal chauffeur will be where he may be reached at any time

All Newton Girl Scouts are very much interested in Troop 12. This is the troop at the Peabody Home for Crippled Children. On Thursday of last week, Miss Freeman invested the following girls as Tenderfoot Scouts: Maria Sulli, Constance Ruby, Concetta Mier, Virginia Dodge, Ann O'Neill and Wilma True.

Miss Elizabeth Adams, former member of Troop 14, has a small group of Brownies connected with the troop and the following girls were invested in the same afternoon with their Brownie Pins: Florence Foley, Dorothy Davis, Mary Roberts, and Rosie Bates. After the opening ceremony and investiture, the girls made May Baskets which were to be sent to children in the Pomroy Home in Newton.

Ten leaders were present at the week-end hike conducted at Camp Mary Day by Mr. Bruce, the Boy Scout Executive, on Friday and Saturday of last week. The days were perfect for work in the open and the leaders got a great deal of valuable information and real practice on essentials of camping, which will in turn make the week-ends to come much more valuable and enjoyable to girls going to camp.

Troop 13 had a "parents' night" on Tuesday this week at which time Merit Badges were awarded.

Troop 11 and 26 of Newton Highlands, held the regular troop meeting at Camp Mary Day this week on Monday and Wednesday respectively.

Troop 25, of West Newton, held its meeting at Camp on Tuesday. The girls worked on their nature projects, played games, and then had their supper.

Don't forget Bugle and Drum Corps Day, Saturday, May 9, at the Boston Arena.

CHANNING GUILD

The annual meeting of the Channing Guild was held at the Channing Church Parlors on Sunday, April 25, at 5:30 P.M. The speaker for the evening was Mr. Bradford Gale who addressed the group on "

The election of officers for the coming year was as follows:

President—Latimer William Glowa, M. I. T. Dormitories, Cambridge, Mass.; Vice-President—Miss Alice Cushman, 436 Commonwealth Avenue, Newton Centre; Recording Secretary—Miss Elizabeth Scofield, 18 Vernon Street, Newton; Corresponding Secretary—Miss Jean Murray, 584 Centre Street, Newton; Treasurer—Chapin Harris, 114 East Side Parkway, Newton; Director—Miss Mary Harrington, 570 Centre Street, Newton.

The new executive board has already held a meeting on May 3rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray, during which conference, the following chairmen were chosen:

Candle-light service, Miss Alice Cushman; Supper Committee, Miss Miriam Grevatt; Hospitality Committee, Miss Edith Pike; Ways and Means Committee, Miss Greta Sundholm; Public Relations Committee, Mr. Herbert Mellus.

The Guild will attend the annual Young People's Religious Union Outing at Babson Park on May 23, 1931. The Committee for the annual picnic has accepted the invitation to hold it at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray at Nantasket Beach on Saturday, June 6th.

AUTOS HIT CHILDREN

Two children were hit by automobiles in this city last Friday.

Ruth McCusich of 120 North Street, Newtonville, 13 years old, was hit by a truck at the corner of Crafts street and Albemarle road. The truck was owned by R. & J. Farquhar of Boston, Jr., of West Roxbury. The girl, who was riding a bicycle received a probable fracture of the pelvis. She was taken to the Newton Hospital.

Roland Grant, 4, of Border Street, West Newton, was slightly injured when he collided with an automobile driven by Louis Scordamalia of 79 Border Street. The accident occurred near his home.

day and night. The quarters for servants have been enlarged so you may depend upon finding room for all members of your entourage. Should you care to reserve anchorage for your yacht at one of the hotel's privately maintained moorings that can easily be arranged. Since you are familiar with this beautiful region we will not go into an extended description of its charms and delights. We would be greatly pleased, however, to receive an early reply from you stating the number of your party, how many rooms desired, and the approximate time of arrival."

The writer adds deep thanks for past patronage and assures me of his eager desire to welcome me again at his hotel.

I must say I am impressed with the epistle. In my opinion it would be a nice little piece to state what I like most about it is the note of genuine hospitality. If this will accept a note in return we might come to terms. I shall not make such a suggestion. Rather I shall be satisfied with that thought they haven't forgotten me even if the visit must have been made by me when I maintained a previous bodily and spiritual existence.

Cooks—James Timmins, Chef, Exeter, N. H.; James Martelle, Baker, Exeter, N. H.; and Paul E. Hayes, Helper, Lawrence.

CLASS BANQUET

The Senior Class banquet of the Newton Theological Institution was held Monday night in Sturtevant Hall. The dining room was attractively decorated in the institution colors, purple and white.

Mr. Heyward Foreman, retiring president of the Student Association, was toastmaster. Dr. Frederick L. Anderson asked the invocation and following dinner an interesting program was presented. George M. White, Jr., gave a group of tenor solos and an instrumental trio composed of Marjorie Greene, pianist; Florence Mather, violinist and Gordon Lyon, cellist, gave several selections.

President Everett L. Herrick gave an appreciation toast to members of the Senior Class and the address of the evening was by Rev. C. Leslie Gleam, rector of Christ Church, Cambridge.

A surprise feature of the program was a humorous sketch, impersonating members of the faculty, presented by members of the Junior and Middle Classes.

Arrangements were in charge of Miss Bettina Gilbert, chairman; Mrs. Paul Goodwin and Miss Myrtle Auch, decorations; Miss Ruth Moore, Everett Lester, Miss Myra Whittaker, Clarence Strippy and Gerald Parker; Everett Sherwood and Miss Rosamond Merchant, reservations; Paul V. Goodwin and Q. K. Barrett, publicity.

DRAWN FOR JURY DUTY

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night the names of nine men who must serve as jurors were drawn. They will serve at sessions of the Middlesex Superior Court at Cambridge. The names drawn were: Archibald Rogers, 79 Cobert street; Carl Crummett, 57 Walnut street; Harris Austin, 57 Charlesbank road; John R. Draper, 61 Park avenue; Clifford Belcher, 492 Crafts street; Edwin W. Sullivan, 2115 Commonwealth avenue; Richard Hill, 457 Wolcott street; Joseph A. McCarthy, 16 Chaaseka avenue; James Seaver, 24 Winnatska road; Patrick J. Mee, 211 Jackson road.

PASS UP CHANCES TO BEAT CANTABS

The Cambridge High and Latin School baseball team pinned a 3 to 2 defeat on the Newton High school nine in a Suburban league encounter at Claffin Field last Saturday. Five times the locals had a man on second base with the tying run but the chances all went glimmering when the succeeding batters failed to produce. It might well be said that Kelly, Cantab Field, pitched excellently ball and bore down to fan nine Newton batters, six coming in the pinchers. Kelly limited the Sullivan clan to seven blows, three of which came in the seventh frame to give Newton its two runs, one of which was a home run clout by Butler, Newton first sucker at a time when no one was on base.

"Tucker" Rhodes of Newton staged a great pitching duel with his Cantab rival and held the opposition to five hits. But Rhodes tossed the game away with a couple of errors that came at the wrong time.

Three Cantab batters failed to get the ball out of the infield in the first inning and were retired at first in the first inning. In Newton's half Colby's single to right with two down was the only feature but Rhodes was tossed out at first.

Huston gathered in Lakaskas' fly for the first out in the second. Horgan singled to left. LaRonde bunted and it went for a hit when Rhodes and Hildreth couldn't decide which should take it. Plausky hit to Rhodes who uncorked a wild throw on an easy force play at third and Horgan counted. LaRonde scored a moment later on Reardon's single. Kelly hit to Rhodes and Plausky was cut down at the plate. Hildreth tossed out Sullivan at first. Newton went down in order in the last of the second without hitting the ball out of the infield.

Rhodes turned back the Cantabs in order in the third. With one down in Newton's half Appleyard singled but was out going down to second when Kelly caught him too far off first base. Huston drew a walk, took second when Kelly threw wild trying to catch him napping and took third on a balk but Antonells fanned in the pinch.

Rhodes booted Horgan's rap opening the fourth. Dyer made a running catch of LaRonde's long fly to right. Plausky grounded to Butler with Horgan taking second and Rhodes fanning Reardon with Hildreth dropping the third strike but getting his man at first. Kelly stood Newton on their heads in the last of the frame limiting them to three infiel'd grounders.

Three fly balls to left field, second base and right field were the Cantab's efforts in the fifth. Hildreth singled to start Newton's half, took second on Sharpe's sacrifice but was left when both Dyer and Appleyard fanned.

It was one, two, three for both teams in the sixth. The Cantabs went out on two flies and a grounder to the pitcher while Kelly fanned the three men at the top of Newton's batting order. Huston, Antonells and Colby.

The visitors picked up a tally, which later proved to be the winning one, in the first of the seventh. LaRonde fanned to create another triple first place to by winning the verdict from Brookline this afternoon as such an outcome would give Brookline, Somerville and the Garden City outifts two wins and one loss apiece in three starts. Cambridge Latin will be battling for a verdict over Rindge in the other Suburban league encounter.

In addition to having an incentive towards getting the edge on the intercity championship the Cantabs will be fighting to gain a .500 rating in the league standing while Rindge will be endeavoring to chalk up its first league victory.

Next week Tuesday Newton will entertain Everett in the return game at Claffin Field and will try its hardest to annex a victory in order to avenge the defeat suffered at Everett from the former Suburban league outfit two weeks ago. A week from tomorrow the orange and black will trip over to Dilby Field, Somerville and will attempt to trip up the Dickerman clan. Should Newton win from Brookline today the encounter at Somerville next week should be one of the decisive battles of the league season as it completes the first round of competition. Should Newton lose to Brookline the Somerville contest will be the orange and black's last chance to stay in the race for honors.

TRACKSTERS ON TOP OF FIELD AGAIN

The Newton High School track athletes opened their outdoor season last Saturday with an overwhelming victory in the Worcester Polytechnical School interscholastic meet. During the indoor season the past winter the local aggregation captured first places in three interscholastic affairs and were a close second in the State meet, the fourth and final on the boards. Turning to the cinder path the wearers of the orange and black have regained the top of the heap again and have high hopes of keeping there during the remaining meets of the season.

In the high jump Varney of Brookline, Hilliard of Brookton and Green had another of their battles which were a feature of the indoor season Varney came through to win at 5 ft. 6 in. with Green and Hilliard tying for second place.

Newton did not place in the shot put, discus throw or pole vault.

LOCAL YOUTHS PLACE IN COLLEGE MEET

Several local youths placed in the Greater Boston Intercollegiate meet at the Harvard stadium last Friday and Saturday, in which the Crimson won overwhelmingly. The individual performances follow:

Joe M. Fox, Harvard—the Nonantum year won the two-mile run over Ward of B. C. Gilman of M. I. T., and Foote and Barrie of Harvard '99-1950.

Hamilton Kollmeyer, Harvard, the former Newton high and Exeter athlete, placed fourth in the 220-yard dash final after winning his semi-final in 22 3/5 seconds and his trial heat in 22 3/5 seconds the latter the fastest of any heat in the meet. He also qualified for the finals of the 440-yard run by taking second to Don Fleet of B. C. in his trial heat but the field was too fast for the lanky Crimson sophomore.

Harold Ham, Harvard—the former Newton high shotputter, took fifth for Harvard in the discus throw with a toss of 119 ft. 2 1/4 inches.

Curtis Scott, Northeastern—tied for second in the high jump with Freeman, a teammate, at six feet.

Jimmie McCrudden, Northeastern—won the third heat of the 880-yard trials in 2 minutes flat, the best of the day but failed to place in the finals which Dave Cobb of Harvard won in 1 min. 57 2/5 seconds to equal the meet record.

Bob Kinrade, M. I. T.—placed third in the 100-yard dash trials and second in his 220-yard trial but failed to place in the finals.

The local youths who placed in the freshmen events were:

Carl Pescosolido, Harvard—took third in the final of the 100-yd. dash after winning his trial heat and pushing Joe McManus of B. C. to 10 2/5 seconds in a semi-final heat to equal the meet record. Pesky also took third in the shotput with a toss of 45 ft. 8 1/2 inches.

John Grist, B. U.—tied for fifth in the high jump at 5 ft. 3 in.

Roger S. Greene, Harvard—the former Country Day athlete took second in the 440-yard run trials but failed to place in the final.

Charles W. Hall, M. I. T.—placed third in the mile run.

ZONTA CLUB

At a meeting of the Newton Zonta Club held at the Pied Piper Tea Room last Monday evening Miss Calista Roy, Assistant Superintendent of Schools in Newton, gave an extremely interesting resume of the health work and activities curricular now being conducted in the schools of the city.

Newton schools rank high in the estimation of educators throughout the country. The meaning of symbols of Health Day originated here. One of the most influential persons in the country, according to Miss Roy, is Miss Mabel Bragg, former Assistant Superintendent of Schools here. A few years ago Miss Bragg was requested to organize health work in Belgium, which she did most satisfactorily. She is a member of President Hoover's Child Welfare Committee.

In 1927 a thorough health examination of children in the elementary schools of the city disclosed about 48 per cent. having physical defects sufficient to necessitate reports to that effect being sent to the parents, this year but 5 6-10 per cent. were found to be similarly deficient.

In addition to the report of marvelous progress in health matters which Miss Roy gave, the Zontians were treated to what they felt was a trip through a strange and delightful country as they listened to stories of the activities programs in force in the schools of Newton. Those who remembered the days of memorizing and reciting wished for a fairy wands to transport them to childhood in Newton in 1931.

The recent card party conducted by Newton Zontians was a decided success both financially and socially.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the Pied Piper Tea Room in Newton Corner on Monday, May 19, at 6:30.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE—NEWTON

The Paramount Theatre next week offers its patrons a very high class entertainment during the entire week beginning Sunday and for the first half of the week Helen Twelvetrees in "Mille" will be the feature.

"Mille" is rather a startling story of the right girl who met the wrong man. She is a fiery-haired village girl who marries a rich New Yorker for love. Her love vanishes after two years of married life. With bitterness in her heart she sets out to treat men as they have treated her and a highly dramatic story results.

The supporting cast includes Lilyan Tashman, Robert Ames, Joan Blondell, John Halliday and James Hall.

On the same program will be El Brendel in Mr. Lemon of Orange, a high class comedy and a satire on gangland.

For the last half of the week Douglas Fairbanks and Bebe Daniels will be seen in "Reaching for the Moon," one of the best pictures Douglas Fairbanks has ever made. On the same program will be John Gilbert and Louis Wolheim in "A Gentleman's Fate."

The usual Saturday morning show for children will take place at 10 o'clock, doors open at 9:30; the children will be out at 12:30.

EXHIBITS AT CAMERA CLUB

William L. Tisdel, Boston Globe reporter, covering Watertown and Newton, is represented in the twenty-third annual members' print exhibition of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union Camera Club. Mr. Tisdel's photographic contributions are titled "Basking," a Charles River vista, and "Love at First Sight," a portrait of his ten-months' old daughter with her bunny rabbit.

Last week end Mr. Tisdel motored to Portland, Me., to attend the exhibitors' banquet and outing given by the Portland Society of Art. Photographic Section. Mr. Tisdel is represented in that print show with prints at Sunriser and in the recent Pittsburgh (Pa.) Sale of Photographic Art by "The Poem" which was also shown at the Boston Camera Club with "Phantom Ship." He has also sent prints this spring to San Diego, California, and to Japan. "Phantom Ship" is being shown with the traveling exhibition of the Associated Camera Club of America.

By Edw. H. Powers

Complaints have been made about stones being scattered along streets in this city. These stones fall off large gravel trucks which bring them from a gravel pit at Needham. The stones are piled so high that when the big trucks hit a bump on the road or go around a corner, some of them drop off. These stones, lying on the streets, are apt to be picked up by automobile tires and catapulted at cars or pedestrians. The Police Department has been notified of this condition.

Huge water pipes which will form part of the big 60 inch main are lying alongside Charles River Parkway between Newton and Fenway. Work on the excavation of the trench at this section is expected to start within a few days. This is the water main which will be laid along Washington street between Newton and West Newton and which has retarded the badly needed resurfacing of this main highway through Newton's mostly thickly settled villages.

The fence which borders the Boston & Albany railroad cut between Centre avenue and Church street, Newton, along Washington street, is badly in need of rebuilding. In its present condition it affords little protection to pedestrians between Richardson and Church streets where there is an abrupt drop from the sidewalk and the tracks below. This fence should be rebuilt before some accident occurs and the city has a damage suit against it. Attention has been called in the past to the need of a heavy steel cable on either side of the Saint James street bridge over the B. & A. tracks to serve as safeguards against any skidding automobile. This is a danger spot that should have been safeguarded years ago.

In a Boston Sunday paper recently was an article (one of a series) written to prove that New England is not slipping. This article concerned Newton. It told of the very rapid increase in Newton's population during late years, of this city's prosperity. The article was decidedly complimentary to Newton; it was a great boost for this burg. But, the author was quite incorrect in some of his alleged facts. He said—"there are a half dozen factories devoted to textile machinery and textile production. Several worsted mills, including the United States Worsted Corporation and the Saxon Worsted Mills turn out many thousands of dollars worth of goods annually."

The little booklet Mr. Browne referred to tells more in detail of conditions at the Utopia he has found. It will be reprinted in the GRAPHIC either this week or next.

"The Saxony Worsted Mill, which was the Newton unit of the United States Worsted Company, went out of business several years ago. So did the other mills of this former big textile organization in other cities and towns. The former big industry in this city referred to, the manufacture of textile machinery, the Saco-Lowell shops at Newton Upper Falls, has only been employing a small fraction of its former total of workers for several years."

In another paragraph the writer of the article said, "There is practically no unemployment in Newton, at least heads of families and those who have dependents." This statement is preposterous. There are hundreds of heads of families and persons with dependents in Newton who have been out of work for months and who would be very thankful for employment.

Monday morning we received a letter addressed "Rusty Powers, Newton Graphic, Newton, Mass." The letter bore a Mexican postmark and we wondered who had addressed us, using the title which was ours in the days when the writer possessed red hair and plenty of it. The writer of the letter we found to be Porter Emerson Browne who attended the Belvoir School with us and who became nationally known as an author and playwright quite early in his career. Mr. Browne worked so assiduously at his profession that he undermined his health and in recent years has had to take things easy.

He wrote to tell us of an earthly paradise he has discovered down in Mexico. He is residing at Kino Bay, Sonora on the Gulf of Lower California. In his letter he wrote—"I enclose a little booklet that may interest you. This is a gorgeous spot and a glorious country, and full of business opportunities because it is a virgin and unspoiled land, without depression, complication, high wages and standards of living. The peso is worth 40 cents gold. It has the purchasing power of a dollar back home. Labor is a peso and a half a day; domestic servants a peso. The Seri Indians, one tribe that has never been willing to become civilized, gather oysters for us, four for a centavo; crabs a centavo each; lobsters four centavos; and other sea food in proportion. Sea bass sell for 2 cents a pound. The fishing is amazing. So is the hunting. It is peaceful and lovely. No more revolutions, in all probability for twenty years."

The little booklet Mr. Browne referred to tells more in detail of conditions at the Utopia he has found. It will be reprinted in the GRAPHIC either this week or next.

John (Shauno) Collins, manager of the Boston Red Sox, has had many exciting moments in his long baseball career, but we doubt if few were more exciting than that which occurred during a game which was played between an Upper Falls team and the old Nonantum A. A. years ago. "Shauno" was pitching for the Upper Falls nine and "Boxer" Millmore of Watertown was umpiring the game, which was played on the Upper Falls playground. It was a close game and Millmore did an excellent job as umpire. But, someone started the rumor that "Boxer" had a dollar bet on the game and partisans of the Upper Falls team grabbed at every close decision the umpire made. In the 8th inning when matters were not looking any too bright for the home team, one of the opposing batters hit sharply to the Upper Falls shortstop. The shortstop stopped the ball, but fielded it slowly and threw wide to first, forcing Walter Slattery who was playing that position to take his foot off the bag as he reached for the ball. The runner touched the base as Slattery's foot was off the bag, and Millmore properly called him safe.

The fun started. A big husky, who had been the leader in razzing Millmore, yelled—"Let's rush him into the river." Suiting his action to his word, he rushed at the umpire, called him, and assisted by a mob of rabid Upper Falls rooters, "Boxer" was being rapidly propelled towards the Charles and a ducking. The baseball fans from Nonantum, although ordinarily averse to friction, couldn't stand abjectly by and see the umpire unjustly hurled into the river. So, they took a hand in the proceedings and rescued the Watertown man. And the game did not continue.

MIDDLESEX COURT, M. C. O. F.

Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F. will hold a Whist and Bridge Party on Tuesday evening, May 12th at Elks Hall, Centre street, Newton. Thomas Fitzgerald, assisted by the delegates to the State Convention will be in charge of the party. A large number of valuable gifts for those participating have been donated.

Gummy Gasolines

do this to your motor

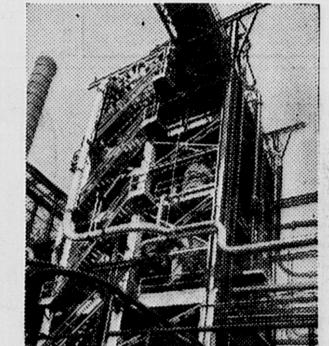

...but TYDOL Gasolines are 99 98% Gum-Free

Why TYDOL Gasolines Are 99 98% Gum-Free

1. SELECTED CRUDES... Crudes selected for their cleanliness are "multi-fractionated" by super-refining equipment costing millions.

2. "GUM-TAPPED"... In modern bubble towers of the most advanced type, gum-carrying gasoline is drawn off in huge pipes and re-distilled.

3. GUM-FREE BLENDING... Tide Water's exclusive, secret blend of gum-free gasolines creates super-power, high-test, anti-knock qualities.

Valves stuck? . . . GUM . . . Loss of power?
. . . GUM . . . Hard carbon? Feed lines clogged? . . . GUM does it.

GUM in gasolines puts sticky tar in your motor. GUM is a power thief. You may find it anywhere. But there is one sure way to keep it out of your gas tank.

Use Hi-test TYDOL. For it is 99 98% gum-free!

Super-refined by a series of the most advanced processes in ultra-modern equipment costing millions. Treated by the most modern methods to keep it free from GUM.

High-test, anti-knock, super-power . . . and not a penny premium to pay . . .

Fifth Annual Intercollegiate Debate Between B. C. And Holy Cross

Sponsored By Newton Council K. of C.—Permanent Possession of Silver Trophy At Stake

Sunday night at Newton High school auditorium, in their fifth annual intercollegiate debate sponsored by Newton Council, K. of C., either Boston College or Holy Cross will permanently own the beautiful silver trophy awarded by the Knights. Each team has won two legs on the trophy, Boston College in 1927 and 1928, Holy Cross in 1929 and 1930. In this final debate the two leading Jesuit college teams of the East will debate for the championship. Plans are being made for 1000 Knights and their friends to attend.

The subject of the debate, "Resolved: That the public should own, operate and control the hydro-electric plants of the country" is one of the most timely and most discussed subjects of the day. Public officials, public utility magnates and the consumer public are discussing the pros and cons of the subject daily. It was one of the prominent issues of the last Presidential campaign and undoubtedly will be emphasized again in the 1932 campaign. Both colleges have debated the issue this year and have equipped their teams with a tremendous amount of information on the subject.

Both Holy Cross and Boston College teams have an unbroken string of debating victories this year. Each team defeated Harvard. The same Holy Cross team gave Boston College their first defeat of last year. This year they have defeated Fordham and Loyola University of Chicago. The Boston College team has defeated Fordham twice, Dartmouth, Canisius of Buffalo and Loyola of Baltimore.

In the Sunday night debate Boston College will argue in the affirmative and Holy Cross the negative. For Holy Cross, Edward B. Hanify of Fall River '33, will be the first speaker. He is the son of Judge James Hanify of Fall River of the Superior Court. He has two years of varsity debating experience and is president of the sophomore class. Daniel J. O'Neill of Springfield, '31, is the second speaker.

Hunnewell Club Elects Officers

Harold Moore Succeeds H. P. Curtiss As President

The annual meeting of the Hunnewell Club was held Monday evening following the annual dinner for members. Harold Moore was elected president to succeed Henry P. Curtiss and Edward O. Loring was elected vice-president to succeed Mr. Moore. Secretary Mason H. Stone and Treasurer Harry L. Dexter were re-elected. Messrs. Clarence C. Colby, Dr. Sterling N. Loveland, Gordon B. Wilkes, and Daniel A. White were elected directors for two years, and Ralph C. Emery director for one year. The membership committee was elected as follows: Roger B. Tyler, chairman; Malcolm B. Ball, Gordon B. Russell, Dwight Colburn, Samuel E. Cutler, Fred A. Gay, James B. Melcher, and George F. Tracy were elected the auditing committee with Mr. Gay as chairman. The nominating committee was comprised of Judge C. C. Smith, chairman, Warren F. Gregory, Thomas E. Eustis, Elmer S. Ford, Carl Peirce, Edgar M. Horne and Charles J. Dimon.

Prior to an excellent dinner served by Seller, President Curtiss asked for a moment's silence in respect of Waldo Webber, a member who entertained at the 1930 meeting on the ukulele and who was fatally injured in an automobile accident a few days ago.

Following the dinner, which was enlivened by several songs, Mr. Curtiss called upon Warren F. Gregory, Freeman O. Stanley, Carl Peirce, Dr. Laurance Blakemore for short speeches.

Reports of the various officers were read with that of the secretary showing a membership of 187, a net gain of about ten over the preceding year. The treasurer's report showed a surplus as against a deficit a year ago.

Other reports were presented by E. O. Loring for the bowling committee; Julius Hollander for the billiard committee, W. H. Blandy for the tennis committee, W. K. Brimblecom for the whist committee, and Harold Moore business manager of the Hunnewell News, club bulletin.

Warren F. Gregory moved the election of Freeman O. Stanley to honorary membership, which was unanimously voted.

DR. HUNT HONORED

Dr. William O. Hunt was greatly received on Wednesday, when he received a letter from the Nurses' Alumnae Association of the Newton Hospital which expressed their appreciation of his fifty years of continuous and unselfish service for their Alma Mater.

The letter was accompanied by a large basket of beautiful spring flowers.

Henry Beltzung of 19 Sheffield road, Newtonville was ordered to restrain his dog after a complaint had been received by the police from George Adams of 361 Lowell avenue that the animal had bitten a member of his family. Dr. Boutelle was notified to examine the dog.

Wood, District Deputy President of Highland Rebekah Lodge, followed by the Star Spangled Banner by Orchestra and audience.

At the close of the program a Grand March was held, led by the Grand Marshal of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows and the Grand Marshal of the Rebekah Assembly assisted by the Canton Militant after dancing was enjoyed until midnight. The Armory was beautifully decorated by flags and bunting and flowers, under the direction of the General Chairman, Mrs. J. Frances Blakemore, P. N. G.

Newton Woman One Of Three Honored

Miss Mildred Manter Appointed National Councillor

One of three women in the United States, the only woman in Massachusetts, to be appointed to an office on the Council of the American Association of Museums, a national organization of twenty-five years' standing, Miss Mildred E. Manter of Newton, director of the Children's Museum of Boston, can claim distinction along with other Newton residents having achieved positions of importance in honorary societies.

Miss Manter goes to Pittsburgh next week to be the only woman of ten new officers and the third in the history of the association to hold the position of councillor. The council handles the management of the organization and is a board of thirty, ten members being retired and ten elected, every third year to serve for three years.

The occasion of accepting the elective office in the American Association of Museums comes for Miss Manter at the silver anniversary convention of the association, a convention of especial significance and unusually full of important meetings.

A paper read by Miss Manter at the convention of the association at Buffalo last year and recently printed in the "Museum News," organ of the association, no doubt was instrumental in bringing the honor.

In the four years since she became director of the Museum, attendance figures have shown a remarkable increase—from $3,000 in round numbers to 150,000 visitors a year—and activities of one kind or another have been carried on in increasing numbers.

MUCH INTEREST IN TRIAL

Much interest is being manifested in the Breach of Promise Mock Court Trial to be given under the auspices of the Highland Glee Club of Newton, Inc., at the Woman's Club, Newton Centre, on Thursday evening, May 21.

This trial is conducted according to the regular rules of a court of justice, or injustice; and the case will be tried upon its merits. Before the principal case of the evening is begun several minor ones involving prominent local people will be disposed of. The Jury will be the most prominent one ever impaneled in Newton.

The following prominent people of Newton are participating: Mrs. Robert E. Chaplin, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Judge Thomas Weston, Mr. John E. Daniels, Charles Wood, Esq., Charles F. Johnson, Jr., Lex Souter, James Kingman, W. P. Underhill, Roland Barnes, William H. Rice and others, and E. V. Newton of Worcester.

ANOTHER DOG BITES

Outdoor Pop Concert And Dancing Entertainment Planned For June

Civic Arts Association Endeavors To Retain Local Interest In Pageantry

Under the same auspices that last summer produced Newton's unusually successful Centenary Pageant, and in the same location, an outdoor symphony Pop Concert and Dancing Entertainment will be presented by the Civic Arts Association, Inc., on the evenings of June 9 and 10 in the Amphitheatre on the Newton Centre Play-ground.

The Newton Symphony orchestra under the direction of D. Ralph MacLean, will present a program of specially selected numbered pieces, Margaret Huntley, prima donna of last year's pageant will give several solo dances and the Highland Glee Club will sing. Moreover there will be group dances by Newtonville and West Newton young women, directed by Miss Katharine Vining, and interpretations of several orchestral pieces, through the new art of musical film, who will also take charge of lighting the entire performance and grounds.

Such a program, staged out of doors in the evening in this place of natural beauty, and with a large part of the audience seated around tables, arranged on the green lawns with scores of prettily costumed young women serving as waitresses, the Pop Concert has been planned to be a most attractive pageant anniversary event—the first public effort of the newly created, all-Newton organization—the Civic Arts Association.

The same men and women whose efforts last June produced the pageant have chosen to support the Pop Concert plan, and these same art loving citizens, drawn from every Newton village, who were so successful in attracting greater than capacity audiences for the three consecutive evenings of the pageant-drama are enthusiastically engaged in preparing now for the presentation of this new and attractive innovation.

In the event of rain, the concert performance will be given upon the first fair evenings thereafter. Plans already are well advanced, and the talent, all drawn from local sources, has been selected and is rehearsing in the evenings in this place of natural beauty.

The Civic Arts Association of Newton, recently incorporated, was an inevitable outcome of the successful demonstration of last year that Newton, with its dozen villages, is the home of much outstanding ability in the arts. The primary aim of the Association is to foster such talent as it has always been the means of uncovering, and to discover, encourage and develop much that is still latent, and only awaiting a fitting opportunity to blossom forth into real ability.

All proceeds above nominal expenses from performances sponsored by the association will be devoted to the establishment of a fund to be applied to the interests of Newton organizations and artists collaborating in its production.

Edward E. Whiting, president of the Civic Arts Association, declares that this association "is not just another organization. It does not encroach upon nor enter into competition with any other organization. It serves together to aid in the coordination of existing organizations in larger enterprise for the benefit of the larger community, and in uprearing embryonic talent, which has not been aligned with any association or club."

Upon the Advisory Council of the Newton Chapter will listen in on the broadcast of the proceedings at Washington. President Hoover, Chairman John Barton Payne and other distinguished people will speak. This will commemorate the organization of the American Red Cross, and his work on the battlefield of Solferino; of Florence Nightingale and her devoted nurses in the Crimean War; and of Clara Barton and her work in the Civil War will be told.

It is hoped that members of the Newton Chapter will listen in on the broadcast of the proceedings at Washington. President Hoover, Chairman John Barton Payne and other distinguished people will speak. This will commemorate the organization of the American Red Cross when Miss Clara Barton succeeded in interesting President Garfield in signing for the United States the Red Cross Treaty of Geneva. A group of well-known residents of Washington, D. C., met May 21, 1881, at Miss Barton's house and organized the American Society of the Red Cross.

There is one lady who is happy these warm and cold spring days; we refer to Mrs. Edith M. Safford, of Hudson, who has accepted the position of Superintendent and Hostess of the Club House at the Stow Golf Course. She is having lots of fun going to Boston and stores in Hudson and so forth, buying sheets, pillow-cases, window curtains, draperies, towels and blankets of as many colors as Joseph's Coat. (It was Joseph's wasn't it?) And how she bosses the painters, paper-hangers and carpenters! She buys a new-fangled ice-making machine, in spite of the fact that we cut hundreds of tons of good ice last winter, a modern gas-stove and pots and pans! But her real joy is in those dishes! Why, she trotted the writer from Boylston Street to Atlantic Avenue to find what she wanted and then wasn't satisfied! So finally we taxied up to a unique restaurant on Joy Street, and there she got on the trail of some "distinctive" China, which she bought, along with "Oneida" silverware. "HAPPY?" I'll say so! But don't rush in too quickly with large parties for lunch or dinners; give her a little more time to boss that bevy of girls who are scrubbing, polishing, and cleaning. Of course you can come up any week-day in small groups to play golf and maybe you would be the bevy at work. They have something over a hundred windows to polish in that Club House. Golf 75c 9 holes, Saturdays, Sundays, Holidays; 50c week-days. Tennis 15c singles; 10c doubles. Lunches, Dinners $1.50. Rooms $1.50. Large hall for parties and dances. Beautiful location. THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

ANOTHER TITLE ADDED TO STRING

The well-balanced Newton High track team added another title to its rapidly growing 1931 list last Saturday by winning the State outdoor championship on the Stadium track at the annual Harvard meet. The orange and black athletes turned in marvelous performances to crash through to victory by scoring in seven of the eight events contested. Captain Milton Green, versatile star, led his teammates with a first in the 120-yard low hurdles and a second in the broad jump for a total of nine points. One of the features of the meet was the finals in the low barriers in which Green set a new meet record of 14' 2 1/2 to beat Captain Howie Boyd of Lawrence to the tape. Donovan, the other Lawrence hope in the event, pulled up lame winning his semi-final and could not race in the deciding heat. Boyd turned the tables on Green in the broad jump by leaping two inches further than the Newton leader for first honors. Walter Holmes, negro dash star, equalled the meet record of 10' 1 1/2 seconds in winning the final against a field which included Art Jannell, Lynn English star and favorite, Arthur Mazza of Boston Commerce, Roberts of Lawrence and Woods of Boston English. In the final Jannell was put back a foot for a false start and the race was between Mazza and Holmes. Holmes broke the tape a foot ahead of Mazza with Jannell in the ruck, although leading Roberts and Woods who finished in that order.

Douglas Chalmers and Richard Jarrell, Newton quarter-milers, came through to tie with Burcell of Boston English for fourth place and a full point in the 440-yard run. Jim Colligen added a fifth place point in the shot put with a toss of 44 ft. 10 7/8 in. and Sewell Champion edged into a tie for fourth with four others in the high jump. He cleared 5 ft. 6 in. along with Hillard of Brockton, Schwartz of Brookline, Looney of Lynn English and Hashey of Medford to score three-fifths of a point each. Neither George Lamb or Vincent Signore could place in the half mile against a field which included Buckey Gore of Boston Latin, Brigham and Enright of Brookline, and LaFranchise of Brockton. The distance was a little short for the Newton milers but there being no longer run Coach Enoch entered them in the half.

Brockline took the lead in the fourth. With one down Madden singled with Mason knocking the ball down with a dive and rode home ahead of Jamieson on the latter's home run to left centre. Huston had to leap to get Daley's short fly and Butler took care of Cahill's rap. Newton went down in order in the fourth.

In the fifth neither side got far, it being a case of one, two, three, except Gleason's single to left. He was out attempting to steal second.

Brockline added another in the sixth when Quinn hit for the circuit. Newton got the run back in its half to make the score 3 to 2 against them with the rain beginning to fall. Mason singled to left, stole second, and came home on Butler's triple after Colby had fanned and Rhodes fled to centre. Butler was stranded at third with the tying run as Hildreth was thrown out by Kaplan.

Giles took Rhodes' place in the box for Newton in the seventh, Rhodes going to left, Colby to right, and Sharpe coming out. Giles turned Brookline back in short order on two infield grounders and a strikeout. Appleyard drew a pass to start Newton off with the rain falling harder and harder to make continuation of the game practically impossible. Mullen sacrificed Appleyard to second. Giles rapped down near second base that Daley couldn't quite take, and Appleyard scored the tying counter. Giles was nipped off first by Jamieson and Gleason caught Huston's pop fly for the third out.

1932 INDOOR MEET TO BE AT GARDEN

At a meeting of the Massachusetts State High Schools Athletic Association Monday night an offer from the Boston Garden to hold the 1932 indoor state championship track meet for Class A and B high schools was accepted. This action means the shifting of both the indoor and outdoor state classics next year as it was announced some time ago that the outdoor affair would be held on the new Newton High track.

The shifting of the indoor affair to the Garden track will give the young athletes the opportunity of competing on one of the fastest indoor tracks in the East as well as offering better accommodations for the large group of competitors. In recent years the meet has been held in the East Armory with the field events being conducted early in the afternoon and the running events concluding the meet. Next year the field events will be held simultaneously with the track events as the Garden limited the use of the track between the hours of 1:30 and 4:30. It will be held on the afternoon of February 27th, the date of the annual triangular college meet between Harvard, Cornell and Dartmouth that evening. This date has usually been an open one among school track teams and comes the week following the annual Andover interscholastics.

A change in date of the outdoor meet was also announced, and it will be no way conflict with the annual affair at Harvard which it has been a part of for several years. The Crimson meet will probably be confined to two classes instead of three, all the high schools being together with the prep schools in the other class. The high school class will not carry the state championship with it. This will be decided on the first Saturday in June on the Newton track, divided into classes as in the past. It is felt that the later date will be more attractive through longer time for dual meet competition in preparation for the season's wind-up.

Hall in Tie in Mile

Champion's leap of five feet six inches in the high jump was the highest jump he ever made and it came at a time when even the three-fifths of a point was sorely needed for the team's hopes. In the broad jump Green tried his utmost but missed overhauling Boyd's efforts by two inches. The Newton captain's mark was 21 ft. 3 1/4 in.

The quarter mile run was another event in which Newton athletes came through with better than previous efforts. Doug Chalmers was in the first heat and when the field emerged from underneath the wooden stands he was in second place. Rounding the turn at the half way mark he passed Lutes of Malden to take the lead. Coming down the stretch he never broke his stride to win the heat by almost four yards. Vale Marvin, Boston English star, led the second heat most of the way but fifty yards from the tape broke and Rountree of Medford, Jarrell of Newton, McCarthy of Brockton, and Hutchinson of Lynn Classical passed him almost at the tape. Jarrell was right on Rountree's heels. The third heat proved to be the fastest and as each runner was being clocked individually points were awarded on a time basis. Scholz of Lawrence, winner of the third heat, took first, second went to Rountree, Connors of Boston Commerce who was close behind Scholz, edged in ahead of Jarrell for third, and Jarrell, Chalmers and Burrell, the latter of Boston English, tied for the remaining

NEWTON BEATS RAIN TO TIE BROOKLINE

Rain played an important part in the first baseball game of the 1931 season between Newton High and Brookline High last Friday afternoon at Clafin Field. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning with the score deadlocked at 3 to 3 after the home team had come from behind to tie the count with two runs in the final frame.

"Tucker" Rhodes started on the mound for Newton and in the first inning retired Brookline in order. Huston led off for Newton with a Texas leaguer to left, and Mason sacrificed him to second, but Colby fanned and Rhodes fled to right to leave the Newton shortstop stranded.

Brockline got two men on in the second, but Rhodes pulled out the hole without being scored upon. With one down Butler booted one and Maddon was safe. Jamieson forced him at second. Daley hit to left for two bases, but Colby held Jamieson at third. Cahill was out, Mason to Butler, to halt the rally. Butler led off in Newton's half with a double to right centre and Hildreth sacrificed him to third, and Muller both fanned as Gleason, visiting twirler, bore down.

In the third Gleason singled to left and went all the way to third as Colby poled the ball. The next three batters couldn't get the ball out of the infield, and Mason and Huston yanked Rhodes out of another tight place. Sharpe drew a pass to open Newton's third. Huston sacrificed and moved to second on Jamieson's throw into right field. Sharpe taking third, Mason fanned. Colby hit to Gleason, and the Wealthy Town pitcher threw wild to first. Sharpe scored on the play, but Huston was out at the plate. Colby stole second, but Rhodes lined out to Kaplan at short.

In other league games St. Mary's of Waltham defeated St. Clement's of Medford 7 to 4. St. Charles of Waltham topped St. Clement's of Medford to climb back into a tie for second place with St. John's. In the other league game St. Mary's of Waltham topped Immaculate Conception high of Revere, 6 to 4.

The Our Lady-St. Mary game was a free hitting contest with the Newton team leading the way with 14 hits against nine for the Brookline team.

Manning, Our Lady centre fielder, collected four hits in six times, one of which was a two-bagger, to lead the locals' attack. Moran, Our Lady pitcher, hit a home run that aided his cause considerably. He fanned nine St. Mary's batters but was touched up for a double and a triple among the nine safe hits.

Tuesday afternoon Our Lady High defeated Mission High of Roxbury 10 to 8 to 3.

In the third Gleason singled to left and went all the way to third as Colby poled the ball. The next three batters couldn't get the ball out of the infield, and Mason and Huston yanked Rhodes out of another tight place. Sharpe drew a pass to open Newton's third. Huston sacrificed and moved to second on Jamieson's throw into right field. Sharpe taking third, Mason fanned. Colby hit to Gleason, and the Wealthy Town pitcher threw wild to first. Sharpe scored on the play, but Huston was out at the plate. Colby stole second, but Rhodes lined out to Kaplan at short.

In the fifth neither side got far, it being a case of one, two, three, except Gleason's single to left. He was out attempting to steal second.

NEWTON GOLFERS
LOSE TO EXETER

The Newton high golf team lost to Exeter Academy last Saturday with Captain Hunter of Newton saving a shutout by defeating Barbour, 1 up. Exeter won the eleven other points to set the score at 11 to 1. Hunter won his match on the 18th hole turning in a 70 to a 71 by Barbour.

SPORT NOTES

Country Day Wins Two
Country Day hung up victories over Roxbury Latin school last week Friday, 4 to 2, and routing Beacon school on Tuesday, 15 to 2. The 4 to 2 victory over Roxbury Latin was the biggest upset of the season in the private school baseball ranks. Bill Jenkins led the Newton Private school players with four hits in four times at bat, one a triple and another a double. He scored two runs and drove in a third. The Country Day third sacker had a good day in the field, accepting seven chances without a slip. Jenkins, Labouchere and White collected ten of Country Day's fourteen hits off two Beacon school twirlers with Jenkins getting four and the others three each.

Wilson Drives in Winning Run

Arthur Wilson, celebrating his return to the Boston University line-up on Wednesday, drove in the only run of the game with Middlebury which enabled the Pioneers to win 1 to 0. The run came in the first frame. Ober singled, was sacrificed to second by McCullough and came home on Wilson's hit past the shortstop. The former Newton high athlete had been out of the game two weeks with an injured hip.

Grist's Point Wins

John Grist, former Newton high student, enabled the Boston University freshman track team to beat the Tufts freshmen at Nickerson Field Wednesday, 50 to 49. Grist won the high jump, took third place in the javelin throw and was in the battle for points in the pole vault as the meet drew to a close. Grist came through with a vault of seven feet to take third in the pole vault and score the deciding point of the meet.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL
OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Mother-Daughter Banquets are the order of the day in many churches of the District this month. The district Executive Secretary spoke at a banquet in the Waltham Universalist Church last week, assisted another church to secure a speaker and is helping in the preparations for such an affair at one of the Watertown churches.

The Secretary has also been called upon to assist in a survey of the Belmont Street Baptist Church School, and to help that same church school in plans for a party to which Chinese children from Boston are to be invited.

Rev. Erwin L. Shaver, the new Dean of the District Training School, has been in Columbus, Ohio, meeting with other denominational leaders to work out plans for "Coaching Conferences." Such conferences are to be held increasingly in the future, for the purpose of "coaching" leaders of local church teacher-training classes. It has already been planned that the District Training School in its Fall term this year shall conduct such a "coaching conference" as one of the classes. Mr. Shaver will have charge of it. Membership in this class will be recruited by Miss Barker and the Training School committee this Spring.

A magazine editor has recently said, "It sometimes seems as if the rising tide of frivolity and change would submerge all the ancient landmarks which the fathers have set—among which the Sunday School is outstanding. Farseeing people must stand together, firm in the faith that the flood will in due time subside, leaving the soil all the richer."

ANNUAL ELECTION OF NORUMBEGA CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS

Last Tuesday evening at the Baptist Church, Weston, one hundred and twenty-five Christian Endeavorers elected their officers for the coming year and listened to an interesting story of the conservation of our natural forest resources. Mr. Harold O. Cook, State forester, brought his forest at Petersham, Mass., with its 340 acres or more of beautiful trees and wild life sanctuary was then described.

Miss Bessie McCasie, Union Missionary superintendent, made a presentation to Miss Evelyn Yeaton of the Baptist Church, Waverley, for the missionary work accomplished by the Christian Endeavor society of that church during the year.

The Nominating Committee with George Forbes of Watertown as chairman, submitted the following report of nominations for the coming year:—H. Newton Jones, Newton, president; William Prude, Waverley, Mildred Isakson, Waltham, Myrtle Severance, Brighton, vice-presidents; Nellie Seward, Waltham, Marion Atkins, Belmont, secretaries; Frank Clark, Brighton, treasurer; George Forbes, Watertown, auditor; Mrs. Rose Kinney, Waverley, intermediates; Lillian Schroeder, Brighton, Juniors; Edith Caghey, Waltham, publicity; Ronald Burkes, Waltham, music; Ernest Swan, Waltham, recreation; Betty Brooks, Newton, public meetings; Rev. John Shad Franklin, West Newton, Rev. John Scammon, Weston, pastoral counsellors.

The report was accepted and the young people nominated to be installed at the next Union meeting in Watertown on Tuesday, June 9th.

Attendance awards were made to the Faneuil Congregational Church, shield; and to the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, gavel.

KIWANIS CLUB

The regular weekly meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club was held on Tuesday, May 12, 1931, at the Elks' Hall, Newton Corner, with Pres. Paul presiding. There were many guests present to listen to the speaker of the day Mr. Herbert C. Parsons Probation Commissioner for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts who gave a very interesting talk on the history of the probation system in Massachusetts telling that this state was the pioneer in this branch of correction, which is now practiced by all of Christendom. Mr. Parsons said that less than 20% of the offenders are sent to institutions and those that are put on probation with but few exceptions come into the tolls of the law again.

It was interesting to know that Massachusetts was the first to build an institution for the care of juveniles (solely) about the middle of the 19th century.

The talk was very well received and was in keeping with the good talks that the club has been receiving for some time.

AUXILIARY TO PRESENT BANNER TO LEGION

The regular monthly meeting of Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, will be held in Elks Hall, Newton on Thursday, May 21, 1931 at 8:00 p. m.

The May meeting of the Post is the most important one of the year, as plans for Memorial Day are laid out, and several important committees have reports to make.

Several weeks ago the members of the Post started to build a cabin at the Nobscot Reservation which will be presented to the Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts, and Chairman Roland Allen will make a detailed report of the accomplishments of this committee, as the cabin is now nearing completion and plans will be drawn up for the formal presentation to the boy scouts.

At this meeting the Ladies of the Auxiliary will present a banner to the Newton Post Band, which will be carried by the organization at all its ceremonies. Mrs. Virginia Cook, President of the Auxiliary, will make the presentation, assisted by Mrs. Frances Cannon, chairman in charge of the banner committee. Vice Commander Harold D. Ames, the organizer and manager of the band, will accept the banner for the musical organization.

The newly organized Bugle and Drum Corps of the Ladies Auxiliary will make their first appearance at the meeting, being in charge of Miss Anne Blakemore, its manager.

Commander Francis J. Barry will be in charge, and the Newton Post Band will play under the direction of F. Willard Meakin.

HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB SINGS AT PAWTUCKET

Last Saturday afternoon and evening the Highland Glee Club participated in the Sixth Annual Singing Contest and Combined Concert of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs. The affair was held in the Senior High School Auditorium at Pawtucket and was attended by many Newton people interested in the singing.

Frank Marsden of Bath, Maine, was fined $100 in the Newton court yesterday for driving while under the influence of liquor. Marsden, who had but one arm, was arrested Wednesday night at Newton Highlands by Patrolmen Brayton and Smith who observed him driving zig-zag on Parker street, Newton Centre, and pursued his car to Woodward street.

Joseph Dillon of 84 Eastside Parkway, Newton, was fined $5 in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving past a red traffic light. Dillon said that perhaps the great majority of motorists would do. He was proceeding west along the north roadway under the influence of liquor.

William Marchant of 53 Pearl street, Newton, was fined $10 in the Newton court yesterday for using profane language. Cataldo Bonomi of 183 Adams street, Newton, was fined $5 for driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested on April 29 by Patrolmen Green and Jenkins after his automobile had hit a milk wagon.

Frank Marsden of Bath, Maine, was fined $100 in the Newton court yesterday for driving while under the influence of liquor.

Mrs. Esther Andrews, the first woman member of the Governor's Council, her subject was "The Executive Department of the Commonwealth."

The Governor's Council is sometimes confused with the Governor's Staff, and the importance of the Council is not realized.

The former consists of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and eight members, which represent the eight sections of the state. The Legislature convenes with the consent of the Governor and the Council; the Council confirms every appointment of the Governor, approves all expenditures and visits State Institutions.

Only one of the present Council is a Democrat.

After the address Mrs. Andrews answered questions regarding the use of alcohol. In 1919 she made an exhaustive study of the effects of alcohol on the insane and found that 95 per cent of the insanity in the state had been caused by the use of alcohol. Since the 18th Amendment there has been a noticeable decrease in the number of disorderly sailors and women seen in the Boston Common.

The President, Mrs. Isaac Goddard, presided at the meeting and welcomed to the "White Ribbon Army" a number of the forty-five new members. Mrs. Goddard stressed the significance of the white ribbon badge, and cited instances where a glimpse of this had reminded erring sons of their white ribbon mothers and influenced the boys for good.

One tiny toddler was made a "White Ribbon Recruit" and was very proud of her ribbon-encircled wrist.

Silos were finely rendered by Mrs. William Fish, who was accompanied by Miss Pauline Kempton.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

The objective of the W. C. T. U. is to spread the truth concerning the habit-forming drug, alcohol.

Although next Saturday's motion picture at the Children's Museum of Boston, "All Aboard for the Moon," shown at 3 o'clock, is bound to draw plenty of young onlookers, the following Saturday's event is the talked-of one at the Museum. The trip to the moon by motion picture in an imaginary rocket is going to be fun for those attending the motion picture this week, but—the Pet Show scheduled for May 23 is going to be even more fun.

Grown-ups are invited to attend this interesting event. Pet owners should apply to the Museum for entry blanks and further information. There is no charge for entering the show.

The Mothers' and Daughters' Dinner, sponsored by the Woman's Association of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church, was one of the most enjoyable events planned by the organization this year. About one hundred and eighty guests gathered in the Assembly Room of the church on the evening of May 7th and were served dinner at 6:30 o'clock. The long tables were very attractive in pink and blue color scheme. Crepe paper dolls holding baskets of candies, were the favors and bands of crepe paper, canes and flowers, completed the table decoration.

Following the dinner, all joined in songs appropriate to the occasion. A very entertaining feature of the evening was a three-act play, "The Future Lady Holland," ably presented by Mrs. Walter F. Burt, Mrs. Earl C. Clayton, Mrs. Samuel L. Thompson and Miss Marian L. Timble.

POLICE NEWS

Burglars have been active on Day street, West Newton. The third theft to be reported within two weeks was in the home of Sebastian Caruso at 199 Day street on Tuesday. The thieves had stolen two valuable rings from this house. Entrance was probably made by use of a false key. Other homes which were burglarized were those of Edward T. Wright, 32 Day street, and Ralph Case, 76 Day street. Jewelry was taken from both these houses.

Mary Pacheco of West Bridgewater was in the Newton court yesterday to answer the charge of cashing a forged check. She was given a suspended sentence of two months in the House of Correction.

A considerable number of persons were fined in the Newton court yesterday for violating automobile laws. As a result of the determination of Chief Hughes to curb speeding in this city, Traffic Officer and Officer Dwyer and Patrolman John Greene had a number of autoists before the court for speeding in the congested Nonantum district where many children cross the streets. Those fined for speeding included Kiersey Ladd of 1493 Beacon street, Brookline, $25; and the following fined $10 each—George Barrett, Natick; Donald Gates, Derby street, Waltham; Thomas Byron, 151 Franklin street, Newton; Harold Casler, Brookline; Harry Scotch, Mattapan; John Bellevue, Lowell street, Waltham. For not stopping before entering through streets Catherine Dutton of Clifton and Gustaf Tenberg of Chamberlain road, Newton, each was fined $5.

Harold Davidson of 937 Main street, Waltham, was fined $20 in the Newton court yesterday for operating a car with improper number plates and $10 for operating an uninsured car.

Charles Kaplan of 36 Henshaw street, West Newton, was fined $25 for leaving the scene of an accident after damaging property without revealing his identity.

At 2 o'clock on the morning of April 29 Kaplan was driving a car which left Washington street at the corner of Adams street, Newton, went through a hedge and crashed into the piazza at the home of Patrick Vahy. Kaplan backed the car out of Vahy's yard and continued west along Washington street.

At Newtonville square Patrolman Maguire observed Kaplan's damaged car approaching and stopped him. Kaplan told the policeman that he had fallen asleep at the wheel, crashed into the house and was on his way to Police Headquarters to report the accident. Patrolman Maguire was skeptical regarding the intention to report the accident. What was Judge Bacon. Hence the fine.

William Marchant of 53 Pearl street, Newton, was fined $10 in the Newton court yesterday for using profane language.

Cataldo Bonomi of 183 Adams street, Newton, was fined $5 for driving while under the influence of liquor.

While we have been dubious all along regarding the practicability of the proposed pre-primary convention, we would have been pleased to give it a fair trial. We regret the wholly unnecessary conflict between Lieutenant Governor Youngman and the duly elected representatives of the Republican party. We desire to call attention in this connection to the fact that Mr. Youngman has selfish interests in politics, as he hopes to become the governor of the state, while Messrs. Taylor and Liggett are more concerned with the success of the party in the first instance and the success of individuals in the second.

At the last session of the courts in Middlesex county, we understand that 24 out of 26 persons were convicted for drunken driving. In these days of lenient jurors, the above statement is most encouraging to all those who hope for a proper enforcement of law. In this connection it should be noted that alcohol slows down a person's judging faculties and doubles the distance a machine may travel when accident is impending. The moral of it is simple: don't drink if you drive a car,—you may become a murderer.

Any legislation which is passed by the Legislature to clear up the muddle caused by the Boston Elevated Problem, should carry a clause to the effect that unless accepted by the stockholders, the road would be returned to private ownership, with a probable deficit instead of dividends.

One man with a vein of humor is quoted as saying that Mother's Day comes but once a year; the first of every month was father's day.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

This has been one of the busiest weeks of the session so far as consideration of important matters of legislation is concerned. The approach of prorogation which may come early in the middle of June, is marked by considerable agitation over a number of the bills which somehow appear to be of greater public interest than others. It is the same situation each year—the big bills left to the last, with more rushing around and more debate.

A bill rejected by the House this week was that providing for the appointment of a joint special legislative committee to devise ways and means of raising funds for the removal of dangerous grade crossings. On the rollcall, Representatives Baker, Lutwiler and Thompson voted against the bill.

Representatives Baker and Thompson voted for the bill to extend for 28 years public control of the Boston Elevated. Representative Lutwiler voted against it. The latter offered an amendment providing that the Metropolitan Transit District buy the property. The amendment was ruled out of order on the ground that it was beyond the scope of the petition on which the act was based.

Adoption of capital punishment appears to be settled for the present session as the Senate has killed a resolve for a special commission to study the advisability of such action.

HIGH SCHOOL BANDS MUCH IN LIMELIGHT

During the coming week the Newton junior and senior high school bands will be much in the limelight. Because the high school band won the State contest last year it has been invited by the Boston Garden to play the Braves' Field on Saturday afternoon before and during the game between the Boston Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals.

On the following Saturday the bands from the F. A. Day and Warren junior high schools and from the senior high school band contest to be held in Boston. This contest takes the place of the national contest for New England because of the great distances necessary to travel in order to take part in the nation-wide competition. It also takes the place of the Massachusetts State contest this year.

The Warren Junior High School will have 150 pieces in parade, including the drum and bugle corps. The other two bands number about 100 pieces each.

On the morning of the contest there will be a general elimination drill held in the high schools of the Fenway. This part of the program may extend into the afternoon. The visitors will be able to buy their lunches and suppers at the school cafeterias where the contests are held. The annual parade will be held in the Fenway at 3 o'clock.

In the evening the winners will play at the Boston Garden. This performance will be the largest event of its kind ever held in New England. It is expected that most and probably all of the 13,000 spectators' seats will be taken.

It is interesting to know that the instruments, with the exception of a few of the larger pieces provided by the city, belong to the pupils who play them. The preparation for the contest, as well as the training during the year, is under the supervision of Charles R. Spaulding of the Newton public school system.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 17.

The Golden Text is: "He that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Galatians 6:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God: as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. Wherefore, come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and ye shall be my Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty" (Corinthians 6:16-18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals will disappear, and immortals, or the children of God, will appear as the only and eternal verities of man. . . Sin, sickness, and death must disappear to give place to the facts which belong to immortal man. Learn this. O mortal, and earnestly seek the spiritual status of man, which is outside of all material selfhood" (p. 476).

Abolition of capital punishment appears to be settled for the present session as the Senate has killed a resolve for a special commission to study the advisability of such action.

The Queen Esther Society held a Mothers' and Daughters' night on Wednesday evening, May 13, in the Parish Hall of the First M. E. Church, Upper Falls. About 100 mothers and daughters enjoyed a bountiful banquet at 6:30 p. m. The sons of some of the mothers served as waiters. At the close of the banquet Miss Eva Blois, president of the Queen Esther Society, prettily introduced by poem and rhyme the following speakers:

"To the Girls," Mrs. H. L. Hardy;

"Greetings," Cambridge District, Mrs. J. L. Sheldon;

"Greetings," Sunday School, Mrs. J. E. Tully;

"Greetings," Ladies' Aid, Mrs. T. E. Lees;

Young women should realize that the only career worth while is marriage, the only possession really important to a woman is a fine baby, and her greatest possible pleasure on earth is watching that baby learning to walk and say "Papa."

This news about marriage, and the dropping birth rate, should make the Government interest itself in a statement by Dr. Howard W. Haggard, Professor of Physiology at Yale: "To our disgrace, we lead the world in child-birth mortality rate. Ten thousand mothers die each year in the United States, merely from lack of aid."

Dr. Haggard says, and we will agree, that we should do some missionary work at home, devoting "less sanctimonious talk to Mother India and other benighted countries."

GIRL SCOUTS

Elizabeth Hovey of Newton Highlands State Champion Bugler

It was quite an unusual achievement for Elizabeth Hovey to win two cups within three days.

The Boston Arena was filled Saturday, May 9, with Girl Scouts from every section of Massachusetts who took part in the annual Bugle and Drum Competition conducted by the State organization. The candidates were the finest in many preliminary try-outs held throughout the State. The finalists including 15 buglers, 11 drummers, and 19 corps representing as many communities. The judges were experts in their line outside the Girl Scout organization.

Saturday's competition was again divided into try-outs and finals—the buglers and drummers competing in the morning as well as three corps—from Fall River, Beverly and Worcester. As a result there were left for the afternoon finals three buglers; Elizabeth Hovey of Newton, Virginia Bascom of Worcester, and Blanche Hamilton of Needham; three drummers; Grace Houghton, Dorothy McLaughlin of Quincy and Margaret Chase of Lowell.

Elizabeth Hovey was chosen State Champion Bugler, Margaret Chase State Champion Drummer, and Dorothy McGee of Dorchester State Champion Drum Major, each receiving a silver cup in recognition of her achievement.

No cups were awarded for Corps competition; class rank was awarded according to efficiency in marching and drilling. The classes were as follows: Class A, Holyoke; B, Quincy; Class C (alphabetically) Dorchester, Lawrence, Lexington, Lowell, Malden, Newton and Springfield; Class D, Arlington, Bedford, Melrose, Needham and Worcester. The judges included two former State Champion Drum Majors, Miss Dorothy Barba of Newton and Miss Dorothy Hayden of Fall River. Mrs. Walton S. Redfield, Commissioner of Newton and Chairman of the Massachusetts State Bugle and Drum Corps Committee was Chairman of the committee in charge of the competition with Miss Margaret Ball, Captain of Troop 2, in Newton, as secretary.

GUY M. WINSLOW, Ph.D.

Mass.

On Thursday the Corps had their final meeting of the season and the Corps try-out for the Newton cup for Buglers and Drummers which were awarded to Miss Elizabeth Hovey of Newton Highlands, and Miss Roxanna Martin of Troop 20, Newton.

Saturday, May 9, Troop 6, of Nonanton, went to the Stone Institute and gave a very unusual entertainment.

Three of the girls gave a Cake Walk dressed in red, black, and white costumes; then about ten girls danced the Sailor's Hornpipe and they wore white duck trousers, middies, and red ties. They next gave two very clever tap dances.

Between the dances the Scouts sang songs and closed the entertainment with the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Taps." Afterwards they sang many of the old-time songs which pleased the ladies very much.

When taking their leave the girls said they would come again next year. There was a general exclamation of "Oh, can't you come before that?" proving that the little entertainment was very successful indeed.

NEWTON CENTRAL COUNCIL

The Newton Central Council extends an invitation to all who are interested in a resume of the effect which conditions in the world of industry have had upon the welfare work of Newton, to attend their annual meeting which will take place on Wednesday evening, May 27, at a quarter to eight, in the Newton Centre Library, 1274 Centre street.

After representatives of Newton's welfare workers have answered the roll call or given brief reports about the special problems which have been encountered this year, Mr. Roy M. Cushman, executive secretary of the Boston Council of Social Agencies, will talk informally about the similar problems in Boston and how they are being met.

This is an opportunity to get a picture of what has been happening in Newton during the last year and suggestions as to how Newton can be even better prepared for the future.

WILL ROGERS AT PARAMOUNT

A week of well-known stars will be featured at the Paramount Theatre, Newton next week. Will Rogers at his funniest in "The Connecticut Yankee" will be the headliner for the first half of the week with William Powell in "A Man of the World" on the same program. Supporting Will Rogers is a fine cast headed by Maureen O'Sullivan in one of the best pictures of the day. It has speed and action with hilarious dialogue and funny situations. Others in the cast are Myrna Loy, Frank Albertson, William Farnum, and Brandon Hurst.

Mary Pickford in "Kiki" is the feature for the last of the week with Ralph Forbes and Marion Davies in the other part of the program in "The Bachelor Father."

The regular Saturday morning show for children at ten o'clock still continues to grow in popularity.

POLICE NEWS

Nine Men Were Arrested in This City for Drunkenness Over the Week-end

Shortly after midnight last Friday morning police headquarters at West Newton received a telephone call from Salvi Graceffo of 24 Falmouth road, West Newton who stated that some man had intruded into the chamber of his wife, tried to kidnap her. According to Salvi's story, when he rushed to his wife's aid he was badly beaten by the intruder, who escaped. The policeman at Newton headquarters understood Salvi to give his address as 24 Parmenter road, which is over the Waltham line. So, the Waltham police were notified and some time later patrolmen from that city went to make an investigation, only to find that the scene of the alleged attempted kidnapping is in Newton. Because of vague details, the Newton police made no serious investigation of the case.

The drive Chief Hughes of the Police Department has ordered his men to make on autoists who fail to obey the STOP signs before entering through streets was evident in the Newton court last Friday when 17 persons were fined $5 each for not STOPPING. The complaints were made by Sgt. Bannon and the offenders were caught at two locations—Washington street and Beacon, and the intersection of Auburn street and Commonwealth avenue. The list of those fined included Robert Harden, Brookline; George Anderson, Weston; Albert Kleps, Roslindale; Fred Keough, Arlington; Luis Pace, Waltham; George Irving, Jr., of Worcester; Freeman Jones, Framingham; Frank Hall and Kanjino Kawano of Framingham; Charles Hurley, 9 Victoria circle, Newton Centre; Harry Gibson, 76 Page road, Newtonville; Mark Conroy, 67 Pearl street, Newton; J. P. Magnuson, 17 Pleasant street, Newton Centre; Robert Ringer, 17 Larch street, Waban.

Three other autoists were not only fined $5 each for not STOPPING before entering a through way, but also $10 each for driving without having license or registration certificates in their possession. These were—Albert Waterman, Jr., Wellesley Hills; Marjorie Lucier, Boston; Joseph G. Garrison, 29 Brewster road, Newton Highlands; John G. Butler of Boston was fined $10 for speeding.

Hugh Conant of 196 Tremont street, Newton, was sentenced to serve 6 months in jail by Judge Bacon in the Newton court last Friday. He was found guilty of threatening to shoot an attendant at a gasoline filling station on Needham street, Newton Highlands. In the early hours of May 1st Conant and Ernest Reading, formerly of Indianapolis, but now residing in Newton, arrived at the filling station and got into an argument with the attendant over putting gasoline in the car. The threat followed. The attendant notified the police and Patrolman Scott pursued Conant and Reading and arrested them. Conant did not have any pistol. He appealed the sentence. Reading was fined $100 for driving the car while under the influence of liquor. He admitted that he and Conant had been drinking.

George Matthews, 17, of 2205 Washington street, Lower Falls, was given a suspended sentence to Shirley Industrial School and Stanley Zawasky, 15, of Grove street, Lower Falls, was given a suspended sentence to Lyman School when found guilty in the Newton Court last Friday of entering the store of Joseph Kenney in that village and taking some articles from it.

William J. Burley of 15 Thurston road, Newton Highlands, was arrested Saturday evening by Patrolman Hammill charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He will be tried on May 18.

John C. Spencer, who first claimed to be John Hines, and who gave his address as 147 Winthrop street, Roxbury, was arrested at 2 o'clock last Saturday morning at Riverside by Patrolman Kerriyan. Kerriyan was pulling a patrol box call near the railroad station when he heard the crash of glass. Investigating, he came upon Spencer near an automobile which had the front left window broken. Spencer was wearing no hat. Kerriyan arrested him for drunkenness. Later in the morning Patrolman Barr discovered an abandoned taxi cab on Pigeon Hill road, Auburndale. It was a hat. The taxi was the property of the Checker Taxi Company of Boston. Later in the day George Wooley of Eulita terrace, Brighton, arrived at Newton Police Headquarters and identified Spencer as the man who had hired his cab in Roxbury late Friday night. After entering the cab, according to Wooley, Spencer drew a revolver and ordered the driver to drive to Harvard Square, Cambridge. There he forced Wooley to leave the car, and drove away in it. Spencer will be tried in the Newton court today on the charges of drunkenness and attempt to steal the car at Riverside, which was owned by Ronald Cullen of Hilltop street, Newton. He will also be tried in the Cambridge court for the armed robbery of the Checker taxi.

Mary Pacheco, 20, of West Bridgewater was arrested in a camp at North Reading on Tuesday afternoon in company with a Waltham man. She is wanted by the Newton police for forging a check for $30 and cashing it. The check bore the signature "Margaret Herbert," and was cashed at the Waban Branch of the Newton Trust Company. She had worked but a day for a Waban woman when she passed the worthless check at the bank after having been identified.

John Ratta, 20, of 72 Border street, West Newton was arrested on Monday night by Patrolman Dwyer charged with driving without a license and speeding. In the Newton court Tuesday he was fined $10 on the speeding charge. The other charge was continued until May 15.

In court on Tuesday William G. Lyon of 74 Clark street, Newton Centre was fined $20 for driving a car without proper brakes and $20 for driving without a license.

Free Swimming Campaign

The Annual Free Swimming Campaign will be held all next week at the Newton Y. M. C. A., beginning Monday afternoons and ending on Saturday morning. This Campaign gives the boys of Newton, Waltham, and other communities near Newton the opportunity to learn to swim in one week free of charge. Letters to the parents and registration cards for the boys have already been given to the principals of the schools of Newton and Watertown. Those boys who are planning to take the free swimming lessons next week are coming to the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday morning for an examination by a doctor and for assignment to a daily period next week. The examining will be done by Doctors W. W. Marston, B. T. Loring, and F. P. Lowry. Last year 224 boys were enrolled in the campaign, six classes were taught daily, and ninety boys were actually taught to swim by Jack Manning of the Massachusetts Humane Society.

Baseball

The Senior Baseball Team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. will play its first game of the season this Saturday afternoon when it meets the Methodist Church team of Watertown at the "Y." On Wednesday the "Y" will play the Auburndale Club in a twilight game at the "Y." The squad is now composed of the following:

Pitchers — George Hokanson, John Nixon, Leo Cormier, Don Wilson, and Hatton; catchers — Allan McLean, and Reardon and Arsenault.

Jimmy Moran; first base — Al Shaw; second base — Harry Gray, Charles Larkin, and Timmy Finn; shortstop — Larry Shaw; third base — Walter Watkins; fielders — Ed Gallagher, Horace White, Captain, and John Joyce.

Bowling

Some very good scores have been made lately in the Boston Pin Tournament which is drawing to a close at the Newton Y. M. C. A. The High 3 Strings is held by Mr. Walter Cooper with a score of 411 and Mr. Appell is second with 374. Mr. Appell holds the High Average of 113 and Mr. Cooper is second with 112. Mr. Arthur Kennard has a High Single of 158.

Only one point separates the leading teams. Team No. 12 is composed of Messrs. Rodden, Thayer, Harwood, Hall, and Norris. Team No. 8 is composed of Messrs. Marsh, Card, Appell, Reardon and Arsenault.

be bonded by the Executive Board," and what was previously Section 4 becomes Section 5.

ANNUAL MEETING. Next Tuesday, May 19th, will see the gathering of close to two thousand Clubwomen of Massachusetts on one of the most delightful spots of the North Shore. So popular has become the holding of the Annual Meeting of the State Federation at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, on May days, that this custom bids fair to be a permanent one. Given warm days and sunny skies there is no more pleasing background for the social and business events of this session than this hotel and convention hall on broad expanse of blue ocean. It is safe to say that Clubwomen who have been prominent for years in local and State Club affairs will once more file themselves thither to renew acquaintance and to keep in touch with events. For those who are new in Club work and interests there can be no greater thrill than the first experience of being a part of this vast throng of leaders in Clubdom, in work and play.

This, the thirty-ninth Annual Meeting will be called to order in Convention Hall, by the president, Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, at 9:30 o'clock, Tuesday, May 19th. High lights of this day will be the Luncheon for Club presidents at 12:15 o'clock; featuring of Junior Membership at the afternoon session, at which time Mrs. Wm. I. Crowell, senior chairman, will present a trio of Juniors who will tell of outstanding achievements of their particular groups one of whom will be Miss Helen Massey of Auburndale; and featuring of the Festival of Choruses for the evening session. Wednesday evening, the 20th, is the big event socially, with the reception, and the Governor of Massachusetts as special guest. At this time the Processional of Presidents, carrying bouquets that are cherished gifts of their local Clubs, and garbed in raiment that shall do honor to the Clubs they represent and head, will be an innovation of unusual charm. A quartet of Juniors will lead the long procession of nearly 400 presidential bearers, two of this quartet being Newton girls: Martha Wight of the Newton Centre Juniors; and Shirley Williams, of the Auburndale Juniors. On Wednesday morning will be the new method of presenting reports of departments, in the section meetings. At 12:15 noon will be held the ever-interesting Press Luncheon. The afternoon will feature the Department of International Relations. Also there is to be what promises a most interesting report by Mrs. E. H. Cressey, of Newton Centre, on her experiences as a member of the Shanghai Woman's Club. Thursday is election day, with the interest of incoming and outgoing members of the Executive Board, although this year is not the saddest day that occurs when the thrill of parting with the head officers and the pleasure of greeting the new ones takes place. Mrs. Schrader goes on another year as president; Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr., continues as first vice-president; Mrs. Thomas J. Walker continues as second vice-president; Mrs. John H. Kimball continues as third vice-president; and Mrs. Hemma A. Harding continues as fourth vice-president. A new recording secretary will be elected, Mrs. Edward M. Cox, of the Milton Woman's Club, taking the place of Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth who retires; a new corresponding secretary, Mrs. David A. Westcott, of the Dorchester Woman's Club, takes the place of a Newton woman, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, of the Highlands; and a new clerk, Mrs. Hazel H. Albertson, of the West Newbury Woman's Club, takes the place of Mrs. Charles L. Fuller who retires. Mrs. Frederick S. Davis continues as treasurer, but five new directors of districts will be elected, namely, Mrs. Herbert F. French, district Two; Mrs. Benjamin H. Currier, District Four; Mrs. Selden E. James, District Twelve (Newton's District); Mrs. Frederick E. Judd, District Six; and Miss Carolyn Tucker, District Fifteen. There is also a new Nominating committee, six of twelve names to be elected, one of whom is Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, of Newton.

There are several amendments proposed to the By-Laws. Section 1 of Article IV is to be amended so that there will be sixteen directors, instead of fifteen. This necessitates a change in Section 2 of Article IV providing for election of directors. Section 3 of Article VI provides for changes in administering the Endowment and Foundation Funds, and by it there becomes necessary a new section—Section 4—providing that "the treasurer of the State Federation shall Looking backward over the years since that noble woman, Julia Ward Howe, led the State Federation through its first five years, 1893-1898, the State Club leaders have suddenly realized the richness of the history to be recorded during the past 38 years. Accordingly, a "Federation History" is in process of publication, edited by Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, Mrs. Walter A. Hall and Mrs. Joseph S. Leach. This 300-page volume will chronicle the founding of the organization, outline the several administrations, and portray the growth of this present band of 137,000 Club women down through the years. There is already great demand for this history which will be outlined in detail by Mrs. Smith, at Swampscott.

Heretofore the "Friendly Song" has done much to bring unacquainted Club folk together at large gatherings, but there will be no need even for that this year, with a special Hospitality group detailed under Mrs. George H. Ball to see that everyone has a good time. Presidents and secretaries of the Clubs of Greater Lynn will be on duty from morning to night spreading good cheer. In particular, they will see off lone delegates, if any there be, bringing the several hundred delegates from all parts of the State together into one happy family circle. Other local women appointed are Mrs. John H. Greeley, chairman of Information, and Mrs. Joseph H. Gough, chairman of Elections.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., held their annual meeting on Monday, May 11th, at 10 a. m., when the members met to sew for the disabled veterans. A box luncheon was served with Mrs. A. S. Tucker as chairman. At half-past two the business meeting was held, and reports of the past year's work and announcements of future events demonstrated the varied and successful activities of the chapter. The membership numbers 143 and the limit is now placed at 175. The average attendance is 60. Twenty new members and one associate were initiated and received small flags from the regent, Mrs. Howe. They are as follows: Mrs. E. S. Woodbury, Mrs. E. P. Crave, Mrs. Edgar W. Allen, Mrs. Clarence R. Bliss, Miss Agnes Early, Mrs. F. S. Sherman, Mrs. Charles E. Ely (associate), Mrs. Walter Holden, Mrs. George F. Howland, Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Mrs. G. Horace Williams, Mrs. Stephen E. Wright, Miss Jessie M. Kimball.

The Chapter House garden was discussed and the story of its growth from the seed germ in the mind of Mrs. Clinton Eddy was told. At the time of the purchase of the house, what is now the garden was a steep embankment, and through the efforts of Mrs. Eddy this was graded and sown with grass seed. For a number of years further development was delayed, but Mrs. Eddy was mindful of the possibilities and untiring in her purpose. Like Mrs. Margaret Deland she found a source of revenue in the planting and selling of bulbs. The money thus obtained she put on interest until it has now reached the sum of $254.00. To this amount she has generously added $300.00 and the landscape garden will soon be a reality. June 6th the Chapter hope to commemorate this achievement in a strawberry fete which will take place in the afternoon and evening in the garden where card tables will be placed for the entertainment of those who enjoy cards.

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Newton, bounded and described as follows: Southeasterly by Exeter Street, 125.00 feet; Southwesterly by land now or formerly of Edith L. Alley, 223.00 feet; Northwesterly by land now or formerly of Mary J. Driscoll, 124.70 feet; and Northeasterly by land now or formerly of Joseph I. Eldridge, 229.20 feet.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

If you desire to make any objection or defense to said petition you or your attorney must file a written appearance and an answer under oath, setting forth clearly and specifically your objections or defense to each part of said petition, in the office of the Recorder of said Court in Boston (at the Court House), on or before the eighth day of June next.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

a construction program affecting 42 schools.

Stress was placed upon the attention paid by the Clubs to the problem of handicapped children, brought to their attention by President Hoover.

Extended reference also was made to efforts within the Federation toward amelioration of the unemployment problem. In this connection a letter to Mrs. Stipper from President Hoover was read, as follows:

"I appreciate very warmly what you and your associates have done in cooperation with the President's Emergency Committee for Employment. This work has been of the greatest social value, besides its obvious humanitarian aspects. I will be obliged if you will convey to your associates in the Federation my cordial thanks."

Prohibition was brought prominently to the front with addition to the scheduled program of an address by Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, Director of National Prohibition, who declared that the Volstead Act is capable of enforcement, though the service needs good officials, backed by public sentiment. He spoke within the period devoted to the Department of American Citizenship.

Mrs. John C. Pearson of Oklahoma, chairman of the Law Observance Division, discussed the Wickersham report, and told of attendance at a meeting in Washington of the Women's Law Enforcement Committee and made the declaration that "a survey of the nation shows an increasing sentiment favoring prohibition."

Mrs. Pearson noted that the Wickersham report failed to carry the women's opinion on the subject and advocated finding the buyer of liquor equally guilty with the seller.

Lewis W. Douglas, Representative in Congress from Arizona, speaking within the time of the Department of Legislation, suggested that "economic depression might be guarded against by an effective tariff law, unemployment insurance and a Government reserve fund, to be gathered in times of prosperity." Too much mass action and too little individual thought is known in the country, he declared.

This suggestion of a Government Reserve Fund has possibilities that arrest attention and appeal to wisdom.

During the week of the convention an exhibit of Arizona's products and of photographs of southwestern scenes was maintained by the Phoenix Club in its Clubhouse. Arizona communities were lavish in sending souvenirs.

There was distribution of thousands of examples of Indian pottery, of copper candlesticks cast in a Miami smelter, and of Arizona views and of luscious grapefruit.

Hospitality had its largest gesture Saturday in an automobile trip through the Salt River Valley. The women of the valley Clubs were hostesses on this outing.

A practically complete list of the Resolutions considered and adopted follows:

Offering support to the 1932 General Disarmament Conference.

Reaffirming the Federation's convictions that the United States become a member of the World Court.

Favoring reforms and betterments in the field service of the Indian Bureau.

Urging that State Federations and local Clubs study the subject of mental hygiene, to arouse interest in local responsibility for the mental as well as the physical health of the community.

Favoring parole legislation for the benefit of prisoners in the District of Columbia.

Expressing the need for additional Federal co-operation in development of efficient State and local health service.

Favoring continuance of restricted immigration, adequate provision for assembling immediate members of families and protection of the lawful entrant, with deportation of the illegal entrant and of the criminal alien.

Expressing confidence in the Eighteenth Amendment and pledging support to the national idea of eradication of the social, economic and political evils of the liquor traffic.

Supporting legislation that may make all service women eligible for relief under the World War Veterans Act of 1924.

Offering support in efforts to as-

AUTOS COLLIDE AT WEST
NEWTON

Cars driven by Harry Holt of Aspin street, Roxbury and Ralph Bernstein of Hollander street, Roxbury collided Wednesday morning at the intersection of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, West Newton. Holt reported that he had received an injury to his side.

WEST NEWTON W. C. T. U.

The spring convention of the Middlesex County W. C. T. U. will be held in the Baptist Church, Malden, Tuesday, May 19th, from 10 till 4 o'clock. Many members of the West Newton Union are planning to attend.

Y. W. C. A.

On Friday, May 15th, Mrs. Henry L. Harriman, of 825 Centre street, Newton Centre, is opening her house for a meeting and tea in the interests of the Boston Young Women's Christian Association. An active committee of about thirty will be formed to work for the Y. W. C. A. throughout the Newtons.

Declaring for strengthening of immigration laws, to prevent admission of Communists and for deportation of such persons who are aliens, in this connection declaring that plans for destructive revolution in the United States by Communists is not a myth but a proven fact.

Expressing confidence in the Eighteenth Amendment and pledging support to the national idea of eradication of the social, economic and political evils of the liquor traffic.

Supporting legislation that may make all service women eligible for relief under the World War Veterans Act of 1924.

Offering support in efforts to assist in the care of women, now disabled, who served overseas, in the Favoring investigation of governmental, scientific and kindred agencies that may present recurrence of periods of universal economic distress.

Recommending art study in the schools.

Voice congratulations to Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney upon the establishment of her museum of art.

Indorsing the plan for a flag of neutrality.

Indorsing legislation for protection of the scenic, inspirational and recreational value of the national forests.

Favoring consummation of a treaty with Canada permitting construction of a shipway between the Great Lakes and the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Asking safeguarding against pollution of the lakes and streams.

An added resolution was one asking that the work of conservative painters be recognized, and indorsing legislation that will enable American artists to copyright their designs.

Possibly the most important feature of the day's discussion of resolutions was withdrawal of the twentieth resolution in a form to which objection had been taken by the Arizona delegation.

As drawn, it might have had bearing on a Supreme Court suit in which Arizona is protesting application of the Boulder Dam bill.

There was substitution of a resolution urging adoption of a national policy for flood control to prevent recurrence of catastrophes in the Mississippi Valley, with endorsement of the Newlands plan, for co-ordination of all remedial operations on the Mississippi.

Past N. G. Tillie Harlen of Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge has been appointed D. D. President over Blue Hill Rebekah Lodge No. 195 of Milton, and was the guest of that lodge on Thursday evening, May 7, at their annual anniversary.

Middlesex Past Grands Association, I. O. O. F. will meet in Annual Session on Sunday, May 17th, in the hall of Fredonia Lodge, I. O. O. F., Shirley, Mass., and supper was served to about 200 at 6:30 p. m. with ex-Mayor Childs as toastmaster. A first class entertainment and dancing were enjoyed in the evening.

Past N. G. Tillie Harlen of Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F. has been appointed D. D. President over Wilday Rebekah Lodge No. 193, located in Dedham.

On Saturday evening, May 9th, the Rebekah Lodges of Newton, Highland No. 82, Tennyson No. 119, Sumner P. Lawrence No. 177, tendered a reception to Harriet P. Reeves of Highland Rebekah Lodge, President of Massachusetts, elected May 7. Grand Master William Walton and board of grand officers, Grand Patriarch of Grand Encampment, Department Commander of Patriarch Militant, and a large number of Canton members in full dress uniform, many Past Grand Masters and Past Presidents were present. The Canton escorted the grand officers at the reception.

After the reception music was furnished by the Suffolk Orchestra. Remarks were made by Eleanor M. Stiles, Noble Grand of Highland Lodge; address of welcome, by Grand Master Grand Patriarch Department Commander Past President Jennie C. Richardson; Past President Bertha Gayton; Past Grand Master Waldo Ford; Alice P. Wood, Dist. D. President. Response by the President, Harriet Reeves.

Frances M. Alger, the President's

Marshall, received with the President.

P. N. G. Annie E. Blakemore rendered

several songs, but the most noticeable was the song "Voice of the Lodge."

Miss Mary Ingraham was the accompanist. The Grand March was said to be very pleasing.

The Canton uniforms intermingled with the many beautiful evening gowns attracted much attention.

Dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

250 sat down to a banquet at 6:30 and about 800 attended the reception.

Aldermen Make Short Work Of Brief And Unimportant Docket

Only One Hearing—Licenses Granted, Others Refused—Restrict Parking At Weston Bridge

A short docket with little of import made a very brief meeting for the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. With President Collins sitting on the sideline because of his temporary status as Mayor of the city while Mayor Weeks is in Europe, Vice president Gallagher called the meeting to order at 8:30. The only hearing listed on the docket was that on the petition of "The Directorate" by Charles E. Kelsey, trustee for a permit to relocate a gasoline pump at the rear of 748 Beacon street, Newton Centre. This pump is now inside a garage owned by "The Directorate" and it is desired to place it outside the garage. There was no opposition to the change.

Alderman Hawkins, chairman of the Licenses Committee reported favorably on the following petitions: Colonial Oil Company, relocation of pumps, lights and sign at station, 90 Winchester street, Newton Highlands; Shell Petroleum Products Company, change of location and design of filling station at 1099 Beacon street, Newton Centre; Edison and Telephone companies pole location on Rowes road; Angilina Nielson, permit to erect a 3-car garage at 43 Gay street, Newtonville.

On the recommendation of the Licenses Committee the Board refused

Auto Drops Onto R.R. Track At Newtonville

Boys Nearly Cause Serious Accident With Express

The unauthorized use of an automobile by boys at Newtonville came near causing a serious train wreck opposite the Newtonville railroad station Monday afternoon about 4:20. At that hour an old Ford car sped across Washington street out of control, crashed through the flimsy iron-pipe fence opposite Central avenue, rolled down a steep embankment, rolled down a steep embankment, broke through the high picket fence separating Tracks 2 and 3. An express train for New York had just pulled out of the Newtonville station on Track 1 and a freight train was approaching on that track. This train was brought to a stop just as it reached the scene of the accident.

The "Wolverine," one of the fastest express trains on the Boston & Albany was due to pass through Newtonville on its way West within a few minutes and employees at the Newtonville station telephoned to the signal tower opposite Crafts street to safeguard this express. The "Wolverine" was shifted to Track 3 as it passed the signal tower and the automobile had been pushed off this track by the time the train reached the scene. The car was then hoisted onto the platform at the north side of the tracks.

The automobile was owned by Alfred Butters of Lothrop street, Newtonville, and he had parked it at the space on Washington street opposite the railroad station while he commuted to Boston. The police charged two Newtonville boys with having taken the car Monday morning and with operating it Monday afternoon. According to information given the police there were two boys in the car when the accident occurred. One jumped from the car just before it crashed down onto the tracks. The other made his escape as the automobile came to a stop on the tracks. In connection with the unauthorized use of the car Joseph Henebury, 16, of Crafts street, Newtonville, and William Shea, 17, of Edinboro street, Newtonville, have been summoned to appear in the Newton court today.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Middlesex County Council is holding a meeting at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, on Saturday, May 23, 1931. This is the first time for a number of years that a meeting of this kind has been held in Newton, and it is hoped that a large number of the members of Newton Unit, American Legion Auxiliary will avail themselves of this opportunity to attend a County Council Meeting. As the meetings are held at different places all over the County it is difficult for mothers to attend. Luncheon will be served promptly at 1 o'clock.

To Lecture Before Improvement Ass'n.

Mr. Harold Hill Blossom, Master of Landscape Architecture, President of the Boston Association of Landscape Architects 1930 and 1931, will give a lecture at Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, on Monday evening, May 29th, at 8 o'clock, at the Nobscot Reservation of the local Boy Scout Reservation. This is an unusually high number of such awards and the Court of Honor Committee, L. Lee Street, Chairman, is planning special features for the outdoor ceremony.

There will also be awards made of Life and Star badges, First Class Badges; Veteran and Palm awards; Camporee Patrol awards, and several others of a similar nature. The Scout Traffic Police Squad will be awarded provisional certificates by Chief Michael Hughes of the Newton Police Department and Chief Randlett of the Fire Department will award badges to the newly-formed and trained Fire Emergency Unit, composed of eight older Scouts of the Council.

The program will open with the lowering of the Colors, followed by group singing. Music will be provided by the orchestra of Troop 18, Newton Centre. At dark, a big campfire will be lighted and there will be stunts by selected Patrols from Troops in Newton. The awards will be made as the closing feature.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Court. The easiest route to follow to reach the Reservation is to go out Boylston street to Framingham Centre. At the Centre, turn sharp right, following route 128 (Edgell road) for 3½ miles. At that point is the main entrance of the Reservation, near which is the amphitheatre in which the ceremonies are to be carried on. In case of rain, the Court will be held at the Mason School, Newton Centre, at the same hour, 8 o'clock.

THE 20th ANNUAL FINAL CONCERT

The 20th annual final concert and commencement of the All-Newton Music School will be held on May 28th at 7:30, in Assembly Hall, Newtonville. An unusually interesting concert has been prepared to close this 20th season. A cordial invitation is extended to the people of Newton to come and hear representative work of this school which has taken a high place in the educational, cultural and social life of the town.

BRIDGE TEA AND WHIST

A Bridge Tea and Whist in aid of the Sacred Heart School of Newton Centre will be held Saturday, May 23rd, at three o'clock in the afternoon at Filene's, Boston. The Committee in charge is comprised of Rev. Francis J. Scully, Mrs. Daniel C. Irwin, Mrs. Mary O'Leary Flutane, Mrs. John J. Murray, Mrs. Edward Linnehan, Miss Margaret V. Waters. The proceeds of the affair will go toward the building fund for the new high school now under construction in the Sacred Heart Parish, Newton Centre, of which Rev. T. A. Curtin is pastor.

Mr. Franklin G. Field will sing. The public is cordially invited. There will be no admission fee and refreshments will be served by active members of the Association after the lecture.

Route And Line Of March Of Memorial Day Parade Announced

Many Women In Parade To Start At Newton Centre Square—Legion Auxiliary Corps To Play

Women will take a prominent part in Newton's Memorial Day parade next Saturday, plan for which were announced today following a meeting of representatives of the G. A. R., Spanish War Veterans, the Newton Post, No. 48, American Legion, and the offices of Mayor Sinclair Weeks.

The women's auxiliary of the American Legion will present its Drum and Bugle Corps for the first time in public, accompanying the main body of the auxiliary. The Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, No. 2, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War also have voted to take part as well as the auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans.

Military organizations of Newton, as usual, will parade and there will be an unusually large turnout of Boy Scouts of Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, the DeMolay patrol and band.

Assembly will be at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the streets adjacent to Centre street, Newton Centre, near the flag pole on the Common. Mayor Sinclair Weeks, who will return from Europe in time for the Memorial exercises, will be Chief Marshal. He will have as aides, members of the Newton City Government and prominent residents. R. John Henderson, Post Commander of Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, will be Adjutant-General and Leonard Boyd of Charles Ward Post No. 62, Grand Army of the Republic, will be Chief of Staff.

The parade will start at 1:45 o'clock sharp and the line decided upon as follows: From the flag pole in Newton Centre to Beacon street, to Walnut street to Newton Cemetery. Following the Memorial services in the cemetery by Charles Ward Post, the march will be continued north in Walnut street to Cabot street, to Park place, to Washington Park where a brief stop will be made at the General Andrews Veterans Home. Proceeding to Walnut street, the line will then move to Washington street and Newtonville square, then West in Washington street to the State Armory in West Newton.

A reviewing stand will be set up in Newtonville in front of the Fire Station where Mayor Weeks and members of his staff will view the marchers. Refreshments in the form of a buffet luncheon will be served to participating organizations on arriving at the Armory. The line of march as announced is as follows:

1. Police.
2. Chief Marshal—Adjutant General and staff.
3. Aides, etc.
4. Constabulary Band.
5. Infantry.

The jurors were William H. Rice, foreman and James Kingman, W. P. Underhill; Prof. William Z. Ripley, Carl Eldridge, Charles Norton, William Chapple, Louis A. Warren, Frank Williams, Cyrus Kaufman, Charles S. Logan and Sherman Smith.

When one starts in to conduct a place which is open to the public, he faces the problem of how it is to be run.

Should it be wet and wide open, or shall it be dry and clean?

At the Stow Golf Club it is to be dry, and the morale of the place is to be such as will inspire a mother to feel that her daughter will be in a good atmosphere. It is to be a family resort, providing wholesome out of doors recreation for men and women. We have no quarrel with any man who carries something on his hip. Some of our best friends do and we like them. But in coming to the Stow Golf Course we must ask that all flasks be left at home, and we mean it.

We have a putting green, croquet, ping pong and shuffle board, free; also swings, tilts and sand-boxes for children.

We have a large hall available for dances and banquets, six splendid chambers with three bath rooms which may be rented for a vacation.

We have a driving net where one may practice or learn to play golf. There are delightful walks in the woods. The place nestles among trees and is homelike. It is under entirely new ownership and management. Golf 75c for 9 holes Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays. 50c other days. Tennis, (two courts) 15c per person singles, 10c doubles. Golf lessons $1.00 per half hour, or 50c per person in classes. It is a beautiful ride through the country up to STOW. Telephone Hudson 8567.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

FIVE RUN RALLY IN 7TH SINKS WALTHAM

Newton High's early lead of three runs in the first two innings was wiped out by the end of the fifth in the game with Waltham high at the Waltham athletic field on Bacon St. Wednesday afternoon but the orange and black clan came through with a five-run rally in the seventh to clinch the game under a final score of 9 to 3. In the seventh the locals batted around and scored all its runs after two were out on a fielder's choice, four hits and a base on balls. During the melee Martowski, Waltham twirler, was driven to shelter with Gustafson taking up the burden. Coach Sullivan's lads added a single tally of Gustafson in the eighth and Mitchell twirled the ninth to set them back in order. Jimmie MacAdams started the game for Newton and pitched good ball except in the third when errors by Appleyard and Butler got him in a hole with two hits bringing in two counters. In the fifth with the tying run over the plate and another runner on second with two down MacAdams gave way to Giles. The Newton sophomore pitcher went right to work and thereafter not a Waltham player reached first base. For the first time this year the Newton regulars came through in the pinches in great style with Bill Mason, second sacker, showing the way with a double and two singles in four times at bat.

Newton started off on the right foot, Antonelli was safe at second when Lando threw his grounder to the fence over first baseman Elmer Beagan's head. Huston sacrificed the little Newton centrefielder to second and Colby squeezed him over the platter. Butler fanned for the third out. Waltham got two men on in its half and the ballplayer reached them in shape. Naturally to have kept them at a high pitch would have been sufficient in that it would have cut down their chances of upsetting Boston English and it might well have resulted in their going stale before the Stage relays at Fitchburg two weeks hence. While Brookline defeated Newton the orange and black is far from discouraged. Watch them against Boston English, perhaps even more than over Brookline. Last week after the successful triumph of the local team at the Stadium on the previous Saturday Coach Enoch gave the runners just enough work to keep them in shape. MANY SCHOOL SPORT ACTIVITIES IN WEEK

This is the busy time of year for the various athletic teams at the Newton High School. The baseball team has chalked up two victories this week over Brookline and Waltham, its two dearest rivals, and has high hopes of adding a third victim to the list in tomorrow's Suburban league contest with Rindge Tech at Newtonville. The game marks the beginning of the second round of league competition and the orange and black must needs win all four of its remaining league games to stay in the running for the title. Next week's games include one with Quincy High at Newtonville on Wednesday and a visit to Cambridge Latin at Russell Field, Cambridge, on Saturday in another league affair.

The varsity track team has a battle on its hands this afternoon when it faces the strong Boston English High team at Nickerson Field, Riverside. The Hub clan has been undefeated on the cinder path for several years and Captain Milton Green and his mates are set to go. It will be the first time that Boston English High has ever competed in a one-class meet as all Boston affairs offer competition in senior, intermediate and junior divisions. This may prove somewhat of a handicap to the invaders but it will be more than offset by Newton's agreement to limit competition to but one running and one field event for each athlete, as Boston schools require. Captain Milton Green will thus be restricted to the hurdles and broad jump, both of which he should win, instead of being allowed to run the 220 and high jump in addition. If he were allowed to compete in all four events he probably would win three and place well up in the 220. Newton's well-balanced outfit is expected to provide it with the majority of first places and it will probably be a question of the team picking up the most second and third places snatching the victory. It is hard to see how Holmes in the 100, Sloane in the 220, Chalmers in the 440, Green in the hurdles and broad jump and Colligan in the shotput can be figured other than first place winners. Boston English however has a good hurdler in Johnny Joyce, a good dash man in Woods, a fine 220 man in Tom Callahan, a good quarter miler in Vale Marvin if he is in shape to compete, the best half-miler in Jerry Doherty, and a good shotputter in Jimmy Zaitz.

TENNIS TEAM WINS TWO MORE MATCHES

The Newton high tennis team turned in two victories the past week defeating Cambridge Latin last Friday, 8 to 0, and making a clean sweep of seven matches with Everett on Tuesday. Both matches were played on the courts at Newtonville.

Cobb, Jarrell, Dunnell, Volpe, and Francis Chase all won their singles matches against Cambridge with Chase and Dunnell teaming in doubles for another victory. Avisor and Wales, and Bancroft and Manning were the other Newton doubles pairs to win.

Cobb, Volpe, Bancroft, Wales and Manning won their singles matches against Everett as did Ashley and Brennan, and Nicholas and Bailey at doubles.

SPORT NOTES

Upper Falls Wins One—Loses Two

Last Saturday night the Newton Upper Falls A. A. and Roslindale played a thrilling game at Upper Falls with the local team gaining a 2 to 1 victory. Upper Falls was the champion of the Hub Telephone last year and Roslindale of the Greater Boston Twil league. Leo Crowley who on the mound for Upper Falls with his former teammate while at Northeastern, Neil Mahoney, behind the bat. The visitors collected but three hits, scoring both their runs in the sixth and final frame of the game. Sunday afternoon the Upper Falls nine opened the 1931 Hub league season with a pennant raising and then lost a 9 to 8 seven-inning decision to South Weston. Upper Falls A. A. and Roslindale played a 2 to 1 victory. In fact Zaitz has placed ahead of Colligan in both the indoor and outdoor state meet shotput and unless the Newton weight man is at his best the Hub favorite is likely to come through. Newton has little strength in the half mile and Doherty is expected to win either way. Newton has several other runners who should come through with several second and third places including Stanley Johnson, hurdler and broad jumper, George Lamb and Vincent Signore, half milers, Dick Farrell, quarter milers, Al Guzzi, 220, and Elliott Bradley in the dash. All in all it should be quite a close affair. Newton won the outdoor state championship and Boston English the indoor so the result of the meet will go far towards deciding which team should be rated the higher.

The tennis team is also active with its stiffest test of the season coming in the annual interscholastic tournament at Longwood tomorrow. This event is run under the auspices of the Newton High school athletic association and the orange and black have won team honors the past few years. Seventeen schools, represented by nearly ninety players, will participate in the tourney. Preliminary round matches will be played on the Longwood courts beginning at nine o'clock while the final two rounds will be played at either the Newton high courts or the courts of the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club.

Chamberlain Wins Half—Cole Hurdles

In its final dual meet of the season the Boston University track team defeated Tufts last Friday afternoon at Nickerson Field by a comfortable margin. Art Chamberlain, former Newton high runner, took first place in the 880-yard run for one of B. U.'s nine first places in the fourteen events. Romaine Cole, another Newton high athlete of a few years ago, scored in three events for eleven points for Tufts. Cole won the 120-yard high hurdles, took second in the 220-yard low hurdles and second in the broad jump.

Chamberlain Wins Half—Cole Hurdles

Bill Cronin boosted his batting average to an even .300 last week connecting for a two-base hit. He has played in seven games, been at bat ten times, made three hits. In the field he has eleven putouts and four assists for a fielding average of 1.000.

BOSTON COLLEGE WINS DEBATE

The annual debate between Boston College and Holy Cross College under the auspices of Newton Council, Knights of Columbus was held last Sunday night at the auditorium of Newton High School. It was the fifth in a series of such debates.

The topic debated was "Resolved: that the public should own, operate and control the hydro-electric plants of the country." Boston College took the affirmative side and Holy Cross the negative. Each college had won two of the previous debates, Boston College winning in 1927 and 1928 and Holy Cross in 1929 and 1930. By winning the debate on Sunday Boston College obtained permanent possession of the silver cup presented by Newton Council.

The judges who unanimously awarded the victory in the debate to Boston College were Rev. Robert Lord, D.D., of St. John's Seminary; Prof. James Simpson of Boston University Law School; Judge Thomas Weston of West Newton. The members of Boston College team were: John J. Wright, Hyde Park; Joseph F. Rogers, Dorchester; Edward F. Connolly, Dorchester; Holy Cross debaters were: Edward B. Hanley, Fall River; Daniel J. O'Neill, Springfield; Owen P. McGivern, New York.

LYDIA PARTRIDGE WHITING CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The annual meeting of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., will be held on Tuesday, May 26, at the home of Miss Harriet M. Ward, 1080 Walnut street, Newton Highlands. Reports of committee chairmen will be heard at this time, and officers elected for the coming year.

structure work in widening Washington street from Wales street to Beacon street and removing the angle in front of the Woodland Golf Club.

A permit for a 500 gallon gasoline tank was refused Mrs. Mary Baker at 67 Crafts street, Newtonville because the proposed location is in a small yard between two wooden dwellings.

A communication was received from Acting-Mayor Collins recommending for consideration the offer of Joseph Congdon to pay the city $175,84 for the city's interest in two lots of land on River place, Waban. A notice was received from the City Clerk of Boston on the perambulation of the Newton-Boston line by representatives of Newton and Boston on Thursday, May 28. Aldermen Grebenstein and Murray were designated as the two official bikers to represent Newton and they will meet the Boston perambulators at Faneuil next Thursday. Most of the perambulating will be done in automobiles.

Daniel O'Connell of 111 Nevada street, Newtonville and Dennis Craven of Waltham were appointed official weighers; they are associated with the Garden City Sand and Gravel Company at Newton Highlands.

The following petitions were received: Harry Hanson and others for improving and accepting Wilde road, Waban; Richard Wheeler, 1 first class and 1 second class taxi license at 37 Thornton street, Newton; George A. Haynes, permit to keep, store and sell gasoline at 361 Washington street, corner of Thornton street, Newton, 4 tanks, 4 pumps and 4000 gallons capacity as a maximum. A hearing will be held on this petition at the next meeting of the Aldermen.

A petition was received from the Woodland Sand & Gravel Company for another year's extension of their permit to conduct the gravel pit at 2131 Washington street, near the Newton Hospital.

Alderman Powers, reporting for the Claims and Rules Committee moved suspension of the rules to permit the passage of an amendment to the traffic ordinances prohibiting parking on the south side of Commonwealth avenue from the Weston bridge over the Charles River opposite Norumbega to the point where parking is now prohibited just east of this place. He explained that this action was taken at the request of the Ward 4 member of the Committee, Alderman Smith, and resulted from complaints which have been made because of cars parked in front of the lunch stand on the Metropolitan Reservation obstructing traffic on Saturdays, Sundays and at other times when travel is heavy. The Ward 1 alderman stated that it was planned to prohibit parking at this place last year when the parking restrictions were put on nearby sections of Commonwealth avenue, but in deference to the person then having the lease of the refreshment stand it was agreed to postpone the restriction until the first of this year. This action had been delayed until the present and to prevent further traffic congestion near the bridge the parking prohibition should be enforced without more delay. The amendment was passed.

THE REDISTRICTING REPORT

The report of the redistricting committee to the Legislature, placing Congressmen Luce and Dallinger in the same Congressional district is a distinct blow at the prestige now gained at Washington by the Massachusetts delegation. Leaving out of consideration the attitude of these Congressmen on the prohibition question it should be borne in mind that seniority and personal acquaintance carry considerable weight at Washington and when we have men like Congressman Luce and Dallinger, we should do all we can to continue them in office. The policy of the redistricting committee, it seems to us, was either to eliminate the newest Congressman in the delegation or the Congressman who has done the least for Massachusetts. Both of these factors are apparent to anyone who has followed state politics to any extent.

With Representative Thompson of this city a member of the sub-committee which drafted this legislation, there should have been a better plan for redistricting.

A MENACE

Unless prompt and drastic steps are taken in the matter, there will undoubtedly be a serious accident on the Centre street hill near the Newton Methodist church in the near future. For some weeks a Boston contractor has been using Centre street for a race course for a fleet of large trucks carrying gravel and stone. These trucks are driven at least at the rate of 35 miles per hour and attain considerable velocity on the hill. There is also the noise of the trucks returning up the hill, although there is no legal way of compelling them to be more quiet. The police, however, do have authority to require these trucks to reduce their speed and should enforce the law governing the matter.

On Friday evening the Warren Junior High School of West Newton gave a very creditable musical, according to a news item to be found on another page. This and other public performances and exhibits by our junior high schools are among the most powerful agents for developing community consciousness which our city possesses. Here we have the people of a single community out to see a performance where not only the performers but the institution itself belongs to them. Racial, religious and social caste lines are absolutely down. The colored mother, the Italian father, and the couple which drove up in a Cadillac sit side by side with eyes riveted upon the stage where their children are playing or singing. Yes, the junior high school is helping to develop community consciousness of the right sort.

KIWANIS CLUB

The Kiwanis Club of Newton held its regular weekly meeting at the Elk's Home in Newton Corner on Tuesday, May 19, 1931. The Guest speaker of the day was Mr. Orren C. Bourne of the State Department of Conservation. Mr. Bourne gave a talk on the preservation of fish and wild game in this Commonwealth, and with lantern slides illustrated the various species of animal life. The talk was enjoyed by all present.

The next meeting and all meetings until September will be held at Norumbega Park.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Considerable progress has been made this week but it is expected that the session will extend well into June. One of the principal obstacles to a speedy conclusion is the congressional redistricting which does not meet general approval. It will take some time to thresh this out and judging from the variety of views expressed there is likely to be extended debates in both chambers before a settlement is reached.

Another matter with which the House is having a terrific struggle is that providing revenue for the old age assistance act. Several proposals, including a head tax on men and women, an old age assessment on all males over 21 years, tobacco tax and what not have been offered but no agreement has been reached. The Ways and Means Committee of the House is about ready to throw up the sponge and leave it to the Governor and the Democratic members to find something that will be acceptable to them and the Republicans. The next battle to get somewhere is set for Monday afternoon but there is nothing certain as to what the outcome will be.

The bill to increase the salaries of judges, clerks and assistant clerks of district courts has been defeated in the House.

The House is for building a pier at Buzzards Bay for the ships that pass through the Cape Cod canal and has refused to refer such a bill to the next annual session as recommended by the Ways and Means Committee. The cost to the state is estimated at $250,000. Whether the bill will be finally adopted remains to be seen.

The Governor has signed the bill permitting charitable, religious, educational, fraternal and military organizations to hold whist and bridge parties at which prizes may be awarded.

Of interest to Newton are two measures recently signed by the Governor. One provides for an investigation relating to the improvement of the condition of the Charles River in Waltham, Newton, Weston and Watertown, and the other for an investigation regarding the construction by the Metropolitan District Commission of a bridge, with suitable approaches, over the Charles River, at Purgatory Cove, so-called, in Waltham.

Other measures signed include the following: Extending the time for filing the report of the Department of Public Welfare upon its investigation and survey to ascertain the number of crippled children in the State who are not receiving the benefit of treatment at the Massachusetts Hospital School; further defining the duties of the Commissioner of State Aid and Pensions and establishing the office of second deputy commissioner of State Aid and Pensions; regulating the taking of fish in certain waters of Cape Cod Bay; authorizing reports to the appellate divisions of district courts at the instance of the justices thereof; providing for an investigation by the Metropolitan District Commission relating to establishing a park on land adjacent to the Wachusett Dam in the town of Clinton; authorizing the placing on the ballot of certain descriptive words against the name of a candidate for reelection as town meeting member in Brookline; establishing a special commission to continue a study and investigation relative to a certain additional fitting memorial to the men and women of Massachusetts who served in all wars in which Massachusetts has participated and continuing until May 15, 1932, the existing preference in the classified labor service to persons with dependents.

Every effort is being made to have passed at this session legislation that will provide for underpasses in connection with the traffic circle to be maintained at the intersection of Charles and Cambridge streets, Boston, where there is to be an elevated station of the Cambridge tunnel.

The signing by the Governor of the Boston Elevated bill which provides for the extension of the period of public control for 28 years has cleared up one of the most perplexing questions before the Legislature in years. Last Monday, when the Senate voted on the question of passing the bill to be engrossed, Senator Hollis was recorded in the affirmative.

Both branches have accepted in concurrence these adverse reports: Transportation, reference to the next annual session (at the request of the petitioner) petition of Representative William R. Thomas of Quincy that the Commonwealth issue bonds for the purpose of paying expenses in connection with the abolition of grade crossing and reference to the next annual session on the petition of Representative Edward J. Kelley of Worcester for the appointment of a joint special legislative committee to devise ways and means of raising funds for the removal of dangerous grade crossings.

Other proposed legislation rejected included the following: Amendment to the law relative to the carriage of passengers by taxicabs; of the Massachusetts Passenger Transportation Association relative to the issuing by the Department of Public Utilities of certificates to operators of taxicabs in certain cities and towns and petition of Representative A. A. McNulty of Boston that the office of taxicab

By Edw. H. Powers

Residents of Tremont street, Park street and other streets nearby the line of the Boston Elevated Railroad in this city are wondering what is to be done to relieve the nuisance occasioned by the corrugated tracks and noisy cars of this company. Alderman Murray talked with General Manager Dunn about this matter and was told that the tracks will be repaired but the same cars will continue to be used here. Just why the people of Newton have to endure the noise caused by these rattletrap vehicles imported from East Boston, and why the patrons of the Elevated who commute from Newton to Boston on these cars must continue to ride in such de luxe transports is a matter that is puzzling many. It would seem that with two residents of this city serving as trustees of the Elevated, Newton people ought to get a fair break, even if the company is not well financially. It hardly can be argued that Newton folks were accorded just treatment when cars in good condition were taken from the division serving this city, sent to East Boston, and cars from that section removed here which are not only uncomfortable to ride in, but which have made life miserable for residents along Tremont street, cars which jar houses, make it impossible to use radio sets, which depreciate property values.

Perhaps Newton's representatives in the Legislature may be able to use influence on the Elevated management to have the cars either replaced or repaired, and the tracks put in proper condition.

Graham McNamee may be a charming man, personally. As one of the pioneer broadcasters we don't begrudge him the success he has attained. But, why the National Broadcasting Company persists in using him as Exhibit A whenever a sporting event of national import is radiod is something beyond our understanding. Personally, we think Graham is a flop whenever he attempts to serve as announcer on the occasion of any big time sporting event, whether it be a football, prize fight or horse race. We listened to him Saturday doing his stuff at the Kentucky Derby and heard him tell of the bouquet which was to be given to "Twenty Grand." Clem McCarthy's description of the race was an excellent job.

THE VILLAGE PLAYERS

The Village Players are presenting a Cabaret on Wednesday evening, May 27th, at 8 p. m., in the Unitarian Playhouse, Newton Centre. This is an innovation in the regular program of the Village Players, as it is the first time they have ever put on a program of what might be termed high class vaudeville, and planned an evening entirely devoted to the lighter vein amusement.

A large committee of members are assisting the Chairman, Mrs. Raymond R. Collins. These include Mesdames Frank A. Mason, Montague Ford, Charles P. Powers, James H. Orr, Grant B. Eustis, Mabel Webster, Charles P. Bond, Edward A. Andrews, William Welch, Misses Priscilla Ordway, Katherine Wilkins, Messrs. William H. Barkley, Roderick Clifford, and Charles L. Pierce.

PORTRAIT EXHIBITION BY LOCAL WOMAN

An exhibition of Pastel Portraits by Miss Eleanor R. Weedon of Glen avenue, Newton Centre, is being held in the galleries of Dodd & Richards at 138 Newbury street, Boston. Among the portraits being exhibited are those of Wallace Buell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Buell of West Newton, Edward Ray Speare, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Speare of Newton Centre, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunker of Newton Centre, and Carol Tibbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Tibbets of Newton Centre. The exhibition will end on Saturday, May 23rd. Miss Weedon is the daughter of Mrs. and the late Rev. Charles F. Weedon.

commissioner be established in Boston.

The Governor's veto of the bill to abolish physical examinations in the classified labor service found seventy Democrats who were willing to override him. Fortunately the Republicans came to the Governor's support and he was sustained. It will be recalled that a similar bill was vetoed last year by former Governor Allen. The message came at 3 o'clock in the morning during that memorable session of 24 continuous hours. There were not as many members on hand but the Governor was sustained by a substantial vote. The Newton Representatives voted to sustain the Governor.

The Governor's veto of the bill to provide permanent relief to cities and towns in the maintenance and repair of State highways was sustained. The Governor said that under an emergency measure passed this year provision is made for temporary relief of this same character. He said he thought the Legislature should wait until the results of the temporary relief measure had been studied along with the effect of the additional one cent to the gasoline tax.

Eugene Frawley, 19, of 94 Bottomwood street, Dorchester, received a bad cut over his right eye while cranking the motor of an automobile last Friday. He was taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment. The accident happened at Newton Corner.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 24.

The Golden Text is: "If ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live" (Romans 8:13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit . . . For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace" (Romans 8:1, 5, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science, rightly understood, leads to eternal harmony. It brings to light the only living and true God and man as made in His likeness; whereas the opposite belief—that man originates in matter and has beginning and end, that he is both soul and body, both good and evil, both spiritual and material—terminates in discord and mortality, in the error which must be destroyed by Truth" (p. 338).

CHILSON—INGALLS

Mr. Charles Daniel Chilson of Cottage street, Upper Falls, and Miss Grace Elrene Ingalls of South Boston were married at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, May 20, at Groton, Mass., by Fr. William Farrell, chaplain of Camp Devens and formerly of West Newton.

The bride was gowned in a blue flowered georgette dress and wore a white hat trimmed with flowers. She was attended by Mrs. Lawrence Chilson as matron of honor, who wore a pink flowered georgette dress and a white hat.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Lawrence Chilson of Hamden Heights.

A wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chilson at 7 in the evening, attended by the immediate family, followed by a small reception.

The bride was a former private secretary in Overbrook, Wellesley, and the groom is manager of a store in Wellesley.

Mr. and Mrs. Chilson left on a short wedding trip.

BUICK IS HOLDING "OPEN HOUSE"

From May 23 to June 10 motorists generally are invited to participate in a special program arranged for Buick showrooms in all parts of the country.

The invitations are being extended to the public through a country-wide newspaper advertising campaign sponsored by the Buick Motor Company. In each local advertisement announcing the Open House program the names of Buick dealers are listed for the convenience of those who wish to attend.

All of the 3,000 dealers who are joining in the Open House program have made special arrangements for the event. One interesting feature is that everyone will be given a chance to drive a Buick.

In this connection, C. W. Churchill, general sales manager of the Buick Motor Company, points out that the real test of an automobile these days is its performance under the complex conditions of modern street and highway driving.

"Of course, all automobiles will run today," Mr. Churchill said. "But it is inevitable that some represent more transportation value than others. That the public is already aware of this is shown by the success of the Buick straight eight, which is selling fifty per cent of the total sales in its price class, some thirteen other cars sharing the remainder of the business.

The positive advertising buyers today is mainly one of getting the most automobile value for the purchase price. The real test of this value is actual road performance. In the case of Buick, our twenty-seven years of manufacturing assure dependable engineering.

.. THE .. MANNING MANSE TEA TAVERN

North Billerica, Mass.
The Ancient House by the Side of the Road
Built in 1696

WILL REOPEN MAY 30th

Mrs. Wilma Morris will again be in charge with her crew of Southern cooks.

Last year we were favored with visits from many of your townsmen and women, either for lunch, tea or dinner.

If you have not happened to have eaten one of our chicken, Southern style, dinners, well "you jes' haven't tasted Southern style chicken"—as Mrs. Morris would say in her delicious Southern drawl.

You really must pay us a visit soon. We are laying out an old-fashioned, formal garden in the hollow just below the well sweep, which will delight your eye too,—just like it used to be over a hundred years ago.

If you will telephone Mrs. Morris at Billerica 49-ring 4, your collation will be ready for you when you arrive, otherwise you may have to wait an hour, because every single thing we serve is cooked or prepared for your special order.

EARL G. MANNING, Proprietor.

Mr. Dreiser on Bonuses.
Sir Henri Sells It.
4,000,000 Rabbits Ready.
A Wall Street Story.

Theodore Dreiser, sincere and forceful, pours out his soul in a long letter to the editor about low wages received by workers compared with high bonuses received by heads of great corporations. Mr. Dreiser observes, "billions of dollars for those who manage, execute and build," and "merely a bare existence for those who do the work." Some at the top have too much, perhaps, and of course men at the bottom have too little. The constant struggle of civilization is to raise the average.

At the same time Mr. Dreiser, highly intelligent, knows that there are different kinds of work that call for different kinds of pay. Mr. Dreiser, for instance, can, and probably will, write a book worth a million dollars. Should he not be paid more than the man who sets the type, although that composer may be in some ways a better man than Dreiser?

And who are men that make millions? Charles M. Schwab, one of them, was a worker in an iron foundry not so long ago. If Mr. Dreiser were at work with a pick and shovel, he would be glad to have somebody tell him where he could dig successfully for coal or gold. The man who increases profits increases employment and the workers' interest demands that he should be well paid. Employers or stockholders that refuse special pay for special services are foolish.

Some time ago you read in this column about the Japanese buying a year's supply of oil for their navy. United States wells supplied the oil cheaper than Uncle Sam has ever been able to buy it. And the oil was sold by the intelligent Sir Henri Deterding, head of the British-owned and controlled Shell Oil Company.

Thus Japan got cheap oil, a British company got the profit, and American oil wells were depleted by so many million barrels.

Just the other day Uncle Sam needed 4,620,000 barrels of "bunker fuel oil" for navy yards and stations on the West Coast. Who, do you suppose, sold the oil to Uncle Sam? None other than the same energetic Sir Henri Deterding. He sold the oil, his British owned company made the profit.

Incidentally, Uncle Sam, buying United States oil for his own navy, paid Sir Henri a great deal more than Japan paid Sir Henri for the same American oil, delivered, like Uncle Sam's oil, on the West Coast.

This may make you smile. And it may not.

What, by the way, is the matter with our high-spirited American business men when they can't sell oil from the soil of their own country to their own Government as cheaply as it can be sold, at a profit, by an intelligent Dutchman, representing English capital?

Our War Department has plans for instant mobilization of an army of four million men, in case of war."

That announcement will amuse European and Asiatic nations that would be ready for instant mobilization of from five to ten thousand airplanes each in case of war.

You would smile if you read, "Four million rabbits are ready for instant mobilization to meet an invasion of eagles." Men on the ground, attacked by airplanes, would be no better than rabbits attacked by eagles.

The President of the United States, a great engineer, might explain to somebody in the army and navy that four million men on the ground would not be of much use against flocks of airplanes above the clouds.

After revealing the magnificent plan to gather together 4,000,000 men to act as targets for bombs, machine guns and poison gas from the air, the army proudly announces, "The United States is ready."

Wall Street's uncertainty is illustrated in this story from that financial canyon.

An energetic broker was urging his client before the "5 cents profit in three months" report came out, "Buy Steel. I tell you I know what they are doing. You can't help making money." The client replied, "Steel is good, but I don't like it just now. I would rather sell it short." Instantly the broker replied, "Oser nicht eine schlechte Ide," meaning "not a bad idea also."

In spite of the double negative, the "oser nicht" statement was sound.

Australia has gold, and her Government means to keep it. It was planned to send five million pounds of the precious gold to London, to pay money due. The Australian Senate votes, 24 to 1, to forbid gold shipments.

Strange is the power of that yellow metal. If people know that you possess it, even though you refuse to pay it out that adds to your financial standing.

France has nearly four billions in gold, the United States nearly five billions. It cannot prevent unemployment, or depression, but its owners can say: "We are solvent; we have gold to prove it," and that helps them.

POLICE NEWS

Vincent Daniels of 599 Cambridge street, Allston, was in the Newton court on Saturday charged with accosting a person of the opposite sex. He was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. Daniels was accused of annoying a nurse from the Newton Hospital while riding on a Boston Elevated car along Tremont street, Newton.

John E. Spencer of 147 Winthrop street, Roxbury, was sentenced to six months in jail by Judge Bacon on last Friday for attempted robbery of an automobile near the Riverside railroad station. He was also fined $10 for drunkenness. He appealed. He was arrested at Riverside early on the morning of May 9th by Patrolman Kerrigan who found him near a car with a window broken. Kerrigan had just heard the crash of breaking glass before arresting Spencer. Spencer was held in $600 bail and then turned over to Boston policemen who arrested him for stealing at gun point a taxi owned by the Checker Taxi Company of Boston. Spencer is accused of hiring the cab in Boston, forcing the driver to leave it near Harvard square, Cambridge, and then abandoning the tax on Pigeon Hill road, Auburndale.

Ernest Schaub of 258 Upland road Cambridge, was fined $100 in the Newton court last Friday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested on May 6 by Patrolman Lyons. Earl Willey of Riverview avenue, Waltham, was fined $5 for failing to slow down at a street intersection. Edward Booth of Allen avenue, Waltham, was fined $5 for NOT STOPPING before entering a through way.

A burglar was surprised at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Adams, Dorset road, Waltham, last Thursday afternoon when her daughter returned. The girl, finding the door locked, rang the bell, and it is supposed the thief made his escape while she was waiting. When Mrs. Adams returned later it was found that the house had been looted and jewelry stolen.

Lieut. Veduuccio, Sergeant Leehan and Patrolmen Reagan and Stanton enjoyed a motor trip to Quebec last week.

William J. Burley of Thurston road, Newton Upper Falls, was fined $100 in the Newton court on Monday for driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested on May 10th by Patrolman Hamill.

William H. Perry, Jr., of 20 Clark road, West Newton, was in court on Monday charged with operating a car after his license had been revoked. His case was continued until May 25.

As a result of a brawl at Newton Centre on Sunday night Frederic Tiberio and Pasquale Tiberio of Beecher terrace, Thompsonville, were fined $20 each in the Newton court on Monday for disturbing the peace. They were arrested by Serg. Crowley, Patrolmen Brayton and Smith.

Autoists fined in the Newton court on Monday included—Helmut Buschman, Brookline, speeding $10; $5 each for not STOPPING before entering a through way, Dorothy Silley, 61 Morse road, Newtonville; Edmund Blake, Brookline; Gustav Matson, Chester street, Waltham; James Budd, Brookline; Ralph Parsons, Mechanic street, Newton Upper Falls; Osmond Kelly, Quincy; Fred Fleet, Jr., Milton. Erikor Darderian of 208 Common street, Watertown, was in court charged with reckless driving and with leaving the scene of an accident without making his identity known. His case was continued until May 25.

Melvin Moore, Christina Moore and Gladys Moore, of 127 Hicks street, West Newton, were in the Newton court on Saturday charged with assault and battery on Edward Lemondine and Frederick Partridge, employees of a bill collecting agency. The complainants allege that when they went to the Moore home on May 7th to seize the car they were treated roughly—and failed to obtain possession of the car. The case was postponed until today.

John L. Currie of Parmenter road, West Newton, was fined $75 in the Waltham court on Wednesday for driving while under the influence of liquor. He appealed. He was also charged in the Brighton court with leaving the scene of an accident without revealing his identity. He is charged with hitting an aged man at Fanueil with his car on the night of April 18, seriously injuring the victim. It is then charged that he kept on driving, but was trailed in another car by Thomas Connors of Lexington. Connors followed Currie through Watertown and Waltham to his home at Parmenter road, according to the police.

Charles Silverman of Exmoor road, Newton Centre, was in the Newton court on Wednesday charged with giving a worthless check for $269 to Marcus Feinberg of the Newton Tire Company on April 4. The case was continued.

Keble Perline, agent of the Board of Health, was the complainant in court Wednesday against Francis Regnier of Lowell and the Webster Lumber Company of Watertown. Failure to connect houses owned by them with sewers caused the complaints. Regnier's case was placed on file when the information was given that he will comply with the demand of the Health Department. The lumber company was given until June 24 to make the connection.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

Members and friends of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands are anticipating Tuesday, May 26, when a silver tea will be held on the lawn of Mrs. G. Harry Adalian's home, 230 Lake Avenue, Newton Highlands, the proceeds of which are to go to the maintenance fund of the Workshop. Should the afternoon be stormy the tea will take place on the next clear day.

Newton Federation

On Tuesday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, the Newton Federation of Women's Club holds its Executive Board meeting in the Technical High School Library, at Newtonville. At this meeting appointment of chairmen of committees will be confirmed, and plans outlined for the next year's work. Mrs. Samuel N. Braman was re-elected president at the Annual Meeting on May 5 and will serve as presiding officer. All Clubwomen are invited to attend these meetings.

RECENT EVENTS

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The third annual Flower Show of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands was held at the Workshop on May 13, representing exactly ninety-six exhibits, covering eight classes of entries.

Ribbons were awarded in all classes, and the prizes distributed were the gifts of Club members and friends, including Mrs. F. R. Hayward, Mrs. H. P. Forte, the Art committee, Miller Rose Company, Needham, Everhard and Herman Krosschell, Mrs. Donald McKay, and Miss Helen Boyd.

In Class I, three sprays of flowering shrub, first prize was won by Mrs. F. R. Hayward; second by Mrs. Seward Jones; and third by Miss Ruth Willkie.

In Class II, (a) best vase of tulips, first prize was won by Mrs. B. W. Godsoe; second by Mrs. Donald McKay; and third by Mrs. E. A. Duossoit. In Class II, (b) best vase of narcissi, including daffodils and jonquils, the first prize was won by Mrs. James Cooper; second by Mrs. Edgar Smith, and third by Mrs. F. R. Hayward.

In Class III, best arranged vase of spring flowers, any or all kinds, the first prize was won by Mrs. F. H. Hayward; second by Mrs. H. P. Gray, and third by Mrs. A. H. Elder, while honorable mention was given Mrs. J. B. Studley.

In Class IV, centerpiece for dinner table, the first prize was won by Mrs. E. J. Weaver; second by Mrs. T. D. Ginn, and third by Mrs. E. D. Wallach.

In Class V, flower arrangement in uniform container, first prize was won by Mrs. Elizabeth Newton; second by Mrs. G. Caldwell, and third by Mrs. J. B. Studley.

In Class VI, table arranged for afternoon tea, first prize was won by Mrs. F. Haberstroh; second by Mrs. Ward L. Cornell, and third by Mrs. J. B. Studley.

In Class VII, window arrangement, first prize was won by Mrs. A. G. Caldwell; second by Mrs. Donald McKay; and third by Mrs. Ralph Case.

In Class VIII, Children's Exhibit (a) children under sixteen years of age, first prize was won by Janet Fisher; second by Paul Duossoit, and third by Laura Hathaway. In Class VIII (b) children under eleven years of age, first prize was won by Tenny Cornell; second by Mary Isham, and third by Robert Hunt.

Garden Club of Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

On Friday, May 15, the Garden Club made a pilgrimage to the Lowthorpe School, at Groton, enjoying a basket lunch with coffee served in the drawing room at the school rather than in the garden as was planned, because of occasional showers. Shortly after lunch Mr. Robert Sturtevant, director of the school, gave a very instructive talk, touching briefly on the early history of landscape architecture, followed by helpful suggestions on pitfalls to be avoided if the garden is to be a real picture having harmonious color arrangement as well as good design which is the most outstanding feature.

features of the Annual Meeting held at Swampscott, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, May 19 to 21. While the convention opened officially Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, there was a most delightful get-together of the Executive Board, in the Ballroom of the New Ocean House, Monday evening, the 18th. Mrs. Lawrence C. Putnam, director of the Ninth District, in her address of welcome on the opening morning struck the keynote of the color and beauty of the setting when she said: "The Ninth District opens its arms to give you a welcome as heart-warming as the sun's rays on these rocks, as soul-satisfying as the whole pageant of sea, land and sky spread out for you this May morning."

The inspiration of over a thousand Clubwomen gathered to open the ninth annual meeting held at Swampscott, in the Convention hall so splendidly adapted from a "garage," was, as always, given impetus by the singing of Katherine Lee Bates' "America the Beautiful." This year those who heard the clever paraphrase by the director of the Fourth District, in speeding interest in Billboard improvement, will probably never forget the two versions of making America Beautiful. The paraphrase is well worth repeating:

O Beautiful, how spacious signs
Hide amber waves of grain,
And purple mountain majesties
Lift high their heads in vain!
America! America!
God mend thine every flaw,
And help the ones who work so hard
To push the Bill Board Law.

The objectives of the present administration, Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, president, has given to be four: 1. A Public Welfare Program; 2. A State-wide Beautification Program; 3. Completion of State Forest Project; and 4. Celebration of the Bicentennial of George Washington.

Applying to the reports of departments the topic of the first interest—Public Welfare—there are to be found a multitude of worthwhile achievements of the year, and to quote merely from Mrs. Fred B. Cross, Chairman of Community Service, gives an excellent idea of the wealth of fine endeavors of the Federated Clubwomen in carrying out service that is of public welfare. Then there was the report on Conservation, by Mrs. Robert Parmenter, chairman, and in this connection the attention of Clubwomen is called to the Field Day, planned at the State Federation Forest, at Petersham, for June 3, and also the report on Public Health, given by Mrs. Carl W. Illig, Jr., chairman. Decidedly of public welfare, also, is the splendid work in Co-operation with War Veterans. On this last subject on Wednesday, at 11:15 o'clock, in the Ballroom, at the section meeting, and under the auspices of Mrs. Walter H. Woods, chairman, a most brilliant presentation was made that brought home more forcefully than any mere speech from however eloquent an orator, the real facts of the work of the veterans; the part Clubwomen are playing in that work; and the part that all patriotic, sincerely-grateful citizens can play in appreciating the efforts of the veterans.

Mrs. Woods' committee told at this time of their "glimpses into Service Hospitals," and painted pictures that stirred the heart with sympathy, but better yet with loyalty. A war veteran gave music, and to see Arthur Jones of Bedford Hospital, as he rendered violin selections brought the World War soldier very close to mind and heart. Carrying forward the same awakened spirit, Mr. Edmund W. Gross, manager of the Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Exchange, told of its high offices. And finally, bringing women into their own in recognition of their war services, Mrs. Elizabeth Gwinnett, president of the American Overseas League of New England, described the place of "Women War Veterans."

Quoting from Mrs. Cross' report on Community Service, in which she stated that items mentioned should be credited as the work of the various Federated Clubs, it was noteworthy that the suffering caused by the lack of employment stimulated Club members not only to provide for the less fortunate at home, but to give of their time and money to relieve serious situations in other localities, and it had been shown that contributions for all kinds of philanthropic work had been more generous than ever. Countless organizations, such as hospitals, schools, colleges, Homes for the Aged, for Crippled Children, for War Veterans, Red Cross, Children's Aid, and other welfare agencies became richer through the kindly interest of Club women.

Establishing circulating libraries for the shut-ins; working most efficiently during the diphtheria immunization campaign; creating the demand for graded and labeled products; studying the problems of the illegitimate child with the view of bettering conditions; conducting various classes for the foreign speaking people and helping to adjust the immigrant family were among the many worthwhile projects.

Worthy of note also was the splendid work for undernourished and tubercular children through the penny collections for milk, as well as through Health Surveys, and Pre-School and Dental Clinics. Safeguarding children during the coasting season, and providing safe skating rinks added greatly to the well-being of the little people. In summer they enjoy new tennis courts, playgrounds, swimming pools and outings galore. The Clubs have not only worked for but with youth organizations. One Club solicited the interest of its church groups and together they sponsored a Y. W. C. A. Youth conference. Mention was made, also, of the very splendid co-operation always found with the boy and girl scouts.

A Junior Club is sponsoring a Home for Aged Women.

Scholarships given showed they are steadily increasing for worthy boys and girls. One Club reported that after saving $1400 towards a new Club House, they decided to use this amount for a student loan fund. In some localities Institutes are being held to consider what can be done to help boys and girls.

There is a growing interest in the work among the blind. Braille transcribing has been most helpful in giving to these sighted people real comfort and joy.

Great generosity was shown at Christmas and Thanksgiving by the Clubs everywhere.

The Motion Picture Program offered a basis for constructive work which has been the means of bringing into communities a better form of entertainment. Motion Picture Councils composed of every possible organization have been formed in many parts of the State: 1—To study motion picture problems on all sides; 2—to give reliable information regarding current and future releases; and 3—to encourage Family night programs and to give support to programs for children when suitably presented. Contacts with theatre managers and producing companies have gone a long way to bring about a better understanding. In cases of complaint—when the facts have been reported to the proper authorities, objectionable advertising and unsuitable bookings have been withdrawn.

Community Planning made rapid strides this past year. Co-operating with schools, scouts, town officials, private property owners and landscape architects, much was accomplished to bring about better and more livable communities. Civic Councils and Village Improvement Societies have been formed which have not only aroused much interest in their midst but have brought forth the realization what mass opinion can do in any undertaking for Betterment.

This organized effort has meant a Community Housecleaning. Cleaner beaches and street, better-kept grounds about the homes, schools and railroad stations; town dumps have become unpopular; catch basins have been scrubbed, and even the Merrimac River has been obliged to undergo its general "clean-up."

Great pride has been exercised in caring for memorials, restoring old landmarks, erecting drinking fountains, as well as giving the police stations a goodly coat of paint. Street signs costing a thousand dollars and more have been given. Houses have been renumbered, thus helping strangers to find their way more easily.

The interest of the children has been aroused in gardens and window boxes, as well as seeding and planting along the highways. The result has been that they had no time to deface property.

Increasing interest has been shown for the elimination of billboards along the highway, for every District in the State reports very definite work in this line. One reported that their Club women had been assisted in this work by the Massachusetts Hotel Association, one hundred leading members of which voted unanimously in favor of abolishing all billboards, including their own. Owing to the efforts of Mr. T. J. Tennyson Seller, operator of the Weldon Hotel, Greenfield has taken the lead in this movement.

Advice has also been given to picnic parties which litter the roadside and to the careless smoker who tosses the lighted match to the breezes.

Well—in civic work we've wished to clean and so we've hustled all the time.

To make our towns a lovely place to have them show a cultured face.

That all may view without a frown our little wayside, and city town.

Mrs. Robert Parmenter, chairman of the Division of Conservation of Natural Resources, reported that 158 Clubs have contributed money to purchase land for the Federation of Women's Clubs' State Forest and Wild Life Sanctuary, and 17 Clubs have made second donations to this Fund. The Federation has deeded 600 of the 1,000 acres to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts this year, and hopes to complete the Forest next year. Two Junior Clubs have made donations to the Forest, which is very commendable. The Division especially invited the Juniors to join them on June 3 when the Federation Field Day will be held at the Forest in Petersham, Massachusetts. This beautiful town has taken the lead in this movement.

Splendid conservation work and many extremely interesting programs have been produced by the Clubs. Gardens, wild flowers, birds, soils, pests, mosquitoes, ferns, forestry, roadside.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL
OF R. E.

The executive secretary of the Norumbega District Council of Religious Education, and two of the young people—Webb Wright for the Young People's Cabinet and Pierre Vuilleumier for the Christian Endeavor Union—represented Newton at the recent Greater Boston Youth Senate meeting. This Senate includes representatives of denominations and certain specified organizations, for purposes of business and as a clearing house for Y. P. activities of special types.

An interesting part of the business last Thursday evening was a resolution protesting against the military airplane tour. The resolution read as follows:

"Whereas, the United States as one of the signatories of the Kellogg peace pact officially outlaws war as a method of settling international disputes, and

"Whereas, in the present economic crisis upward of 6,000,000 persons are perforce unemployed.

"We wish to protest against the proposed demonstration of aerial warfare over Boston and other cities as being contrary to the spirit of the Kellogg peace pact, and, by reason of its involving an expenditure of $3,000,000 as estimated by the New York Times of May 13, as being an unwarranted expenditure of public funds."

N. C. PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION MEETS

At the annual meeting of the N. C. Parent-Teachers Association, held May 13, in the Mason School Assembly Hall, Mr. Frank T. Carr, who is to be the principal of the new Junior High School on the South side, outlined to the mothers, the program of studies open to pupils entering the Junior High school. Following his talk, Mr. Paul, principal of the Mason school, spoke very briefly, but emphatically, on the importance of not forcing the immature child.

After these two talks annual reports from all the committees were read, and election of officers for 1931-1932 was held. The following were elected:

Executive Board: President, Mrs. C. A. Ballou; Vice-President, Mrs. George Willard Smith; Recording Secretary, Mrs. H. F. Friedman; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. J. Whitley; Treasurer, Mrs. Karl M. Bowman; and Asst. Treas., Miss Ruth H. Burgess.

FIRE AT AUBURNDALE

Hose 5 of Auburndale was called to the home of David Wigod, 39 Robin Hood road on last Friday night. The fire was discovered about 9 o'clock by neighbors who telephoned the fire department. The fire, supposed to have been caused by an overheated stove, badly damaged the kitchen and spread to some of the adjoining rooms.

Single Cost— Double Pleasure

A FRIENDLY telephone call is one thing you can share with a good friend without paying an extra charge for the two-fold pleasure.

Unlike a dinner in town when you must pay two checks, or a movie or entertainment where you must buy two seats, your call gives double pleasure for a single cost. In fact, your telephone chat is in a class by itself. In order for you to enjoy it, some friend must share the pleasure. It's a real round-trip journey of enjoyment for the price of a single fare.

Consider this the next time you have a chance to say a neighborly word by telephone. And if your friends in a distant city want to make it a "Dutch treat," tell them to call you next week to even up the score.

Use your telephone for social calls when time and distance hinder personal visits. The cost is small, as shown by the following rates for a three-minute call by number:

73 of America's leading business concerns have bought 27,605 Chevrolets

Prominent among the thousands of concerns using large fleets of Chevrolets are many of the leaders of American industry. In fact, 73 outstanding business firms have purchased a total of 27,605 Chevrolet cars and trucks. And the list is growing every day.

The reason for this preference lies in the unexcelled economy of Chevrolet cars and trucks, as proved by official cost records. These records show that 20 miles to the gallon is a common occurrence among Chevrolet cars. That oil expense is practically negligible. That Chevrolet cars and trucks require only a minimum of service attention. That they give satisfactory low-cost service over exceptionally long periods of time.

Naturally, an automobile with such a fine record of economy represents an extremely wise investment for any buyer! Especially so, when you consider the many advantages that Chevrolet offers above and beyond economy. Come in and learn what these advantages are —what they mean in terms of style, comfort, safety, reliability and value.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

TEN TEAMS MAKE UP TWI-LEAGUE CIRCUIT

The Newton Amateur Twilight league will be made of ten teams this coming season which is expected to get under way next week. League officials are working on a schedule which will be announced shortly. The ten teams in the circuit are Upper Falls, Auburndale, Silver Lake A. C. of Nonantum, Newton Highlands, Webster A. C. of West Newton, Lower Falls, Newton Town Team, Newton Y. M. C. A. and the Nonantum A. A. An enthusiastic meeting of representatives of these teams was held Tuesday evening at the Newton Centre playground house and plans for the season discussed. The next meeting of the league will be held next Monday evening at eight o'clock at the same place.

SPORT NOTES

Yale Wins Two

Yale won from Cornell, 7 to 5, last Saturday and from Syracuse, 5 to 3, on Wednesday between the two local youths in the line-up, Alie Fletcher at second, and Edgar Warren at shortstop, having a prominent part. Fletcher made two hits out of three, one a double, and Warren two out of four against Cornell. Fletcher also scored two runs. In the Syracuse game Warren got but one out of four and Fletcher went hitless in three attempts. Warren stole two bases and his single drove in one run. Fletcher tallied once.

Spain Gets Two Two-baggers

The Dartmouth freshman nine suffered its first defeat of the season last Saturday with Andover academy putting over one tally in the ninth, breaking a deadlock and winning 6 to 5. Frank Spain, Dartmouth yearling shortstop and ex-Newton and Exeter academy star athlete, collected two two-base hits in three times at bat. He scored two of the Green's runs and also made one sacrifice hit.

After Mason had fanned to open the second Appleyard singled to left and stole second but was stranded when Rhodes grounded to short and Hildreth fanned. With one down Huston again slipped up on Rogan's rap but Antonellis gathered in Rappoll's fly and Lynch fanned.

Newton went down in order in the third and Somerville scored twice to take the lead. Jeremiah led off with a single to centre. Vitello sacrificed him to second and a passed ball by Hildreth put him on third. Mahan drew his second walk and Chesterfield smacked one down the left field foul line for three bases, scoring the two baserunners. MacNamara drove down to fan MacNamara for the third out.

Newton scored once in the fourth. Colby drew a pass and took second when Lynch threw wild trying to catch him off first. Butler fanned and Mason hit to Lynch with Colby taking third on the out at first. Appleyard rapped one at Vitello which was too hot to handle, Colby scoring and Appleyard reaching first. The Newton third sacker was forced by Rhodes. After Rogan had been tossed out by Appleyard and Huston had slipped up on Rappoll's grounder fast double play started by Giles on Lynch's rap stayed off trouble.

Hildreth and Giles both fanned to open Newton's fifth. Antonellis fanned but reached first as the third strike was a wild pitch. He stole second but was tagged on the baseline by Vitello on Huston's rap. Giles turned Somerville back in order on grounders to Huston, Mason and one to himself.

With two down in the sixth Lynch walked both Mason and Appleyard but both were stranded when Rhodes fanned. Somerville scored its third tally in its half. Chesterfield was safe when Appleyard fumbled his ground. MacNamara hit to left field and Colby did not quite reach it for the putout. Chesterfield scored and MacNamara got a two-base hit. Davis sacrificed but Rogan fanned and Rappoll fanned to Antonellis.

In the seventh Newton threatened to tie the score. After Hildreth had grounded to second Lynn hit Giles. Antonellis forced the Newton pitcher at second and with Huston at bat preferred the second sack. Huston came through with the single to score. Antonellis and took second himself off the throw to the plate. Colby popped out to Davis to end the rally and in the remaining two innings Newton never had a chance, going down in order. Somerville also was set back in the last two frames without a man reaching first. Antonellis contributing two sparkling catches in centrefield to rob Jeremiah and Vitello of bids for hits in the eighth.

One Big Inning Enough

The orange and black knocked Brookline out of a first place league tie Monday afternoon with its one big inning. Rhodes was on the mound for Newton to chalk up his second league victory in as many starts. His teammates got him into trouble several times but the six hits off his delivery were sufficiently scattered to produce few tallies. In the first five frames Newton had ten men left on bases as Gleason was having continual trouble in locating the plate. Several errors got him in deeper hot water and it seemed as though Coach Fitzgerald was tempting fate in leaving him in the box. In the eighth with the bases full, two runs in and two out he gave way to Madden but the latter saw three runs cross the plate while pitching to Mullen as his catcher dropped two balls and Madden himself uncorked one wild pitch. Coach Sullivan used practically the same line-up as at Somerville with Rhodes in the box, Mullen in left and Colby in right.

Kaplan opened the game working a pass from Rhodes. Quinn fanned and Ainsworth fanned to Mullen for the first two outs. Kaplan singled over second base to put Kaplan on third where he was left when Jamieson skied to Colby. Newton put over a run in its half after both Antonellis and Huston fanned. Colby singled to right, stole second, moved to third as Gleason almost threw his arm out while passing both Butler and Mason to fill the sacks and scoring on a wild pitch to Appleyard. Appleyard fanned to leave Butler and Mason stranded.

Rhodes turned the visitors back in order in the second. In Newton's half Mullen beat out an infield rap and took second on a wild pitch by Gleason. Hildreth drew a pass and Ainsworth took the runner along but both Antonellis and Huston fanned, each for the second time in two innings.

Brookline tied it in the third. With one down Kaplan singled to left, Quinn popped out to Butler. Ainsworth hit to left and Mullen booted the ball to let Kaplan score and Ainsworth take third. Madden missed the ball on an attempted squeeze and Hildreth tagged Ainsworth for the third out. In the last of the frame Newton took the lead again with a two run rally. Colby drew a pass but was nipped off by Gleason. Butler was safe when Leventhal, Brookline's third sacker, threw wild to let the Newton first sacker move to second. Appleyard belted a double to left to score Butler and scored himself on Mullen's clean single to left centre. Mullen stole second but was stranded when Hildreth grounded to Leventhal for the third out.

In the fourth the visitors threatened to tie it up again. With one down Jamieson singled to centre and stole second. Daley flied to Mullen. A most unusual play then occurred. With the count three and two on Leventhal Jamieson tried to steal third. Rhodes pitch was a ball, giving the batter a walk but he never took a step as Hildreth's peg to Appleyard caught Jamieson trying to steal third, making the third out. Newton filled the sacks again in the last of the fourth but failed to score. Rhodes took second on Kaplan's wild peg of his grounder. Antonellis fanned and was safe at third as Leventhal dropped Jamieson's throw. Huston beat out a hit to Leventhal. Colby fanned and Butler got hit by one of Gleason's fast ones to fill the bases. Mason hit to Kaplan at short who touched second forcing Butler.

The Wealthy Towners scored once in the fifth with the tying run being held at second. Mason miscued on Cahill's rap and Hildreth threw to centrefield to catch Cahill stealing.

He moved to third on the error and scored on Kaplan's squeeze bunt after Gleason had fanned. Appleyard bunted Kaplan's bunt and he was safe at first. Quinn forced him at second and a moment later stole but was left when Mason threw out Ainsworth. A double play ruined Newton's chances in the last of the fifth but failed to score. Rhodes took second on Kaplan's wild peg of his grounder. Antonellis fanned and was safe at third while Mullen was fanning by Hildreth. Hildreth drew a pass and stole second but was tagged on the baseline by Vitello on Huston's rap. Giles turned Somerville back in order on grounders to Huston, Mason and one to himself.

With two down in the sixth Lynch walked both Mason and Appleyard but both were stranded when Rhodes fanned. Somerville scored its third tally in its half. Chesterfield was safe when Appleyard fumbled his ground. MacNamara hit to left field and Colby did not quite reach it for the putout. Chesterfield scored and MacNamara got a two-base hit. Davis sacrificed but Rogan fanned and Rappoll fanned to Antonellis.

In the seventh Newton threatened to tie the score. After Hildreth had grounded to second Lynn hit Giles. Antonellis forced the Newton pitcher at second and with Huston at bat preferred the second sack. Huston came through with the single to score. Antonellis and took second himself off the throw to the plate. Colby popped out to Davis to end the rally and in the remaining two innings Newton never had a chance, going down in order.

The visitors would have had an easy triple play as Hildreth was almost home. On the other hand had Antonellis laid down a fair bunt two runs would have scored as Hildreth had played it perfectly.

The visitors were out in order in the sixth while Newton tallied once to set the score at four to two. Huston fouled to Leventhal for the first out. Colby singled to left, stole second, moved to third when Gleason fanned to catch him napping and threw to centrefield. Ainsworth retrieved the ball and his throw went through Leventhal to the grandstand to let Colby score. Butler and Mason fanned.

Coach Houghton's Team Sets Record

Coach Don Houghton's baseball team at Weston high set some kind of a record Tuesday in its game with Beacon school of Wellesley. Going into the eleventh inning with the score tied at 10 all the Waban man's squad ran riot to score 20 runs, fifteen coming after two were out, to break up the game and win by 30 to 10.

Country Day Net Team Wins

The Country Day school ten team went up a 3 to 2 win over the Middlesex school Wednesday at the Concord courts. The Newton private school won both doubles matches and one of the three singles to snatch the victory. Angier was the local singles winner and then team with Smith to win at doubles, Donovan and Hill won at doubles but each lost their singles matches.

Hall Ties in Mile

The M. I. T. freshman track team defeated the Northeastern cubs Wednesday afternoon at Tech field, 91 to 35. Charlie Hall, ex-Newton high captain, and his teammate Bob Mann, tied for Tech in the mile run. Hall also took second in the 880-yard run.

Recent Weddings

BALDWIN—WOOD

Among the pretty spring weddings was that which took place last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, May 16, at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark V. Wood at West Brookfield when their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Wood, became the bride of Mr. Frank Moffett Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stevens Baldwin of 19 Burnham road, West Newton. Reverend Claude Allen McKay, pastor of Faith Congregational Church of Springfield, Mass., performed the ceremony, using the single ring service. A stringed trio played the wedding march and furnished the music.

Miss Rosemary Hunt of Springfield was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Margaret McGaw of Springfield and Miss Elizabeth Baldwin of West Newton, sister of the bride. Mr. H. Elwood, Alderman of Springfield served Mr. Baldwin as best man while the ushers were Mr. Frank Elliot Wood of Newton and Mr. Clark Vernon Wood, Jr., of Hartford, Conn., brothers of the bride.

The bride wore a cream satin gown trimmed with Alencon lace, with tulle and Alencon lace veil and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The maid of honor wore a pale green lace gown with darker green velvet sash, with lace hat in harmony and carried a bouquet of talisman roses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of peach-colored lace, trimmed with brown velvet, with lace hats in harmony and carried bouquets of Johann Hill roses and blue lace flowers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. In the receiving line with the bridal party were Mr. and Mrs. Wood, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin, parents of the groom. The bride's mother wore a French blue chiffon gown, trimmed with ecru Alencon lace, with corsage of sweethearts roses and pink sweet peas. The house was charmingly decorated with southern smilax and spring flowers.

Following the wedding the bride and groom left for an unannounced trip, after which they will make their home in Newton. The bride's traveling gown was of skipper blue with galayak collar with matching accessories. Guests were present from Boston, West Newton, Plymouth, Hartford, New Haven, New York, Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, Columbus, Ohio, Portland, Maine, and many from Springfield. Mrs. Baldwin is a graduate of the Senior Class at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, played "The Second Sonata" by Grieg, arranged for the violin and piano, at the Chapel service, May 16.

The one-act play, "Patsy," was presented by the Dramatic Club on Wednesday evening at Bragdon Hall.

The May Breakfast of the Lasell Missionary Society was at 7:30, the morning of May 21. The same afternoon, the Home Economics Seniors were the hostesses at a tea in Blairstown, the Practice House.

Mr. Wilbert D. Jones, Importer, gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on "Oriental Rugs" Thursday evening. Mr. Jones showed many beautiful rugs to illustrate his talk.

The annual May Fete will be held in Bradion Campus on Saturday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. The May Queen chosen by the vote of the student body as the "most beautiful and best loved" will be crowned by the President of the Senior Class. The Dance Club will give a series of group dances at the green.

MARSTON-HALL

Miss Adaline Louise Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe V. Hall of 219 Auburn street, Auburndale, was married to Robert Addison Marston of New Gloucester, Maine, on Thursday, May fourteenth at four in the afternoon at the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale. Rev. Percival M. Wood performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Ruth M. Hutchinson of Auburndale as maid of honor, by her sister, Miss Elizabeth E. Hall of Auburndale and Miss Marjorie Marston, sister of the groom, of New Gloucester, Maine, as bridesmaids. Little Lois Lowry of Auburndale was the flower girl and Master Ross Edward Hall, nephew of the bride of Lexington, was the ring bearer. Millard F. Marston, brother of the groom of New Gloucester, Maine, was the best man and the ushers were Charles J. Knapp and Sewell O. Merrill, both of Watertown, George Davenport of Brighton and Edward Doucet of Newtonville.

The gown worn by the bride was of white satin with a train and her veil was of tulle. The maid of honor wore beige color embroidered lace over Dresden taffeta and the bridesmaids wore flowered chiffon, one in green and the other in pink, with matching hats of tulle.

A reception was held in the parish hall immediately following the ceremony at which the couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Hall.

The wedding music was played by Raymond Stiles, the church organist. Mr. and Mrs. Marston will reside in New Gloucester, Maine.

Recent Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Luther Felton of 219 Chestnut street, have announced the engagement of their only daughter, Miss Ann Felton, to Mr. Francis Alden Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McGelch Martin of 989 Memorial Drive, Cambridge. The announcement was made at a small dinner. Miss Felton attended the Beaver Country Day School and is one of this season's debutantes. She has recently returned from a season abroad. Mr. Martin is a graduate of the Belmont High School and belongs to the class of 1932 at Harvard. He is a member of the Varsity and Speakers Clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred S. Tufts of 256 Highland street, West Newton have announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Eleanor Tufts, to John Salem Lockwood of Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lockwood, of Shanghai, China. Miss Tufts graduated from the Lee School in 1928 and is now attending Smith College. Mr. Lockwood is a member of the graduating class of Harvard Medical School and an alumnus of DePauw University.

Mrs. Joseph H. Shortell of 34 Cottontree street, Newton, announces the engagement of her sister, Miss Kathleen L. Doherty, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Doherty of 104 Austin street, Newtonville, to Mr. John J. McDonald of Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip McDonald of Sidney, N. S.

Dad's Club

The Dad's Club of the Newton Y. M. C. A. met for luncheon on May 19th to make plans for the coming year. Mr. Carl C. Mullin is President; Mr. Philip Clapp, Vice-President; Mr. Leon Smith, Secretary; Dr. Robert R. Rich, Treasurer. They have arranged for a meeting on June 8th at the "Y" to which all the dads of the 1931 campers have been invited. It is expected that the dads will do something worthwhile for Camp Day this season. The enrollment for this summer is practically completed. There is at the present time room for one or two more boys.

Free Swimming Campaign

Two hundred thirty-four boys registered for the Free Swimming Lessons which are being given this week at the Newton "Y." They have been divided into ten classes, coming every 20 minutes during the afternoon. Jack Manning the instructor, has been kept very busy. It is expected that by the time the campaign closes that more than half of these boys will have learned to swim.

Baseball

The Senior Baseball Team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. opened its season last Saturday afternoon by defeating the Methodist Church team of Watertown, 11 to 2, at the "Y." Walsh, starting pitcher for the Methodists was hit for eight runs in the second inning, one in the third, and two in the fourth. In the sixth inning Jackson was put in for Walsh and he finished the game. Horace White, captain and center fielder for the "Y" led the hitting with four singles and a double out of five bats at bat. The "Y" line-up was: White, cf; Gray, 2b; A. Shaw, 1b; Gallagher, lf; McLean, lf; L. Shaw, ss; Joyce, rf; Nixon, p; Larkin, 3b; Hokanson, p, rf. Next Saturday the "Y" is scheduled to play the strong Waltham City Club team at the "Y."

LASELL SEMINARY

On Monday afternoon, Principal and Mrs. Winslow entertained the Lasell Faculty at tea at "Driftway," the Winslow summer home at Hull.

Mr. Harold Schwab of the Lasell Music Department, assisted by Mr. Paul Baugus, the President of the Senior Class at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, played "The Second Sonata" by Grieg, arranged for the violin and piano, at the Chapel service, May 16.

The one-act play, "Patsy," was presented by the Dramatic Club on Wednesday evening at Bragdon Hall.

The gown worn by the bride was of white satin with a train and her veil was of tulle. The maid of honor wore beige color embroidered lace over Dresden taffeta and the bridesmaids wore flowered chiffon, one in green and the other in pink, with matching hats of tulle.

A reception was held in the parish hall immediately following the ceremony at which the couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Hall.

The wedding music was played by Raymond Stiles, the church organist. Mr. and Mrs. Marston will reside in New Gloucester, Maine.

beautification, recreation, minerals, fertilizers, leader-training groups, regional and town planning, flower shows, plant exchanges, nature trails, flower hampers, saving of trees, nature in schools, and seed scattering, seem to have held the attention of study groups.

A tree was planted Tuesday afternoon at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, in honor of the George Washington Bicentennial. This tree came as a gift from the Cherry Hill Nurseries, of West Newbury.

Mrs. Carl W. Illig, Jr., chairman of the Division of Public Health, reported real progress made in awakening interest in health education, under the slogan for the year's program "Make Good Health Popular." This program was classified as follows: 1 Health Institutes; 2 Community Health Studies; 3 Periodic Health Examinations; and 4 Adult Health Classes.

Health Institutes were held for Clubs of eleven of the fifteen Districts in the State, representing 298 Clubs. Increasing enthusiasm was manifested among Clubs in Community Health Studies, the outstanding one being the Barnstable County Survey, made possible through the co-operation of twelve Clubs on Cape Cod.

There was very active campaigning throughout the State urging Club-women to have complete Periodic Health Examinations, and the Division plans to have a uniform health examination blank available for all Club-women.

Adult Health Classes have been organized by Clubs all over the State—a new feature of this year's program. Classes have been open to all women in the communities. Local physicians and nurses have co-operated.

There was a broadcast on "Healthward-Ho" from Station WBZ.

Among the varied public health activities carried on by Clubs, were sale of Tuberculosis seals; donations to hospitals; Child Health Day programs; adult health classes; health surveys; baby clinics; tonsil clinics; summer round-up; rest rooms provided in schools; volunteer Service—Red Cross; milk for undernourished school children; dental clinics; health camps; surveys of pre-school children; recreation-playgrounds; support of public health bills; co-operation with District Nurse Associations; one Club owns and maintains a Massachusetts Women's Hospital; and one Club provides first aid service in the State House.

Wednesday afternoon was a gala occasion in a wonderful tribute to Mrs. Poole, now first vice-president of the General Federation, and unopposed candidate for the presidency of that organization in 1932. In this official capacity she was guest of honor at the State Annual Meeting, although perhaps this was not generally realized until she appeared on the platform Wednesday to give her address on "Our Treasure Chests." To most Club-women the thought of Mrs. Poole was as a former president of the State Federation that they paid her homage, but the Victory Campaign session which followed the Wednesday afternoon meeting made evident to all how great a woman Mrs. Poole personally is attaining, and also bestowing on the State of Massachusetts from the national place she has won.

(Editor's Note: Reports upon topics presented at the Annual Meeting and high lights of speeches will be given next week.)

PARAMOUNT THEATRE, NEWTON

Just two years ago the Public Theatre opened the Paramount Theatre in Newton Corner with a policy of aiming to please its patrons with the best possible programs obtainable. For the Second Anniversary Week a special program has been arranged. For the first half of the week "Dracula" and "Dishonored" will be co-featured. The famous Hungarian actor, Bela Lugosi starred in the strange stage play "Dracula" which ran for many weeks on the Boston stage and is now appearing in the talkie version with the added experience of this emotional role. Marlene Dietrich and Victor McLaglen are the stars of "Dishonored" supported by a flawless cast in an absorbing story.

For the last half of the week "Skippy" of the newspaper comic strip will come to life. The story of this real boy is one that every father and mother will want to bring their children to see. On the same program will be "June Moon" starring Jack Oakie. On account of Saturday being a holiday there will be a special morning show for children at ten o'clock and an all-day continuous run.

"SAVE YOU MONEY"

Used Car Value

Many times the man who wants a good car to take the family out in, finds just what he wants in a good used car for around $600 to $800, saving big difference over the new car price.

Then again there's a good one for as little as $300 up to $500 that is a most sensible buy for that man of moderate means who doesn't want to disturb his savings, but who wants an inexpensive car to go back and forth to his work, or to give his family an evening spin or week-end outing.

We have both kinds, want to satisfy you, and think we can "save you money."

The Circus and the Stage

Attractive places, the circus and the stage. You learn from them a lot of things, and all knowledge is valuable, or should be made so. I found out that in spite of the success of the indoor performances circus folks are partial to the "big top". They are more used to the outdoors, I suppose. However, it is no disparagement to the indoor facilities, for business was never better than this year. But let us get off of the commercial side and go behind the scenes. You see the great stable of horses. Who doesn't admire them. All kinds, draft horses and show horses. I was lost in admiration of both when a friend of mine prominently connected with the show, a real old-time circus man, asked, "Do you know anything about horses?"

"Only that I admire and am fond of them," I replied.

"Have you noticed that we do not have the kind of horses that are ordinarily owned on the New England farms?" he went on.

"Of course you have more wonderful—", I started to reply.

"That's not it," he interrupted. "I just wanted you to know that the horse that draws the plow and the hay-rack is a home-loving animal and for the reason is not good for a circus life. He may be as strong and willing, but he has not the spirit of a rover. He wants the same shelter and the same bed every night. We have to have horses with an Arabian strain for the circus—horses who don't mind travel, who are gypsies at heart. It took a long time to find that out, but nevertheless it is true. The horse whose ancestors came from Asia understands circus life, but the home-country breed somehow fails to get used to it."

And some people say that horses have no intelligence.

And now for a story of the stage. The great David Belasco has passed on. He was a great man in his profession, as many have said in writing of his achievements. All agree on his exacting demands for realism; his eagerness for an appropriate setting beyond all question. In addition to these remarkable qualities he was temperamental. From one of the most accomplished and charming actresses who ever appeared under his direction I have this: a setting had been arranged for a play, with particular emphasis placed upon the painting of the set and also the designing of the furniture. However, despite the conscientious endeavors of the painters and designers Mr. Belasco was not satisfied. In fact, he was angry, with whom it is not known. Walking over to the wings he took a fire-ax from the emergency kit on the wall and proceeded to smash holes in the canvas and chop chunks from the furniture. It didn't take long to perform irreparable damage. "I've left the piano," said Mr. Belasco, "we may need that."

"Only that I admire and am fond of them," I replied.

"Have you noticed that we do not have the kind of horses that are ordinarily owned on the New England farms?" he went on.

All agree on his exacting demands for realism; his eagerness for an appropriate setting beyond all question. In addition to these remarkable qualities he was temperamental. From one of the most accomplished and charming actresses who ever appeared under his direction I have this: a setting had been arranged for a play, with particular emphasis placed upon the painting of the set and also the designing of the furniture. However, despite the conscientious endeavors of the painters and designers Mr. Belasco was not satisfied. In fact, he was angry, with whom it is not known. Walking over to the wings he took a fire-ax from the emergency kit on the wall and proceeded to smash holes in the canvas and chop chunks from the furniture. It didn't take long to perform irreparable damage. "I've left the piano," said Mr. Belasco, "we may need that."

"Only that I admire and am fond of them," I replied.

"Have you noticed that we do not have the kind of horses that are ordinarily owned on the New England farms?" he went on.

"Of course you have more wonderful—", I started to reply.

"That's not it," he interrupted. "I just wanted you to know that the horse that draws the plow and the hay-rack is a home-loving animal and for the reason is not good for a circus life. He may be as strong and willing, but he has not the spirit of a rover. He wants the same shelter and the same bed every night. We have to have horses with an Arabian strain for the circus—horses who don't mind travel, who are gypsies at heart. It took a long time to find that out, but nevertheless it is true. The horse whose ancestors came from Asia understands circus life, but the home-country breed somehow fails to get used to it."

And some people say that horses have no intelligence.

And now for a story of the stage. The great David Belasco has passed on. He was a great man in his profession, as many have said in writing of his achievements. Melcher, Andrew J. Ford, and Cecil C. Chadwick.

School bands have been organized in Western States for many years but it is only during the past four or five years that they have been instituted in schools in the East. In that time they have proved their worth and provide a valuable adjunct to regular school work.

NURSES TO GRADUATE

The graduation exercises of the Newton Hospital Training School of the Class of 1931 will be held on Thursday afternoon, June 4th, at four o'clock.

Stores To Close Wednesdays at Noon

Beginning June 3rd many of the stores in the various business sections of Newton will close at noon time on Wednesdays during the months of June, July and August except in weeks during which a holiday is celebrated.

Levi Warren Jr., High Band Gives Exhibition

School Musicians Display Large Amount of Talent

Tuesday morning, May 19, the band of the Levi Warren Junior High school at West Newton marched from the school to City Hall where it was reviewed by Acting Mayor Roy Collins who also listened to a short program of selections by the combined band and drum corps. Business was suspended in City Hall while the juvenile musicians performed and the department heads and clerks gathered in front of the building to enjoy the concert. Principal Paul C. Scarborough of the school was present. The enthusiasm he takes in this fine organization is responsible to an appreciable degree for its success.

The band is comprised of 103 playing musicians and the drum corps has 62 drummers and buglers. The Levi Warren junior high school band was organized in 1927 and first appeared in competition in 1928 when it won first prize in its class at the State contest held at Boston. It also won first prize in its class at the New England finale held at Boston. In 1929 it repeated, again winning first prizes in its class at Newtonville in the final competition among Massachusetts and New England school bands. Last year at Waltham it was awarded second prize in its class among Massachusetts bands but it had to compete against the band of the Greenfield Senior High School. In the New England finals last year it took third prize, due to the fact that the band of the Greenfield High School and a Maine High School band comprised of older boys were placed in the class in which it competed.

The man responsible for the remarkable progress made by the Warren School band is Charles R. Spaulding, who also instructs the band at Newton High School. The club adviser of the band is Charles R. Tower, a teacher at the school. Only about 12 per cent of the children playing in the band and drum corps take private lessons.

The remainder play once a week under the instruction of Mr. Spaulding who is assisted in the work by James Hawkes of the People's Symphony Orchestra, who teaches the drummers in the drum corps and by Mr. Ferry who instructs the buglers in the drum corps, which is a new unit.

In addition to pupils of the Warren Junior high, members of the band include pupils from the Angier, Burr, Pierce, Davis and Williams Grade schools. The players range in age from 9 to 15 years. They pay for their uniforms which consist of red jerseys, white trousers, or skirts, and middy caps. The children, or their parents, also provide their own instruments, with the exception of the costly Souphophone and a few other instruments, not over 6 in number.

The drum majors of the band and drum corps are girls: Phyllis Wheeler is the head drum-major, Ruth Dulley is the assistant head drum-major and the assistant drum majors are Wilma Hooper and Dorothy Brackett. Auxiliary members of the band include two boys who pull the bass drums on carriages, two boys who have the heavy task of carrying the big banner, and three messengers. The practice session of the band each week is in a club period and thus does not take any time from regular school periods.

School bands have been organized in Western States for many years but it is only during the past four or five years that they have been instituted in schools in the East. In that time they have proved their worth and provide a valuable adjunct to regular school work.

First Public Event Under New Regime

New Chapter in History of Theological School Opens

A new chapter in the history of two of the oldest theological schools in the country, will be inaugurated at the Baccalaureate service of the Andover Newton Theological School on Sunday afternoon, May 31, at 4:00 p.m. at the First Baptist Meeting House, Newton Centre, Mass.

The baccalaureate will be preceded by an academic procession from Colby Hall on "Institution Hill" down to the Baptist Church. President Everett C. Herrick will preach the baccalaureate sermon and there will be an address by the Rev. F. H. Page, D.D., president of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and President of the Andover Board of Trustees.

This service will mark the first public event under the new regime. The final affiliation of these two historic institutions was consummated by a decree of the Supreme Court on April 10, 1931. The Newton Theological Institution is the oldest Baptist Seminary in America, organized in 1826 and Andover Theological Seminary, founded in 1807, one of the oldest seminaries of any denomination.

From now on the two schools will carry on their work together under the name of Andover Newton Theological School. The affiliation marks an adventure in co-operation between two denominations and promises to mark a new epoch in Protestant theological education in America.

Under the new arrangement, Andover retains Andover Hall at Harvard now used by the Harvard Theological School. There provision will be made for students of Andover Newton who are desirous of doing graduate work at Harvard.

Ever since 1925, when the Supreme Court strong ties before the affiliation, Andover Seminary has been inoperative. It was believed that the interpretation which the court placed on the famous Andover Creed made it impossible to continue. The recent court decree has made lateral subscription to the Creed unnecessary.

Notable alumni of the two schools former strong ties before the affiliation was consummated. The Rev. Samuel F. Smith, author of "America" was graduated from Andover and while pastor of the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre, wrote the hymn for the fiftieth anniversary of Newton in 1876. Francis Wayland, noted president of Brown University, and Andover man, was first secretary of the Newton Board of Trustees. Dr. Ira Chase, a graduate of Andover was the first teacher at Newton, the founder of its theological curriculum.

The influence of the two schools cannot be measured. More than a hundred years ago, the Andover branch went Westward and established frontier churches and colleges. Grennell and Yankton are among such institutions. Missionaries have gone out from the two schools to all parts of the world.

Sunday's exercises will start a week of Commencement events. Tuesday, June 2 is Alumni Day. The Rev. Allen Hoben class of 1898, President of Kalamazoo College will speak in Chapel at 4:00 p.m. on "The Protestant Outlook." There will be an Alumni dinner in the Recreation Building at 5:30 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. the Rev. Raymond L. Calkins, D.D., of the First Church, Cambridge will speak.

Commencement exercises will be held at the Baptist Church at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, June 3. Dr. Charles N. Armbuckle will address the class. Judge Fred T. Field, president of the Board of Trustees will preside at the Trustee's luncheon at the Newton Centre Woman's Club following the exercises. At 4:00 p.m. President Herrick will entertain the visiting guests at a reception at the home of the President.

Feature Program To Be Presented at Pops

Newton's Pageant Anniversary

The "Community Pops"—to be presented in the natural amphitheatre on the evenings of June 9th and 10th, will feature a musical program, ideally suited for outdoor presentations, according to announcement made by D. Ralph Maclean, conductor of the Newton Symphony Orchestra.

It is arranged not only for music lovers but also for those who just want to spend an enjoyable evening out of doors seated around refreshment tables on the green lawns. The event will be Newton's first Pop Concert out of doors and interest in this early summer entertainment is being shown in all villages of the city. The Newton Symphony Orchestra, under Mr. Maclean's leadership, is attaining well merited prominence and the services of this orchestra have been greatly in demand in the Metropolitan area.

Fifty male voices, all of them well trained, comprise the Highland Glee Club which will also be a "Pops" concert feature. Many of Newton's most prominent citizens are members of this well-known musical organization and the numbers they have selected to present help to give proper proportion and balance to the whole entertainment.

Reservations for seats at tables are now being made through Rupert C. Thompson, Jr., at the Newtonville branch of the Newton Trust Company, and within a few days the advance sale of tickets will take place at all of the branches of the Newton Trust Company. There will be a limited number of tickets for chairs at refreshment tables and having in mind the disappointment of many persons on the final evening of last year's pageant, Mr. Thompson urges early ticket reservations.

The programs, announced by the Civic Arts Association, Inc., of Newton, which is presenting the "Pops" concert, follows:

Alumni Reunion And Outdoor Festival

Combined Musical Organizations to Give Annual Concert

The Newton High Alumni Association will attend the High School Music Festival in a reserved section as a feature of their reunion Friday evening, June 5. After a social get-together and buffet supper in the Old Drill Hall, the Association will adjourn to the Quadrangle where 700 high school musicians, made up of members of the orchestra, band, combined choruses, and varsity glee club, will gather for the annual Outdoor Concert.

The Varsity Glee Club, under the direction of Charles B. Harrington, appearing for the first time at a spring concert, will sing "The Chambered Nautilus." Other specialties which have been arranged include an intermezzo, "Eventide," composed by Charles R. Spaulding, director of the band and orchestra, which will be played by the trumpet section of the band, and a euphonium solo, by John Richardson '31.

The program and music arrangements are under the supervision of Mr. Spaulding, director of instrumental music in the Newton Schools, Edward N. Griffin, supervisor of music in the Newton Schools and director of the chorus, and Mr. Harrington, director of the varsity glee club. Forrest L. Paige is the faculty manager, and Robert Lawrence, the student manager of the band, and in charge of the arrangements of the music festival.

ROTARY CLUB

Dr. J. W. Brougher, pastor of Tremont Temple, Boston, and a former member of a Rotary Club in California, gave a very practical and witty talk before the Newton Rotary Club on Monday. The ideals of Rotary, said the speaker, are like those of Christianity and Rotarians must apply them daily to live worthwhile and successful lives. The address was replete with humorous anecdotes which forcibly drove home the message of Dr. Brougher.

Three deacons of Tremont Temple, Messrs. Lane, Greer, and Rhodes, as well as a number of out-of-town Rotarians, attended the meeting.

During recess between luncheon and the speaking, members and guests were thrilled by the array of army planes as they flew over Newton. The Woodland Golf Club afforded an unusually favorable view of the machines from the time they first appeared as small specks coming out of the mist of Weston.

WESLEY BIBLE CLASS HOLD LADIES' NIGHT

The Men's Wesley Bible Class of the M. E. Church held their annual ladies' night in the Parish Hall of the church recently. Dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. at the close of which the following program was given. Selections by the Adult Orchestra, Mr. Fritz Graf, Mr. George Graf, Mr. Smith; Miss Barbara Newey, Miss Dorothy Hartshorn, G. Vaughan Shedd, Jr., violinists, and Miss Elsie Nichols, pianist. Invocation was given by Rev. Frank T. Pomeroy, community singing was led by Mr. W. Willard. Mr. Lester H. Hilton, president of the class, extended words of welcome and read a letter of greeting from their leader, Mr. H. E. Locke, who was in Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. A. P. Hartshorn, Superintendent of the Church Bible School responded to the toast, "The Influence of the Men's Class from the standpoint of the Church School." Mr. Oscar E. Nutt, responded from the standpoint of the church. Rev. G. Vaughan Shedd responded from the standpoint of the Pastor.

Dr. David L. Martin of Boston, Founder of the American Bible Class Movement for men which includes 80 odd chapters located in America, the Philippine Isles, and Nova Scotia gave the address of the evening.

LYDIA PARTRIDGE WHITING CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The annual meeting and picnic of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the home of Miss Harriet M. Ward, Newton Highlands, on Tuesday, May 26. Assisting Miss Ward in entertaining were Mrs. Frank

A. Shute, Mrs. James K. Hemphill, Miss Madeline Foster, Miss Marion B. Brown, Miss Anna Thompson, Mrs. Walter F. Stevens, Mrs. Arthur G. Sawyer and Mrs. Frank A. Dodge. At twelve-thirty the members met in the solarium for a basket lunch, the hostesses serving ice cream and coffee.

Following this informal social hour, the business meeting was called to order by the regent, Mrs. Chester W. Tidbury. Reports of officers and committee chairmen for the past year show the chapter to be growing in numbers and keenly active in all lines of endeavor. The spirit of friendly cooperation in the ranks and among the executive officers is a marked characteristic of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter.

With Miss Marion Door and Mrs. C. Warren Dillaway acting as tellers, the following ballot was elected for the year 1931-1932: regent, Mrs. Albion H. Brown; vice regent, Mrs. Frank A. Shute; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Beane; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard A. Cody; treasurer, Mrs. Myron L. Cudworth; registrar, Mrs. Frank D. Warren; historian, Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson; curator, Mrs. William J. Blackwell; chaplain, Mrs. William K. Crosby; auditor, Miss Marion Dorr; directors, Miss Annie S. Head, Mrs. Stephen A. Smith and Mrs. Harris W. Langley; nominating committee, Mrs. William M. Brown, chairman, Miss Edith M. McCann, Miss Fannie Hall, Miss Anna Thompson and Mrs. Henry H. Wardwell.

The oath of office was impressively administered by the retiring regent, Mrs. Chester W. Tidbury, and the newly elected regent, Mrs. Albion H. Brown was presented with the jewel. The ex-regent's pin was presented to Mrs. Tidbury by Mrs. Brown on behalf of the chapter.

The first new business was the appointment of delegates and alternates to attend the Fall State Conference in Worcester on October 8 and 9. The delegates are Mrs. Frank A. Shute, Mrs. Richard A. Cody and Mrs. William J. Blackwell; alternates, Mrs. Raymond W. Kent, Miss Harriet M. Ward, Miss Annie S. Head, Mrs. C. Warren Dillaway, Mrs. Loren F. Fletcher, Miss Adelaide R. Webster, Miss Madeline Foster, Miss Emily Fanning, Mrs. Charles E. Beane and Miss Katharine George.

Mrs. Tidbury extended a cordial invitation to all members of the chapter to a luncheon on June 23 at her summer home in Rockport in honor of Miss Annie S. Head and Mrs. William K. Crosby.

MORRIS BIBLE CLASS HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Frances M. Morris Bible Class of the First M. E. Church held their annual meeting at the home of their leader, Mrs. O. E. Nutter of Boylston street, Upper Falls. ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

We were one of the million, or more, who travelled to Dorchester Bay last Monday noon to witness the great air armada. It was a wonderful show. The pilots of the 9 bombers, 12 combat planes and 18 pursuit planes who maneuvered these airships for over 30 minutes previous to the arrival of the gigantic air fleet, certainly knew their stuff. Flying in intricate formations, with the wings of planes seemingly but 25 feet distant from one another, it was no time or place for other than expert aviators. The gigantic parade of hundreds of army planes was a sight never to be forgotten. It brought back in striking contrast the first air meet we witnessed 21 years ago just a couple of miles distant at Quantum, when a few airplanes, crude in comparison with present day airships, gave the then assembled crowds a big thrill.

Being a cautious, timid individual, we planned on keeping a safe distance from the maneuvering planes, so in case of accident we would be safe. So, we parked our car on the Strandway, about a third of a mile from the Southern Artery, and about a mile away from where we supposed the display of attack flying would occur. Then we walked to the water edge of Dorchester Bay adjoining the ware house of the American Radiator Company to discover we had picked a "front row" position directly under where the gyrations of the 33 fighting and bombing planes were staged.

Apart from the exhibition given by the planes, and the "big parade," the thing which interested us most was the single mindedness, or power of concentration manifested by a clam-digger who was raking the mud on the flats 150 yards out from where we sat. For nearly three-quarters of an hour while 39 planes dived and whirled directly above him, this middle-aged individual disdained to look up at them. Even when the long line of 600 planes passed above him he did not stop raking the mud even for a fraction of a minute. The fellow was so intent on his labor that we hoped one of the planes would shower a bushel of clams on him to afford a plentiful harvest.

The planes made surprisingly little bother some noise. There was no stunt flying other than by the two planes which engaged in a "dog-fight" well out in the bay, and the only times the motors roared were when the 18 pursuit planes dove with open motors; and on these occasions the wide open space and the water underneath seemed to minimize the racket which one would ordinarily expect to hear. The aviation enthusiasts who boasted that Boston would hear the most terrible racket ever, when the air-show was announced a few months ago, can be blamed for causing the protests which followed. The exhibition of stunt flying over Chestnut Hill a year or two ago by a few fliers of the Marine Corps when the Quantico Marines played a ball game with Boston College produced much more nerve wracking noise than did the great fleet of planes over Dorchester Bay.

More evidence of the number of 222 law-makers "serving" in the Massachusetts Legislature is the serious consideration which is being given by them to the preposterous scheme which would allow private parties from outside this State to erect a bridge across Boston Harbor and Quiney Bay at an estimated cost of $25,000,000 with the people of Massachusetts standing the gaff. The enterprising promoters would be guaranteed against loss and would get rich cream, while the people of Massachusetts eventually might not even get skimmed milk, but perhaps would have "bitter medicine" to swallow. The wiser ones in the Legislature, the duces who "serve" with them and the astute gentlemen behind the scenes verily must believe that the citizens of this State are near morons. "God Save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

As one of the unfortunate autoists who must operate a car easily along Washington street between Newtonville and Newton Corner several times daily, we contend that the City of Newton should at least scantly and roll that section of Washington street between Adams street and Centre avenue which is in such intolerable condition that it is a rank injustice to compel autoists to travel over it. Apart from the discomfort endured by occupants of cars travelling over the bumpy street, cars are so shaken that those of them which are frequently driven over Washington street must be taken to repair shops often. Newton people driving automobiles have endured the condition on Washington street for a sufficient number of years not to be punished by its present terrible state for another year. It would not be a great expense to make temporary repairs on the third of a mile from Adams street easterly.

Residents of Newton and Greater Boston who have motored recently along Hammond street or Beacon street have been treated to a magnificent floral display on the grounds of Louis K. Liggett and Harry F. Stimpson. The azaleas, dwarf phlox and other shrubs and plants on these estates have provided a symphony of color worth travelling miles to see.

Lovers of flowers can feast their eyes on profusion of iris and peony blooms at the gardens of Thomas F. Donahue, Washington street, Newton Lower Falls. He has one of the best collections of these flowers in the country.

The rapid growth of this city has attracted so many outside builders here that some of them don't even know the names of the districts in which they have houses for sale. We have noticed advertisements in the newspapers describing dwellings for sale at Centre Newton and on Mount Ida near Newton Four Corners.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., will open the new garden corner Concord and Washington streets, Newton Lower Falls, for a Strawberry Festival, on Saturday, June 6th, from 3 to 9 p. m. Tickets at 50 cents include admission to the Chapter House with guide and refreshments.—Advertisement.

The Newton High School baseball team goes to Russell Field, Cambridge, tomorrow afternoon, to meet the Cambridge High and Latin team in a Suburban League encounter. The orange and black nine needs a victory in order to stay in the race for honors. Brookline High sets the pace at present, having tasted defeat but once in five league games. That defeat was handed them by the Newton clan about two weeks ago and marked an apparent turning point in the play of the Sullivan coached outfit. Victories over Waltham, Rindge Tech and Quincy followed to stretch the string to four, and with Tommy Rhodes scheduled for a turn in the box against the Cantabs, a fifth consecutive victory is predicted.

Somerville High's aspirations for a third league championship in the same school year were ruined on Wednesday when the hard-hitting Rindge team toppled them in 14 to 7 game. The Dickerman coached team had previously taken league titles in football and basketball. The defeat by Rindge was Somerville's third of the baseball race, with Brookline and Cambridge having also conquered the Dickie fielders. Brookline has games with Somerville, Newton and Rindge and should it falter the Garden City outfit will be on even terms. Newton must win all of its remaining league games with Cambridge, Brookline and Somerville in order to wind up in a tie with the Wealthy Towners provided the latter do not lose to any other term than Newton next Wednesday. Should either Somerville or Rindge upset Brookline the Newton nine would clinch the title unless defeated in one game.

Coach Sullivan has given Rhodes plenty of rest in preparation for this afternoon's tussle with the Cantabs, and the sophomore southpaw is rarin' to go. He has not been in the lineup since he chalked up the victory over Brookline nearly two weeks ago. In the first round game with the MacDonald coached outfit Rhodes lost a 3 to 2 decision to Kelley, ace of the Cantab staff. The locals handed the Cambridge team a couple of runs on easy chances of outs at first and third. Naturally the Newton High-lads are anxious for revenge. In the past few games the local team has shown an improved attack and Kelley will not find the going easy by any means.

The league standing to date is:

	W	L	RF	RA	Pts.
Brookline	4	1	49	30	8
Newton	3	2	26	18	6
Somerville	3	3	31	38	6
Camp. Latin	2	4	28	47	4
Rindge Tech	2	4	36	37	4

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE

No civilized race now or ever has loved war for its own sake, yet since the dawn of history war has been the major means by which mankind has secured for itself protection from savage and unreasoning aggression and the opportunity to govern itself according to its best light. Seldom, if ever, have those who were to do the fighting had the chance to make the decision as to whether there should be war or not. But no race which has survived long as its own master has lacked for men to defend its borders or to follow its leaders into other lands in prosecution of what they considered a worthy objective. Our own country is no exception. Our expansion of territory, our solidarity as a union of states, and our standing among the nations of the world has been made possible by the countless thousands of brave men who have been willing to die that we might live as we should. Let every possible means for the prevention of war be encouraged. Let us forget the horrors of the last war, but in so doing let us not forget the brave men who made the supreme sacrifice for us. Let us never fail to honor our heroes, lest our very souls warp, shrivel and die.

FIXING CASES

Last week the pastor of a Newton church was fined five dollars in the local court for violation of the ordinance requiring automobile drivers to bring their cars to a stop before entering a through way. Not only did the clergyman pay the fine but stated that it was only right that he should. Here is a well-known citizen, who could easily have exerted influence to avoid even an appearance in court taking his medicine. Is there any need to ask whether or not he chose the better way? To be sure many might take the attitude that a minister is supposed to be superior in matters of conscience, but we could well take the incident as a valuable object lesson. We commend Rev. Mr. Eusden for his action and once more decry the ever-growing practice of "fixing cases" so that the offender can go out and repeat his offence secure in the knowledge that he can "get away with it."

ITS SECOND ANNIVERSARY

The second anniversary of the present management of the local theatre makes an appropriate time to make some observations on the value such an enterprise can be to the community. In the first place we believe more consideration should be given to the news reel. While South this winter we were shown pictures of the surf at Winthrop during the big storm which give the residents of the country who have never witnessed such a sight some realization of the power of wind and water. The Amos and Andy talking picture, "Check and Double Check" has brought a new and greater interest in their subsequent radio performances to millions who have visualized their actions on the screen. Talking pictures of noted actresses and actors also bring to the public many of the best plays of the present and past generation as no other medium could. All in all the picture house can well be one of the valuable features of the twentieth century community. We believe the local theatre, with its aim to present the best programs that can be obtained, is a great asset to our city.

COURTESY MORE EFFECTIVE

Harsh words recently uttered in open court by a police officer, who by the way, was not called to account either by the judge or the chief of police, regarding testimony of a well-known minister of this city, call attention to the growing tendency of our police officers to "bawl out" autoists, who, in many cases, have inadvertently violated some of the many rules and regulations of the automobile code. Some officers take such occasions to make sarcastic comment or use offensive language which usually leaves the offender in an antagonistic frame of mind when a little courtesy in a firm tone of voice would create a better understanding and undoubtedly serve to prevent future violations. Most of the complaints we have heard are against the actions of the younger officers and we urge them to show a more courteous attitude toward the taxpayers who pay their salaries.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The compulsory automobile liability insurance law is not to be repealed this year. This week, the Senate, by a rising vote 16 to 11, refused to order to a third reading a bill which would have repealed this law and substituted a system of financial responsibility similar to that in operation in Connecticut. This action of the upper branch was followed the next day by a batch of unfavorable reports on other bills which would have repealed or amended the compulsory law.

As the end of the session draws near—prorogation being now set for the week beginning June 8—the number of major matters is rapidly dwindling. The bill for a bridge between Boston and Hull has been the cause of lengthy hearings before the Committee on Highways and Motor Vehicles and the Senate Ways and Means Committee. The Senate has passed an order requesting an opinion of the Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the bill.

The Legislature has accepted the recommendation of the Committee on Banks and Banking and has referred to the next annual session a large number of bills providing for amendments to the existing sales of securities law administered by the Public Utilities Commission. There were 13 bills in all in this batch of diverse reports. One of them would have prohibited the house-to-house solicitation in connection with the selling of securities by brokers and salesmen.

The Senate Rules Committee lost no time in refusing to admit an order for an investigation by the State Department of Labor and Industries of the activities of U. S. Commissioner of Conciliation Charles G. Wood.

This week Governor Ely signed the bill making it an offence for a police officer to search and seize intoxicating liquor in a dwelling house without a warrant. The measure will bring the State laws in regard to prosecutions of violation of the liquor law in conformity with the Federal statutes. The Governor, upon signing the bill, said he could never understand the position taken by the State in the interpretation of the law. Said he, "In the protection of the home it is a hollow mockery to allow the police to enter it and then use the evidence so obtained for purposes of prosecution."

Although there has been much talk lately about taxation of chain stores, this year's Legislature has taken no action directly on that subject. There was, however, before the Legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs a bill (House 917) on petition of Samuel H. Borofsky and others providing that the "retail sale of goods, ware, merchandise and commodities be regulated and that dealers be licensed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth." The bill specified such firms or corporations as have more than one establishment, which, of course, is directed at chain stores. The bill was reported adversely by the committee and the report accepted by both branches.

A surprise of the session was the overriding by both branches of Governor Ely's veto of the bill to permanently relieve cities and towns of the maintenance and repair of State highways. The Governor, in the message accompanying the veto, pointed out that the Legislature this year had passed a bill providing for such relief that the results of that experiment be noted before legislation is passed placing it on a permanent basis. Apparently the Legislature did not agree with him. The Senate voted 29 to 6, to pass the bill notwithstanding the veto, and the House 42 to 51. Senator Hollis and Representatives Baker, Lutwiler and Thompson voted to override the Governor.

A bill favored by the special commission on laws relating to children has been rejected by the Legislature. It required that pupils of public schools complained of for truancy should be given mental and physical examinations. The House amended it to provide that a physician representing the child's parents or guardian should be present at the examination. The Senate, however, referred the amended measure to the next annual session.

Among the bills recently signed by the Governor were the following: Providing for investigation and report by the State Department of Public Welfare of all petitions for the adoption of children and further for a trial residence period; to amend the law concerning the investment by savings banks in bonds of certain railroad companies and providing for the printing and distribution of additional copies of Massachusetts Bay Colony Tercentenary publications entitled "Massachusetts of the Sea" and "Paths of the Puritans."

An act "safeguarding the rights of persons in the classified civil service in respect to separation therefrom" has been signed by Governor Ely. It provides that "upon receipt of notice from an appointing officer or of other information that a person in the classified civil service has become separated therefrom through no fault or delinquency of his own, the Commissioner of Civil Service shall forthwith give notice thereof to such person by registered mail and shall set forth in said notice the manner, means and methods whereby such person may be reinstated therein or his civil service status and rights preserved."

Other bills signed included the following: Providing for the enforcement, by attachment and execution, of orders of the Probate Court requiring parents to contribute toward the support of their minor children under guardianship; providing for the continuation of the work of investigating proposed changes in the tax laws of the State; providing for an unpaid commission to revise and recodify the laws relating to co-operative banks; providing for the building of sidewalks and underpasses in connection with the construction of a traffic circle at the intersection of Charles and Cambridge streets, Boston; abolishing the schoolhouse commission in the city of Medford; transferring the Bureau of Criminal Identification from the State Department of Correction to the State Department of Public Safety; establishing a special commission to study and revise the law relating to zoning, town planning and the regulation of billboards and other advertising devices, and for an investigation by a special commission as to the State participating in the World's Fair in Chicago in 1933.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The Golden Text in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 31, will be: "Sing unto the Lord, praise ye the Lord; for he hath delivered the soul of the poor from the hand of evildoers" (Jeremiah 20:13).

Among the citations which will comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And the people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did. For unclean spirits, crying with loud voice, came out of many that were possessed with them; and many taken with palsies, and that were lame, were healed. And there was great joy in that city" (Acts 8:6-8).

The Lesson-Sermon will also include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science goes to the bottom of mental action, and reveals the theodicy which indicates the rightness of divine action, as the emanation of divine Mind, and the consequent wrongness of the opposite so-called action—evil, occultism, necromancy, mesmerism, animal magnetism, hypnotism" (p. 104).

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

The June lecture of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, notice of which may be found on another page of this issue, will be given in the Church Edifice with Dr. Hendrik Jan DeLange, C. S. of The Hague, Holland, as the lecturer.

The amplifier recently installed in the Sunday School Room reproduces the speaker's voice almost perfectly assuring all of the opportunity of hearing this message.

SKISK—SCLATER

Miss Virginia Helene Sclater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivanhoe Harrison Sclater of Pittsfield, Mass., was married to Harland Perry Sisk, son of Mrs. Charles Winthrop Blood of Woodbine street, Auburndale on Saturday afternoon, May twenty-third at four o'clock at the summer home of Miss Sclater's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Hannaford, at Cape Elizabeth, Maine. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Schroeder of the State Street Congregational Church of Portland.

Mrs. Raymond Morrison of Augusta, Maine, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor and Mr. Sisk was attended by Mr. Alan F. Lukens of South Orange, New Jersey and Pittsfield, Mass., as best man.

The bride's gown was of silken lace and she wore the bridal veil which was worn by Mr. Sisk's mother and grandmother. She carried calla lilies. The matron of honor wore a gown of angel blue with velvet coat and a large hat to match and carried Wm. Cordes roses.

Miss Sclater attended Miss Mill's School at Pittsfield and Randolph-Macon College, Virginia. Mr. Sisk prepared at the Newton High School for Massachusetts Institute of Technology from which he graduated with the class of 1927.

Mr. and Mrs. Sisk will reside at 212 South Street, Pittsfield.

Recent Deaths

JOHN J. CRANITCH

John J. Cranitch of 22 Broadway, Newtonville died on May 22nd in his 74th year. He was born at St. John, New Brunswick, the son of the late Robert and Catherine Fleming Cranitch, and came to Newton in 1867 when his parents moved to this city. He had been prominently identified with the building business and was president of the Kearns Construction Company which built the Army Base at South Boston and other big projects. He was a member of Newton Council, Knights of Columbus, an original member of Bishop Cheverus Chapter, Fourth Degree; a member of Brookline Lodge of Elks and of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics Association. He is survived by a brother, George M. Cranitch, and a niece, Miss Mary A. Donovan.

His funeral service was held on Monday morning at the Church of Our Lady, Newton. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Daniel Riordan, assisted by Rev. Robert Mantle as deacon and Rev. Thomas Fallon as sub-deacon. In the sanctuary were Rev. Lawrence Slattery of Newton, Rev. Robert Barry and Rev. Thomas Reynolds of the Catholic Charitable Bureau, Rev. Francis Cronin and Rev. John R. McCool of East Boston. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Mr. Cranitch had been a helpful factor in the affairs of this city during his long residence here. Although not active in politics, he took a keen interest in public affairs and in a quiet way contributed generously to charities.

MRS. LOUISE BENNETT

Mrs. Louise Bennett of 29 Faxon street, Nonantum, widow of William Bennett, died on May 26. She was born in Arichat, Nova Scotia, 80 years ago and had resided in the Nonantum district for over 50 years. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. George Terrio, Mrs. Margaret Leath of Nonantum, and two sons, Leander Bennett and Joseph Bennett. Her funeral service was held yesterday morning at the church of St. Jean Evangeliste, Nonantum. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

ALEXANDER SWEENEY

Alexander Sweeney of 252 Islington road, Auburndale, died on May 20. He was born in Newton Lower Falls 62 years ago. His funeral service was held last Saturday at Corpus Christi Church, Auburndale, and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Jeremiah Coleman, and a half-sister, Mrs. William Hart, both of Auburndale.

HENRY E. WILLIAMS

Henry E. Williams died at his home, 7 Norman road, Newton Highlands, on Wednesday, May 27th, in his 87th year. He was born in Witney, England, and came to this country when a boy. He enlisted in the 34th Massachusetts Infantry during the Civil War, was severely wounded in one of the campaigns in the Shenandoah Valley and was later captured and confined in Libby Prison. Following the war he resided at Leicester, Mass., for many years, moving to Newton in 1886. He had long been a partner in the firm of Williams & Smith, wool merchants. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Grace Ball Williams, and a son, Harry B. Williams of Boston. His funeral service will be held this afternoon at 2:15 at his late home; Rev. Charles O. Farrar will officiate.

DIES ON HOUSE PORCH

Mrs. Warren C. Leffell, Sr., mother of Mrs. William D. Rising of 43 Parker street, Newton Centre, died suddenly of heart failure on the porch of the residence of Mrs. Newell L. Cutler at 109 Parker street on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Leffell, who was an old friend of Mrs. Cutler's, had gone to the latter's home to make a visit. She was apparently seized with a heart attack, sat down on a chair on the porch and expired. When, Mrs. Cutler, who was not at home, when her friend had called, returned, she found Mrs. Leffell dead on the porch.

Mrs. Leffell was born 76 years ago at New Haven, Connecticut, and was the widow of Warren C. Leffell. Her home was at Springfield, Ohio, and for the past seven months had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Rising. She is also survived by two sons. Her body was taken to Springfield, where funeral services are being held today. The body will be placed in the family mausoleum in that city.

The Wicked Bankers.
We Talk Fast, Go Slowly.
Labor's British Idea.
Through Solid Iron.

Mr. Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, thinks there is a conspiracy of bankers to reduce wages. This writer has heard bankers talk about "the absolute necessity of defating wages." But they all agreed that a cut in wages, crippling the workers' buying power, would be a short cut to a deeper depression.

While the discussion goes on, wages are cut in many directions, and there will be more cuts until times improve. The question in a depression isn't so much what you ought to do, or what you would like to do, as what you can do.

Labor unions will notice that those "allegedly conspiring" bankers have suffered a considerable cut in the pay of their closely unionized dollars, and deflation in their profits.

They are lending money on call now at 1% back in 1929, they got as much as 15 or 20%. And they are lending money for 90 days at 2% and less. And nobody knows how badly they feel about it. It is as though carpenters found themselves working for 90 cents a day.

At Williams, one of our finest young American fliers, recently of the American Navy, says: "The United States talks fast and flies slowly; England flies fast and talks slowly."

Britain holds all the speed records that have any real meaning—the airplane record, 357 miles per hour; the automobile record, 246 miles; the motor boat record of over 100 miles, and motorcycle record of over 150 miles. And they have achieved these records in "hard times." The British manage to do what they have to do.

Incidentally, the British are far ahead of us in the construction of airplanes and other engines. They have developed horsepower in their engines by methods concerning which we know nothing. For instance, they took an 850-horsepower engine, weighing 1,540 pounds, and got out of it 1,900 horsepower, the engine weighing less than one pound per horsepower.

Perhaps our big oil companies could tell us what the British put in their engines to get such horsepower and make them go so fast.

The composition of their fuel is a mystery to American engine builders.

In Britain what labor unions say has meaning, for unions control the government.

Their latest suggestion is to nationalize Britain's steel industry, making it a great public utility.

The unions suggest a tariff high enough to keep out foreign steel and secure an absolute monopoly for steel public ownership.

A publicly owned steel monopoly might need that tariff. Governments, outside of the United States, have proved that they can run such natural monopolies as light, power, railroads, telephones, telegraphs, but they have yet to prove that publicly owned industry can compete with private industry.

Russia's success or failure in that line will be instructive.

Dr. Coolidge, brilliant scientist of the General Electric Company, has taken a photograph, with X-rays, through four inches of solid iron. Dr. Coolidge used a tube with power of 900,000 watts, constructed by him.

Amazing to our feeble minds, is the thought of rays making a photograph through solid iron. We know, but do not realize, that the atoms of iron are much farther apart, in the "solid iron," in proportion to their diameters than the earth and moon.

Particles of energy shot from the 900,000-watt tube at a speed of 184,000 miles a second, almost the speed of light, travel easily through the wide open spaces in the iron.

Ignorance asks, "What use is such a 900,000-watt tube?" and is told that the tube is now on its way to a New York hospital, where it will be used to attack cancer tissue far inside the human body.

Our "best minds" tell us "that no matter what happens we must never sink low enough to adopt the will."

England, with a dote amounting to $500,000,000 a year, is called a horrible example.

On the other hand, without any dote, this country faces a deficit of a billion dollars for one year, the biggest deficit any government ever had in peace. The dote didn't cause that.

What a government hands out as a "dote" goes to stores for food and clothes; it isn't burned up.

However, we don't want any dote; we want prosperity.

On the other hand, if it came to the question "will you feed them or will you fight them?" we should find it wise to feed them.

And the best way to feed them is to hand the money to the head of each family, not to a Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army, or any other "overhead" organization. Or, if we must distribute through an agency, let it be through the Navy or the Army.

DOG DOINGS

E. L. Dissler of 123 Clark street, Newton Centre was notified to restrain his dog last Saturday after C. J. Tuttle had complained to the police that a member of his family had been bitten by the canine. Dr. Boutelle was notified to examine the dog.

John Thompson of 55 Broadway, Newtonville was ordered by the police to restrain his dog last Friday after a neighbor had complained that the animal had been annoying members of his family.

Mr. Joseph Chevaley of 36 Thornton street, Newton, complained to the police last Friday that she had been chased by two dogs while walking along Converse avenue. The dogs were Chow owned by Mrs. Luke Goff, 37 Converse avenue, Newton, and a "police dog" owned by Mrs. Renshaw Smith of 29 Converse avenue. Both dogs were ordered restrained.

NASH

Aviation demands Twin-Ignition!

NASH OWNERS CALL IT INDISPENSABLE!

Air Commerce Regulations, issued by the United States Department of Commerce, absolutely require two spark plugs per cylinder on all commercial aircraft motors of over 40 horse power.

Aviation demands perfection in power. And so two spark plugs, twin sparks, are employed in aircraft motors—to burn the gasoline more efficiently—to provide power, speed, safety and economy beyond the reach of single ignition.

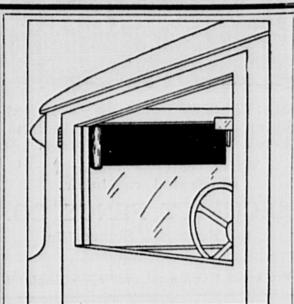

For the same reasons, Nash engineers, in Nash Eight-90 and Eight-80 motors, also provide Twin Ignition.

Of course, you can get along without Twin Ignition. But here, in engineering figures, is what you are missing:

The same motor, with Twin Ignition instead of single ignition, produces 22% more power, 5 miles an hour more top speed, and 2 extra miles of travel from every gallon of gasoline.

And, the prices of these Twin-Ignitioned-motored Nash Straight Eights are no higher than the prices of other cars without this important improvement!

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Memorial Day

Fifty years ago tomorrow it was that Massachusetts held its first official observance of Memorial Day. That was twenty years after the outbreak of the Civil War and sixteen years after peace had dawned upon a united country. It may take laws to establish certain things and lawmakers may be ponderous and slow, but the heart-throbs of the people of Massachusetts were felt the very day the first soldier fell in the War of the Rebellion. It probably happened that the custom of decorating the graves of soldiers started when their bodies were brought back from the South to rest in Northern soil. The idea of making it a day to be recognized as something more than that did not receive attention of the Legislature until.

I turned to a dust-covered volume the other day because I was curious to know the way the State went about it. Under the date of March 8, 1881, I found, "The 30th day of May in each year being the day set apart for the decoration of the graves of deceased soldiers and known as Memorial Day, is hereby made a legal public holiday, to all intents and purposes, in the same manner as Thanksgiving, Fast and Christmas Days, the twenty-second of February and the Fourth of July. This law shall take effect upon its passage."

What then, I asked, was the wording of the Governor's proclamation?

Memories of the Civil War were indeed fresh and the Governor himself would have no need of further inspiration than his own recollections.

Much to my surprise I discovered that here is one day for which no proclamation is required by law of the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth. Plainly, the lawmakers of that time knew the people would not need to be reminded of the spirit of Memorial Day. It was a feeling of self-reproach that my thoughts turned to those whose own families were broken by that war. No reminder from a Governor or anybody else—memory alone and that sentiment born of love and devotion.

And so we in these days, shall not, or should not, require a State proclamation or any other agent or instrument to cause us to remember. If gratitude, honor and respect are in our hearts the brave dead of all wars will be in our memories.

Youngsters Who Earn Money

The allusion in this column to the industrious youngsters who strive to lift the family burden by their industry has led a reader to send me information from the Federal Office of Education at Washington which states that the combined annual earnings of boys between the ages of 14 and 18 in the United States, who are not attending school, is more than twice as great as the total annual cost of public education in the United States.

Now let's get this clear. At least $5,000,000,000, according to these Washington authorities, is earned annually by boys in this age of classification who are not receiving the full benefit of public instruction. Not all of these youngsters remain away from school altogether. Thousands of them are taking part-time courses, while thousands of others are attending the night schools on the larger cities.

In New York, we are informed, a state-wide study was conducted recently to ascertain how much part-time students are earning. There were 65,000 boys in the survey and it was found that they earned $48,000,000 a year. Moreover, they continued to study and approximately seventy-five per cent of them saved something every week. This particular 65,000 boys, according to official figures, are saving what amounts to more than $5,300,000 annually. Divided into weeks it is shown that more than 3,000 of them saved $6 or more each week; more than 5,600 saved $5 each week and 1,950 saved $4 each week.

Quoting M. M. Proffitt, consultant in the Federal Office of Education, our correspondent says, "Obviously something is due these students who drop out of school after they have gone beyond the compulsory school attendance age. If they cannot go to a full-time day school, they should be provided with facilities to carry on their training in a part-time continuation school."

I wonder what those who are harsh in their criticism of the rising generation will say to this evident proof that our boys and girls are making something of themselves. It should be a satisfaction to those who have faith in the youth of America.

Wishing the "E!" Good Luck

Well, there's no reason we should not be optimistic about the future of the Boston Elevated. The air is filled with promise of improved service and a great many other things now that a bill has been passed providing for extension of public control for 28 years. All along we have heard that a great many things the management wanted to do could not be done because there was so much uncertainty about the road's future. Legislation defining the prospects was declared to be necessary. All right then, we've got it. Now let's see what happens.

A great many people have complained, but that is to be expected, for no road was ever operated to the complete satisfaction of its millions of passengers. Dismissing grievances based on imagination alone and therefore unjust—they still remained the righteous protests about unwashed car windows, rattle-trap equipment on certain lines and irregularity of schedule, etc. As far as I have been able to learn these all were promptly referred to the "That's-too-bad Department" and never heard of again. No record has been available of desired reforms.

Whatever has happened to the patrons of the Elevated no one can say that the employees have been called upon to suffer. Despite the road's poor financial condition wages were increased several times and other concessions granted. Quite a contrast from the situation which now obtains in Fall River. That city is "broke" and striving to recover itself financially. All types of city employees have accepted wage reductions. Policemen and firemen are working for $19 a week and all other employees have accepted a corresponding cut. They have been praised for their civic spirit, as they should be and one wishes they may receive a more substantial reward for their loyalty.

The Elevated's hard luck in the past has been passed along to the riding public. If the new Elevated bill means prosperity for the road, and I sincerely hope it does, although not a stockholder, let the prosperity be passed along to the strap-hangers, too.

That $1 For "Gas"

Let's assume you are one of those who may rightly declare, "Many a dollar have I spent for gasoline." All right friend motorist, would it interest you to know how that dollar is split up? The answer, mark you, is nobody's guess, but from those who have studied their gasoline costs. "Passed by the Federal Department of Commerce," I might accurately add.

Approximately 50 cents out of each $1 expended by motorists for gasoline represents the combined cost of crude oil and the expense and profit of refining. Twenty-three cents is put down to the cost of wholesaling and seven cents as the proportion representing transportation charges.

That leaves 20 cents of the dollar to be accounted for, doesn't it? It seems that of this 10 cents is paid out for gasoline taxes while an equal amount remains as the margin of profit for the gasoline retailer.

Now you must bear in mind that several factors enter into the cost of gasoline for the automobile. There is a difference, too, according to the part of the country in which you may wish to divide your $1. These factors include distance from refinery to point of sale, cost of crude oil at the refinery, type of refining process used, amount of State gas tax and other items. However, these proportions as given here are generally conceded to be representative of the relative distribution of the gasoline dollar for the country at large.

Just to give you some idea of the extent of this gasoline business take the official statement which says that as priced at the refineries gasoline production in the United States, exclusive of natural gasoline, had a total value of more than $1,579,000,000 in 1929, the latest available census of manufacturers.

Now to bear your plate to the brim with figures I must point out that retail gasoline outlets of all types, according to the last available information, numbered 317,000 for the country as a whole. These were equipped with $14,000 pumping and representing an investment of $38,000,000.

The Hard Work of Having Fun

Everywhere you go these days you may expect to hear people talking about Summer camps. Some are arranging the final details for sending the boys and girls off for a long holiday under supervision, others are getting things ready for their own and their children's vacation and not a few are straightening out the regular little shack that dash off to for weekends. I suppose the Indians started this camping-out business. Maybe I'm wrong, but I'll bet they were the first in New England anyway. That, I think, explains why a lot of people act like Indians when turned loose in the woods.

It is a terrible admission to make but I am a sort of side-line camper. One reason I do not seek life in the great open is that I cannot join a party without holding-up my end of the labor. The best I have ever been able to do is to act as a hewer of wood and a drawer of water. I was not "acting" in the sense that I dramatized my duties, but seriously endeavoring to perform such work as I became helpful. I would start out with an eight-quart pail with orders to fill a large water barrel which represented the reservoir of the camp. The spring was distant a few hundred yards and the barrel was about the size of a half-hogshead. That was the situation when I began drawing water. About the fifth trip I found the whole camp had been magnified. The spring was 10 miles from the barrel; the barrel had become a bottomless pit and the eight-quart pail was in reality a sieve.

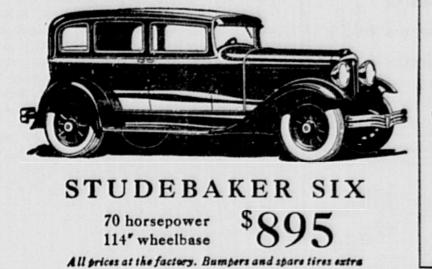

The more I thought of it the more I became convinced that no Indian ever worked as hard as I in order to participate in the joys of primitive existence. Therefore, I suggested that some fuel might be needed. They handed me a hatchet because they had no axe. That was a break for me, at least. But I find you can get fully as tired welding a hatchet as an axe. Somewhere I had read that wood for camp-fires should be seasoned. I suggested to the leader of our group that instead of hacking at trees for green wood I pick up odd pieces of wood here and there. "All right, as long as we get something to burn," said he. I hadn't been dragging broken tree limbs around for any length of time when I decided I should have stuck to the waterfall. By a few ingenious and diplomatic maneuvers I got myself assigned to both jobs and like a good laborer did my best work and put in the most of my time shifting from one job to the other.

However, I have decided that if ever I am obliged to join another camping party—I shall never voluntarily sign up—that I shall strive to get some soft job like peeling potatoes. I'm no good with a steel knife but if I look around I may find that somebody has invented potato-peeler which I can operate while lying under a shady tree. It's the Indian in me, I am sure, that makes me want to take camp-life easy.

No Summer model changes

All Free Wheeling, with positive gear control and one shift lever, instead of two

TEN months ago Studebaker pioneered FreeWheeling...and today it seems the world of motor cars is planning to vindicate the pioneer...proposing to make Free Wheeling as universal as the electric starter.

With Free Wheeling, Studebaker is inaugurating new principles of propulsion without which any modern car is already old!...principles that save 15% to 20% in gasoline and oil...reduce clutch-pushing and ease gear-shifting...provide new measures of safety already approved by traffic officials from coast to coast!

But deeds speak louder than details!...the speed and stamina of Studebaker cars are established by official stock car records...and their thrift with Free Wheeling is certified by Studebaker's recent capture of the national economy championship from 39 cars of 19 makes.

These four Free Wheeling Studebakers are years ahead of their time! Whoever buys a car bearing the Studebaker name and the impress of Studebaker workmanship, is protected by Studebaker's 79-year policy of progress with permanence.

POLICE NEWS

Federal Prohibition agents last Thursday captured three trucks loaded with liquor at the rear of a factory on River street, in the Bleachery section of Waltham. The agents then came to West Newton and seized another truck loaded with liquor near the rear of a factory on Webster street. The man arrested in connection with the seizure of the truck at West Newton was Frank Farrell, who gave his address as Alston House, Alston. He and the truck were taken to the Waltham police station, together with the trucks and men seized in that city. The prisoners were later released on $2500 bail each, which was furnished by a Surety Company. The seized liquor was valued at many thousands of dollars. The raids were the results of "tip-offs."

Patrolman Charles Jenkins arrested three men at Auburndale following an o'clock Sunday morning following an automobile chase. Jenkins had noticed two men near a chain grocery store on Auburn street. Employees were still in the store, having been taking stock and counting the day's receipts. As the policeman approached the two ran down Melrose street and entered a taxi which contained a third man in addition to the driver. Jenkins' own automobile happened to be nearby and he courageously entered his car and pursued the taxi containing the four men. He caught up with the taxi at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Lexington street and, pulling his revolver, arrested the four. He found a revolver in the taxi. The driver of the taxi identified himself as Harold Thresher, 12 Champney street, Brighton. He disclaimed knowledge of the presence of the revolver in the taxi and was released. The other three gave their names as John DeFelice, 22 Clarence Dowsing, 25; Albert Smith, 25. All gave 89 Jewett street, Newton, as their residence. They had been rooming there for only a few days. Smith's real name is alleged to be McGowan. DeFelice formerly resided in Watertown. He and Dowsing gave addresses in New York City as recent abodes. Smith has a jail record. The three appeared in the Newton court on Monday and were held in $4000 each for appearance on June 4.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

The Children's Museum of Boston will be open all day Memorial Day for inspection of exhibits. As May is the month of the Boys' Festival in Japan, a special festival display is now on exhibit and closes with the end of May. Strange banners, fierce mustachioed masks, swords, arrows, miniature shrines and other items found in the festival set of a Japanese boy are all included in the exhibit.

Of special interest the next two weeks is the exhibit of work done by boys and girls who have attended the Museum clubs, through the club year—from September to the end of this month. Gay Indian wigwams, model size; glass ferneries, travel scrap books, turtle shell rattles, leaf molds and spatter prints, in fact a most representative array of handicraft work done with the least possible amount of adult assistance can be seen in the Museum lecture hall.

COMING EVENTS

Christian Era Study Club

The Christian Era Study Club anticipates a very enjoyable afternoon as guests of Miss Alice S. Ranlett, at her home at 33 Commonwealth Avenue, on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 2.

State Federation

FIELD DAY. On Wednesday, June 3, the State Federation Conservation Division will hold a Field Day at the Federation Forest in Petersham, on the direct road from Worcester to Athol. Signs will lead the way from Petersham Centre. Beginning at 10:30 o'clock a full day is planned. Hospital ex-service men will be special guests.

"A lovely drive on a June day," suggests Mrs. Robert Parmenter, 100 Bartlett avenue, Arlington, who as chairman will arrange for motor coach transportation. She also asks that those who wish to go make reservations early and bring a box lunch. Coffee will be served at a nominal fee. If it rains Wednesday, the outing will take place the following day, and if rainy that day, Friday will be fair. Buses will leave from Hotel Statler at 8:30 a.m.

RADIO. At the invitation of station WIZ, The Herald Club News broadcast will continue through the way, about a third of a mile from the Southern Artery, and about a mile away from where we supposed the display of attack flying would occur. Then we walked to the water edge of Dorchester Bay adjoining the warehouse of the American Radiator Company to discover we had picked a "front row" position directly under the gyrations of the 33ighting and bombing planes were staged.

Apart from the exhibition given by the planes, and the "big parade," the thing which interested us most was the single-mindedness, or power of concentration manifested by a clam-digger who was raking the mud on the flat 150 yards out from where we sat. For nearly three-quarters of an summer at the same hour, every Saturday morning at 9, there will be many summer activities of Clubs which can be presented at this time, and Club women traveling for the summer will send back messages. Among these will be Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, who will send items from South America, and Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, who is summering in Europe.

His Excellency took occasion to thank Mrs. Schrader for the wonderful work which she and her committee did in distributing clothing at the President's Emergency Committee on Unemployment. This work has been of the greatest social value besides its obvious humanitarian aspects. I will be obliged if you will convey to your associates in Massachusetts my cordial thanks."

Governor Joseph B. Ely, addressing the State Federation Wednesday evening at "Governor's Night," said that he could not imagine a governor, in his term of office, refusing to accept an invitation to such a gathering, for he appreciated more and more the fact that without the support of the State Clubwomen it would be useless to be a governor.

The Governor said that holding office makes a person realize the important role the woman may play in spreading the truth, with regard to conditions. "With your intuitive judgment," he said, "you are better fitted to reach conclusions of matters relative to public interest and there is a necessity of an enlightened public opinion."

Acknowledged a witness that this high praise is not unmerited was the inspiring announcement of Mrs. Schrader on Thursday that the Clubwomen had contributed during the past year nearly two hundred thousand dollars to welfare agencies, thus amounting double the amount given the previous year, proving that their efforts in the period of financial depression have brought a glorious fruition. The division of gifts following indicates the scope and effectiveness of these contributions: To Hospitals, $38,690; Scholarships, $25,818; Public Welfare, $15,045; Local charities, $17,156; Foreign relief, $137; Red Cross, $4,561; Disabled soldiers, $3,907; Public health, $9,763; Federation forest, $928; Other gifts, $8,636; making a grand total of $198,645, with fifty clubs still to be heard from.

Another gift of $100 to the Boston Y. W. C. A. by the Shannon Fund, which yearly applies the interest of its funds to some organization engaged in the moral education of girls, was announced.

In the evening Mrs. Capron will present an entertainment in the main ballroom. Mrs. Charles L. Fuller has been named publicity chairman.

Every Clubwoman in Massachusetts will have an opportunity to do her bit for Mrs. Poole, and the honor of the Bay state in this mammoth undertaking. Through the districts it is expected that every Club will be reached and all will have the privilege of sharing in the concerted campaign to take Grace Morrison Poole to the presidency of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Seattle June 9 to 18, 1932.

5,000 Trees Planted in One Year year ago May 4th, three-quarters the Nobscot Reservation of the Nobscot Council was burned over fire and 60 acres completely devat-
ed. On May 17th of that year
Scouts and leaders of the Council planted 24,000 red and white pine lings. In addition, some 2,000 other trees were planted. This year,
Scouts and leaders planted about 50 more trees. This made a total of 6,000 trees.

Rotary Club Gives $150.00

This spring the Rotary Club of Newton gave the sum of $150.00 to transplants to reforest a given area in the Reservation, which will be replanted with trees, shrubs and flower beds to this section growing in it.
In addition, some 2,000 trees have all been set out. In addition, a friend from Rhode Island gave about 400 spruces and firs.

With the work of clearing done through the Mayor's Relief Committee, which realized about 200 cords of wood for Newton's needs, the rest out of trees and the ideal wetland (for trees) which has prepared this season to date, the Reservation is assuming an attractive newness; ferns, bracken and coppice with are rapidly covering the ugly scars and the little and larger trees are sticking up their heads. In comparatively few years the Reservation will again begin to show promise of the beauty and attractiveness which it will have in the not-too-far distant future.

Waban Troops Hold Joint Meetings

On Tuesday evening, May 26th,
Troops 9 and 10, Waban, with the Senior Girl Scout Troop of that village, Mrs. Leslie Warren, Captain, were the guests of Mr. John M.
Bierer, Treasurer of the Norumbega
Council of Boy Scouts, in a joint meeting. The meeting opened with a call to order by "Uncle Pat" Harris, Scoutmaster of Troop 10, and he introduced Mr. Maynard Hutchinson, President of the Boy Scout Council. Mr. Hutchinson presented badges to 2nd and

Mr. Bierer gave an illustrated talk

Two Golden Eagles Awarded

At the Newton Centre Get-together on Saturday evening, May 23 two Golden Eagles were awarded to Girl Scouts of Troop 13. Mrs. Walton S. Redfield, the Commissioner for Newton, presented these awards to Alison Thorogood and Priscilla Hudson, both of them girls who have been in the organization for almost ten years. Two Letters of Commendation were also awarded to members of Troop 13 and Mrs. Marcy, Chairman of the Court of Awards, presented them to Anne Kendall and Betty Miner. The occasion when these awards were presented was a Newton Centre Get-together and "Scouts' Own." A large number of Scouts attended and took their parents. Merit Badges were presented at this time and also five year service stripes. Two girls received their First Class Badges—Helen Bennett of Troop 23 and Helen Boyd Troop 13—Miss Freeman presented these last awards. The "Scouts' Own" was led by Anne Kendall and the girls planned the service. Mrs. Shaw of Cambridge gave a very interesting talk on what Girl Scouting really means and emphasized the principles and service as standing for much more than the badges and awards of the organization.

Troop 11 of Newton Highlands had a very fine Get-together on Friday evening. It was held in the Parish House of the Congregational Church. A large number of parents as well as Girl Scouts were present. After a short formal meeting at which awards were presented, the First Aid Class which has been instructed by Mr. Ralph Emery gave a short play demonstrating the work in which they had been instructed. There were also exhibits of Scout work which were most interesting to the parents. The following girls were awarded First Class Badges by Mrs. Walton S. Redfield: Laura Hathaway, Marjorie Ernst, Virginia Lichten, and Sheila Skelton.

On Sunday the Waban Troops had a final Get-together at Camp Mary Day. Charlotte Root of Troop 4 and Peggy Wright of Troop 14 were awarded First Class Badges. Merit Badges and attendance stars were also given out after which the girls and parents had picnic supper in the big camp room, which was made cheerful by a big open fire.

The South Side Rally for the Troops in Waban, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, and Newton Upper Falls proved a very successful affair. The date was Saturday, May 16 and the place, the Newton Centre Playground. A large number of girls attended the rally and made an impressive appearance as they marched on the grounds led by the Bugle and Drum Corps. The first competitive events were a water boiling contest and building a poncho shelter. Each of the three senior troops entered in these contests which were very interesting as they have not been possible to attempt at the indoor rallies. The water boiling contest was won by Troop 13—Troop 14 coming in second. Troop 21 was awarded first place in poncho shelter building, with Troop 13 coming in second. The game for the senior troops was a hoop rolling contest which was won by Troop 13—Troop 14 coming in second. The junior events was a knot tying race which was won by Troop 27. The signalling contest was won by Troop 11—Troop 22 having second place. There was also a balloon race which was won by Troop 3—Troop 7 coming in second. These events were followed by a demonstration by the midget Corps as well as the major Corps then a huge goodnight circle was formed. The goodnight song was sung and Taps was played by Elizabeth Hovey who is Newton's champion bugler as well as the State champion bugler. The rain held off just long enough for the program to be finished. Then the drops began to fall and the girls scurried home. Troop 27 was awarded the rally ribbon for the junior events and Troop 13 for the senior events.

POLICEMAN GOES INTO BANKRUPTCY

John E. Green of 51 Rangeley road, West Newton, a member of the Newton police department, took out a voluntary petition in bankruptcy on May 20. He has liabilities of $4011 and no assets. His creditors include Paul E. Wonderly, Newton Centre, $3000; John Rotta, West Newton, $126; Patrick Nicholas, West Newton, $126; Mary V. Tenney, Saxonville, $550. Green has been a member of the Newton Police Department since December 4, 1922. He receives a salary of $2100 per year.

WEST NEWTON AUTO COLLIDES

Cars driven by Arthur Richards of 215 Cherry street, West Newton and John McLeod of Ash street, Waltham collided Saturday afternoon at the corner of Hamlin road and Cherry street in that section. Both cars were damaged and McLeod's wife received a cut on her right arm.

Mr. Bierer presented bronze replicas of the Aztec Calendar stone to the boys and girls who had not missed a troop meeting in a year. He made special mention of Girl Scout Dorothy Whittaker who has not missed one troop meeting in eight years, for any reason whatsoever! Refreshments were served by members of Troop Committee and wives later.

44 Scouts on Community Service

On Tuesday afternoon, 44 Scouts from Troops 5, 18, 19, 20 and 21, Newton Centre, reported to the Saitonal estates, Chestnut Hill, to help on a Garden Party given for the benefit of the Children's Mission, Boston. They acted as ushers, guards, "pony leaders" and rendered services as requested.

Mr. Bierer gave an illustrated talk on a recent trip to Mexico. Following

SEAScouting

There is a branch of Scouting termed Seascouting about which little is being or has been said so far. The principles and objects of Scouting in general might and ought to be uppermost in our minds.

It seems to me timely to say something about Seascouting to clarify some minds, to put a thought in some young man's mind who may be fishing around for a useful pastime, and to explain the set-up of personnel in this branch of the Norumbega Council, Inc., B. S. A.

First let me acquaint you with the Ship's Committee, the directing group of men responsible for Ship 13—a group of men who are firmly convinced that their first duty is their obligation to the boys' parents.

Lieutenant-Commander Prey, an officer in the Naval Reserve Force, is a lover of boys and the sea. He has charge of our equipment, which we naughtily term "gear," goes with the boys on cruises to instruct in sailing and its many requirements, is an examiner in tests for advancement, and gives unstintingly of his time in spite of his regular duties. All of the boys love and respect him.

Mr. Charles Wilson loves boys and the sea and spends much of his time on the water. He is in the insurance business during working hours, but his avocation is that of Marine Artist, and he can show you in a painting from blue-print plans just what your ship will look like when completed. Should occasion require, he accompanies the Seascouts as liaison officer between ship personnel and the boys when a group of them is taken by some ship company for a cruise of a week or more. Our boys are so well trained before we allow them to take this sort of trip that they enter into the regular ship routine of duties, and so far Charlie has come ashore at the termination of the cruise with his face all smiles and full of pride in them. "Any and all time—the boys," is his motto.

Braibard Thorogood, of the Franklin Institute, is another lover of boys and the sea, but primarily an Educator and Technician, Sociologist and Psychologist. He talks to and with the boys on occasion, lectures from an educational point of view—including manliness and behavior, and stands ready any time to grant or ask an interview with parents in regard to trips, infractions, or the best procedure for a young man in his life work.

Just why I am a member of this committee, more especially its chairman, is quite a conundrum to me. I, also, love boys and the sea and love to see them develop into good, useful, upright citizens.

When they are fifteen years old or more, some boys who have been Seascouts feel the urge of the romance and adventure of the sea more than that of camping and other features which are part of the regular land Scout program. It is for these boys that the Seascout program is created; it is designed to hold such boys in Scouting, for the fundamental principles of Seascouting are those of the Boy Scout Movement.

We want all of these boys. They are not obliged to go to sea if they become Seascouts. Perhaps they just like the summer program of local sailing and water-sports, when on their vacation. All right, a boy must learn to swim. He will learn how to manage a small boat and not be worried, for he will know what he is doing and can handle himself. At the weekly meetings he will enjoy studying the winds, the current directions, how to sail by compass and the buoy markings. Proper passing of examinations may make him eligible for employment at summer camp work, et cetera.

If he really desires the sea when he has passed the prescribed examinations and taken the cruise as opportunity arises, he is prepared to ship at a much better income and berth than should he attempt to ship without experience.

There is now on display at McCammon's Shoe Store, Newton Corner, two ship models made by a couple of our Seascouts. One is of a Coast Guard Chaser, the other our own cup defender—Enterprise. Both of these boats are made to scale from blue-print. We invite you to please examine these models. They with other models and work, will appear in various shop windows this fall, I hope—if the proprietors will accommodate us.

"The Ship," as we term our meeting place, is located at 958 Watertown Street, West Newton and is in charge of Skipper Randolph L. Eddy, another man who loves boys and the sea, spends much of his time on it, sails large craft, sells ships as his vocation, and is a ship designer.

The Seascouts meet each Friday night. One and all, from the skipper down, will be glad to receive anyone who cares to visit them.

JOHN H. KENT,

nial of the birth of George Washington. It was a significant ceremony witnessed by several hundred women.

The tree-planting appropriately followed an address by Dr. Hart, professor emeritus of Harvard, nationally known authority on George Washington and presidential Commissioner and historian of the Bicentennial.

Those assisting in the dedication were Mrs. Robert Parmenter, chairman of Conservation, Charles Bailey of the State Department of Conservation and Clement E. Kennedy, who accepted the gift on behalf of the New Ocean House.

"If there had been no George Washington there would have been no United States of America, not in that century at least," was the claim of Dr. Hart.

"His greatest greatness was his attitude toward society, his interest in the people about him. George Washington believed in education. He sent his own kin and boys of friends to college. His home was a house of culture. He believed in giving everyone his chance."

Prof. Hart brought many interesting glimpses of the life of George Washington, declaring that the father of his country always had great respect for womanhood. He said that he was known as a letter writer and always kept copies of his letters, which have been preserved and are soon to appear in 25 volumes.

Dr. Hart paid a tribute to Washington for his moral strength, his sound judgment and said that of all great men in history, he was perhaps the most invariably judicious and evenly poised.

Upon hearing from Mrs. Bennett of the plans the Federation is making for a great woman's meeting, February 6, 1932, in which statewide organizations of women will combine to honor George Washington, Dr. Hart was enthusiastic, saying:

"I like that idea of February 6, next year. There's a lot of hot corn and potatoes there—keep it warm."

Other noteworthy speakers of the three-day sessions brought out points especially valuable to be quoted.

"Trading with the World" was the subject of an address given by Miss Helena B. Shipman, chairman of International Relations. She pointed out that trade rivalry between nations is one of the factors leading to world conflicts.

"Wars," said Miss Shipman, "are always followed by disrupted market. They disorganize business."

She also made the appalling statement that "the United States is now spending 72 cents of every tax dollar for past and future wars, while it spends one-third of a cent for education, and one-half of a cent for State department."

"Let's advertise," was the keynote of the address which Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, vice-president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, made at Wednesday afternoon's session.

"There is a general criticism that we have not kept up with the times," Mrs. Poole said. "But the Federation most certainly has kept up with the times. Only it is not generally known what we have done and done literally on a shoestring. So let's advertise."

Contrasting the treasure chest of grandmother's day with its fabrics of ideals, substantial as they were beautiful, practical as they were fine, Mrs. Poole opened the treasure chest that is woman's today, and pointed out the moth holes of indifference, disobedience to law, unwillingness to participate in projects for the general good and failure to try to understand and further friendly foreign relations.

"Law observance cannot be gained by passing resolutions," Mrs. Poole said. "Unless every individual Club woman obeys the laws of the land and backs it up, the machinery of law-making cannot function properly."

At the conclusion of Mrs. Poole's address, in the shower of flowers and honors there was one of most clever idea. Among the bouquets of flowers was one in brilliant shades of green and red, the green being more than just a bit of color, in reality twenty-one-dollar bills rolled to resemble leaves. The bouquet was the gift of Mrs. Poole's own Club, the Brockton Woman's Club.

"I can't help feeling you're about the most powerful organization in the State," asserted A. J. Philpot, of the Boston Globe, giving a man's impression of the mammoth convention of Club women at the Wednesday press luncheon.

"You ought to make front page copy instead of these women who are associated with Reno and racketeers," he said.

Mrs. Walter D. Hall, State chairman, presided over the gathering of 165 women, comprising the lay folk responsible for giving publicity to their Club activities.

An interesting moment was when Agnes Carr, of the Boston Traveler, honored the Federation by dedicating to it her poem, "The Clubwoman." Another was the presentation of a silver porringer, wrought by ex-service men, pleasing recognition of the service of Mrs. Leon E. White of Brookline, as radio director for the past three years.

Speaking of press work, an energetic group of women have been mustered into service by Miss Carolyn J. Peck of the Poole Publicity committee to distribute the handsome poster stamps which Uncle Sam will soon be carrying on the backs of letters into all parts of the country. One of the master strokes of the publicity campaign to put Grace Morrison Poole across as next General Federation president, the stamp has striking appeal, done in orange and black with a line cut of Mrs. Poole's portrait, telling the address that "Massachusetts presents Grace Morrison Poole for president, General Federation of Women's Clubs—vote at Seattle, 1932."

Section meetings of the various departments of the State Federation's work brought out many delightful features. Mrs. May Bliss Kimball, of Boston, founder of Mothercraft, had as her guest of honor in the Priscilla Room, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, former State president. There was a play by George Washington, declaring that the father of his country always had great respect for womanhood. He said that he was known as a letter writer and always kept copies of his letters, which have been preserved and are soon to appear in 25 volumes.

Dr. Hart paid a tribute to Washington for his moral strength, his sound judgment and said that of all great men in history, he was perhaps the most invariably judicious and evenly poised.

Nearly $100 collected in pennies by the State chairman of Art, Mrs. Roy C. Baker, of Wollaston, made possible the award of two beautiful bronzes by Massachusetts artists to two Clubs doing the most conspicuous art work in their community during the past year.

Newton Clubwomen are rejoicing that the winners are Newton Center Woman's Club and Arlington Woman's Club.

Newton Clubwomen are rejoicing that the winners are Newton Center Woman's Club and Arlington Woman's Club.

The awards were made at the Art Division meeting in convention hall No. 1, Newton Center. Dr. Hart presented a bronze plaque by Cyrus Dallin, famous for his "Appeal to the Great Spirit." This gift is likewise an Indian, kneeling by the water to drink. Mrs. Baker paid Mrs. Wm. C. Noetzel, the Art Chairman, a personal tribute in saying, "Mrs. Noetzel's report was most inspiring and I give the prize to the Newton Center Woman's Club with the greatest pleasure."

The other prize is a bronze of "The Yawning Tiger," by Anne Hyatt Huntington, well known for her "Joan of Arc," for which France made her a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

A delightful tribute to Mrs. Schrader was the May basket hung for her filled with dainty gifts and sent by her friends in the Second District. The basket arrived at an informal little party after hours given for the president, her council and a few friends by Mrs. Carl W. Illig, Jr., Mrs. Robert Parmenter and Mrs. Alton H. Worrall.

Clubwomen are intensely interested in the contemplated History of the State Federation, now in process of compilation.

"Women's Clubs did not spring into being at a moment's notice," according to Mrs. Frederick Grazier Smith, of Somerville, past president of the State Federation and chairman of a committee compiling this history of the organization, in honor of its fortieth anniversary next year.

The desire for personal contact, first in church gatherings, then in social meetings, brought women together. The subjects of discussion varied from home problems to community projects. When women once realized they had some responsibility outside the four walls of their homes, the desire to organize into groups arose and women's clubs became a fact," said Mrs. Smith.

The speaker pointed out that when the New England Women's Club had its 25th anniversary, 29 Clubs in Massachusetts were invited to consider a union. This meeting held in their rooms, 5 Park street, Boston, February 9, 1883, was the forerunner of the State Federation, then called the Union of Women's Clubs of Massachusetts.

The book will contain some 2,300 pages, with chapters given over to the organizations of the State Federation of Julia Ward Howe, first president, to the several administrations and their achievements, to the development of department activities, to brief account of the oldest Clubs in the State, and to the memorials found in memory of former State presidents.

Two resolutions that indicate the deep interest and real concern of Club women at the Wednesday press luncheon,

"You ought to make front page copy instead of these women who are associated with Reno and racketeers," he said.

Mrs. Walter D. Hall, State chairman, presided over the gathering of 165 women, comprising the lay folk questions of the day, were adopted. The first resolution, presented by Miss Helena B. Shipman, chairman of the Department of International Relations and her committee, relates to the World Court and proclaims the State Federation makes "an earnest appeal to every Club and every individual member to make articulate to our President and to the United States Senate our interest in the World Court, to the end that an informed body of educated women may be in the vanguard of those concerned with the problems of world peace."

The second was a resolution calling for a plan for study of the causes of and remedy for economic depression to make possible any reasonable plan to forestall future periods of universal economic distress.

The ballot as presented by the Nominating Committee, headed by Mrs. Schrader, re-elected as president, was elected, and the six members of the new nominating committee to serve for 1931-1932, selected from the names on the ballot were:

Mrs. Carl W. Illig, Jr., Onset; Mrs. Eva Whiting White, Boston; Mrs. J. Herbert Morris, Arlington; Mrs. Leon M. Conwell, Somerville; Mrs. A. M. Hunt, Melrose; and Mrs. George H. Sawyer, Clinton.

Mrs. Florence G. Morse of Newton, chairman of Credentials, reported that there were 792 delegates in attendance, with 296 Clubs represented and 199 Clubs were represented 100 per cent.

On Wednesday afternoon there were 2,000 people seated in convention hall with many standing around. During the day there were between 2,000 and 3,000 on the grounds. On Wednesday, there were 1,200 Clubwomen at the luncheon in the hotel.

It was called to the attention of Clubwomen that the New England Conference of Women's Clubs will be held September 15 to 17 at Rangely Lake House.

SEVEN PET SHOW PRIZES TO NEWTON CHILDREN

Nancy Blake and her pet spider, both residing at 18 Varick road, Waban, were undoubtedly the most unique features of the rainy-day Pet Show held at The Children's Museum of Boston last Saturday inside the building instead of on the terrace as planned. Nancy's odd pet won first prize among the miscellaneous class entries and attracted much attention from the 1,700 visitors attending the event.

An even greater honor went to the Newton pet owners through Jack Perry's bouncing big puss, "Andy," one of a pair of huge cats with great wide eyes entered by the Perry brothers of 114 Grasmere street, Newton under the names "Amos" and "Andy." After the final decision had been made "Andy" was proclaimed the best pet in the whole show! No wonder Jack and Marvin Perry were glad they made and painted a fine, roomy wooden cage in which to bring their feline friends to the show!

A third first prize from the seven classes in which there were four ribbons to be won went to Anne and Edwin Newdick's "Buddy," a black and white spaniel that is a familiar figure at the Children's Museum of Boston last Saturday morning inside the building instead of on the terrace as planned. Nancy's odd pet won first prize among the miscellaneous class entries and attracted much attention from the 1,700 visitors attending the event.

Miss Barbara Begole, temporarily of Waban, a visitor from Michigan at 51 Avalon road, will have two ribbons to take home to her own State, for she entered a rabbit and a guinea pig and drew a third and fourth prize—and a picture in one of the Boston papers!

W. C. T. U.

Mrs. May Swett, Mrs. Jessie Clark, Mrs. Elizabeth Ashenden, Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley and Miss Ella Allen left on Wednesday morning to attend the Barnstable Co. Convention of the W. C. T. U. to be held in Orleans, Mass. After the convention, they will motor to Provincetown where they will spend a few days at the Beardsley cottage.

Miss Katherine Auryansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Auryansen of Jenison street, Newtonville, is one of those awarded a Whitney fellowship for study at the college next year. Miss Auryansen graduated at Mount Holyoke in 1923 and has been a member of the faculty there up to her taking graduate work at Radcliffe. She will present her thesis for a doctor's degree in the field of philology or the romance languages.

POLICE NEWS

Hovey Slayton, Jr., of Glen road, Wellesley, was in the Newton court charged with drunkenness and with driving while under the influence of liquor. He was fined $10 on the first charge and found not guilty on the second.

Erikor Derderian of Watertown was fined $50 in the Newton court on Tuesday for going away from the scene of an accident without revealing his identity. He was found not guilty of reckless driving. A car driven by Derderian sideswiped a car driven by Patrolman Walter Jenkins.

John W. McKay, 27, of 26 High street, Waltham, was arrested Monday night by Sgt. Crowley and Patrolman J. O'Donnell, charged with annoying children at the Newton Centre playground. In the Newton court on Tuesday Judge Weston sentenced McKay to the Concord Reformatory.

Harold Thresher, 23, of 12 Chapman street, Brighton, a taxi driver, was arrested Monday afternoon by Newton police charged with conspiracy to steal. Thresher drove the taxi cab in which the three men arrested at Auburndale at 1 o'clock Sunday morning by Patrolman Jenkins were riding. These men are charged with planning to rob a chain store in that village. He was allowed to go at that time when he claimed he was ignorant of the plans of his passengers.

Inspector King and special Officer Feely of the Newton police discovered loot estimated to be valued at $2500 in the home of Earl Burgess, 33, at 75 Stanton road, Brookline last Thursday afternoon and as a result Burgess appeared in the Newton court last Friday charged with larceny. He was released on $1500 bail for appearance on June 5. He was then arrested by Brookline police on a faint charge. Burgess is a real estate salesman and possessed keys which gave him entrance to houses he is accused of having robbed. One of the houses alleged to have been burglarized by Burgess was that of Edward Shepherd, who formerly resided at 15 Elliot Memorial road, Newton. The Newton police officers with Shepherd went to Burgess' home in Brookline on May 21 and looking through a window, Shepherd saw a smoking stand which he recognized as having been his property. King and Feely waited at the house until 10:30 that night and when Burgess returned they arrested him. According to the police he admitted having looted two other houses in Newton and three in Brookline. The other Newton houses alleged to have been burglarized are at 12 Cotton street, Newton, and 12 Hammondwood road, Chestnut Hill. Burgess is married and his wife was supposed to be in Vermont at the time of his arrest.

Stephen Carey of 953 Watertown street, West Newton, was arrested by Newton police on Monday night and turned over to the Boston police. He is charged with larceny of property.

Joseph Corsetti of Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge was fined $100 and sentenced to serve three months in jail by Judge Bacon in the Newton court on Tuesday when found guilty of keeping and exposing liquor for sale. Corsetti was apprehended on the evening of April 27th at Nonantum by Motorcycle Patrolman Dwyer and a quantity of liquor found in the car he was operating. Dwyer had observed Corsetti's car being driven with but one headlight burning and when he signalled the driver to stop the latter sped away and was chased by the officer. According to the police Corsetti abandoned the car on Cottontail court. He was arrested in the Newton court the following morning. Attorney Gallagher argued that the police could not prove that Corsetti had intended to sell the liquor found in the car and that it could not be proved that Corsetti had even driven the car. John Carducci of Cottage court, a witness for the defense told the court that Patrolman John Green had threatened to kick him while talking with him in the corridor of the court before the trial. Joseph Prola of Cottage court testified that Carducci was telling the truth about this threat. Sergeant Mahoney stated that Green merely warned Carducci to tell the truth. Corsetti appealed the fine and sentence.

Patrolmen Dalton, Dwyer, Charles Feely and Greene raided the home of Frank Wellford at 11 Faxon street, Nonantum last Thursday night and seized a quantity of liquor. Wellford appeared in the Newton court last Friday charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale. He was also charged with having committed assault and battery on Nicolo Battista, who also resides at 11 Faxon street and is Wellford's landlord. The trial was continued to May 28. The raid followed the assault on Battista which resulted from a family row. It is alleged that Battista had hit Wellford's child, then Wellford hit Battista and then Mrs. Battista is also alleged to have participated in the disturbance.

Inspector King and special Officer Feely of the Newton police discovered loot estimated to be valued at $2500 in the home of Earl Burgess, 33, at 75 Stanton road, Brookline last Thursday afternoon and as a result Burgess appeared in the Newton court last Friday charged with larceny. He was released on $1500 bail for appearance on June 5. He was then arrested by Brookline police on a faint charge. Burgess is a real estate salesman and possessed keys which gave him entrance to houses he is accused of having robbed. One of the houses alleged to have been burglarized by Burgess was that of Edward Shepherd, who formerly resided at 15 Elliot Memorial road, Newton. The Newton police officers with Shepherd went to Burgess' home in Brookline on May 21 and looking through a window, Shepherd saw a smoking stand which he recognized as having been his property. King and Feely waited at the house until 10:30 that night and when Burgess returned they arrested him. According to the police he admitted having looted two other houses in Newton and three in Brookline. The other Newton houses alleged to have been burglarized are at 12 Cotton street, Newton, and 12 Hammondwood road, Chestnut Hill. Burgess is married and his wife was supposed to be in Vermont at the time of his arrest.

Stephen Carey of 953 Watertown street, West Newton, was arrested by Newton police on Monday night and turned over to the Boston police. He is charged with larceny of property.

Joseph Corsetti of Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge was fined $100 and sentenced to serve three months in jail by Judge Bacon in the Newton court on Tuesday when found guilty of keeping and exposing liquor for sale. Corsetti was apprehended on the evening of April 27th at Nonantum by Motorcycle Patrolman Dwyer and a quantity of liquor found in the car he was operating. Dwyer had observed Corsetti's car being driven with but one headlight burning and when he signalled the driver to stop the latter sped away and was chased by the officer. According to the police Corsetti abandoned the car on Cottontail court. He was arrested in the Newton court the following morning. Attorney Gallagher argued that the police could not prove that Corsetti had intended to sell the liquor found in the car and that it could not be proved that Corsetti had even

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Senior Baseball team plays its first two games next week in the Newton Twilight Baseball League, playing the Silver Lake A. C. at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday, and Thursday it meets Upper Falls at Upper Falls. On the following Saturday afternoon in an independent game, the "Y" Seniors play at the "Y" meeting the Telechron Association B. C. C. of the Warren Telechron Company of Ashland.

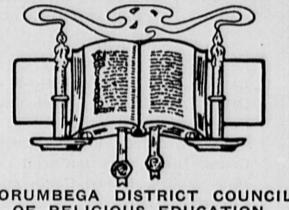

Free Swimming Campaign

The Free Swimming Campaign conducted last week at the Newton Y. M. C. A. was completed on Friday and Saturday with swimming tests. Of the two hundred and sixty boys from Newton and Watertown who enrolled in the campaign, ninety-five boys were actually taught to swim during the week and passed the final swimming test. Every boy who enrolled in the campaign with the consent of his parents, was given a medical examination by one of three doctors, Dr. W. W. Marston, Dr. F. P. Lowry, and Dr. B. T. Loring, and then he was assigned to a daily swimming period. He, with the other boys in his class, was then given six free swimming lessons, and at the end of his sixth lesson, a swimming test. With the completion of the campaign, boys may avail themselves of the opportunity of taking private swimming lessons for which a nominal fee is charged. There was an enrollment of 260 boys in the Free Swimming Campaign, 34 classes were instructed during the week by Mr. Jack Manning of the Massachusetts Humane Society, there was an attendance of 1,035, and 95 boys were taught to swim.

This District is well represented on the Greater Boston Daily Vacation Church School Committee. Rev. Edward A. Estaver of Watertown is a member. Miss Lulluna Barker is chairman. Miss Beryl Bartlett, formerly of Newton, now director of Religious Education in Chelsea, is also on the committee.

Four Vacation Church Schools are being planned in this District; in the Newton Upper Falls Methodist Church, where the pastor is heading up the plans; in the Watertown Federation of Churches, where Mr. Melvin V. Weldon is chairman of the committee; in Newton Centre, where Prof. J. P. Berkely is heading up the committee; and in Newtonville, where the Newton Council of Religious Education is taking the initiative.

These vacation church schools will run for four weeks in July, daily except Saturday and Sunday, from 9 to 12 a. m. Last year about 600 children of ages 5 to 14 were enrolled in five schools conducted within the District.

The purpose of such a school is to provide an experience in Christian living, giving opportunity for discussion of Bible truths and application of these in service projects and in right living. The program consists of worship, class periods, recreation, handwork, music, stories, etc.

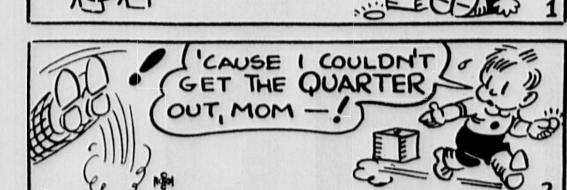

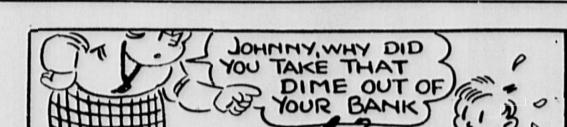

Training for workers in such schools is provided each year by the Greater Boston Institute, which will be held in Dudley Street Baptist Church on June 19-20, 1931.

GUM STICKS VALVES

..but TYDOL Gasolines are 99 28/100% Gum-Free

Gum—black, gluey, smelly—sneaks into your gas tank unseen... in gasolines that are seemingly pure and clear. Valves stick. Feed lines clog. Carbon forms. Piston rings twist out of shape. Compression falters. Power fails.

Gummy gasolines are the result of hasty or improper refining. Any time, anywhere, you may pick up gum in gasoline. But at no time, nowhere, will it be in Hi-test TYDOL.

For Hi-test TYDOL Gasoline is 99 28/100% gum-free.

Tide Water put millions into new TYDOL refining equipment... to get gum out of gasoline... to put new purity in gasoline... to put new quality in gasoline.

Now by every count Hi-test TYDOL wins... Super-power. The lowest anti-knock rating compatible with purity. High-test. Gum-free... And no price-premium. Try it once and you'll buy it always.
